Boy finds handgun in Pickering

PICKERING — A loaded handgun, possibly used in a weekend carjacking, was found by an eight-year-old boy Sunday, say Durham Regional Police.

Police said a 30-year-old Toronto man was picking up a friend on Geta Circle about 11 p.m. Saturday when he was attacked by a thug brandishing a handgun and demanding the gold jewelry he was wearing.

After a brief struggle, the victim and his girlfriend ran to a nearby variety store to call police, while the suspect and an accomplice got into the victim's Honda and drove off, police said.

About noon Sunday, an eight-year-old came home and handed his father a loaded .22-calibre handgun, along with keys belonging to the carjacking victim, which the boy had found near Geta Circle, police said.

The investigation is continuing.

PICKERING — Ajax High School Rams' ball carrier Ryan Harding attempts to break the grip of two St. Stephen's tacklers at Pine Ridge Secondary School during playoff action in the Lake Ontario Secondary School Athletics (LOSSA) 'B' developmental rugby division Wednesday. The contest wasn't completed due to a serious injury to a player from the Bowmanville school. It was reported the player dislocated his femur. The game was part of several playoff games played at the Pickering school.

Durham tests its disaster readiness

Emergency workers put through paces in mock emergency

BY JACQUIE McINNES
Staff Writer

DURHAM — New provincial legislation will soon require annual drills of emergency plans but officials here, who were in testing mode Thursday, say it's been standard procedure in Durham for a long time.

"It's something we've been doing for many years," Scott Berry, an Ontario Power Generation (OPG) spokesman said. "It's not in response to recent international events."

The emergency response exercise was held at Whitby's Iroquois Park Sports Centre, one of three emergency worker centres designated in the event of a serious accident at the Pickering or Darlington Nuclear Generating stations. The Whitby recreation complex serves as a decontamination centre for emergency workers who would be required to perform duties within the 10 kilometre primary zone surrounding the nuclear plants. Any worker, including emergency, works department and hydro personnel or bus drivers required to work in the affected area during a nuclear emergency, would report to the centre. There they'd receive a radiation reading, and if required, decontamination of themselves and their vehicles.

The Thursday exercise was based on a simulated response to a loss of coolant at the Pickering station where an off-site evacuation was required due to a radiation release in the accident.

"This particular scenario today is way beyond a design-basis accident," said Bruce Nagy, emergency preparation officer for OPG. "We had to fail a number of safety systems to get the conditions necessary to set up the emergency worker centre. This is highly unlikely - one in seven million reactor years of operation."

There has never been an off-site radiation release in North America, although at Three Mile Island nuclear fa-

Tuberculosis diagnosis leads to tests for 150 in Durham

DURHAM — More than 150 people, including young children, are being tested for tuberculosis after a Clarington resident was diagnosed with an active case of the respiratory disease May 17.

Prior to diagnosis the patient made "several visits to Lakeridge Health Bowmanville's emergency and after-hours clinic," says Dr. Donna Reynolds, associate medical officer of health for Durham Region. The Durham Health Department and the hospital are working to contact all patients and those people who may have accompanied the patients to the hospital and inadvertently come into contact with the infected person, she says.

For one family, news of the exposure has been very upsetting. Five-year-old Tyler Srigley, who came into contact with the TB patient while at LHB's emergency department May 13, already has a weakened immune system, says his mother Colleen. Tyler has a long history of medical problems that most recently includes a tumour on the side of his head.

"He's been a very sick little boy. He's had a really rough life," says Tyler's mom. "I'm really upset by the whole situation." Although Ms. Srigley and all three of her children have undergone one preliminary test for TB, they must take another test 12 weeks after the exposure before health officials can tell them for certain if they contracted the disease, a bacterium that generally infects the lungs. Tyler and his 11-month-old brother Ryan must both undergo three months of antibiotics and vitamin B6 treatment as a preventative measure.

"Those with impaired immune systems or those under the age of six are recommended to start preventive antibiotics without waiting the 12 weeks," says Dr. Reynolds, because they can become far more ill from the disease if they do contract it. Healthy older children and adults are at much lower risk because contracting tuberculosis is less likely and it's less serious for those individuals, she says. "The risk of transmission, even in these settings, is still very low," she emphasizes. "But we don't want to take any chances."

Two clinics are being set up in Bowmanville on Monday, June 5 and Tuesday, June 6 where those contacted can be tested. Alternatively their family doctors can conduct the test. Everyone who may have come into contact with the patient is being notified, Dr. Reynolds says. The general public does not need to be alarmed, she adds. All health care workers who were in contact with the patient as well as family and friends of the victim will be tested also, she says.

Although more than half of all identified cases of tuberculosis are found in immigrants, in this case the patient is Canadian-born, says Dr. Reynolds. It is believed the person "was likely infected while travelling in an endemic country," says Dr. Reynolds. "It does remind us we live in a global village. The chance of being exposed to this disease is less common in Canada but the risk must be acknowledged."

Travellers from Canada are not currently tested when they return to the country, says Dr. Reynolds. There is a vaccine for those travelling for extended periods of time. Alternatively, travellers can have a test prior to and after returning from their trip to determine if they have been exposed and require medication.

Immigrants are tested for tuberculosis prior to admission to Canada. Those with active TB are not allowed into the country. Those with dormant TB - about one-third of the world's population - are allowed to immigrate but must be monitored by the area health department in the municipality where they settle.

Ajax, Pickering team up to tee off for hospital

BY AL RIVETT
Sports Editor

DURHAM — At no other time in the six-year history of the Pickering Town Centre Mayors' Charity Golf Classic has the success of the event been more critical.

This year, proceeds from the annual event that brings together the mayors of Ajax and Pickering, the Durham Region chairman, corporate sponsors and a host of volunteers, will go towards expansion of the emergency department at Rouge Valley Ajax and Pickering hospital.

The classic is at the Cherry Downs Golf and Country Club, in north Pickering, on Thursday, Sept. 12, with over 200 golfers expected to take part.

With the hospital's emergency department overextended by more than 20,000 visits per year, the need for expansion is indisputable.

"The fact that the hospital is over capacity means we have to raise a lot of money in this community to make (the expansion) happen for the benefit of the communities.

Everyone needs the services of a top-quality hospital," said Ajax Mayor Steve Parish in an interview Wednesday afternoon following the press conference at the Pickering Town Centre for the event's kickoff.

Pickering Mayor Wayne Arthurs echoed Parish's comments, noting the need for the funds the golf classic will provide has never been greater.

"This is a major fund-raiser in the community and it has always been highly successful," he said in an interview.

"It's critically important that the tournament raises a lot of money — enough dollars to preserve the quality of health care in our communities."

Spokesman Katie Cronin-Wood said the hospital's foundation is responsible for raising $34 million to support the approximately $90-million expansion at the two Rouge Valley hospital sites (the other is Centenary in east Scarborough).

She reported 51 per cent of the $34 million has already been raised.

She noted Rouge Valley is expecting an imminent funding announcement from the provincial government for approximately $56 million for expansion projects.

Again this year, a host of community-minded corporate sponsors — including the Ajax-Pickering News Advertiser — have stepped forward to provide the event with the kind of clout needed to make it one of the biggest fund-raising vehicles in Durham Region. Among the corporate donors are lead sponsor, Pickering Town Centre, RBC Royal Bank, Ontario Power Generation, Cherry Downs and Sears.

In the past six years, the classic has raised $675,000, all of which has supported the purchase of vital medical equipment for the hospital.

Tournament chairman Allan Arsenault, general manager of the Pickering Town Centre, was happy to report the 18-hole course is full for the event. The executive, nine-hole course still has spaces remaining.

To participate in the tournament or to make a donation, call the Rouge Valley Health System Foundation at 905-683-2320 ext. 1501.

Durham officials 'have to be ready' in case of emergency cility in the United States, young children and pregnant women were evacuated as a precaution after an accident there in March 1979. The total release at the perimeter of the nuclear site during that incident was 1/100 of the exposure allowed in a year for a plant worker.

Still, if the unthinkable ever happened, the agencies involved are in a state of readiness, says Dave Selby, Durham Regional Police Services spokesman. "That's what we do, that's what we prepare to do and that's what we're trained to do. You have to be ready and it's not something you should take lightly."

Although the exercise is not meant to test the people but the systems, it is a good opportunity for members of the various organizations to get an understanding of the process, says Mr. Nagy.

Six Durham service groups - Durham Emergency Measures Office, Durham Regional Police, Durham Emergency Medical Services, Whitby Fire and Emergency Services, Durham Region Works Department and Ontario Power Generation - participated in the Iroquois Park exercise.

"The exercise highlights areas needing clarification and additional support and training," says Steve Marchi, Durham Emergency Measures Office (DEMO) training and education co-ordinator. Volunteers from the agencies act as participants in the mock scenario.

Some participants were sent into the community, then returned to Iroquois Park where vehicles and hands were scanned for contamination. If the vehicle was found to be "contaminated", the driver was directed to a car wash in the south parking lot, where it was sprayed down with water before being retested. Once the vehicles are cleared, the occupants must go through their own decontamination process. Depending where on the body contamination is found, that process can be as simple as washing their hands with soap and water or being vacuumed down to remove particles from clothing or could mean a full shower.

This exercise is just one of many conducted every year by DEMO. On June 7, the Region will conduct a public evacuation exercise in Scugog using volunteers from a local high school.

Durham high school class sizes perfectly average

Public, separate boards report class size just over 21 students

DURHAM — The average class in their 25 secondary schools is made up of 21.24 students, according to the Durham public and Catholic school boards.

The Education Ministry requires boards to report the average class size in an interim report in December and a final report in April. Last year the Province allowed boards to increase the number from 21 to a maximum of 22 students per class on average.

Last week's board meeting agendas contained average high school class size reports for both the Durham Catholic District School Board and the Durham District School Board.

At the public board, the average class is 21.05 students.

The smallest high school, Cartwright in Scugog Township, also has the lowest average class, 14.92 students. Central Collegiate Institute in Oshawa was next at 18.08, followed by Uxbridge Secondary School (19.48), and Whitby's Henry Street High School (19.91).

At the other end of the spectrum, O'Neill Collegiate and Vocational Institute in Oshawa has an average class size of 23.16, the highest in the board. The typical class at Pine Ridge Secondary School in Pickering has 22.61 students, while Pickering High School in Ajax has an average of 22.36 students per class.

The average class in the Catholic board's seven high schools is 21.43.

Class sizes are lowest at Monsignor Paul Dwyer in Oshawa, an average of 20.55 students. The average is 21.15 students per class at Ajax's Archbishop Denis O'Connor Catholic High School, 21.38 at Notre Dame Catholic Secondary School, also in Ajax, and at Monsignor John Pereyma Catholic Secondary School in Oshawa, the average is 21.47.

The highest class size is 22.13 at All Saints Catholic Secondary School in Whitby, followed by Father Leo J. Austin Catholic Secondary School in Whitby (22.08) and 21.56 at Pickering's St. Mary Catholic Secondary School.

RCMP probe gold mine murder

BY STEPHEN SHAW
Staff Writer

PICKERING — RCMP officials say they are close to an arrest in a murder that occurred at a B.C. gold mine 10 years ago in which a Pickering man is their prime suspect.

Albert Hrabchuk, 43, disappeared Aug. 20, 1992 after leaving his Prince George, B.C. residence to attend his mining claim about 45 kilometres southeast.

Three days later the victim's charred body was discovered inside his burned-out vehicle near the remote property.

Investigation showed Mr. Hrabchuk, who was married with two teenaged sons, was shot to death and his car and his body was set on fire in an attempt to destroy evidence, said a Mountie, speaking on condition he not be named.

He said Mr. Hrabchuk had been embroiled in a "dispute over territory" with a neighbouring landowner, which police believe led to the killing.

"They were both gold miners. There was a dispute over the land and one man was shot and killed within the mining claims," said the source.

A suspect later relocated to Ontario and settled in Pickering, he said, adding scientific advances led to a recent breakthrough in the case.

"We were able to do some things with DNA we weren't able to do in the past and that certainly contributed (to new developments)."

Members of the RCMP's Prince George north district major crime unit are currently in the region working with the assistance of Durham Regional Police.

Durham Relay for Life runs at 7 p.m.

OSHAWA — People will be walking through the night tonight, Friday, to raise funds for cancer research in the Relay For Life, starting at 7 p.m. at the Civic Fields.

About 100 teams will take part in the 12-hour, non-competitive relay. Family, friends and co-workers will take turns walking the track in the second annual Relay in Durham Region.

At 10 p.m., more than 2,000 candles will be lit.

Butt out, at least for today anyway

So many health reasons for taking up the habit of World No Tobacco Day

If you smoke, why not take a break from your habit, at least until tomorrow?

While you're at it, take the time to reflect on the ramifications of your decision to smoke and the benefits you can gain by quitting once and for all.

Today is World No Tobacco Day, a concerted effort on the part of the World Health Organization (WHO) to get billions around the world to pause from their puffing for at least 24 hours. While the long-term destructive health effects of smoking to the smoker are well-known, WHO is emphasizing the damage second-hand smoke causes to loved ones and innocent bystanders, forced to share breathing space with smokers.

WHO says about 700 million children, nearly half the world's population of youngsters, must put up with second-hand smoke. The organization also says second-hand smoke is known to cause sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS), low birth-weight babies, bronchitis, pneumonia, other lower respiratory tract infections, and middle ear disease.

For adults, the news isn't much better. Second-hand smoke has been linked to heart disease, lung cancer and nasal sinus cancer. There are even studies that show a connection between second-hand smoke and breast cancer and stroke. In Canada each year, it is estimated second-hand smoke exposure kills approximately 330 non-smokers from lung cancer, while 2,000 more die from heart disease due to exposure.

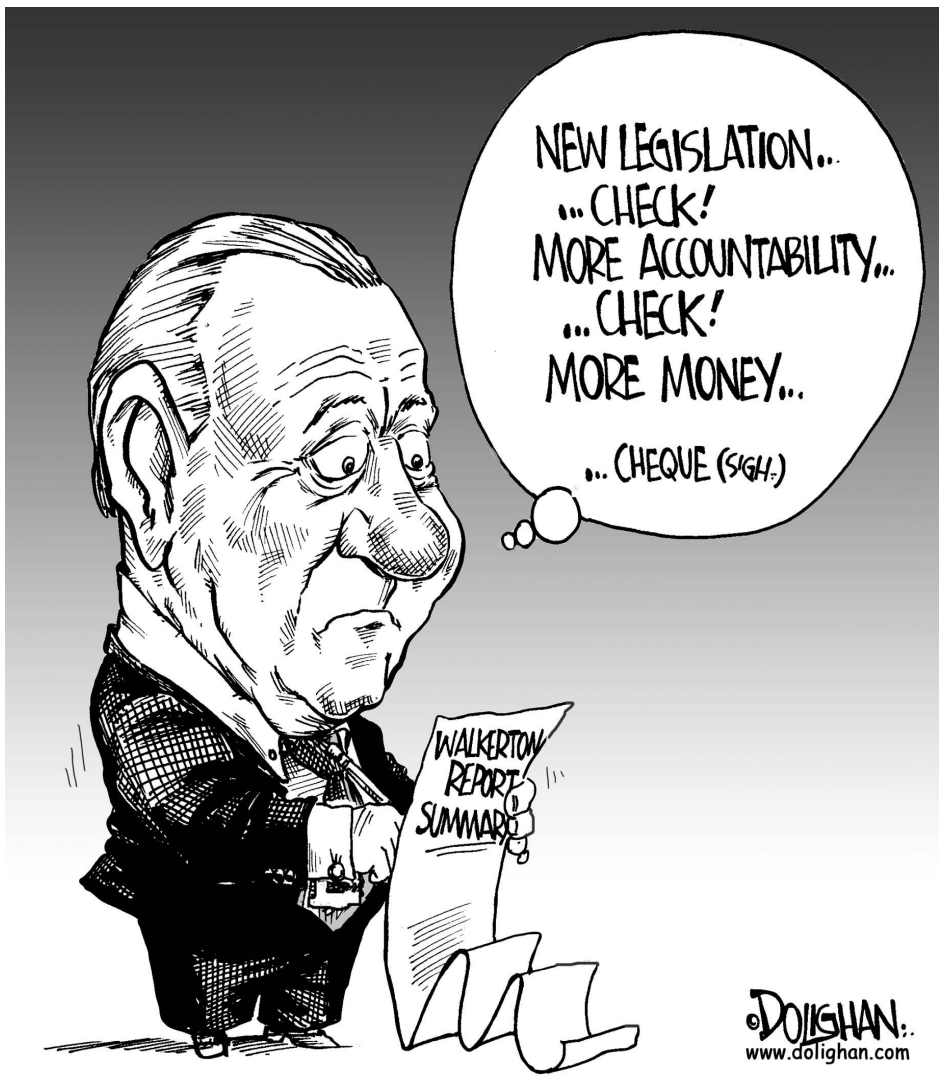

The Ontario Medical Association, in a 1997 position paper, says exposure to second-hand smoke is the third leading preventable cause of death.

There are many other reasons to give up smoking.

In addition to the mountain of evidence detailing the health risks, those who puff are finding it more difficult than ever to find a public place to smoke. Every year, more and more municipalities and regions make the decision to ban smoking in restaurants and bars. Already, Toronto and Ottawa have instituted bans. Durham Region is in the midst of fashioning a regionwide bylaw that may ban smoking in local bars and restaurants. The time is long past when smokers could light up inside businesses, malls and public buildings.

Smokers are becoming, slowly but surely, a distinct minority in our society. The latest Durham Region Health Department survey numbers show just 20 per cent of adults in Durham smoke on an everyday basis. The trend has been downward over the past few decades and non-smoking campaigns, in addition to bylaws and societal pressures, indicate it will continue to drop.

Give up smoking, for today at least. You may find it's a habit you can well live without.

Time to take note of development plans

To the editor:

Re: 'Environmentalists should choose battles carefully,' Martin Derbyshire column, May 26.

It seems Mr. Derbyshire doesn't remember his April 24 article in which he reports the Seaton lands in north Pickering are "slated for development of a community with a population of approximately 90,000."

In criticizing local environmental groups he states environmental planning "can be done without acting like the sky is falling just because a developer wants to build a few homes beside a golf course."

Can 90,000 people fit into a few homes? Maybe the environmentalists he is criticizing are concerned the sudden influx of so many people into our community will create hazards for all of us. Do any of us want to share Hwy. 401 during rush hour or GO trains with double the commuters? What will happen to the Seaton trails that so many have come to enjoy? Isn't it time we all took note of exactly what is occurring, and make a stand? Write or e-mail your councillors and make your opinion known.

Society changed drastically once children were permitted to call Mrs. Cleaver by her first name, June. I recall serious conversations with my friends about what kind of children we were not going to raise.

Like many prospective parents, I thought we were going to make a better world by raising our children differently. Unanimously, we agreed it is just appalling how some children behave in public. Contemplating parenthood, I made tons of mental notes to self: never give in to child screaming for candy in the checkout line; never yell at child in front of other people; never resort to bribery when asking a child to cooperate; and never let children call adults by their first name. Coincidently, all of those notes seem to have been lost along the way.

Somewhere between bringing my children home from the hospital and today, it occurred to me child and parent do not always read the same manual when it comes to parenthood. For instance, in my version of the manual, I agree to feed, clothe, love, and provide a nurturing environment for my child. In turn, the child will show appreciation by picking up belongings, taking on small tasks to help out with daily routines, and will never attempt to argue or negotiate his or her way out of their part of the deal.

There are obvious flaws with this arrangement. Various stages of parenthood started to bring on diverse challenges. My pre-schooler provided the opportunity to show family and friends who really 'rules the roost'.

Academy Award-winning performances took place as grandparents watched the entire scene of parent and child negotiating how much dinner will be eaten before a reward is given. Consequently, there were no winners.

An entire book should be dedicated to raising children once they start school. The atrocious vocabulary and mannerisms that coincide with attending school could only come from the influence of their friends, right? After all, we know we raised our child better than that. Although it is just the language of kids sometimes, one-word responses like, "what? huh, and nope," prove Miss Manners is not read by everyone.

Thankfully, others don't analyse behaviours as much as parents think. Nothing is personal and everything is 'a phase'. Talking to other parents, it's comforting to know we all do the best we can, and someday, society will take a step backward and undoubtedly give Mrs. Cleaver back the respect she so richly deserves.

Former wife says dead robbery suspect 'a good father'

'Thank you for being nice..I wish you didn't die', son writes

BY STEPHEN SHAW
Staff Writer

DURHAM — Steven Pellerin did a lot of bad things in his life, including armed robbery, but to seven-year-old son Tommy he was "the best dad in the world."

The 31-year-old Scarborough man died Sunday in a fiery crash while fleeing police following a holdup at an Oshawa Zellers store at 5:45 p.m.

Laurie Haggerty, his former common-law wife and the mother of his son, said Mr. Pellerin was no saint, but didn't deserve to die in such a horrific way.

"He did a lot of stupid things in his life but that doesn't mean he was a bad person... People only see the bad side, but he was a good father. He wasn't a deadbeat dad," the Oshawa mother of two said in an interview.

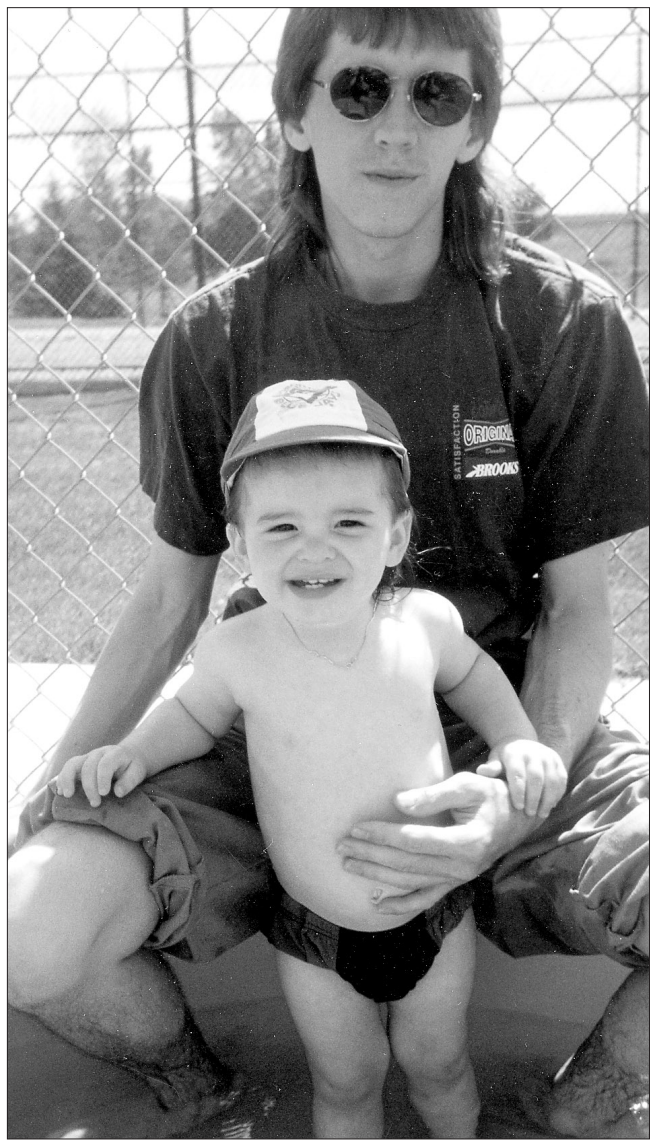

Mr. Pellerin, who had convictions for armed robbery dating back to 1991, was released from prison in January after serving a six-year sentence.

He promised to turn his life around for Tommy's sake, said Ms. Haggerty, who also has a daughter, Dominique, age two.

He had just landed a job about a month ago and had signed a written agreement to begin making child support payments next month, she said.

"He was always saying he was going to do better, make things positive for Tommy. He was the most important thing in his life," Ms. Haggerty said.

Ms. Haggerty, 31, who has had an on-off relationship with Mr. Pellerin since 1993, said he had been living with his mother in Scarborough since his release, and Tommy spent every weekend with his father.

Steven Pellerin, seen here with son Tommy in a photo shot approximately five years ago, died Sunday in a fiery Scarborough crash while fleeing police. He was a suspect in an Oshawa robbery and was being pursued by police. The crash occurred near the Scarborough-Pickering border.

"Tell people he was a wonderful dad, when he was being a father, and that he was loved dearly by his son and family. I loved him, too," she said.

Each Friday, Tommy would come home from school and wait excitedly for his father to pick him up, Ms. Haggerty said.

Mr. Pellerin would help Tommy with homework and take him inline skating, to movies and parks, she said. On March break, he took Tommy to the Science Centre. Two weeks ago he bought him a scooter for his birthday.

Sunday afternoon, Mr. Pellerin returned Tommy to his mother's home about 4 p.m. and stayed for about 45 minutes before saying goodbye.

"He gave him a hug and kiss and told Tommy he loved him. They always gave each other a hug and kiss. Steven would say, 'See you next week, Champ.'"

According to Durham Regional Police, at 5:45 p.m. a man entered the Zellers at 555 Simcoe St. S., approached the customer service desk and demanded cash.

The robber flashed a black handgun, tucked into his waist: "Don't make me do it," he threatened the clerk.

The bandit scooped a large amount of cash from the till and fled to a white Chrysler registered to Mr. Pellerin, which squealed its tires as it peeled out of the parking lot.

Police spotted the vehicle a short time later headed west on Hwy. 401 in Ajax, but officers lost sight of the car after a short pursuit.

A few minutes later, police searching the Pickering area spotted the car westbound on Kingston Road.

The car sped toward the intersection at Port Union Road, where it collided with a van carrying a family of five, hit a pole and burst into flames.

Witnesses said officers at the scene drew their weapons, while the trapped driver struggled inside the burning car.

The driver of the van suffered broken bones while his family escaped serious injuries.

Dental records were needed to positively identify Mr. Pellerin.

The Province's Special Investigations Unit sent 12 investigators to the scene and has designated four Durham police "witness officers."

Ms. Haggerty says she is haunted by images of Mr. Pellerin's last moments and wonders why no one apparently tried to help.

"Why wouldn't someone at least try to put the fire out? There are fire extinguishers in police cars, couldn't one of (the officers) have tried?

"Why would you just let a man just sit there and burn, (even) if he may have had a gun in the car. Somebody could have tried to help him," she said.

Durham police said they are not permitted to comment while the SIU investigation is ongoing.

Ms. Haggerty said she saw television news footage of the crash late Sunday and her worst fears were confirmed by a phone call Monday morning.

"Tommy heard me crying and it woke him up. I told him his dad was in a car accident. He asked me if his daddy was OK. I told him he wasn't...

"He said 'My one eye is crying.' He calls them drops."

She later sat with Tommy and helped him write a letter to his father.

"I love you daddy for being my dad. Thank you for taking me to a lot of places. Thank you for being nice to me. I wish you didn't die," wrote the Grade 1 student in big red letters.

"We will pray for you and God please take care of daddy... Thanks for getting me a scooter. We all really miss you. Thanks for being the best dad in the world. Love always and forever your son, Tommy."

Mr. Pellerin was normally a kind, passive person, Ms. Haggerty said.

"I don't know what was going through his head. I don't have a clue. I really didn't think he would do something like this again. I don't know why.

"I want to apologize to the family that got injured and the victim (of the robbery)."

Summer job prospects promising in Durham

DURHAM — Opportunities look bright for summer job seekers.

The latest Employment Outlook Survey in Durham released by Manpower Inc. reveals 35 per cent of employers in the region plan to increase their staff during July, August, and September.

Just seven per cent plan to reduce staff and 54 per cent plan on remaining at current levels. Four per cent of business owners aren't certain about hiring intentions.

"Three months ago employers were similarly optimistic," said Kim Murray of Manpower. "Thirty per cent reported hiring intentions and two per cent foresaw the need to trim personnel. A year ago at this time, the outlook was also healthy when 32 per cent said they would add workers and eight per cent predicted cutbacks."

Staffing opportunities are predicted in construction, non-durable goods manufacturing, transportation/public utilities, wholesale/retail trade, and public administration.

Manpower vice-president and general manager Steve Walker said, "The decision by many employers to significantly add to their employee base sends a strong signal of confidence for the summer months. While some industries, including manufacturing, have not yet returned to seasonally expected levels of hiring, clear progress has been made from the picture of three months ago."

Construction has been the summer-time industry leader. The finance, insurance, and real estate area is reflecting unusually strong hiring intentions with its best third quarter outlook in 14 years.

But the education field is showing a pattern of slippage that has persisted since last year, says Manpower.

The quarterly employment survey is conducted by Manpower Inc. More information on Manpower Inc. is available at www.manpower.ca. For further information call Kim Murray at 905-831-7683.

Durham group heads into busy month

Head Injury Assocation kicks off four weeks of raising awareness

DURHAM — The Head Injury Association of Durham Region will participate in a number of events to mark Brain Injury Awareness Month.

Kicking off the organization's June activity is Adventure on Wheels, Saturday, June 1 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Rotary Park in Ajax. The free community event is designed to raise awareness of the proper and safe use of bicycles, in-line skates, skateboards and scooters.

On Monday, June 10 at 7 p.m., an information session dealing with 'brain injury, some answers,' takes place in O'Brien Room A at the Pickering Recreation Complex, 1867 Valley Farm Rd.

Lakeridge Links Golf Club is the place to be Wednesday, June 12 for the organization's fund-raising golf tournament.

Finally, the group's annual general meeting, featuring a 'display of talent', is Wednesday, June 19 at 7:30 p.m. in Room 2 at the McLean Community Centre, 95 Magill Dr.

For more information, call executive director Frank Murphy at 905-723-2732.

Sand sculpture to take shape at Frenchman's Bay Festival

PICKERING — Come enjoy a day of fun in the sand.

On Sunday, June 9, PineRidge Arts Council member Susan Lindo will be sculpting five cubic yards of sand into a mysterious object as part of this year's Frenchman's Bay Festival.

The sand, donated by Arnts Loam Supply, will be sculpted starting at 11 a.m.

The festival runs at the southern tip of Liverpool Road in Pickering from June 7 to 9.

Alternative ideas for attention deficit disorders

PICKERING — Looking for an alternative treatment to attention deficit disorder (ADD) or attention deficit and hyperactivity disorder (ADHD)?

A free seminar is being offered June 10 at 7 p.m. for parents, teachers and anyone else looking for a drug-free alternative to dealing with ADD/ADHD.

The meeting is upstairs at the Loblaws Pickering, at the corner of Hwy. 2 and Liverpool Road.

For more information, call 905-427-7002.

Special-education students enjoy very own high school prom

BY LESLEY BOVIE
Staff Writer

DURHAM — It's the best-kept secret at Port Perry High School, and for 130 special education students across Durham, the big event of the year.

For seven years, PPHS has played host to the only year-end formal available to special-ed students in Durham Region.

Organizers say the tradition just became a natural extension of PPHS's At-Home, an annual formal for undergraduates usually held on a Friday night around the end of May.

"We always decorated the gym for the At-Home but it seemed such a waste, to have all these great decorations you can't use again," explains Cathy Chilton, lead teacher of special education.

So PPHS began keeping the decorations up in the school gym until the following Monday morning, inviting special-ed classes from across the Region for their own formal during the day.

Special-education high school students Larry and Tania dance the afternoon away at their prom.

"We wanted to give them an opportunity to do some of the things you'd regularly do at high school," Ms. Chilton says. "It's what kids do in high school. They go to a prom.

"And they love it. They have more fun than the kids who come Friday night," she says, adding a queen, king, princess and prince will be crowned just like at Friday night's At-Home.

This year's theme was 'Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory' and came complete with huge candy canes lining simulated chocolate-covered walls.

Monday's At-Home was organized by PPHS's Ambassador Program, made up of about 30 students, who spearhead leadership projects around the school.

The Ambassadors took a break from hosting the project in the last few years when extracurricular activities had come to a stop at schools across Durham Region. PPHS's special education program continued the At-Home in their absence but are glad to have the students back on board as organizers.

"They get to see what happens when you give something to students less fortunate," Ms. Chilton says.

"I think it's amazing to see the kick everyone gets out of it," adds Aaron Alton, the morning's master of ceremonies and a PPHS ambassador.

Community groups and local businesses have donated prizes for spot dances and other activities and each of the 15 schools invited will have a class picture taken at the formal, he says.

"They have little dances throughout the year, but this is the big one," he explains.

So much so in fact, special education programs across the Region plan all year to put aside enough money in their travel budget to make the trip north to the At-Home, says Harold Williams, a teacher heading up the Ambassador Program.

Women of Distinction honoured in Durham

DURHAM — Six honourees were announced as Women of Distinction Wednesday by the YWCA of Oshawa.

Katharine Tuerke was named Young Woman of Distinction at Wednesday's annual event while Eva Reti, Sandy Archibald, Dina Dykstra, Sandra Weichel and Glenna Mae Lawton were honoured as Women of Distinction.

Ms. Tuerke is a student at Oshawa's McLaughlin Collegiate, where she has a 96 per cent average. She's received many awards in school and from outside agencies, too. She's involved in student government, organizes school events and fund-raisers and volunteers in many school activities. She also volunteers in community organizations, including Red Cross blood donor clinics and the Durham Regional Police toy drive.

Ms. Reti is a detective with Durham Regional Police Services and was the first female detective assigned to homicide. She's also worked on the sexual assault unit.

Ms. Archibald, of Bowmanville, is co-owner and operator of Archibald Orchards and Estate Winery Ltd. She's involved in several community organizations as a volunteer and has a special interest in helping young people.

Ms. Dykstra, of Oshawa, is a former City councillor and is founder and editorial director of Oshawa Life news magazine. Her volunteer efforts have included Community Time in Prayer, Friends of Memorial Park and Downtown Action Committee.

Ms. Weichel is a Whitby resident who is a nurse at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto and the Rouge Valley Ajax and Pickering Health Centre. She's also the president of the Durham chapter of the Autism Society, a chapter she's helped to revitalize.

She also started a support group for families of children with autism spectrum disorders.

Ms. Lawton, of Manilla, is a retired teacher who has brought a Red Cross program about abuse, Respect ED, to schools in the Durham District Board of Education.

KATHARINE TUERKE
Maintains a 96-per cent average.

SANDY ARCHIBALD
Involved in several local organizations.

DINA DYKSTRA
A busy and committed volunteer.

SANDRA WEICHEL
Respected nurse and volunteer.

GLENNA MAE LAWTON
Raises awareness.

EVA RETI
Detective with Durham police service.

Avoid Overheating on the Road Check Cooling System, Engine For Leaks

(MS) — When your car's cooling system fails, the engine overheats. And when the engine overheats for a very long time, metal parts can become seriously damaged and require expensive repair.

Most often, overheating results when the coolant level is too low or when there is a leak in the system. During the summer, just driving in stop-and-go traffic or hauling a car loaded with vacation baggage and gear on a hot day with the air conditioner running is enough to overheat the engine.

COOLANT LOSS

According to engineers a low coolant level leads to overheating because there isn't enough fluid in the system to absorb the engine's heat. The air in the system that is absorbing these high temperatures is a poor heat conductor and won't do an effective job of transferring the heat to the radiator.

Cars, pickups and SUV's have white-colored coolant recovery tanks that have markings on the tank indicating where coolant levels should be when the car is running and when it's not. If the coolant level is low after repeated fillings, you probably have a leak in the system.

COOLANT HOSE LEAKS

Hoses are the most likely source of leaks because they are structurally the weakest components of the cooling system. Hoses must be flexible to absorb vibration, so they are made of rubber compounds. Rubber, unfortunately, is not as durable as metal. According to experts, intense engine heat can harden and crack even the best rubber; oil can soften and swell it; the simple passage of time can break down a hose's internal bonding; and electrochemical degradation can crack the tube.

Four years of field tests on fleet vehicles show that electrochemical degradation of the hose tube is by far the most frequent reason for cooling system hose failure. The condition eventually will produce a pinhole leak or will cause the hose to burst before it has reached its expected service life.

Hose and liquid coolant (water and ethylene-glycol antifreeze) exist in an environment that forms an electrical path between two metal connectors like the engine and the cooling system radiator.

This causes microcracks within the hose tube which allow the coolant to attack the hose reinforcement. It eventually weakens the yarn material. Accelerated by high under-the-hood temperature and constant flexing, the hose could rupture or leak under normal pressure.

REPLACE OLD HOSES

A safe service life of four years is recommended for all coolant carrying hoses, especially the upper radiator and bypass hoses.

After four years, Gates explains, the incidence of hose failure increases sharply to the point where motorists should consider having the hoses replaced to avoid highway problems. In many instances, hose leaks occur at faulty connections to the inlet and outlet pipes. Make certain the hose clamps are secure. When replacing a hose, it's also a good idea to replace the clamps. Traditional worm-drive clamps or the new, thermoplastic heat-shrink clamps work best.

While you are having the hoses replaced and the cooling system serviced this spring, ask your technician to check for other coolant leak paths. Fluid-loss problems may also be attributed to leaks at the water pump, radiator assembly, radiator cap, or engine drain plugs.

SUMMER CAR CARE

Advertising Feature

Road Trip Preparation

Road trips, vacations scenic drives through the countryside — people flock to their cars when warm weather arrives to take advantage of clear skies and cool breezes. The lure of the open road is quite addictive, and the worries of the day can melt away with the purr of an engine and a far-off destination in mind.

However, summer jaunts in the car can take an unexpected turn if your vehicle is not properly prepared for the trip ahead. Nothing can ruin a vacation faster than spending most of it pulled over on the side of the road, or enjoying the view from the front seat of a tow truck.

Following are a few tips to make sure your vehicle is in top shape before setting out on the road.

WHAT YOU CAN DO

• Check the brake lights, turn signals and dashboard lights.

• Test the horn

• Make sure you have enough coolant in your system. If it gets too low your car may overheat.

• Check shocks and struts by pushing down on the hood as hard as you can. If the car bounces like a yo-yo, you may have trouble.

• Take a penny and insert it Queen's head first in your tire tread at the most worn part of the tire. If you can see any of the Queen's crown you may need new tires.

• Check the trunk for moisture or rust, which indicates a water leak.

• Look under the car for signs of mud buildup and inspect the garage floor for signs of leaks.

Professional Advice

• Change oil and get an overall tuneup.

• Inspect and, if needed, fill washer fluid, radiator fluid, transmission fluid, brake fluid, differential fluid, and power-steering fluid.

• Change air and oil filters, and wiper blades if necessary.

• Check the battery and tire pressure.

• Check condition of hoses and belts. Blowing a hose or breaking a belt is bad anytime.

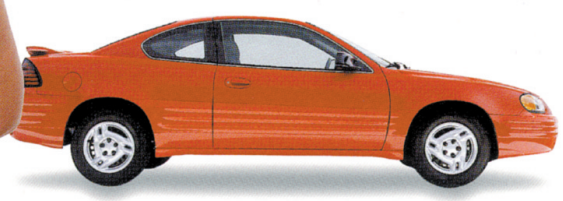

• Check battery terminals. If you see signs of corrosion (whitish powder), have them cleaned.

• Wash and wax to protect your car's finish throughout the harsh summer hea ahead.

• Enjoy the trip, bu remember to drive careful ly!

"I don't know a thing about diagnostics, but they do."

And that's fine with me. In fact, that's why I go to Precision Tune. I know their technicians are not only certified to be amoung the best, but they use some of the best diagnostic equipment in the field (I've done my research). So, I get the best service available every time. See, you learn something everyday.

Durham Catholic school board employees offer hope

DURHAM — Heroes of Hope Campaign members hope local school board employees can contribute $1 million to a fund-raising goal of $30 million.

Gary Down, the campaign's education committee chairman, and campaign director Andrea Russell spoke to Durham Catholic District School Board trustees at the May 22 meeting, discussing the campaign for a Regional Cancer Centre at Lakeridge Health Oshawa.

Ms. Russell said a study showed more than 2,000 cancer patients are going outside the region for treatment.

School board employees are taking part in a payroll-deduction plan to raise money for the centre, making a one- or two-year pledge, she said.

Oshawa Trustee Joe Corey said there's a perception in the community that the money raised will help pay for the Oshawa hospital's new front entrance and cafeteria.

Ms. Russell said the money raised in the campaign "is specifically for the cancer centre". She explained news of the cancer centre came out while there was a campaign under way at the hospital, leading to the confusion.

Board chairman Mary Ann Martin, a cancer survivor, said she had to drive to Toronto for treatment and the Oshawa facility would be "a godsend" for local people.

Whitby teacher gets some positive reinforcement

DURHAM — Susan Duane, a teacher at All Saints Catholic Secondary School in Whitby, is this year's recipient of the Jean-Paul Patenaude Award.

Each year, the Durham Catholic District School Board honours a teacher who has received positive classroom discipline and/or instruction training, and consistently demonstrated effective use of the techniques. Teaching expert Dr. Fred Jones created the program.

Joe Visconti, vice-principal of St. Mary Catholic Secondary School in Pickering, introduced Ms. Duane, whom he first met when he was principal at Archbishop Denis O'Connor Catholic High School in Ajax.

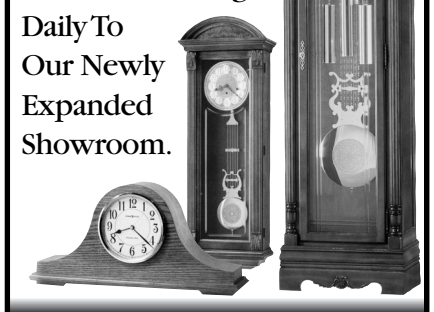

"She wowed me every time," he said of evaluating the new educator. "She was an excellent teacher."

Ms. Duane said the training she received enables teachers to be "positive reinforcers" in the classroom.

Youth group ready for its mission

Ajax Alliance Church youth ready for three-week trip to orphanage

BY NICOLE MILLION
Special to the News Advertiser

AJAX — Summer vacation is almost here, and while most kids spend their summer lying around the pool or sitting on the couch, nine youths are planning to spend their time a little farther from home.

The members of the Ajax Alliance Church youth group and two leaders leave July 3 for Trinidad and Tobago for three weeks where they will be living and working at the House of Young Christians, an orphanage just outside of Sangre Chiquito.

Planning for the trip has been ongoing since September, said Dave Easton, youth pastor at Ajax Alliance. "The administration involved in planning camp, getting the supplies, and getting them to Trinidad, and raising the money is pretty heavy," he said.

Sheena Stevens, one of the youth members, added organizing a trip like this takes a lot of work. "You need to be very committed to it. There are funds to raise, schedules to make, meetings to run — the list goes on and on," she said.

The House of Young Christians is a home for children whose parents are not capable of taking care of them due to addictions, abuse, or just abandonment, said Sheena.

"Sadly, most of the kids are not orphans as we would think," added Rev. Easton. "Most of them have parents who are alive, but not able or interested in caring for these kids."

Sheena said the group has received an "awesome" response from the community.

"They have been very supportive through prayer and just helping us fund-raise. People are willing to help because they are just as excited about our trip as we are."

This is the second year members of the youth group will be working at the orphanage, and Sheena couldn't be more excited.

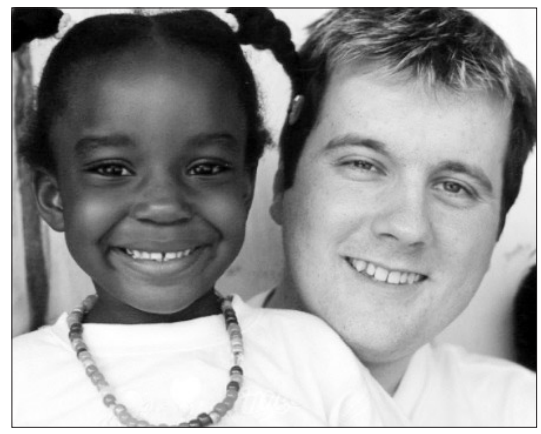

"They (the kids) have to be the most incredible people I have ever met. Each of them coming from a fairly rough, hard and sad background are the most loving people I know. They don't care who you are, they just want to hang out with you, they want to be your friend and sometimes are happiest just sitting next to you," she said.

She added the group has learned to appreciate what it has.

"We came home with an overwhelming feeling of gratefulness for our own families, homes, and country. After living for three weeks within the lifestyle of those in the homes, you begin to see how lucky you are at home."

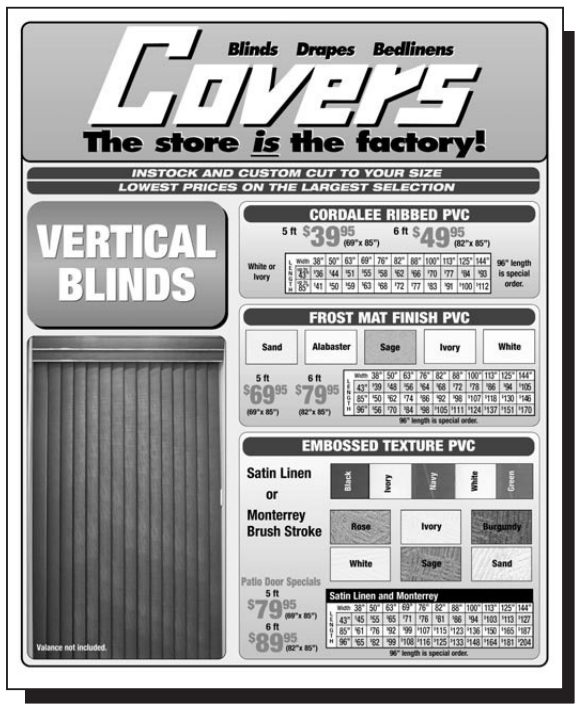

Sheena noted the kids at the orphanage also teach them a few things.

"One of the things we learn from the children is unconditional love. Some people just need to feel loved, and that is why we want to go. Those kids just need to have someone be their friend."

Youth Pastor Dave Easton shares a smile with Trinidadian orphan Celest at last year's mission.

Durham Crime Stoppers seek pizza store bandit

PICKERING — Durham Regional Police and Crime Stoppers need help in identifying an armed man who robbed a Pickering Pizza Pizza store.

On Thursday, May 9 at around 12:45 a.m., a man armed with a knife entered the store and threatened the clerk before removing a quantity of cash from the register and fleeing the premises on foot.

The clerk chased the man, but soon lost sight of him.

The robber is described as six-feet tall, wearing a black jacket and blue jeans, gloves and a nylon over his face.

Anyone with information is asked to call police at 905-436-8477 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS.

Nemato Inc. is an Industry Leader in Commercial Pool Filtration Systems Opens New Retail Store

Nemato Inc. may not be a household word but in the industrial community it's very well known.

Founded by Jerry Lozinski, Nemato has become an industry leader in the production and design of commercial swimming pool equipment manufactured with Fibreglass Reinforced Plastic (FRP).

The company moved to its current location at 1605 McEwen Dr. in Whitby in 1992. It's a facility designed for optimum production efficiency and currently employees more than 80 highly trained staff and a group of top technical professionals. Each year Nemato manufactures and sells filtration systems for more than 500 commercial swimming pool facilities globally.

Their high tech designs and fabrication of filtration systems as seen at right are in strong demand around the world because of their outstanding quality and reliability.

President Steve Andrews says "Nemato has been manufacturing fibreglass swimming pool filters since 1974 and is globally recognized for our techniques, product innovations and system design expertise in all facets of swimming pool system designs from water chemistry to circulation and filtration. "

In 1999, Nemato received the ACE Award for "Technical Innovation for Corrosion Resistant Application" presented by the Composite Fabricators Association during the international convention in Chicago for their filtration designs. They also received a "Business Excellence Award" by the Greater Oshawa Chamber of Commerce in 2000 and constructed the Town of Whitby's Millennium Time Capsule in September 2000.

In May, Nemato opened its new retail store, National Leisure & Pool Products which recently changed its name from National Pool & Spa. It features the latest line of spas from Jacuzzi as well as other backyard leisure items.

For more information about Nemato Inc. or National Leisure & Pool Products call (905) 571-4095 or visit the website at www.nemato.com.

Water In The Garden

Gardening advice brought to you by the Ajax in Bloom Garden Competition committee.

Urban sprawl destroys much of our wildlife habitat, but gardeners can do their part for the environment and local wildlife by creating a pond or backyard wetland.

Ponds & Waterfalls

Stores carry many varieties of pond and waterfall kits and accessories, along with plant and other aquatic materials. Use these, rather than collecting species from the wild,as this puts stress on many "at risk" plants and their community. Some points to consider:

Size: Using flexible rubber liner or preformed pond inserts, your only limitation on size and shape will be your imagination. For a deck or balcony, you can create the tranquility of a pond in a barrel or large plastic pot.

Location: Ponds can be located in sun or shade; plant material should vary accordingly. Consider natural drainage patterns and the possibility of interference from large tree roots. Higher ground is best, to avoid runoff or toxins leached from nearby gardens.

Depth and Contours: Consider the risks of predators such as raccoons in designing the depth and slope of your pond (straight sides with no shelves will deter them). If you plan to overwinter plants or fish, get advice from your garden centre. (A pond more than 20 inches deep is considered a pool and requires fencing and permit from local bylaw offices.)

Creating Urban Wetlands

Take a cue from nature by creating a bog garden in a low-lying, slow-draining area or by using a pond liner or kit. Bog gardens can complement a pond, provide a transition habitat, and allow longer bloom periods with plants such as yellow flag, marsh marigold,marsh fern and hostas. You may want to add moisture from a soaker hose or installed perforated pipe. A true bog is a highly acidic environment that can be mimicked with a 50/50 mix of sand and peat moss.

For more information on this interesting subject visit these web sites; www.torontozoo.com/adoptapond, www.nwf.org/backyardhabitat,www.gardengatemagazine.com and www.vandermeernursery.com

Kathryn Carnegie, Master Gardener, and Susanne Lowe, NPD, are coordinators of the Ajax in Bloom Garden Competition. Nomination deadline for the competition is June 21.

Benefits of Outdoor Home Entertainment Centres

TOP 3 BENEFITS OF OWNING A SWIMMING POOL

1) SOCIAL A swimming pool keeps families and friends together by providing a non-hectic atmosphere as well as keeping people especially kids entertained for many hours or even all day. Pool parties are always a big hit and what better way to spend a hot lazy afternoon in the spring, summer and fall.

2) CONVENIENCE Why spend money on a health club membership, when a swimming pool is within feet of your back door? A refreshing swim can take place any time of the day (no planning is required). Day or night, swimming can take place in your own private backyard.

3) PHYSICAL FITNESS Swimming provides a total aerobic workout on your body, mind and soul. In water your body weight is much less and swimming uses every muscle in your body. Less time will be spent watching TV, and more time being physically active. After a sport activity a swim will also relax your muscles.

Top 3 Benefits of Owning a Spa or Hot Tub

1) THERAPEUTIC The combination of turbidity and hot water creates a totally relaxing and soothing environment that helps take away the physical and mental aches and pains of the day. A hot water massage is just what the doctor ordered.

2) SOCIAL A spa brings family and friends together by providing a relaxing and soothing environment where the lines of communication can be re-opened.

3. CONVENIENCE No need to drive to the local spa or gym, slip into your very own private, hot water massage centre any time of the day or night, all year round.

Let There Be Light in Your Garden

(NC)–For most people who work during the day, it's difficult to find the time to enjoy their gardens on a daily basis. The easiest way to maximize use of a garden is to add lighting.

Nothing is as welcoming as a well-lit house say experts. Not only does good outdoor lighting add extra mileage to your landscaping dollar, but it's also an great safety feature.

Ranging from citronella candles to fixed lights, your garden can be aglow until the wee hours of the morning. But before you rush out and purchase new light fixtures, do a walk-about and plan which areas of your backyard will benefit most from illumination.

If using lights as a safety feature, consider timers, motion sensors and even underground wires to ensure lights throughout the garden become a permanent feature. Timers and motion sensors are stronger deterrents for intruders as well as great energy savers.

There are many different types of lights to choose from and each one is designed to give a particular effect. Spot lights are great for accentuating special features, such as waterfalls or trees. But for a more subtle overall lighting moon-lighting is your best bet because it's hidden in trees or bushes and is diffused by shadows from the leaves.

It's always a good idea to start with a plan. If you have pictures of your garden, bring them to the store and we can help you find the right lights. A picture says a thousand words and helps us provide some great ideas.

Inspired By The Colours

By Nathalie Houde, Landscape Architect

Of all the things that inspire us when we're planning our gardens, the colors of the flowers and leaves often top the list. The key to a magnificent garden lies in the choice of colors and the juxtaposition of shades. Choose a color scheme, with one main color and two or three complementary colors from the same palette.

The warm colors (yellow, orange and red) produce a joyous feeling. Their invigorating effect makes them perfect to place near the entryway, to make the whole garden more inviting. The cool colors (blue, purple and pink) are soothing, reassuring, soft and romantic. These colors add depth to relaxing corners and water gardens. Shrub foliage, a constant color throughout the whole summer, should also be considered. In darker corners, make use of pale colors to add light.

Colors and seasons: blissful harmony!

Why not play colors and seasons off against each other? If the lilac crowns your garden with pale purple in spring, choose red and pink roses for summer and bring in fall with the yellows and oranges of ornamental grasses.

Natural gardening

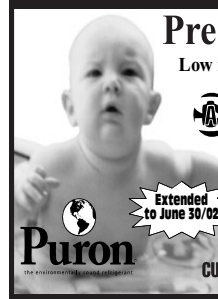

Natural gardening no longer means using no products whatsoever and allowing plant diseases and pests to destroy your garden. What it means today is learning about gardening methods and using green-thumb tricks and sound advice to reduce product use to a minimum.

Here is some advice that will help you on your way to natural gardening:

- Good soil preparation
- Regular manual weeding
- Regular, deep watering
- Buy healthy, resistant plants
- Use mulch
- Inspect your plants regularly
- Identify the cause of any damage (disease, insects, mold, etc.)
- Consult with a specialist to help you decide which products to use. (NC)

PAUL CRAWFORD
Debate over wording.

Motion goes up in smoke

Durham public board debates change to smoking policy

DURHAM — Public school board members last week rejected a motion from Pickering Trustee Paul Crawford because they said it read that trustees were encouraging student smoking.

Initially, Trustee Crawford's motion at the May 21 Durham District School Board meeting stated in part trustees "endorse and encourage a target of (_) per cent smoking and tobacco use by all students." He said he left the figure blank so trustees could arrive at a percentage.

"Why on Earth would we have any motion that uses the words, 'encourage and endorse a target of smoking?' asked Brock-Uxbridge Trustee Nancy Loraine.

Scugog Trustee Martin Demmers suggested some "wordsmithing" was in order, and proposed the motion read trustees favour "a reduction target of 10-per cent smoking".

"The issue here is we already have a policy," Trustee Loraine responded. "The way this motion reads defies the policy."

When asked by board chairman Elizabeth Roy what the starting point would be for a 10-per cent reduction, Trustee Demmers could not produce a figure, but said principals know how many students in their schools smoke.

Trustees rejected the motion in a 6-3 vote, even after Trustee Crawford suggested it read, "encourage a reduction of smoking and tobacco use".

Local church offers spiritual guidance

PICKERING — Have you been wondering about the meaning of life? Curious about the big questions?

St. Paul's On The Hill Anglican Church holds drop-in sessions Wednesdays from 5 to 7 p.m., Fridays from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and Tuesdays from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. Everyone is invited to visit for a little spiritual healing. St. Paul's On The Hill is located on Hwy. 2 at Fairport Road.

Kids get keys to better growth in Durham

DURHAM — Get some insight into young children.

The Durham Region Health Department is distributing "The years before five" a free resource package for parents.

The package covers the importance of brain growth, and key events in a young child's life.

Details on what parents can do to aid in their youngster's development and relevant Web sites are also listed in the kit.

"The information reinforces the importance of good nutrition, stimulation, love and responsive care for babies and young children, and provides confirmation of the positive effects of such care on growth and development," says Evelyn Butler, director of public health nursing and nutrition with the health department.

For further information, contact the Durham Health Connection line at 905-723-8521, or 1-800-841-2729, ext. 2158.

To receive the package, call 905-427-8862, or 1800-968-0066 ext. 340.

Delivering for the Future

What do you call someone who runs their own business, braves summer heat and the winter chill, is on the job in the rain, snow and sleet, is always cheerful and courteous and who brings the product right to your door every time without fail while also trying to conquer the intricacies of math, science and auditioning for the first-chair saxophone in the school band?

The volunteer auxiliary at Rouge Valley Ajax and Pickering hospital was honoured recently for its fund-raising and service efforts by having the facility's new CT suite named after the organization. Marking the special occasion are (from left) chief operating officer Bruce Cliff, auxiliary president Ella Joel and founding president Dorothy Westney.

Ajax-Pickering hospital auxiliary honoured for years of effort

AJAX — Half a century and millions of dollars later, the volunteers are still going strong.

The Auxiliary to Rouge Valley Ajax and Pickering Health Centre was honoured recently during a ceremony at the Ajax hospital.

The hospital's CT suite was renamed for the group, and auxiliary members marked the occasion with a cheque for $50,000 towards the computerized tomography scanner.

The auxiliary has pledged to raise $500,000 for the scanner and the latest donation brings the effort to $360,000 in the last 18 months.

"This gift from the auxiliary was one of the first gifts and is one of the largest gifts the foundation has received for the capital campaign," said Pat Berger Vasseur, president and chief executive officer of the Rouge Valley Health System foundation, in a speech at the ceremony.

"Not only has this gift had an immediate benefit for our patients, but it has also enabled our campaign volunteers to go out and challenge other service organizations and businesses to match their generosity."

Among their many activities, auxiliary volunteers knit tuques and booties for newborns, provide tours of the hospital, and offer bursaries for high school students pursuing careers in medicine.

Durham offers health tips

DURHAM — The Durham Region Health Department is urging the public to 'Eat well, get moving and enjoy life' as part of its campaign to promote healthy lifestyles.

A recent health department survey indicates one-third of Durham residents are overweight and that could affect their well-being and longevity, says Bev Billings, a Durham public health nurse.

"It has been proven that 30 to 40 per cent of all cases of cancer are preventable by eating healthy, maintaining a healthy weight and exercising regularly," she says. "As a result, maintaining a healthy lifestyle can help reduce the risk of developing serious conditions such as cancer, diabetes, osteoporosis and heart disease."

Results of the health department survey indicated Durham men are more likely than women to be overweight with almost half of all men considered overweight. One-third of Durham residents who rate their health as good to excellent are overweight.

The health department has a number of programs, information and tips to help area residents achieve healthy eating habits and increase physical activity year-round.

DURHAM — The regional cancer centre in Oshawa is finally off the waiting list.

Monday, Ontario Health Minister Tony Clement, accompanied by three local MPPs, announced the Province is increasing its share of funding for the Durham cancer centre by $31.1 million. The extra money, on top of $34.2 million originally announced by the Province, means work can begin immediately.

"You'll be able to see evidence of this announcement within days and weeks," Mr. Clement told the people gathered for the announcement at Lakeridge Health Oshawa, which will play host to the centre. "Folks, you have your work to do."

Lakeridge is ready to go, "especially now that we've got the money," said Anne Wright, vice-chairman of Lakeridge Health Corporation's board of governors. "This is a long-awaited and eagerly-awaited announcement for all of us."

Mr. Clement noted he was the fourth politician to announce the cancer centre in Oshawa. The first was Bob Rae, who brought the big news to Oshawa in 1992, when he was premier of Ontario and leader of the NDP.

The extra money from the Ontario government will help meet the increased costs of the project and pay for a portion of construction of a central utility plant to service the cancer centre and the hospital, Ms. Wright said.

Warren Young, of Lakeridge's redevelopment department, said preliminary work will begin "in a short while" at the site on the Simcoe Street side of the hospital. Demolition of existing wings will begin soon and then the site will be excavated.

While this is going on, tenders will be let for the utilities plant and the cancer centre.

It's hoped construction will be under way by the fall at latest, he said.

All of this is good news for the community, said Maryanne Sholdra, one of three local women who, in the early 1990s, started a petition to get a cancer centre for Durham Region.

"It's been a long time coming and I'm so very pleased and happy," she said. "It's a go."

The cancer centre, to be built and integrated with Lakeridge Health Oshawa, was once scheduled to be open this year. However, the location and cost of the project have delayed it. Mr. Clement said the increased provincial funding was done after a thorough review of the costs.

"The added cost is justified," he said Monday.

The provincial money will cover 70 per cent of the costs. The rest will come from the community. Oshawa General Hospital Foundation has been charged with raising the community portion. It's held annual lotteries and will announce its financial progress and target for the Heroes of Hope campaign at a June 4 event.

At Monday's announcement, Lakeridge Health Corporation and Cancer Care Ontario, partners in the cancer centre, appointed Dr. Peter Dixon as chief executive officer of the cancer centre.

The centre, when completed, is expected to treat about 4,000 patients a year and serve Durham along with Haliburton, Kawartha and Pine Ridge regions.

Attending Monday's event with Mr. Clement were his cabinet colleagues, Oshawa MPP and Natural Resources Minister Jerry Ouellette and Whitby-Ajax MPP and Enterprise, Opportunity and Innovation Minister Jim Flaherty and Durham MPP John O'Toole, parliamentary assistant to Mr. Clement.

Affleck assumes role of young Jack Ryan in espionage thriller

The following movies are debuting in theatres this weekend.

THE SUM OF ALL FEARS
Starring Ben Affleck, Morgan Freeman.
Directed by Phil Alden Robinson.

When the president of Russia suddenly dies and is succeeded by a man about whom little is known, tension increases as old fears ignite new paranoia.

The change in political leaders sparks paranoia among American CIA officials, so Director of Central Intelligence Bill Cabot (Morgan Freeman) recruits a young analyst from the Russia desk, Jack Ryan (Ben Affleck), to supply insight and advice. Then the unthinkable happens: the capital of Chechnya is levelled by a nuclear bomb.

America is quick to blame the Russians and mistrust escalates despite Ryan's certainty that other players are at work. He is right. A group of terrorists is trying to provoke a war between the two nations by manufacturing and escalating the conflict. When they successfully detonate a second bomb outside Baltimore during the Super Bowl, the world is pushed inexorably towards war... unless Ryan can supply the needed proof to stem the tide of disaster in time. Time is crucial when the result could be total annihilation.

UNDERCOVER BROTHER
Starring Eddie Griffin, Chris Kattan, Denise Richards
Directed by Malcolm D. Lee

Unconventional times call for unconventional men and nobody does unconventional better than the man known as Undercover Brother.

With a funky sense of style, a smooth way with the ladies and an absolute hunger for justice, this man of action has lived by his own rules.With his Bruce Lee moves, Cadillac attitude and an arsenal of outrageous disguises and gadgets, he is patiently waiting for that one really heavy mission. An underground movement has begun unleashing a terrifying top-secret weapon: an irresistibly packaged psycho-hallucinogen drug that will reduce the entire population to mindless zombies.

Undercover Brother trades in his Afro, shades and platforms for khakis and penny loafers to pose as Anton Jackson, fighting a battle against The Establishment.

Let us entertain you!

BROWNIE EARTHQUAKE

Let me explain what prompted International Dairy Queen to come out with this new product. Do you remember the Hot Fudge Brownie Delight and the Fudge cake Supreme? When they were discontinued by IDQ there was a lot of complaints. This is the new improved product and I'm pleased to say that it is the DESSERT OF DESSERTS.

First we start with the Brownie. Dairy Queen went to Mr. Christie to bake a special Oreo brownie for this dessert which is moist and chewy and filled with Oreo. You know the kind of brownies you get in that brown bag that melt in your mouth. Those Oreo brownies and a glass of ice cold milk would do it for me!

After the two Oreo brownies are placed in the side of the dish a heaping mound of our famous DQ soft serve is spindled in. Our server then goes over to the stainless steel hot fudge pump where our private label hot fudge is kept at 140 degrees. No one else sells this exclusive blend of hot fudge which is one of the reasons people keep coming back for our products like the Peanut Buster Parfait, the Pecan Mudslide and the Chocolate Rock. The Brownie Earthquake will be no exception. A generous pump of hot fudge is sent cascading down over that mound of soft serve pooling on top of those moist brownies. Mmmm Good! Lets start now! Where's my fork?

But that's not all. IDQ wanted something sweet and creamy so we now spiral a pump of our marshmallow topping around the top.

Now here is the big one. In 16 years IDQ has never allowed blizzard toppings to be put on any other products. But in co-operation with Christies the new Brownie Earthquake will send tremors through the store when we sprinkle Oreo cookie pieces on top! Oh my! Oreo Brownies! Oreo Cookie! DQ Soft Serve! Marshmallow! Hot Fudge! And there's more!

To make this dessert complete two portions of our new On Top chilled whipped topping are dispensed on either side of this majestic mouth watering combination of ingredients. A final tribute to decadence.

If you're always a sweet person try it without the marshmallow topping.

A festival of arts, crafts and other fun awaits this weekend

Pickering hosts Artfest on The Esplanade

PICKERING — Artfest on The Esplanade promises fun for all ages at the annual show and sale this Saturday, June 1.

Hosted by the City of Pickering in partnership with the PineRidge Arts Council and Beta Sigma Phi of Ajax-Pickering, the event features more than 100 artists and artisans in the outdoor show and sale from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Esplanade Park, behind City Hall.

As it's also International Day of the Child, Artfest has plenty of free children's activities, including a free art area. As well, 'Wilbur the Stumbling Robot' and his creator, Jessica Field, will entertain. Wilbur will stumble/wander through the park during the event.

Under the children's tent, kids can have creative fun making a face windsock, bird's nest, watercolour butterflies, pasta planes, rock necklaces, head wreaths, button bracelets, eggshell mosaics, boats and tambourines.

Kids can also enter a colouring contest. Entries are available on the City of Pickering's Web site (www.cityofpickering.com) and will be accepted until 4 p.m. June 1. Participants must be 12 years or younger to enter. A draw will be held at the gazebo at 4:30 p.m. and the lucky winner will be awarded a gift basket full of art supplies.

Under the PineRidge Arts Council tent there will be wood carving demonstrations by local sculptors Dorsey James and Shane Clodd, plus multi-talented Gwen Williams will offer portraits as an arts council fund-raiser.

From 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. popular local watercolour artists Hi-Sook Barker (former Ajax Creative Arts president) will create a painting in the tent and from 1 to 3 p.m. Janet Kershaw will demonstrate watercolour techniques.

The event will also feature live stage performances, including the Pickering Concert Band, Eastside Harmony Chorus, Denise Lester Dance Academy, Backwoods Players, Strait Path, County Town Singers, Joyful Noise and Façade.

A food court will also be set up.

The PineRidge Arts Council is a non-profit organization dedicated to enhancing the quality of life within the community by developing widespread appreciation, support and involvement in the arts.

Province wires $350,000 to Durham College

DURHAM — Durham College will receive about $350,000 from the provincial government to upgrade workstations and apprenticeship training areas at its Whitby campus.

In the 2001 budget, the Province announced a five-year, $50-million commitment to upgrade apprentice-training facilities.

Dianne Cunningham, minister of training, colleges and universities, in a press release Tuesday detailed who will receive the money and how much.

"We're investing in our colleges to ensure that their training facilities have the technology to provide the high-quality training today's apprentices need and industry demands," she stated. "This investment will ensure that the colleges can support the government's goal to double the number of people entering apprenticeship programs."

Durham College's share of the money is $352,220.

The press release stated some of the money will be spent to improve facilities for those studying to be industrial, construction and maintenance electricians and industrial mechanic millwrights.

The rest of the funding, targeted at all the trades, will see the existing wireless network in a new building wing extended to the remaining apprenticeship training areas "to accommodate increased numbers of apprentices and ensure consistent, quality training for all."

Ajax group takes control of the skies

PICKERING — An Ajax club is set to fly high over Durham.

The Ajax Radio Controlled Model Aviation Club holds its 11th annual sport scale rally Saturday, June 15, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Families are invited to come out and see scale reproductions of original aircrafts, such as famous wartime models. The day also includes flying and static competitions, a lunch counter and a playground for the kids.

The club's field is located at 3920 Brock Road, two kilometres north of Hwy. 7 in Brougham (look for the sign with the airplane on it on the west side of Brock). For more information, call Bill at 905-686-0493, or visit www.ajaxrcclub.com on the Internet.

Aviation Expo takes off June 14

DURHAM — Several hundred aircraft and 20,000 people are expected to descend on Oshawa next month.

The Canadian Aviation Expo takes place at Oshawa Airport June 14 to 16. Formerly called the Toronto Aviation and Aircraft Show and held at Downsview airport, the show moves to Oshawa for its 10th event.

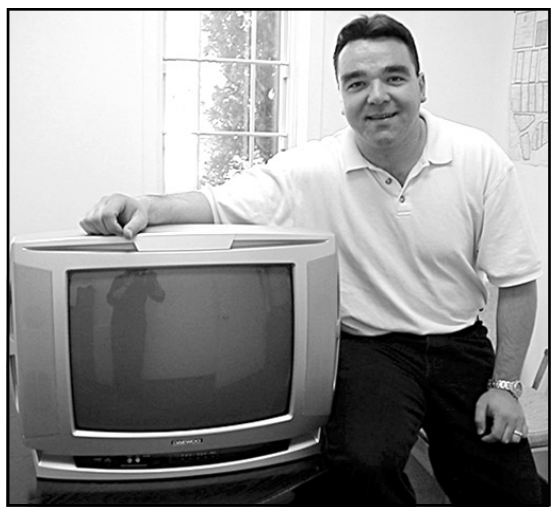

Several hundred aircraft are expected to fly in for the show. Canada's largest aviation trade show will feature over 200 exhibitors displaying aircraft and aviation-related items.

Sightseeing tours will be offered for a fee by Canadian Flight Academy, Enterprise Air and National Helicopter.

Admission is $10 for adults, $7 for youth and free for children under 12. Visitors will park at Durham College, buy their tickets there and are taken to the airport by free shuttle service, provided by Oshawa Transit.

The City is sending letters about the show and the expected air traffic to residents living near the airport.

Mission accomplished — for now

With LOSSA title down, St. Mary senior girls eye OFSAA soccer medal

BY AL RIVETT
Sports Editor

PICKERING — Prior to the start of the season, the St. Mary Catholic Secondary School Monarchs senior girls' soccer team had one goal: Make it to the provincial playdowns.

Wednesday afternoon at Pine Ridge Secondary School, the Monarchs (10-0-1 in league play) made sure their prime objective was met.

Playing city rival Dunbarton High School Spartans (9-1-1 in league) in the Lake Ontario Secondary School Athletics (LOSSA) 'AAA' championship game, the Monarchs steadily gained momentum to capture a 2-0 victory in a well-played and physical final.

The Monarchs will try their luck at the Ontario Federation of School Athletic Associations (OFSAA) 'AAA' championships in Hamilton June 6 to 8.

Monarchs' coach Joe Visconti is optimistic about possibly bringing home a medal against the best Ontario high school teams.

"Yeah, I like our chances, but we'll be in tough," noted Visconti. "Two years ago, we won a bronze medal with much the same team."

The experienced and veteran St. Mary team didn't panic after a relatively slow start against the Spartans. By the end of the first half, the Monarchs were up to speed, scoring their first goal with just seconds remaining in the half when Danielle Tanner headed the ball past goalkeeper Katya Milanoski.

The Monarchs continued the pressure in the last half until Tonia Coletti found herself in the clear to score an insurance marker in the last minute. The goal came with the Spartans in all-out offensive mode in an attempt to score the equalizer on goalkeeper Ashley Visser, who barred the door.

Spartans' coach Linda Correia said she was proud of the way her team matched the Monarchs' intensity.

"It was a hard-played game. As far as I was concerned it was a 1-0 game. We were pressing hard when they got the second one. I thought both teams played an excellent game," she said.

The Monarchs dumped Ajax's Archbishop Denis O'Connor Catholic High School Chargers 3-0 in a semifinal contest Wednesday morning. Coletti, Tanner and Althea Jones scored. Visser recorded the shutout.

Meanwhile, the Spartans defeated Oshawa's Monsignor Paul Dwyer Catholic High School Saints 1-0 in the other semifinal. Brooke McCalla scored. Milanoski earned the shutout.

ADMINISTRATORS NEEDED

Administrator in Human Resources - As the first point of contact in HR, you will respond to questions from employees and provide administrative support to the Vice-President and other members of the HR team. Duties include administering the tuition reimbursement program, travel arrangements, assisting with immigration requirements and employee relocations, chairing the Company Newsletter Board, preparing the newsletter for publication and organizing company events (i.e. the United Way Campaign).

You possess a Post-Secondary Education or related experience and are proficient in computer programs such as MS Office. You have outstanding organizational skills and an ability to multi-task, enabling you to co-ordinate several projects at one time with aggressive deadlines under minimum supervision. You are a proven team player with effective communication skills (both oral and written) and possess the ability to work with employees at all levels while maintaining confidentiality and discretion.

Coordinator of Military Programs in our Repair and Overhaul Shop - You will be responsible for coordinating all aspects of product repair for our military customers. Duties include creating monthly status reports, raising work orders, creating and maintaining MOPS, arranging shipments of repaired items to customers including all required documentation and analyzing data on customer returns.

You possess a University Degree or College Diploma in Business Administration or related field and are proficient in computer programs such as Microsoft Office. An understanding of the procedures and documentation required for military shipments is a must. Your strong communication and interpersonal skills enable you to work well in a team environment. You must be able to coordinate several projects with aggressive deadlines.

256 Deaths | 256 Deaths

EWING, Marjorie (Marla) Passed away quietly at home, the morning of Wednesday, May 29, 2002 comforted by her loved ones. Beloved wife of the late Robert Thomas Ewing. Lovingly and always remembered by her daughters Linda and her husband David King and Catherine and her husband Wayne Hill. Cherished grandmother of Robert, Shannon, Melissa, Kyle and great grandchildren. Survived by her sisters Phyllis and Georgina. In appreciation for the care Dr. Norma Baker has given our mother, a family donation will be made on her behalf to the Ajax and Pickering Health Centre. A private family service was held. A Memorial Visitation celebrating Marla's life will be held at the McLean Community Centre (95 Magill Drive, Ajax), in Room #3, on Sunday, June 9, 2002 between 2-4 pm. Should family and friends so desire, expressions of sympathy made through memorial donations to the Canadian Cancer Society, would be appreciated. Arrangements entrusted to the MCEACHNIE FUNERAL HOME, 905-428–8488

PUCKRIN, John Howard At the Lakeridge Health Centre, Oshawa, on Tuesday, May 28, 2002, in his 86th year. Loving husband of the late Mary. Loving father of Arthur and his wife Wendy. Grandfather of Lisa and Tammy and great grandfather of Jeniece. Brother of the Alma. Beloved brother-in-law of Margaret and Orval Atkinson of Whitby. John will be sadly missed by his many nieces and nephews and friends. The family will receive friends at the MCEACHNIE FUNERAL HOME, 28 Old Kingston Road, Ajax (Pickering Village) 905-428–8488 from 7-9 pm Thursday and from 2-4 and 7-9 pm Friday. Funeral Service at Pickering Village United Church (300 Church Street N., Ajax) on Saturday, June 1, 2002 at 11 am. Interment- Groveside Cemetery (Brooklin). Should family and friends so desire, donations to Heart and Stroke Foundation or the Canadian Cancer Society would be greatly appreciated.

In loving memory of
on what would have been his 17th Birthday
Born June 1st, 1985

Gone are the days I used to share
But in my heart you are always there
The gates of my memory will never clos
I miss you more than you will ever know
With tender love and deep regret
I who love you will never forget
His pleasant ways and smiling face
Are a pleasure to recall
He had a kind word for each of us and died beloved by all.

May the winds of love blow softly b and whisper so you can hear
We will always love and miss you and wish that you were here
For all that life has given us and all thats left to do
We know no greater treasure than the times we spent with you.

4th Annual Hole In One SHOOT OUT 2002

PROCEEDS DONATED TO CHARITY

Fifth Qualifying Site 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday, June 3

Whispering Ridge Golf Course

Golf Pro Jerry Nemish

Whispering Ridge is the Fifth Qualifying Site for the Fourth Annual Durham Region Hole in One Shootout.

Entering into its 7th season, Whispering Ridge was designed to accommodate novice and advanced players alike. Bent grass tees and sculptured fairways combined with a picturesque view and virgin rough are the notable qualities that generate the increasing popularity of Whispering Ridge's brisk 18-hole challenge. This course offers a balanced mixture of short and long holes measuring in at a total of 4773 yards.

Whispering Ridge is also the perfect choice for small groups of 20 to the corporate golf tournament of 200. The club features a two-level clubhouse, pro shop, large dining room, golf lounge, patio and complete locker and shower facilities.

Golf Hints: Golf Pro Jerry Nemish says #3 is longer that it appears so keep that in mind when choosing your club. Aim to the left of the green and it will kick to the right for that hole in one. Good Luck!

••Whispering Ridge Golf Course is located three km north of Highway 7 on Lakeridge Road at Brawley Road East
