Thea Enjoys Working in Library

by Ann Bolton

When her young son brought a note home from kindergarten which asked for parent volunteers, Thea Drieschen had no idea that she was about to embark on an exciting new career.

The note which her son brought home mentioned that Bayview Heights School was looking for volunteers for a number of committees as well as for the school library. Thea did not want to join a committee, but she was eager to get involved in school activities, so she decided to become a library volunteer.

Working in a library was quite a change for Thea. She had worked as a nurse for many years before starting her family. Once she had a family, however, she found that nursing was simply too stressful an occupation. "I just found that I couldn't do it anymore," she recalls. She found herself becoming overly involved with the patients, and she found that she was identifying with them so much that she found it hard to leave her job behind at the end of the working day.

After a few years at home raising her children, Thea was ready to re-enter the work force. The note from Bayview Heights School came along at the right point in her life. Thea began volunteering at the school library, and she loved her work. She realized that she would like to pursue a career as a librarian, so she went back to school to obtain some additional training.

Thea volunteered at her son's public school for five years. Then, in 1963, she switched to another library. After some of the small public libraries in the area amalgamated, Thea was asked to join the staff of the new Bay Ridge Branch of the Town of Pickering Public Library. She began working on a part-time basis, but she soon switched to full-time hours. She became the head of the branch and, eventually, the administrator.

Thea derives a great deal of personal satisfaction from her work. She has always enjoyed reference work, so working in a library has been ideal for her. In addition, she has found her job to be extremely challenging. She is always learning something new.

These days, Thea is busy stirring up interest for a pet project, the "Answers from the Library" column which appears in each issue of the Pickering's Bay News. Thea got the idea for the column from an American library bulletin. An article in the bulletin mentioned a question and answer column which was being prepared by the staff of the Monroe County Public Library for the local newspaper. Thea wrote to the American library to find out more about the column, and they sent her sample columns so that she would know what kind of questions they dealt with. Thea decided that Pickering could use such a column. She hopes that it will become popular and that members of the public will begin submitting questions. For the time being, members of the staff of various branches of the Pickering Public Library will be supplying the questions. Anne Dean, Head of Children's Services, and Thea will be editing the column. If you have any questions which you would like to have answered, please send your questions to "Answers from the Library," Town of Pickering Public Library, Box 368, Pickering, Ontario L1V 2R8 or dial 286-2579, 839-3063, or 831-2982.

Thea has a wide variety of hobbies and interests that keep her busy when she's not at work. She enjoys spending time in the great outdoors biking, hiking, walking, skiing, and gardening. She also enjoys cooking and reading mysteries.

Thea Drieschen enjoys working at the Bay Ridge Branch of the Town of Pickering Public Library. Her latest project is the "Answers From The Library" column which appears in each issue of the Pickering's Bay News.

Mayor Bill McLean Attends Decommissioning of HMS Ajax

Captain John Trinder HMS Ajax presents the ship's bell to Ajax Mayor Bill McLean at HMS Ajax's decommissioning on May 30, 1985. The bell made its first Ajax appearance during Saturday's Home Week Parade.

by Bill McLean

It is with great pleasure that I bring you greetings from Captain Christopher Beaton, Port Officer, Plymouth, and from Captain John Trinder and the officers and crew of HMS Ajax. As reported previously, I attended the decommissioning of HMS Ajax at Devonport, England, on May 30 and 31, at the invitation of Captain Trinder.

I also bring you special greetings from Admiral Sir Desmond Dreyer and Lady Dreyer, who attended some of the decommissioning activities. Dreyer Drive in Ajax is named after Admiral Dreyer. During the Battle of the River Plate on December 13, 1939, Admiral Dreyer was Gunnery Officer on the previous HMS Ajax. Both Admiral Dreyer and Lady Dreyer have become good friends of the Town of Ajax. They have a Dreyer Drive street sign from this town in their backyard at home.

Until the decommissioning, HMS Ajax was the commanding ship in the First Frigate Squadron of the Royal Navy. Each of the eight ships in the squadron is of the Leader Frigate class, and is equipped with the Kestrel Submarine Nuclear Missile System.

The ship was commissioned December 11, 1963 at Birkenhead, England, with former Mayor Bill Parish in attendance. Previous to that, the ship had been ceremonially launched by Lady Dreyer. It was a fitting tribute that the Town of Ajax was represented at both the commencement and at the conclusion of the active days of the ship in the Royal Navy.

The current ship is the eighth ship named Ajax to have been in the Royal Navy. The first HMS Ajax was launched in 1757. In recent years, there have been severe budgetary restraints in the Royal Navy, which have led to manpower reductions and which is leading to the replacement of older ships with newer ships which are more cost effective and which require less manpower.

The ship is being destroyed (all classified equipment and all equipment which can be used for spares for other ships is being removed from HMS Ajax) until the end of July. It will then be towed to Portsmouth and will be cut up for scrap - the very end.

I could have bought the ship for the Town of Ajax, for £80,000. However, I did not think this would be a good use of taxpayers' money. We would then have had to get the ship to Canada. We would have had to find a permanent berth for her, and we would have had to bear whatever ongoing maintenance costs would be required. The ship could have been used as a tourist attraction, or as a training ship for Sea Cadet corps. After having had the operating costs of HMCS Haida, located at the CNE grounds in Toronto, investigated to determine how great a long term financial burden it would have been for us to acquire the ship, I was convinced that the Town of Ajax could not afford it.

I arrived in London on May 29th, and was met by CPO Ron Palmer of the ship's company, who drove me to Plymouth for a scheduled luncheon with Captain Christopher Beaton, Port Officer, Plymouth. Following the luncheon, CPO Palmer, one of his daughters and I participated in the Great Canadian Participation Challenge. We walked around The Ho, which is a height of land overlooking Plymouth Sound and the English Channel, and walked to The Barbican, from where the pilgrims sailed the Mayflower to North America three centuries ago.

On Thursday, May 30, CPO Palmer and I witnessed the return of HMS Ajax from her final active mission on behalf of the Royal Navy, from The Ho. As she returned, the ship fired her guns in signal, which was responded to by the firing of guns in signal by the staff of the Flag Officer, Plymouth. The ship flew her prying off pennant, which is 237 feet in length, until the strong wind in the English Channel broke the clips holding the pennant.

Mid-morning, I arrived on board ship to meet Captain Trinder and his senior officers. As a tribute to the affinity between the ship, its officers and crew, and the Town of Ajax, the ship's bell was presented to me for the Town of Ajax. A ship's bell is probably the most prized possession a ship can present. Following its decommissioning

Media coverage of the presentation was extensive. The name of Ajax, Ontario, Canada was well publicized. My arrival on Ajax and the presentation of the bell was covered by BBC Television and appeared both on the local and national news television networks of the British Broadcasting Corporation. Radio interviews and reports were broadcast on the local and national BBC networks, and on local private radio networks. Extensive press coverage also took place, both in local papers and in the London Times. I hope to have copies of the press coverage forwarded to me.

Probably the saddest event was the luncheon held by Captain Trinder in the wardroom that day. In addition to Captain Trinder, it was attended by Admiral and Lady Dreyer, several former captains of HMS Ajax, senior officers of the ship, and myself. It could be likened to the biblical Last Supper, as, following the meal, tributes were paid to the significant naval activities of the ship and of the previous seven ships named Ajax. It was the last meal before her death.

Significant participation of ships named Ajax had included St. Vincent-1780, St. Kitts-1782, Trafalgar-1805, Baltic-1854-55, Jutland River Plate-1939, Matapan-1941, Malta Convoys-1941, Normandy and South France-1944.

The current HMS Ajax had logged 590,000 miles during her career of 22 years. The ship had received Queen Elizabeth in 1970, and in early May this year had received Prince Charles and Princess Diana. One of the highlights of the ship was the visit of HMS Ajax to Ajax, Ontario in 1978, when the officers and crew of the ship were granted the Freedom of the Town. The large certificate presented by the town to the ship hangs proudly outside the Captain's quarters. The ship's company had hoped to return for a final visit to this town prior to being paid off, but this was not possible.

Families Day was held on Friday, May 31. Officers and crew were permitted to bring their families on board for a cruise in the English Channel, and to have lunch. I took the opportunity to meet as many of the crew members and their families as I could. I was impressed about how much they already knew about Ajax, Ontario. Some even had Town of Ajax pins which had been obtained from various sources. During Families Day, I was able to assume command of the ship's wheel for a while.

On Saturday, June 1, I attended the concluding events of the Ivybridge Carnival. Ivybridge is a suburb of Plymouth, where a number of crew members and their families live. For a week, they had been holding activities very similar to Home Week. I was honoured to be involved in the judging of their Carnival parade. I presented community participation awards to the most deserving teenagers.

On Sunday, June 2, the ship's bell and I were driven to London, where I checked the bell at Heathrow Airport. That evening, I took the train to Eastbourne, East Sussex, and met with George Deacon, Honorary Secretary, HMS Ajax and River Plate Veterans' Association. Deacon Lane in Ajax is named after Mr. Deacon. He has a Deacon Lane sign, which was presented to him in 1980 when he visited us in his backyard. He is very proud of it.

To my surprise, Mr. Deacon presented to me, for further presentation to the Ajax Historical Board, sections of original newspapers published between December 15, 1939 and February 24, 1940. The Battle of the River Plate, where the previous HMS Ajax receives its battle honours, was fought on December 13, 1939. The papers initially report speculation on how the Battle of the River Plate was fought and then by the end of December 1939, contain stories and pictures of how the Battle actually occurred. Papers published in February 1940, report in detail the return of the ships' companies of HMS Ajax and HMS Exeter to a dinner held in their honour at Guildhall, hosted by the Lord Mayor of London and attended by King George VI and Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

I shall be presenting these papers to the Ajax Historical Board on Wednesday, June 12, where Mr. Robert Knapton, who served on HMS Ajax at the Battle of the River Plate will be presenting films of HMS Ajax in action. Mr. Knapton's presentation commences at 8:00 p.m. in the Ajax Public Library. The papers will also be available for viewing by the public attending Mr. Knapton's film showing.

My visit to England was a memorable one. I was most pleased and honoured to attend the various ceremonies and events on behalf of the citizens of the Town of Ajax.

Budget Flashy But Little Content

Dear Sir,
Those Canadians who voted for "real change" in the last federal election have been misled by a federal budget package with flashy wrapping but little content.

Here is the distressing truth:
Over the next two years, personal and corporate income tax revenue will rise by 28%.

There will be hidden increases in personal income taxes, every year, by deliberately pushing taxpayers into higher tax brackets through inflation.

The projected increase in government program spending this year will be cut by less than a half billion dollars.

The budget projects that federal debt will increase by 50%, or $100 billion dollars, over the next three years. It projects that the debt will rise as a proportion of GNP for the rest of the decade to about 83%. The interest charges alone on this debt are projected to grow by 29% over the next two years to about $29 billion - that's more than all personal income tax paid by Canadians last year.

When the smoke clears next year, we will likely find that the deficit has actually grown, yet again. Budget projections put the deficit at over $30 billion per year for the rest of the decade.

Reliable reports from Ottawa say Finance Minister Mike Wilson has been isolated by ministers hostile to any spending and deficit cuts. Deputy Prime Minister Erik Nielsen's review of government spending is being roadblocked.

This budget will not lead to renewed growth and decreased unemployment, but to a backlash against so-called "conservative, free-enterprise" solutions to our problems.

The Mulroney government will then be pressured to return to the failed policies of the past - "stimulative" government spending that will take us rapidly closer to a national economic crisis.

This government needs to get behind Mike Wilson to achieve substantially lower levels of deficits, taxes, spending and interest rates.
Yours sincerely
Colin Brown,
President,
National Citizens' Coalition.

Ed's note,
Not the most cheerful letter I've received.

Reunion

Dear Sir,
On June 6, 7 and 8th, 1983 a reunion will be held commemorating the 35th anniversary of Pickering High School.
Because our former students and staff are across the continent we would greatly appreciate the support of your public service department to inform them of our forthcoming party.
Former students, teaching staff and support staff are asked to write to: Reunion, Pickering High School, Church Street North, Pickering, Ontario L1V 2H9 or phone (416) 883-4781 to obtain further details.
Thank you very much for your help in getting the reunion off the ground.
Sincerely,
G.J. Baranchuk
Ed's note:
Should be fun.

Thanks

Dear Sir,
Would you please print this at your convenience.

I would like to thank everyone who was active in the Canadian Cancer Society, North Pickering campaign this April.

The cooperation and enthusiasm that I received when asking for assistance was wonderful and with all that enthusiasm we went over the expected quota.

Thank you again all who assisted in the campaign and contributed, because without you we have no campaign, and with no campaign it means less help for patients and maybe a longer wait for a cure.

Sincerely yours,
Marion Peddle
Campaign Chairman

Ed's note,
We thank you Marion for your enthusiasm.

Real Estate Board Donates $8,000 to Cancer Society

At a presentation ceremony at the offices of the Oshawa and District Real Estate Board Mr. Jon Jenkins, President of the Oshawa Unit of the Canadian Cancer Society gratefully accepted a cheque for $8,000.00. The money was raised by a Real Estate Hockey Tournament held in April - which is designated as Cancer month. A total of 16 teams from all over southern Ontario participated in the all day event and the money was raised from team entry fees, a snack bar during the Tournament and a raffle for a trip for 2 to Las Vegas.
Mr. Jon Jenkins remarked that the contribution was greatly appreciated and he stated that tremendous strides had been made in the fight against cancer particularly in the area of research. More and more types of cancers are being identified and more sophisticated treatment has been developed over the past few years. It is only from the generous donations of community minded groups like the Oshawa and District Real Estate Board that this progressive research is able to continue.

Report From Queens Park

George Ashe, M.P.P. Durham West

Last week, your P.C. government presented the most progressive, affordable and effective legislative program this province has seen in years. Of course, Mr. Peterson and Mr. Rae disagreed. It wouldn't have mattered if the Holy Grail had been brought forth; Abe Lincoln could have delivered the Gettysburg Address; Shakespeare could have read his entire works and the Snowbirds could have flown through the Legislature. The Ditto Brothers would have found it unacceptable.

In fact, I can honestly visualize Peterson and Rae standing in front of the Mona Lisa following its presentation to the Legislature by a Progressive Conservative government and commenting: "Her smile's a little crooked."

If it wasn't so serious, it would almost be funny.

But there's nothing funny about the political duet. Little humor will be found in the economic chaos the people of this province will have to face if this alliance is successful. There will be no laughter in Ontario under a socialist government and a Liberal Premier. The only people who will be smiling on the way to the bank of power will be the Ditto Brothers.

The day we see Premiers Peterson and Rae (or is it Rae and Peterson) walk into the Legislature with one hand clapping, is the day it will all start to fall apart.

First to go will be the Triple A credit rating. This little show of confidence by world financiers of the 'new' government in Ontario will cost the taxpayers millions of extra dollars in interest payments. That's just a start.

Next to go, will be jobs. One cannot expect the private sector to invest in a province where there is no singular political policy; where there is no guaranteed stability; where principles change to feed the lust for power. It's just not good business.

The policies advocated by the NDP and legislated by the Liberals can only result in tax increases. It simply has to follow. The biggest bump will no doubt be to corporations. If we think for one minute these increases won't be passed on to the consumer and bring industrial growth and corporate expansion to a halt, we're living in the same dream-world as the kids from London and Rosedale.

"It's time for a change," they echo. "Forty-two years is too long," has become their battle-cry.

The stability and sensitivity of the Progressive Conservative government has made Ontario a showplace of progress - in education, transportation, social services, health care, to name just a few - over the past four decades. And our province has been able to achieve these enviable goals without trading away the social fabric on which all great societies must be built.

Ontario and Canada were not built by those who would reach for power for the sake of power. It was built by men and women of substance who would stand up and tell the world: "These are our principles. If you don't like them, we have no others."

Mr. Peterson and Mr. Rae tell us they have principles, too. Unfortunately, if you don't like them, they are more than delighted to cast them aside and come up with others.

The ultimate losers in this political charade will be the people we have all sworn to serve.

Pity. They deserve better. That includes, of course, the good people of Durham West!

AJAX REPORT

by Mayor Bill McLean

Congratulations Miss Ajax 1985

Congratulations Kim Beatty! Kim was selected as Miss Ajax 1985 at the Miss Ajax Pageant and Cabaret, held at the Community Centre, last Saturday evening. Runner-up was Heather Hawco. Kim Beatty was also honoured by her fellow contestants by being Miss Friendship.

The length of time the judges took in arriving at a decision was a clear indication of the strong calibre of the contestants - in this year's pageant. Contestants in addition to Kim and Heather were Rachelle Dwyer, Lisa Hannah, Sandra Knight, and Claudine Racicot.

Kim will preside at all Home Week 1985 events, and at Home Week 1986 events until her replacement is selected next year. In addition, Kim will be attending Ajax Day at the CNE on August 18, and the Ajax Family Festival which commences on September 5 at the Community Centre.

Kim attends York University. This summer she is the Director of Camp Taparac, the summer day camp operated by the Town of Ajax, held at Paulyn Park. This is the first year that boys and girls attending Camp Taparac will be able to say their Director is Miss Ajax!

George Wimpey Canada Ltd. has been associated with the Miss Ajax Pageant for a number of years. Miss Ajax receives the Wimpey Trophy. This year, the trophy was presented to Miss Ajax by Colin Gillie, who is responsible for Wimpey's industrial and commercial development in Ajax. I was pleased to be advised this past week, that Wimpey had submitted a site plan for a 42,500 sq. ft. industrial building to be located on Dreyer Drive, west of Finley Avenue.

Without Laurie Peter, who directs the Miss Ajax Pageant and Cabaret, the event could not possibly be as successful as it is. I keep wondering how Laurie keeps coming up with new ideas to make each year's pageant even better than last year's. Laurie, you did another super job this year!

Good Weather and a Good Parade

When Joe Dickson founded Home Week.

Mayor Bill McLean

15 years ago, he must have consulted the powers that be to determine which week ends in the year were most likely to have the best weather. Well, he made a good choice of week ends, for in past years, it has been necessary to cancel only a very few Home Week events because of bad weather.

Joe kept his excellent track record so far this year by asking for and getting good weather for this year's Home Week parade. In fact, the weather was so good, it brought out more people to see the parade than I have ever seen. It was nice to see CFTO news personality, Ken Shaw, now an Ajax resident, serving as a parade judge.

People tell me the parade was excellent. The one difficulty I have in being in the parade is that I can't see all the entries in the parade. (Actually, I can. I watch it later on cable TV.) I can see what is immediately in front of me and what is immediately behind me in the parade.

This year, the Ajax High School band marched behind me. They have improved immensely since last year. Now, not only was their music worthy of hearing, they were also worthy of seeing with their smart blue and white uniforms.

My entry in the parade this year, with the assistance of Angelo Faresse of the Works Department, and some of his staff, plus my son Don who drove the truck, was the bell of HMS Ajax which I brought back from England last week.

Good Weather and Good Ball

This week-end was also good for ball tournaments. The Ajax Minor Baseball Association held their annual Tyke Tournament at Cedar Park on Saturday and Sunday. This tournament has achieved such a high reputation that there

Speaking To You

Scott Fennell, M.P.

The changes will provide for equal pensions for women and men retiring under identical circumstances. Provision will be made for survivor benefits to continue even should the surviving spouse remarry, and for splitting of pensions between spouses upon marriage breakdown.

The government has also proposed to reform the system of tax assistance for contributions to private pension plans. Starting in 1986 the limits on RRSP contributions will increase each year until 1990, and persons who do not fully use their allowable contribution in any year will be able to make up the difference within a seven-year period.

Should you desire additional information, there is a 15 page pamphlet available entitled: Improved Pensions for Canadians, which I highly recommend. It can be obtained by contacting my constituency office in Pickering: (416) 686-0432, 52 Church Street South L1V 2H5.

Scott Fennell is the Member of Parliament for Ontario Riding.

I would like to discuss a number of proposals put forward in the Federal Budget which will significantly improve the pension rights of all Canadians. Proposed changes to the Pension Benefits Standards Act would ensure adequate incentives and fairness in the structure of our private pension system so that Canadians will be able to prepare for their retirement in a self-reliant manner.

The measures will improve rules for minimum standards regarding vesting, portability and survivor benefits in private pension plans.

Under the new rules, employees will have the right to pension benefits including any part financed by the employer, after two years of participation in the plan. This will ensure that workers who change jobs will be able to save more effectively for retirement. Previously, an employee had rights to pension benefits only after 10 years of service or membership in a plan and at age 45.

A second major step forward comes in the form of pension portability. Workers who change jobs will have a number of options. They may leave pension entitlements with their former employer, they can opt to transfer them to their new employer's pension plan, or they may transfer them to a locked-in registered retirement savings plan (RRSP). RRSPs without a lock-in provision will also continue to be available.

were more requests for entries in the tournament than could be accommodated.

Saturday morning, I threw out the first pitch to officially start the tournament. On Sunday afternoon, Miss Ajax 1985, Kim Beatty, and I presented trophies to the winning teams and players.

The Ajax Tyke team, sponsored by Pickering Village Sports, reached the finals of the 'A' Division of the tournament, but were beaten by Hamilton Maloney in the championship game.

Sunday morning, I attended the start of the annual lob ball tournament held by the staffs the Hydro utilities of Ajax, Newcastle, Oshawa, Pickering and Whitby. The tournament was held at the Harmony Valley Conservation Area in North Oshawa. While I was there, I cheered Ajax Hydro to a 10 to 5 win over Newcastle Hydro. This is a fun tournament with both men and women participating.

Good Weather and a Good Festival

Although the weather was a little shaky at the start of the Blue Grass Festival, the skies cleared in time for a good sized gathering to congregate and enjoy country and western music, hot dogs and hamburgers under sunny Ajax skies. This was the first event at which the Town's newly acquired showmobile was used. It served its purpose very well!

It's Not Over Yet!

Home Week continues until this Sunday evening, when it concludes with a gigantic fireworks display at dusk on the Lake Ontario shoreline at the foot of Harwood Avenue. Because of the vehicular traffic the fireworks display creates, if you can walk to the waterfront, please do so and leave your car at home! There's Another Festival, Too!

This Saturday is the Pickering Village Festival. The parade starts at 10 a.m. from Pickering High School grounds, and returns to Memorial Park on Church Street North where there will be entertainment, displays, food and beverages. There will also be displays along Kingston Road in the central part of the Village. In the afternoon, you will be able to wet your whistle with the beverage of your choice at St. George's Anglican Church, or take a guided tour of homes in the Village having a heritage designation.

It's Tax Time Again

I'm afraid it's that time again! Really tax bills will be mailed by the end of this week. Half of the total bill is payable by June 28. The other half is payable by September 30.

Dear George:

Thank you for asking me to speak on the progress that Ajax Home Week has made as it celebrates its 15th year during the Town of Ajax's 30th Anniversary.

In the beginning we tried to set guidelines that we would try to attain, and then maintain throughout the years.

The reasons for Ajax Home Week were in the beginning and still are today as follows:

1. To promote the town of Ajax, regionally and on an international basis, the town we call "Home".

2. To act as a catalyst to encourage all former residents to return to Ajax for a visit.

3. To provide a week that is operated as close to a break-even budget as possible so that many activities as possible are free to the public. Part of the plan has been to make it a week that everyone regardless of age or means can thoroughly enjoy.

This week is unique in that it sees the coming together of virtually every service and charitable organization in our community. It is a forum that especially gives all of the service organizations in Ajax the opportunity to say "thank you" to all the town's residents for their support of the numerous service and charitable projects run in our town throughout the year.

It is indeed a time to be proud and also a time to recognize that Ajax greatest strength has always been its volunteers. Yours truly,

Two Local Students Hope to Learn by Doing

by Ann Bolton

A desire to gain practical experience in running a small business led Randy Henderson and Gareth Govan into the driveway sealing business. Randy, who lives on Hiley Avenue in Pickering Village, and Gareth, who is formerly of Pickering Village but now living in Scarborough, decided to gain some first-hand business experience before pursuing a Master of Business Administration (M.B.A.) degree. Randy has just completed a degree in chemical engineering at Ryerson Polytechnical Institute, and Gareth has just completed a degree in economics and physical education at Queen's University. Both intend to return to school this fall to obtain an M.B.A.

Randy and Gareth decided to open a driveway sealing business rather than any other type of business because they realized that driveway sealing did not require as much capital investment as other types of businesses. Also, they realized that sealing driveways would give them the opportunity to work outside and enjoy the warm weather.

Gareth stressed the fact that he and Randy are in business to gain experience rather than riches. They are both interested in going into business for themselves on a more permanent basis at some point in the future. Because they hope to make a name for themselves in the world of business they are working hard to make people realize that they are both reliable and conscientious workers. To emphasize their commitment to quality workmanship, they have decided to call their business Quality Driveway Sealers.

Randy and Gareth opened up shop in May. Since then, business has been good. They have already served sixty or seventy customers. On a good day, they can usually seal four or five driveways. Their customers have been pleased with the quality of the cold tar sealer which they use, and have been impressed by the calibre of their work.

Like all good businessmen, Randy and Gareth are already planning for the future. They are thinking ahead to next summer when, once again, they hope to operate Quality Driveway Sealers.

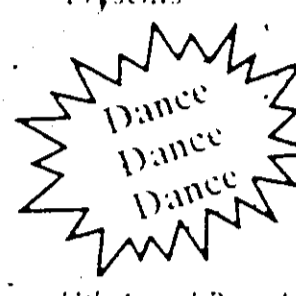

If you are interested in having your driveway sealed, consider giving Randy and Gareth a call. You can reach them at 683-0405. They will provide a free estimate, and their schedules are reasonably flexible. Although they have generally been operating during standard business hours, they are willing to provide estimates during the evenings, and they are willing to seal driveways on weekends as well. They charge their customers six cents per square foot of driveway area.

Theatre in the Park Delightful

by Ann Bolton

If you are looking for an elegant, enjoyable spot to have dinner and watch a play, you might want to consider visiting Theatre in the Park at Deer Park Inn in Stouffville.

As soon as you turn off of the highway, you know that you're in for a special treat. The Deer Park Inn is located on a wooded lot just off of Highway 47.

A complete package for Theatre in the Park includes both dinner and theatre. Evening performances cost $21.95 per person, and lunchtime matinees cost $12.95. Dinner is served between 6:00 and 8:30 p.m., and the performance begins at about 8:45 p.m. Evening performances are usually offered from Monday to Saturday nights, but it is a good idea to call ahead to make sure that a performance will be held on a particular night. Lunchtime matinees are usually offered on Wednesdays and Thursdays but, once again, it's wise to check first. Lunch is served at noon, and the performance begins at about 2:00 p.m.

The meal which was served at the lunchtime matinee was excellent. The soup and rolls were delicious and the entree, grilled pork served with fresh vegetables and rice, was excellent. A tasty lemon tart was served for dessert. The coffee which accompanied the meal was excellent, as was the service.

The play which is currently being performed, Relatively Speaking, is a hilarious British comedy which is based upon a series of misunderstandings. All of the actors and actresses gave extremely strong performances. June Garba played Ginny, Bruce Pitkin played Gregory, and Ken Gordon-James and Joan Cammick played the older couple. The performance was flawless. Relatively Speaking will be playing at the Theatre in the Park throughout the month of June and into the month of July.

I strongly recommend Theatre in the Park to anyone who is looking to spend an enjoyable evening dining and watching a first-rate performance of a hilarious play.

THIS IS GOD'S WORD.

Rev. Morley Mitchell,
Ambertea
Presbyterian Church

"But they will not get very far, because everyone will see how stupid they are. That is just what happened to Jannes and Jambres." 2 Timothy 3:9

In last week's column we were introduced to Jannes and Jambres. In review we may simply recall that tradition says these were the names of the magicians at the Egyptian Pharaoh's court. When Moses went before the Pharaoh and announced that he has come in the name of God and that the command of God was that the Hebrew slaves should be set free to go and worship the Lord, these two equalled Moses in the presentation of signs and wonders.

The appearance is that there is nothing Moses can do, that they cannot do. The theological implication is no more than the god's of Egypt.

Today's verse concludes our study of 2 Timothy 3:1-9. Paul reminds us (taking the last part of the verse first) that in the end it was not the Living God who revealed Himself in Christ, that was discredited, but Moses' rivals in the court of Pharaoh.

In the end what was revealed was that Jannes and Jambres who claimed to be able to discern the power of the gods, knew neither the power of Moses' God, nor the limitations of the gods of Egypt.

Paul has compared those who detract from his ministry in the Church with Jannes and Jambres. Paul here expresses his conviction that those who do not put the power of God at the center of their work in the Church of Jesus Christ will be shown to be people who do not know God as Paul does.

He expresses something else in which we need to take heart. He expresses the conviction that in the unrolling of time God's will is accomplished.

Remember the whole of this passage has to do with the nature of the last days. Paul tells us that our era in history, like his era, belongs to the last days. Here he states his conviction that in spite of all that is wrong about the last days, all that is difficult, the end is secure.

Indeed, the Church is secure. It is the well-being of the Church and of the Christian Churches he had served and that beloved friends were now serving that occasioned the writing of these words. He notes the severity of the problems. He notes that there is difficulty inside the Church as well as without.

But those who create the problems will not get very far. Everyone will see how stupid they are...to have loved the form of religion while rejecting its real power.

Paul has a vision of the Church that easily slips through our fingers. He saw the Church as the precious possession of Christ, held by Christ, led by Christ. Saved by Christ. Waging its warfare in the Spirit of God. He knew that God was not about to let the Church loose or set it adrift.

He knew that he was in the hands of God.

Come what may in the troubled times before him, the cause of Christ would be a triumphant cause. The victory of God who raised Jesus from the dead, who poured out the Spirit, who gave the Church signs and wonders and a blessed mission to perform, was not about to be set aside.

He reminds us that God is not done yet. He reminds us that God has not played the last card in His hand. He tells us to remember that the Lord who has moved us to faith, is still in control. In the end His enemies will be laid waste. It really will all work out.

God Bless.

Grades

Soon, if not already, students and parents will be faced with reports which give a numerical value to academic achievement. Many will be misunderstood or misinterpreted. Tears will be shed and anger expressed where it shouldn't, and on the other side of the coin, overconfidence and pomposity may evolve unnecessarily. To shed some light on this issue, I'd like to outline my view on grades and how parents and students might benefit from using grades as a form of feedback for problem-solving purposes, rather than as an end to themselves.

It doesn't take long in a classroom to get a pretty accurate assessment of the range of abilities in students. The differences between individuals may be caused by many factors including maturity, ability, effort, social experiences, etc. This diversity does not lend itself well to an objective form of evaluation. Teachers are constantly torn when giving grades to students who do all of the right things but can't seem to perform on tests. Grades are often altered to reflect a subjective judgement of the student's effort rather than a totally objective performance evaluation. Grade differences of 1-5 marks are virtually irrelevant and insignificant given their subjective allocation, and thus, increases or decreases by such amounts should be a sign of stability and overreaction should be avoided.

A second factor to consider when looking at grades is the tendency for grades to align themselves into a natural curve. This curve, statistically known as the Bell Curve, distributes marks by the frequency of their occurrence. A few marks are very high, a few very low,

Academic Column

and the majority distributed evenly around the 66% level. Most teachers, unconsciously, create this curve in their class marks by grading as objectively as possible, the wide range of work submitted to them. They soon develop a sense of excellent, average, and poor work for their grade level and marks tend to reflect this range. Occasionally, excesses in poor or good marks are balanced by forcing grades onto curve, altering marks to give the proper distribution. Awareness of this concept should tell parents and students that an average grade, relative to the class is in the range of 61-71%. An above average grade might be 71-81% and exceptional is above 80%. A below average grade is 50-61% and poor is below 50%. However, remember that a great deal of variance occurs between classes. An average student caught in a class with a large number of good students appears to drop position on the curve in that class brings his mark down. However, in another class, he may well improve significantly if his peers are weak. Both movements are somewhat false and lead to misinterpretation. I prefer comparisons with much larger pools of students, such as skill tests run on a national basis. It is much fairer to judge relative strengths from these comparisons than from the small pool of a classroom.

A third aspect of grades which I believe is critically important is not their absolute value, but the direction which they are moving. As a teacher, I feel much more positive about a student who went from 60% to 63% than a student who went from 90% to 77%. Improvement and effort will eventually lead to far greater personal success than natural talent. Marks will not determine success, but the ability to devise strategies to improve marks will lead to problem-solving skills which will pay many benefits later in life.

When I sit down to complete my reports, I will be judging, as objectively as possible, the ability of each child to adapt to my requirements. It would be ridiculous to believe that my assessment was definitive and all-pervasive. Nevertheless, interpreted correctly, grades proved students and parents with information useful for judging progress relative to peers, and progress relative to personal goals.

Strawberry Social and Heritage Day

Ladies and gentlemen in costumes of 150 years ago will be on hand to welcome the public at a Strawberry Social and Heritage Day on Sunday, June 23 on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Martyn, 1008 Dunbarton Road, Pickering, Ontario.

This event, co-hosted by the 150th Anniversary Committee and the U.C.W. of Dunbarton-Fairport United Church will mark the culmination of year-long activities to celebrate the 150th Anniversary of the Church. It will also herald a new phase in the life of our congregation, as the church prepares to expand.

A light luncheon of sandwiches and a relish tray will be followed by a strawberry shortcake made the old-fashioned way. After indulging in such luscious fare, guests will be invited to view a display of antiques, mementoes of the past, and historical archive material and papers that tell the history of the church.

A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to join us on this very special day. Luncheon will be served from 11:15 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., following church, (1008 Dunbarton Road is located four houses west of the church.) In case of rain, the location will be changed to the Lower Auditorium, Dunbarton-Fairport United Church, 1008 Dunbarton Road, Pickering. For further information, phone 839-7271.

Artist Maureen Killam has been devoting most of her time to establishing her reputation as a painter. She had paintings on display at the recent Markham Art Show. Some of her works are on display at the Liverpool Library for the month of June.

Time Of Essence For Local Artist

While most of us have too much leisure time on our hands, Maureen Killam is the opposite with not enough.

Mrs. Killam is so busy, she has had to cut back on some of her hobbies. An artist, she has decided to devote most of her time to painting, so Mrs. Killam has started to phase out working on crafts.

Mrs. Killam also would like to establish her painting more and that would take up most of her time. "I like it more and I want to make it a semi-professional career. I would also like to get my work recognized more," she said.

She helps herself get her work known by exhibiting it in as many art shows as possible. Mrs. Killam was one of more than 200 Canadian artists with works on display at the recent Markham Art Show. Mrs. Killam had nine pictures on display and for sale.

She has also had them on display in the Pickering area and in Oshawa. She will again be displaying some of her work at the annual Oshawa Art Association show at Camp

Samac on the Labor Day weekend.

Last year Mrs. Killam put on a one-woman show in New Brunswick, which she said was a success. However, she doesn't plan on doing it again.

"It was pretty good for the first time considering I didn't know who to contact and they wanted me to go again but there is too much involved in doing it."

When painting, Mrs. Killam likes to spread herself around as far as styles are concerned. She paints landscapes, portraits, animals, still lifes and seascapes.

She doesn't limit herself to the types of material used either as she feels at home with oils, watercolors, acrylics or pastels.

Mrs. Killam started painting 10 years ago to fill in time and she started taking lessons with Joyce Root of the Pickering Parks and Recreation Department.

For the second time in a year, some of Mrs. Killam's works are on display at the Liverpool Library. The library is located at the corner of Liverpool Rd. and Bushmill St., just north of Finch Rd.

Camp Still Taking Registrations

There are still places available for this summer's Christmas Seal Day Camp at Camp Samac, Oshawa. The facility (offered to children between 5 and 9 years old who have asthma or other recurrent respiratory problems) will operate weekdays between Monday, July 15th and Friday, July 26th.

Children with breathing problems frequently miss many ordinary childhood pleasures, and the main objective of the Christmas Seal Summer Camp is to demonstrate that, with only a little extra care, these children can participate as fully in active summer pastimes as their non-asthmatic friends.

All the usual activities associated with camping will be offered under the supervision of five trained Camp staff (including a registered nurse). Cookouts, nature trails, water sports, country crafts and a sleep-over night are all included in this Camp experience. Door-to-door bus transportation is available for children resident in Oshawa and Whitby.

Registration fees for the two week period are $40.00 per child (including transportation), and for families with more than one child attending, this rate is reduced to $20.00 for the second child. In view of current high unemployment in Durham, the Lung Association is prepared to reduce or eliminate fees in individual cases of financial hardship. For more information on this Christmas Seal Service, call Durham Region Lung Association at 723-3151.

Claremont Corners

by Betty Kerman

Winners in the Claremont Lions Harvest Draw, held on Saturday, June 8th, at the Uxbridge Arena were: Jean Drake, Donna Wideman, Ken White, Bettyanne & Ken Meredith, Norrine & Sandy Hill - all of Claremont. Other winners were: Wendy & Andy Cartwright of Stouffville, Donald Rut of Norral, Leasa Burke of Snelgrove, and Debbie Drew of Leaskdale. The Grand Prize Trip winner was Evelyn Peel of Oshawa. Miss Peel is the bank manager of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, in Claremont.

The Claremont Lions Club wishes to thank all those who supported this project.

The tour of historic homes in Pickering, organized by the People or Planes group and interested citizens, to help with the rebuilding of the Miller house was a rousing success. About 500 people toured the homes and buildings, enjoying themselves thoroughly according to the organizers. All the work that the committee did to get the event going, paid off in the good spirits of the guests, the tour guides and the homeowners.

Many people asked if there would be a tour next year. Let's hope this year's success will be carried on for the education and entertainment it provides. Congratulations to the organizers and thanks to the homeowners for their cooperation.

As I mentioned last week, there will be an art program at Greenwood, running from June 24 to 28 for children 8-12. Lessons in drawing, sculpting and painting will be given between 9:30 and 12 noon, at a total cost of $30.00, to a limited enrolment.

Please note there was an error last week and transportation is not provided. Registration is handled through the Pickering Recreational Department.

Twelve girls in the Claremont Guides received their All Round Cord recently. The successful girls were: Nancy Adams, Karen Falkenberg, Pamela Ritchie, Carla Dwyer, Kirstin Nagy, Renee Abrey, Renee Kerman, Sarah Mulveney, Kerry Morrison, Stephanie Wollin, Shannon McGinnis and Barb Reid.

All those with a taste for strawberries are reminded of the 'Lioness' Strawberry Luncheon on Sunday June 23rd at 12:30 p.m. in the Community Hall. For tickets, call Sandy Hill at 649-2653 or Barb Tran at 647-2832.

It looks like a sales trailer for the new housing development south of town is being set up. This construction may just be the beginning of a new era for the village.

On Friday, June 21st, between 4 and 5 p.m. a tea will be held for the parent volunteers at the school. On Thursday, June 27th, there will be a retirement tea from 3 to 5 for Lyn Craig also at the school.

Also retiring this year is Lloyd Linton from his job as a school bus driver after many years of service. Mr. Linton has been a friend to many children and a source of comfort to parents for his safe driving. Both will be missed at the school.

Make The Most Of A Pick-Your-Own Outing

Visiting a pick-your-own farm in Ontario is a good place to enjoy fresh air, sunshine, exercise and some of the freshest produce Ontario has to offer. Foodland Ontario's 1985 Pick-Your-Own

List is quick and easy reference for finding the most conveniently located produce. The farms are grouped according to cities, towns and/or specific areas in the province. In addition, the type of produce available, the name, phone number and travelling directions are given for each farm.

It is important to phone the farm before setting out. Check to ensure that the desired produce is available that day because supplies are always subject to weather conditions. Also it's a good idea to ask about special picnic and children's play areas if you are planning a pick-your-own family outing. Finally, find out if picking containers are available for sale or if you are required to bring your own.

Plan to visit pick-your-own farms early in the day to get the best selection and to beat the heat. Wear cool, comfortable clothing for ease in bending and stretching. Boots for wet fields, hats for shelter from the sun and insect repellent for pesky flies are also part of the pick-your-own enthusiast's gear.

As soon as you arrive at the farm, check with the farmer for directions on how to pick the produce. If you plan to do some preserving, consult with the farmer for which varieties would be best suited to your needs.

Follow these guidelines and you really will be able to make the most of your pick-your-own outings.

Strawberries And Creme Fraiche

1 cup whipping cream
250 ml.
1/3 cup sour cream, or buttermilk 75 ml.
1 quart Ontario Strawberries (4 cups) 1L.

Combine whipping cream and sour cream in glass jar or bowl. Blend thoroughly. Cover tightly and leave at room temperature 24 hours. Refrigerate until serving time. Wash strawberries and leave hulls on. Spoon creme fraiche into serving bowl and arrange strawberries around it on a platter. Makes 1-1 1/3 cups (325 ml.), or 6 servings.

Freezing Ontario Strawberries

Since freezing cannot improve quality of food, select only strawberries at the peak of quality.

Choose firm, red, fully ripened strawberries.

Prepare the strawberries quickly, in small quantities, just before freezing.

Pack the quantities needed for one meal or certain recipes (i.e.

jam, pie).

Methods

Sort, wash in cold water, then hull.

Dry Sugar Pack

Place whole or sliced strawberries in a shallow bowl.

Sprinkle with sugar. Stir briefly and gently until sugar is dissolved.

3/4 cup sugar to 4 cups whole strawberries. Place prepared strawberries in air tight freezer containers or bags. Remove as much air as possible.

Without Sugar

Place whole strawberries in a single layer on shallow trays. Freeze. Package frozen strawberries in freezer containers.

Label with contents, quantity and freezing date. Freeze immediately. This way, the berries will keep for 18 months.

The fresh flavor and firm texture of strawberries are best maintained by freezing sliced strawberries in sugar.

Thaw frozen strawberries in the refrigerator, at room temperature, or submerge frozen container in lukewarm water.

For best results, serve thawed strawberries when still slightly frozen.

Ontario Strawberry Jams

This recipe produces a lightly set, old-fashioned style jam with a fresh strawberry flavour.

Strawberry Jam Ontario Style

4 pounds Ontario strawberries (12 cups prepared)

4 pounds granulated sugar (8 cups)

Rinse, then hull strawberries. Put them into a pot over very gentle heat. Press the berries against the sides of the pot with a wooden spoon to extract the juice. They should be soft in about 10 to 15 minutes. Add the sugar slowly and stir until it is dissolved. Bring the jam to a fast rolling boil and boil it for exactly ten minutes, stirring frequently. Let the jam stand for about five minutes, skim and stir so that the berries will be evenly dispersed through the jam, then pour into hot sterilized jars. Cover at once with 1/8 inch hot paraffin. Cool, then cover with tight lids. Makes about 6 pints.

Too busy for homemade jam? Try this quick and easy recipe that needs no cooking.

Freezer Strawberry Jam

1 quart Ontario strawberries (1 3/4 cups prepared).

4 cups sugar
2 tsp. lemon juice
1/2 bottle liquid fruit

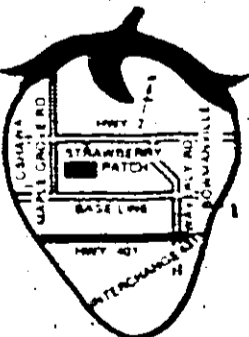

pectin. Rinse, then hull strawberries. In a bowl, thoroughly crush strawberries, one layer at a time. Measure 1 3/4 cups into a large bowl. Add sugar, mix well, then let stand 10 minutes. Add lemon juice and liquid fruit pectin, and continue stirring 3 minutes. (A few sugar crystals will remain). Ladle quickly into glass jars or plastic containers (up to 2 cups capacity each). Cover apace with tight lids. Let stand at room temperature until set (may take up to 24 hours). Store in freezer. Makes about 5 cups. May be refrigerated for up to 2 or 3 weeks.

A variety of arts and crafts, including weaving and quilting, were demonstrated by local volunteers. In addition, visitors had the opportunity to see old steam and gas engines, a grain thresher, and other farm machinery in action. The Pickering Museum Village is open weekends and holidays during the months of June and September. It is open from Wednesday to Sunday and on holidays during the months of July and August. The museum is open between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.
