Some families 'resigned' to missing teens' fate

□ Beer bottle newest 'piece to the puzzle' in teens' lakeshore disappearance

By LINDA WHITE
 STAFF REPORTER
PICKERING — Families of some of six area teens missing more than two weeks are beginning to realize the terrible truth as clues continue to lead investigators to believe the youngsters are dead.
 A beer bottle found Friday by police divers is "an additional piece to the puzzle" in the disappearance and probable fate of the teens.
 "I believe the beer bottle found probably came from the boys," reports Durham Regional Police Detective Sergeant Tom Cameron.
 The full bottle was found by divers near one of two channel markers at the mouth of Frenchman's Bay, where it's believed the teens took a 14-foot imitation Boston Whaler boat and water bicycle for a joy ride on March 17.
 Its discovery is an important element in a trail of clues apparently left by the teens:
 • An empty Wildcat beer bottle — a brand the boys reportedly had with them

EDUCATION
School tax hike lowest in years

□ Public board set to approve average tax increase of .63 per cent in Durham

By LINDA WHITE
 STAFF REPORTER
DURHAM — Public school supporters face one of the lowest tax hikes ever as the board is set to approve a budget that will help outdated schools and put more money into classrooms.

Ruth Ann Schedlich

As the final round of budget talks drew to a close late Monday night, Durham Board of Education trustees approved a draft budget of $366 million which would pass on an average hike of 0.63 per cent on the education portion of property tax bills — or about $8.

If it's rubber-stamped as expected at the board's next regular meeting April 10, Oshawa residents will see their taxes decrease by 0.57 per cent, while those in Brock will be hit with the highest increase of 2.84 per cent.

Ajacians will see a hike of 1.95 per cent, while those in Pickering will see an increase of 1.51 per cent. Whitby residents will see a hike of 0.09 per cent.

(The tax hikes vary because the mill rate, which is based on property assessment, varies widely throughout the region.)
 Highlights from Monday's budget talks:

- Open-concept classrooms at Queen Elizabeth school in Oshawa will be closed in at a cost of $750,000, while those at Woodlands Centennial in Pickering will be closed in at a cost of $500,000.

 • $1 million of last year's operating budget surplus has been earmarked for school renovations.

That issue sparked much debate Monday, as Oshawa trustee Mike Nicholson wanted that money committed to adding general purpose rooms to older elementary schools without gymnasiums.
 But vice-chairman and Pickering trustee Ruth Ann Schedlich convinced colleagues to set that money aside until a June

MISSING TEENS

TRAIL OF CLUES:

March 17: Teens leave friend's party at 12:40 a.m. for Frenchman's Bay.
 March 18: Search of Lake Ontario starts with Labrador helicopter, Hercules C-130 aircraft, Metro police marine unit and Coast Guard.
 March 19: Water bicycle spotted, but no sign of anyone on or near it.
 March 21: Search covering 5,000 square miles of lake scaled down.
 March 25: Volunteers join search of lakeshore between Pickering and Mississauga.
 March 29: Gas can found on American side of Lake Ontario, identified as belonging to 14-foot boat believed taken by boys.
 March 31: Divers find beer bottle believed taken by teens from a docked boat.

Police still in touch with other forces

 when they left a party at a friend's place around 12:40 a.m. with plans to head down to the beach at Frenchman's Bay — was found in a 13-foot open boat docked at a marina at the bottom of Liverpool Road in Pickering.

• A stolen fuel tank was also found in that boat. Because the tank contained an incorrect mixture of gasoline and oil, the motor wouldn't start, according to Det. Sgt. Cameron.

• A lady's bicycle was thrown into the water from that dock, where another boat owner reported the theft of a 12-pack of beer from his boat the night the teens disappeared. It contained about six full bottles of Carling Ice beer — the brand discovered by divers.

"It was a relatively fresh bottle," reports Det. Sgt. Cameron. Though a label on the neck of the bottle was missing, its main label was still intact and there was no rust on its cap.

The discovery of the bottle could mean "something unusual happened (because) you don't usually chuck full bottles of beer into the lake," but it could also have been dropped as it was passed from the boat to the water bicycle, Det. Sgt. Cameron speculates.

Divers were unable to locate any other clues, despite additional searches in the channel Saturday and Sunday.

A five-gallon tank was found floating upside down at the water's edge near Wilson, New York, last Wednesday afternoon.

It has been positively identified as belonging to the missing boat by its owner.

Det. Sgt. Cameron called the discovery of the gas tank "the first concrete piece of evidence that would suggest some accident has occurred," leading him to speculate last week that it's unlikely the six are still alive.

Durham police are still in touch with other police departments and will check any items that wash up on the shores of Lake Ontario.

Though no personal belongings have yet been found, "some families are more resigned to what has apparently occurred than others," notes Det. Sgt. Cameron.

While he's "not telling any mother she shouldn't have hope," Det. Sgt. Cameron "would like to be able to assist them by providing irrefutable proof and let them get on."

Missing are Robbie Rumbolt, 17, Jay Boyle, 17, and Chad Smith, 18, all of Pickering, Danny Higgins, 16, of Ajax, Jamie Lefebvre, 17, of Scarborough and formerly of Ajax, and Michael Cummins, 17, of Oshawa.

Volunteer searchers continue to scour the shoreline for clues. Call the search hotline at 831-3230 if you want to help.

Doctors take 'Rae Days' while hospital readies for more patients

□ Area residents express anger at provincial government, doctors who plan to withdraw services

By SAL BOMMARITO
SPECIAL TO THE NEWS ADVERTISER

AJAX-PICKERING - People are sick of Ontario Premier Bob Rae's Social Contract, especially when it means budget cuts to health care.

That's the consensus among medical patients who'll have to make do without their doctors' care for three days in April (April 6, 7 and 17) and one day in May (May 23) because of Social Contract cuts.

Emergency medical care will be available at Ajax and Pickering General Hospital, which will have extra staff on hand to handle the additional patients expected on those days, according to hospital president Bruce Cliff.

"We're expecting our emergency department will be busier than usual and are staffing it accordingly," said Mr. Cliff.

Mr. Cliff says some elective surgery at the hospital has been rescheduled because of the Rae days, while major operations will proceed as usual.

However, some people feel a trip to the hospital instead of to their family physician for medical care is a major inconvenience.

"It takes you hours when you go to the hospital to see a doctor," complains Pickering resident John McLeod.

Those sentiments were echoed by Pickering resident Arlene McNeil, a mother of two young children, who dreads having to take them to the emergency room instead of their family physician.

"I don't think the health-care system should suffer," because of government cutbacks, she says.

Ajax residents are equally angered by the Social Contract's impact on the level of medical care they receive.

"I don't think much of it (doctors' Rae days). If somebody gets hurt and needs a doctor, they can't get in (to see their doctor)," says Denver Hamilton.

"It's disgusting," says Hugh Morton. "I don't like Rae days. It's a danger to the public. I blame the provincial government. They're trying to cut back on everything."

Whitby resident Catherine Bremner, the mother of a disabled child, says she's concerned with the future of the health-care system in general, which she says is being eroded by government cutbacks.

"I'm not so concerned at this moment as I am with the future," she says.

She accuses Mr. Rae of making cuts to health care, while increasing spending for new roads, better train service and a new court house in Durham Region.

"There needs to be more accountability by politicians," she says.

Area residents are encouraged to contact their family doctor for information regarding their plans.

report which will rank recommended elementary school renovations and a fall report which will suggest upgrades to schools aged 30 years and older.

Trustees agreed to finance those renovations over two years in order to reduce the average tax hike from 1.2 per cent.

• Principals will see a three-per cent increase in their block budgets, used to purchase such things as textbooks and computers. That means $164,000 will be spent at high schools and another $169,000 will be spent at elementary schools.

Principals will also be given $500 to establish parent councils, a Royal Commission on Learning recommendation. (The board expects to spend another $10,000 to $12,000 training staff to establish and oversee those councils.)

• Mileage rates will remain at the 1991 level of 31¢ a kilometre, though trustee Nicholson wanted it decreased by 2¢. An annual savings of $32,000 would have been achieved at the cost of morale, trustees decided.

School tax hikes
1990: 14.8%
1991: 6.9%
1992: 3.7%
1993: 4.5%
1994: 1.6%

• Outdoor education remains unchanged, though Oshawa trustee Ken Ridge asked staff to consider using "first-class outdoor areas within minutes of schools," such as marshes. That would cut the cost of busing students to environmental centres and reduce the waiting list of schools wanting to attend those centres.

Finance committee chairman and Scugog trustee Bobbie Drew says the board's lowest tax hike in years was made possible by increased funding from the Province, social contract savings, and previous budget cuts, such as high school bus passes.

EDITORIAL Good news

Public school supporters in Ajax and Pickering can breathe a little easier this week with news that their school board has pared the final draft budget increase down to an average of 0.63 per cent.

That nearly completes the trio of elements that make up your tax bill every year. Durham Region reported last week it is closing in on a zero increase and the Towns of Ajax and Pickering have struck budgets which also hit that target.

Bearing in mind that property tax assessment formulas vary widely throughout Durham, you may indeed face a slight increase this year in the education portion of your property tax bill. In Ajax, for instance, taxpayers will pay 1.95 per cent more and in Pickering, they'll pay 1.51 per cent more. (Those in Brock will be hit with the highest increase of 2.84 per cent.)

An increase as small as the one the public board has come up sounds good because we've come to expect higher increases from our governments. But we're not sure there should have been an increase at all.

The taxpayer has been crying foul in recent years about board expenditures at the administrative level, most notably the grandiose education headquarters on Taunton Road. Has the board really done all it could to keep expenses under control? Could more have been trimmed from an overstuffed bureaucracy?

We suspect so. And once the Province sets a new budget, one which will surely contain deep cuts in transfer payments to the municipalities, there are bound to be changes to the board's plans.

In preparation for those cuts we think the board should start right now with a review of every department at the administrative level -- because when it comes time to cut, the axe should be sharpened on the floor of the administration.

Find those missing kids!

To the editor:

It's a national disgrace that the federal government's responsibility for rescue by air (RCAF) and water (Coast Guard) was amazingly weak in its attempt to search Lake Ontario for six missing teenagers. Let's get those soldiers back out there searching. If they can find a Spanish trawler on the Atlantic, they should be able to find a motorboat on Lake Ontario.

Fax Jean Chretien's office in Ottawa with regards to this matter. It's not a secret, it's 613-941-6900. It costs about $4, but it's the fastest way. Or write or phone him.

Federal cuts are alarming

To the editor:

Re: The Martin federal budget.

I'm alarmed at the reaction toward the cuts contained in the federal budget. It seems people believe that because personal taxes did not increase, everything is OK.

The reduction of transfer payments will have a major impact on public services and agency services provided in our province.

I'm also amazed at the public perception that it's okay to downsize the federal public service by 45,000 jobs. This view assumes there are 45,000 government employees sitting some place twiddling their thumbs. I assume these people provide a service. What is the long-range impact on our society when these services are no longer provided?

People I know employed on the front lines of public service have never been as busy providing service to the public as they are now. This constant, organized attack against the public service is demoralizing its employees.

It appears to me that we're headed toward a situation where we will be saying 'what public services are we going to do without?' Health, education, clean water, roads, jails -- the list could go on.

Man files suit against Durham police

DURHAM - An $8.5-million lawsuit against Durham Regional Police and the Children's Aid Society has been filed by a man claiming he is being wrongfully prosecuted for sex assault in a case involving his three-year-old daughter.

The Scarborough man is claiming damages for false arrest, wrongful imprisonment, malicious prosecution and abuse of process.

According to a statement of claim filed in provincial court, last October he was arrested and charged with sexual assault and interference, then imprisoned while police investigated. The lawsuit names Durham police officers Debbie White, Lynn Kantautas and Chief Trevor McCagherly. It also names Maria D'Assisi of the Children's Aid Society of Durham Region.

In the statement of claim it states that Durham officers relied on the "unreasonable evidence of the plaintiff's three-year-old daughter in arresting, charging, detaining, imprisoning and subsequently prosecuting the plaintiff." Chief McCagherly said he has no knowledge of the claim.

Inquest into death of Pickering man begins

PICKERING — An inquest is under way into the death of a Pickering man killed in 1992 while working at an underground Toronto Hydro switching station. Thomas Vanderstarren, 31, died when a transformer in the underground station at Main and Danforth Streets in Toronto exploded shortly after midnight on Oct. 16, 1992.

The father of three was with a work crew helping to replace the leaking transformer. The explosion occurred when he went into the vault to turn a switch to ground the transformer. Toronto Hydro pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to maintain equipment in good condition. An investigation determined the transformer, which was about 30 years old, had not been properly maintained. Hydro was fined $200,000 for a violation of the Occupational Health and Safety Act. The inquest began Monday at the coroner's court in Toronto. It's expected to last three weeks.

The Recycler's Report

During their regular business luncheon, members of the Ajax-Pickering Board of Trade had the opportunity to gather information on waste audits in order to comply with the government's 3Rs regulations. Guest speaker Jane Rowbotham from Laidlaw not only explained the importance and procedure of such audits but also illustrated several examples of companies which realized big savings in waste disposal fees.

This month the world will celebrate the international 25th anniversary of Earth Day. Earth Day was first declared on April 22, 1970 when U.S. Senator Gaylord Nelson encouraged students to stage environmental awareness projects in their communities. The health of the environment affects every human action, and concern for the environment involves every sector of human endeavor. Get involved with your colleagues, friends or as an individual. Contact or send a donation to an environmental group. Start composting. Organize a litter pick-up. Plant a tree. You can make a difference.

MAKE ROOM FOR BABY T.V. AUCTION

HELD

from 7:00 p.m.

until April 1 11:30 p.m.

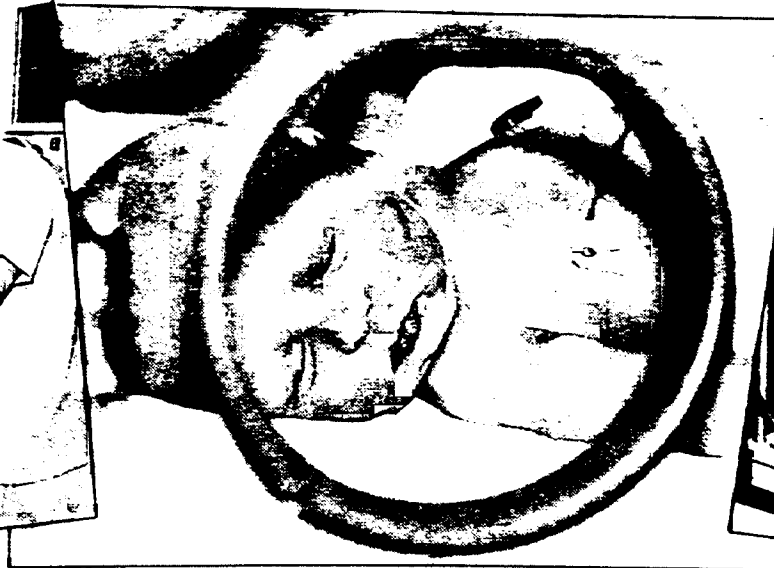

Make Room For Baby Auction "Better Than Ever"

The phones were always busy at the Make Room For Baby Auction but operators Ken Shaw of CFTO and Tracy Paterson, former Executive Director of the Ajax Pickering Hospital Foundation took a break for the camera. In the photos below you can see the wonderful care given to infants in the Maternal and Newborn Services where the money raised from the auction will be donated.

At left, a donation to the foundation guarantees a spot on the Stork Donor Wall for your newborn.

Photos by A. J. Groen and Ron Pietroniro

Thanks to the generous donors, sponsors, enthusiastic volunteers and strong support from the community, the second Make Room for Baby Television Auction raised more than $59,000 for Maternal and New Born Services at Ajax and Pickering General Hospital.

On Friday, March 31, and Saturday April 1 the citizens of Ajax and Pickering tuned into the Auction and bid big on approximately 600 donated items. A trip to London and a family trip to Florida were among the big ticket items, while lucky collectors were able to snatch up a signed Doug Gilmour sweater and a signed Elvis Stoyko picture.

"We're delighted by the results," says

Diana Hills and Earl Dusak, co-chairs of the Auction committee. "On behalf of the Foundation and the Auction Committee, we want to say thank you to everyone who donated gifts of their time. Thank you as well to everyone who tuned in to the Auction."

Last year's auction raised $40,000 for Maternal and Newborn Services

Last chance to audition for Theatre Durham production

□ Stage troupe seeks actors for upcoming comedy-drama Love Letters

DURHAM — There's still time to audition for Theatre Durham's next production.

The final audition for prospective performers for the troupe's comedy-drama Love Letters is this Wednesday at the Pickering Recreation Complex, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Written by A.R. Gurney, Love Letters focuses on two characters who read correspondence they wrote to each other 50 years ago.

The play is directed by Felicia Migliore, an acclaimed director who's worked with the Markham Little Theatre.

The cast will include one man and one woman, each aged 25 to 60. However, there's a possibility the director may cast four actors for the two parts, with each pair of performers working one week of the play's two-week run.

For more information, call the director at 294-5373.

Led by John Foote, the president of Theatre Durham, the workshop started on Monday and will continue April 10, 17 and 24.

Cost is $40.

A WEEKLY GUIDE TO DINING & ENTERTAINMENT

Enjoy the great food and 50's nostalgia at The Diner On Harwood

A visit to The Diner On Harwood is a visit to a kinder gentler era.

A time of family, simplicity and when a friendly smile was filled with sincerity.

"We wanted to create a 50's style family diner," says owner Ted Manikas. "We wanted it to be simple, comfortable. We want our customers to feel at home."

Both Ted and partner Gus Limniatis did a lot of research to get the right look which includes a combination of pastel colours, checkered floors, a chrome stool bar and the trademark juke box in the back.

Of course what has made The Diner On Harwood a success since opening Feb. 6 is the food.

"Customers love the food because of the taste and the huge portions," says Gus. "We give a very big plate and what you can't eat you can take home."

On the menu is the oldies but goodies including sandwiches both hot and cold, lunch and dinner specials including soup or salads with favorites such as New York Steak, meat loaf, lamb chops, souvlaki, home made burgers and spaghetti with a sauce from a family recipe dating back 150 years.

Children aren't stuck with the same old children's menu at The Diner On Harwood. They can have anything on the menu in a smaller portion for almost half the price.

"Also if something is not on the menu," says Ted. "And if we have the ingredients we will make it for you."

Gus Limniatis and Ted Manikas, owners of The Diner On Harwood

For breakfast the "Heaven on Harwood" special for $3.95 features 3 eggs, choice of ham, sausage and bacon, Texas toast and home fries like you've never tasted anywhere else. Another family secret.

For those watching their calories there's the Dieters Delight of 2 poached eggs, whole wheat toast, fresh fruit in season and of course with all breakfast selections, fresh brewed coffee.

Students are always welcome to come for lunch and enjoy the selection of tunes on the juke box from the 50's to the 90's

The Diner on Harwood is located at 64 Harwood Ave. S. and is open seven days a week. Tel. 427-3251.

Slean, mean scoring machine

Dunbarton Spartans' Mike Slean charges toward the basket during the annual high school all-star game at Durham College in Oshawa last Thursday. Auguste Deonarine, Khary Adams, Quincy Providence and Bob Donahue were other local players on the west all-stars.

Third Pickering grappler pins down national meet medal

PICKERING — Another Pickering wrestler has pinned down a medal at the national level.

Bruno Azevedo, 16, a Dunbarton High School student, captured the bronze medal at the Canadian Cadet/Junior Wrestling Championships at the University of Western Ontario in London last weekend.

Azevedo, wrestling in the junior (16 and 17 years) category at 68 kilograms, vied for third place against old nemesis Chris Denish of the E.C.

Drury Wrestling Club in Milton. In the end, Azevedo emerged victorious by a 7-0 score.

In winning the bronze medal, Azevedo avenged a stinging defeat at the hands of Denish at last year's Canadian Cadet Wrestling Championships. There, Azevedo lost the gold-medal match to Denish in sudden-death overtime.

In total, Azevedo wrestled in seven matches en route to the bronze medal at the national junior level.

Azevedo's medal is the third won by area wrestlers on the national stage this season. Last month, Kerry Ashley, 19, of Pickering, earned gold medals in both freestyle and Greco Roman wrestling at the Canadian Senior Wrestling Championships in Saskatoon. Sean Pierson, 18, also of Pickering, earned a bronze medal at the national wrestling showcase.

Azevedo is a member of the Oshawa Olympic Wrestling Club.

Bankers cash in, Roofers cave in AJAX-PICKERING — One blowout and a close contest were featured in the Ajax Ladies' Recreational Basketball League last week.

The Bank of Montreal downed Danforth Roofing Supply 38-29. Joanna Reardon scored 12 points for the Bankers and Ginny MacLennan answered with seven for the Roofers.

In a closer contest, Dakota Bob's edged the Alumni Club 29-28. Debi Bonar had eight points for Dakota Bob's and Anne Whitehead replied with 15 for Alumni Club.

That Card is Cash

In the late 1600's, Canada's first settlers in Canada counted their assets in decks of playing cards, the only paper money they had. They traded these cards in various denominations for the goods and services they needed.

Ironically, three-hundred years later, cards have again become a major medium of exchange, with credit card purchases accounting for 75 per cent of our disposable income. Canadians also use banking cards to make 280 million automated banking transactions a year, such as withdrawing or depositing account funds, moving money between accounts, or simply paying utility bills.

With that degree of reliance on plastic, it's easy to forget that those cards represent cash, and their ease of use can easily lull us into abuse. Here are some tips to help you avoid unnecessary losses with credit or bank cards.

Credit Cards

- If you're using your credit card to pay for goods over the telephone, be sure you know both the company and the person who takes your credit card number. Check for the items you have purchased when your credit card statement comes in.
- When signing a blank credit card slip as a guarantee or deposit, e.g., for the rental of a VCR or hotel room, be sure the receipt is destroyed when you return the equipment or check out.
- More credit cards are stolen in the workplace than in any other location. Be sure your wallet or purse is safely locked away when it's not with you.
- As soon as you receive a new credit card, sign the back of it. This prevents a thief from using your card fraudulently.
- Always check your card when it is returned to you. Hotels, stores, restaurants and other credit card merchants must often serve several customers at one time. With all the cards being handled, you could easily receive someone else's.
- Don't lend your credit card to a relative or friend. Your relationship could be compromised if the card is misused.

- Always destroy unwanted or expired cards so they can't be re-used if found after you've disposed of them.
- Keep a complete list of all your credit card numbers. This will simplify reporting procedures if ever your wallet or purse is lost or stolen. Some credit card issuers, automobile clubs or others offer credit card registry service which means just one call if you lose all your cards.

Bank Cards

We often think of automated banking machine cards simply as a means of access to money. In fact, a banking card is the key to your account. Would anyone treat the key to his home lightly?

- To gain access to your account, you need both the card and the personal identification number (PIN) assigned to it. Only you should know that number.
- Never write your personal identification number on your card or anywhere in your wallet or purse. Memorize it.
- When using a banking machine, tilt the screen viewer to the angle of your vision and stand squarely in front of the machine. This prevents others from reading confidential account information.

• Even if you dispose of banking machine receipts, don't leave them on the counter after completing your transaction.

Someone after you will have full information on your account balance.

The Breakfast of Champions

Sponsored by: Canada Trust

Canada Trust may be thinking like a customer but also tends to think like a business partner as well. Canada Trust hosted its own version of the Academy Awards this week at Papp's family restaurant on Hwy. 2 and Brock Road. Mortgage Manager Paul Cullen orchestrated a Breakfast of Champions for twenty of Ajax-Pickering's top producing realtors. "When you perform at peak levels for any period of time, the reward is almost always the recognition," says Cullen who along with sales manager Kathy Uden, were proud to present the Canada Trust award of performance. "Basically we wanted to acknowledge the top producers for their sales achievement and contribution." Uden goes on to say "With the housing industry on a continuous struggle to regain momentum, performers that excel in these times need to be recognized at all levels." Canada Trust is also leading an aggressive campaign to develop an in home/remote mortgage sales team. The emphasis is on providing more user friendly services. "Residential mortgages have in the past, been available at the lending institution's hours of operation," says Cullen "Realtors and the public alike not only demand an on call service but deserve it as well. That's where we can handle the task at hand, usually in the comfort of the client's home or office." The Breakfast of Champions was attended by Canada Trust Assistant Vice President, Ray Eady and guest speaker Ronn James of Real Estate's Most Wanted.
