Durham police stop laying possession charges

By Stephen Shaw
Staff Writer

DURHAM — Dope smokers in Durham Region are riding high. As of Friday, police here have stopped laying charges for marijuana possession, citing a cloud of confusion over Canada's current pot laws.

Police won't try to stop public pot smoking on the street or parks, even though some store-owners or citizens may complain, said Durham Regional Police Deputy-Chief Chuck Mercier.

And, federal prosecutors this week began staying "hundreds" of cases currently before the courts of possession under 30 grams, halting proceedings.

Recent court rulings declaring the country's cannabis possession law no longer valid, and federal legislation introduced last week that would decriminalize possession of small amounts of weed, have left police in a haze.

As a result, Durham police officers have been given orders not to arrest or charge any person caught with less than 30 grams of marijuana.

Deputy-Chief Mercier, who handed down the directive to front line officers across the region, said the force has adopted the recommendation made Thursday by the Ontario Association of Chiefs of Police.

"The courts have ruled it's not a lawful section so we're putting officers at risk of arresting people unlawfully if there is no

Bridging the messy traffic gap

Pickering agrees to plan for walkway over 401

PICKERING — Rather than sit in traffic, here's a big chance to walk over it.

A pedestrian bridge linking the Pickering GO Station to the City's downtown centre is no longer "pie in the sky" thanks to a firm commitment from the provincial government and a private-sector partner.

More details will come forward in the next few weeks, but the Province, the City and a private partner will share the cost, with each kicking in a third, said Ward 1 Regional Councillor Maurice Brenner.

"I'm ecstatic," he said. "This vision goes back some seven years when the 401 was being widened."

"People really thought it was far-fetched and pie in the sky," he added.

"The argument was always we can't afford it but we can't afford not to do it. This is the lifeline the City needs in terms of its downtown core."

Described as a "now plan", the bridge's construction could begin as early as this year or the next, Coun. Brenner said.

Provincial funding is expected to take the form of a Super-Build grant and was announced Wednesday as part of $650 million of new money for transportation initiatives around the Golden Horseshoe.

"One of the important pieces was getting the provincial dollars on the table so I pushed hard to make sure the money was there to move forward," said Finance Minister Janet Ecker, the Pickering-Ajax-Uxbridge MPP.

(The bridge) "serves as an anchor for future development on the north side of the highway, while expanding access to the Pickering station."

A memorandum of understanding among all three parties doesn't allow Pickering officials to reveal the name of the private company, explained Coun. Brenner. That information, along with target groundbreaking dates and the cost, will be announced in the next two weeks.

"They're known for doing massive development and advertising in downtown Toronto," Coun. Brenner said of the company, which came to Pickering with the idea.

A conceptual plan has been drawn up for the glass-enclosed bridge. It will be "a work of art", a "tranquil corridor system", and a "people structure, plain and simple", he said.

"We were looking at a rainforest type of idea with the sound of running water.

"It's not going to be a cold walkway with frost on the windows."

Nor will there be advertising strewn across the 401.

That was an original concern of the Ontario Ministry of Transportation (MTO), which felt it was a safety issue.

"With the rare exception, their policy is the only overhead signage should be that of MTO transportation signage," said Ms. Ecker.

"But there may be other options (for advertising) on other portions of the bridge."

Pickering girl found

PICKERING — A missing 13-year-old Pickering girl has been found and returned home.

Aquyla Rumble was found late on Thursday, June 5 at an address in Toronto. Several calls led Toronto Police to the location. Aquyla had left home the morning of May 29 to attend Fairport Beach Public School.

Durham Regional Police report a student at the school saw the girl near the facility around 8:35 a.m. Prior to being found, family members had checked local areas where Aquyla had been known to frequent, as well as contacting her friends, all with no success.

A new chapter begins

UOIT library is officially under construction

DURHAM — There is so much construction still going on at the University of Ontario Institute of Technology that instead of holding a sod-turning ceremony for a new library Friday, officials each took a book to donate to the new facility.

"It's been an exciting project to be involved in," said Ontario Finance Minister Janet Ecker after donating the text of UOIT president Gary Polonsky's recent doctoral thesis on leadership. "Before the 1995 election, the four Durham MPPs met to discuss the priorities for the region. This was one of the big ones."

And the four 'Durham Js' as the local MPPs are known - Mrs. Ecker, Enterprise, Opportunity and Innovation Minister Jim Flaherty, Minister of Natural Resources Jerry Ouellette and John O'Toole - were all in attendance for the official start of the library's construction.

"Invaluable teamwork made it happen," continued Mrs. Ecker. "We met at a Golden Griddle (restaurant before the '95 election)." She credited her colleague Mr. Flaherty for getting the seed money for the university when he was finance minister, with her followup last year of the formal legislation that made the new university a reality.

Ken Swan, president of the Durham College student association, said the new library would help him and other students. "The library will help us succeed in the workforce in the future."

"It's going to be a wonderful place," said Mr. Polonsky, who told the assembled group how important the Fort William library was to him when he was a young student. "I used to spend days and weeks in that library. It was the only place in town where everybody gathered."

"This place will propel Durham College to new heights," he added. "We're already number one in the GTA overall."

The structure will be built to the north of existing Oshawa campus buildings, just south of Conlin Road. It will encompass 73,000 square feet, be four storeys high and comes with a price tag of $20.7 million. The library will be shared by both UOIT and Durham College students and is scheduled to open in late 2004.

"It's on time and on budget," said Bob Strickert, chairman of UOIT's board of governors.

The University of Ontario Institute of Technology will offer nine degree programs to begin with when the first students arrive in September.

Durham College was established 35 years ago and offers almost 100 programs on campuses in Oshawa and Whitby. Visit www.uoit.ca or www.durhamc.on.ca for more information.

Board, teachers in agreement

'Pleasant surprise' deal came together so quickly: union

By Mike Ruta
Staff Writer

DURHAM — Durham's Catholic school board and its 950 elementary teachers reached a tentative contract agreement Monday night.

The Durham Catholic District School Board and the Ontario English Catholic Teachers' Association (OECTA), Durham elementary unit, agreed to a two-year deal, retroactive to Sept. 1, 2002.

Negotiations had been going poorly, and when the board team recently asked for a no-board report, teachers feared it was a prelude to a lockout. The report signalled the start of a 17-day countdown to labour action by teachers or a board lockout that could have taken place next week.

"It was a pleasant surprise that things came together as quickly as they did and that we saw a different approach from the board," said Marnie Daly, OECTA Durham elementary president.

She said the teachers' negotiating team would recommend acceptance of the deal to the union executive at a meeting tonight (Wednesday). Teachers are to ratify the deal at a June 17 general membership meeting.

Patricia Manson, the board's education director, said the board was "very pleased" to have a tentative deal.

If teachers sign off on the agreement, the board of trustees will vote on the deal June 23. Neither side will release details of the agreement until then.

The teachers had been without a contract for nine months and had voted 87 per cent in favour of giving the union a strike mandate.

'Grey area' forces token resistance foundation in law... It's sort of a great, big, grey area right now," said the deputy-chief of operations.

Until the law is clarified by parliament or the courts, Durham pot-heads won't be prosecuted and can hang on to their stash - if it's less than 30 grams.

In Toronto, police Chief Julian Fantino also ordered his officers Thursday to no longer lay simple possession charges, but to still seize marijuana and document investigations, with the potential for laying charges down the road.

In Durham, officers won't confiscate amounts less than 30 grams for fear it could constitute an "unlawful seizure," said Deputy-Chief Mercier.

"The courts have ruled the simple act of possession (of less than 30 grams) is not an offence and we have to follow the law. Right now we're instructing officers not to (seize) since there's a question whether that would be an unlawful seizure," he said, adding the force adopted its stance following a review by its legal services department of recent court rulings.

In recent weeks, Durham police have continued to lay possession charges, but prosecutions were halted before the court process began.

Typically, persons charged with possession are released on a promise to appear in court and the charge is "sworn out" before a justice of the peace.

But in light of the legal limbo, JPs are no longer accepting the charges.

"The JPs have been refusing to sign the information required to file the charges with the court," said Sergeant Paul Malik, police spokesman.

Terry Kelly, a federal Crown prosecutor, said all possession cases currently before Durham courts involving less than 30 grams are being stayed.

A stay halts the prosecution, which can be revived within 12 months.

The Crown last week began requesting judges stay "hundreds" of cases and will wait until "there's some clarification in the law," said Mr. Kelly.

Not only are police confused about the state of cannabis possession, they're frustrated by a lack of direction from the federal justice department.

"While the federal government focuses its efforts on decriminalizing simple possession of marijuana, our police officers have been left in a total sense of uncertainty regarding enforcement of the current law," said Chief Fantino.

Durham's Deputy-Chief Mercier assured police won't let up on marijuana traffickers and growers, but smokers won't be targeted.

He doesn't expect the region to go to pot, but predicted some problems, including police concerns about impaired motorists who smoke and drive.

Highway 407 East Completion

Environmental Assessment (EA) Terms of Reference and Individual EA for Route Location/Concept Design

THE STUDY

The Ministry of Transportation (MTO), in partnership with Ontario SuperBuild Corporation and in consultation with the Region of Durham and local municipalities, is undertaking an Environmental Assessment (EA) Terms of Reference and Route Location/Concept Design Individual EA for the extension of Highway 407.

THE PROCESS

For a provincial Individual Environmental Assessment, the EA Act requires that a proponent prepare a Terms of Reference (ToR) to define the framework for the proposed EA Study. The ToR requires approval by the Minister of Environment (MOE). In preparing the ToR and the Individual EA for Route Location/Concept Design, the Project Team will seek public input and comment.

PUBLIC INFORMATION CENTRES (PICs)

This is the second series of PICs dealing with the preparation of the ToR. Staff from the Project Team will present the Draft EA Terms of Reference and supporting documentation. Comments on five theme areas are being solicited: Draft EA ToR process and schedule, transportation planning/need, proposed EA study area, evaluation approach, and environmental and technical work plans. Each PIC will include an Open House component and a presentation. Staff will be available to answer questions on the five theme areas noted above. Route location alternatives will only be generated if the ToR is approved by the Minister of the Environment. These alternatives would then be the subject of a future series of PICs.

The PICs will be held as follows:

Time for some answers

Nuclear review panel will serve to soothe fragile confidence

Let's hope the adage better late than never proves true in the case of the panel charged with reviewing the restart of the A-side reactors at the Pickering Nuclear Generating Station.

Promised by Premier Ernie Eves many months ago, it was only this week that Energy Minister John Baird finally introduced the three-member panel. Jake Epp, a one-time federal minister of energy, heads a group with Peter Barnes and Robin Jeffrey charged with determining how a project expected to go back online two years ago at a cost of $800 million is still parked and now listed at $2.5 billion.

The exercise is not a public inquiry, rather it is a thorough review of what is causing the lengthy delays and mammoth cost overruns. An interim report is expected this fall, with a final document due by the end of the year.

While certainly the timelines are short when you consider the complexity of the task, they are reasonable given the lengthy delays in getting the panel in place. Ajax and Pickering residents have been more than patient to this point in waiting for answers.

The review comes as many Ontarians begin to wonder whether or not the delays will contribute to blackouts this summer. The Province had been counting on Pickering to provide some much-needed relief to the grid in time for peak periods, but with latest estimates putting the first reactor back online by August at the earliest, the worst may still be ahead.

Hopefully the most important thing that will come from the whole exercise is a little soothing for a public confidence that has been shaken too much the last six or seven years.

Following the reports that forced the shutdown in 1997 of the four units, which were operated by the former Ontario Hydro, Ontario Power Generation has taken extensive steps in Pickering, Ajax and across Durham Region to rebuild trust in the plant. Committees made up of local residents, regular education and information sessions, and community relations have all been used to remind people of the viable, long-term role nuclear energy has to play in meeting our energy demands.

Yet, with each passing month, and the announcement of further delays and more millions added to the price tag, old, and new, fears arise. OPG has continued to stress safety is its driving force in restarting the reactors, but questions remain.

It's up to the panel to determine if due diligence is in fact entirely behind the delays and extra costs, or if there are other factors that need to be addressed and lessons to be learned.

The community's waiting -- and expecting answers.

Letters to the Editor

It's amazing what teachers can do -- with a little respect

To the editor:

Because this space is most often negative, I would like to relay some positive news about Dunbarton High School in Pickering.

I recently attended the school's production of Les Miserables. It was fantastic and very entertaining. I was amazed at the professionalism and talent of these teenagers. Not only did they sing and act and dance their hearts out, but they organized all the production committees that go along with staging such a Broadway-level play. I was so impressed.

One night like that doesn't happen overnight. It takes months of practising, patience and extra time -- long after the bell rings -- on the part of the students and the teachers in the background.

When the students got a standing ovation at the end, you should have seen the beam and pride on the teachers' faces in the back. And we thought teachers didn't do extracurriculars anymore. Not!

When we treat teachers as professionals, it's amazing what they can bring out of our children. Bravo teachers. I salute you and your prodigies for your extra hard work.

Bridging more than a traffic gap in Pickering

City, Province can work together

Lesley Bovie

Staff writer

A little teamwork went a long way this week in Pickering. Just when it seemed like provincial and City officials may never see eye to eye again on an issue, the two managed to pull off a partnership with a private company that has the potential to change the face of Pickering's commuter corridor, not to mention its downtown core.

A pedestrian bridge over Hwy. 401, connecting the GO Station to the Pickering Town Centre, has been long in the offing. For more than seven years, there has been talk of the project. This week, Premier Ernie Eves listed the Pickering bridge in his list of transit initiatives totalling $650 million and rolling out from the Ontario Smart Growth Panel's recommendations for ways to combat gridlock.

With provincial funding now fully committed, the dream of being able to walk over the 401 is one big step towards becoming a reality.

Just imagine the possibilities. Pickering Town Centre employees from across the region could leave their cars at home. Shopping in Pickering would no longer require a car, just a GO Train ticket and a stroll over the 401. Currently, the busy roadway and lack of sidewalks in some areas makes it a treacherous and awkward journey from the station to the centre.

Think of how attractive a pedestrian bridge would be to the businesses City officials are hoping to lure as part of its downtown redevelopment plan. Infilling and intensification along Pickering Parkway are among its key initiatives. If you build it, they will come -- an overused phrase today, but appropriate in this case.

Companies have moved out of the core, or rethought coming to it altogether because there is currently no direct link to the GO station for its employees.

More than anything, the idea sounds 'neat' too. Its construction is bound to attract the attention of the thousands of people who will drive under it every day. What a progressive stamp to put on the face of Pickering.

It's encouraging to hear Regional Councillor Maurice Brenner declare this week's announcement "had nothing to do with politics" but was rather a real team effort. Local MPP Janet Ecker worked "really hard" to help make the proposal come to fruition.

That this comes from one of council's strongest critics on how the Province has handled matters in north Pickering recently, is encouraging. Now, if only Seaton could be planned under the same spirit of congeniality.

5 Steps To Health And Weight Management

1. Foods can provide either a healing or detrimental outcome;

Therefore, a Food Sensitivity test for a broad range of foods is the 1st step. This will expose the individuals' food sensitivities so they can be removed from the diet.

2. A follow-up to the food sensitivity test is a nutrition packed 7-day food plan that eliminates the food sensitivities of the individual and provides numerous alternative food choices. Recipes and food preparation are discussed as well as nutritional advice.

3. A detoxification and cleansing program is necessary to reestablish digestive integrity and metabolic energy. At this stage the body is prepared for the detoxification. Weight loss begins naturally at this stage.

4. A Nutritional Consultation further addresses symptoms of the individual. Deficiencies and/or toxins of the body are revealed and root causes are targeted to balance the body. Natural supplements may be needed to assist the body back to health.

5. A holistic weight loss plan is implemented to specifically target weight loss effectively for life. The role and portions of carbohydrates, proteins and fats are recommended in a simplified format. This is done with consideration to the clients' lifestyle.

Don't take your health for granted. The body "energetically" operates daily on millions of complex internal procedures - it needs ongoing support. Don't wait until it is in trouble! Karen Steward provides food sensitivity testing and Nutritional protocols in Durham (905) 837-6627.

Fraud on menu at next breakfast

AJAX — Fraud is a risk faced by every business.

There is, of course, no way of knowing why or when it could happen, but there is a lot that can be done to reduce the chances of being a target.

'Fraud: how well protected is your company?' is the topic for the next meeting of the Ajax Business Network. Sharon Kuzma, a commercial consultant with TD Commercial Banking, discusses 24 steps a business can take to protect itself from fraud.

She also speaks about identity theft and provides a number of tips and strategies people can take to protect their financial records.

The network was set up by the Town in 1998 to keep the business community informed about key economic issues.

The free seminar is Tuesday, June 17 in the banquet room of the McLean Community Centre, at Westney Road and Magill Drive. A continental breakfast is served at 7:45 a.m. and the meeting is at 8 a.m., followed by networking.

For more information or to reserve a spot, call Alison Sheppard in the Ajax economic development office at 905-619-2529, ext. 231.

Add Some Soy to Your Day

Everywhere you look, there are soy products. It makes sense - soy meets so many health needs as food, protein or milk substitute. According to the Soyfoods Association of North America, studies show that more people are finding soyfoods to be healthy. It's in the numbers, too. Soyfoods sales have been on the rise in supermarkets, natural food markets and smaller natural food stores. Sales of products like soymilk, meat alternatives and frozen desserts have increased too.

This "Veggie Pasta Salad" courtesy of Soyfoods Association of North America (www.soyfoods.org) will get you stuck on soy.

"VEGGIE PASTA SALAD"

Serves 6

Tofu, also known as soybean curd, is a soft cheese food that comes from soymilk. It's rich in protein and low in saturated fat and sodium. Handle tofu as you would any perishable dairy product by checking the expiration date on the package. Freshness is important when buying quality tofu - it should smell slightly sweet.

Pickering readies for battle

Council says city's off-limits to potential landfill sites

By Lesley Bovie
Staff Writer

PICKERING — Don't even think about it.

That's what local councillors are saying to the Ontario Ministry of Environment (MOE) amid concerns the search for waste disposal options may open up a temporary landfill in north Pickering.

"If council doesn't see the risk there -- and I think they do -- we'd be blindsided," said Ward 1 Regional Councillor Maurice Brenner at Monday's council meeting.

"All the ingredients are there," he said, adding talk among GTA politicians is there is a waste "crisis looming".

Durham and Toronto's garbage is currently being shipped to Michigan, but a few weeks ago a mad cow disease scare closed the border to trucks temporarily. While those delivery lines were soon re-established, Coun. Brenner argued it points to a need to find a temporary site for future potential border closings.

Adams Mine in Kirkland Lake is currently being considered as that spot, but it has been reported lands abutting that potential future landfill were recently purchased by one of the same developers who is part of the Seaton land swap, said Coun. Brenner.

At the same time, the Province now has land use control over the 'EE11' site in north Pickering thanks to the recent ministerial zoning order, he said.

Located in the Lamoureaux neighbourhood, EE11 was one of three locations the NDP government's Interim Waste Authority (IWA) recommended to house a mega-dump in 1992. Vehemently opposed by local environmental groups, the suggestion was abandoned when the Conservatives came into power in 1995 and disbanded the IWA.

Not only is the site partly excavated, but it also sits close to local rail lines for haulage, Coun. Brenner said.

But the decision of where to put one's garbage is up to the individual municipality, said MOE spokesman John Steele. The ministry's role is that of "ensuring environmental requirements are met".

Pickering has a long history of resolutions against hosting a landfill, said Ward 3 Regional Councillor Rick Johnson Monday night. From that alone, there should be no question on the part of Toronto or Durham about how the municipality feels on the issue, the regional works chairman said.

"I don't disagree with (this motion) -- just some of the sky-is-falling whereas (clauses)," he said.

Durham declared 10 years ago there would be no new landfill sites locally, Coun. Johnson pointed out.

"I wouldn't think a landfill would be consistent with development either," said Ward 3 City Councillor David Pickles, pointing to Seaton's close proximity to the EE11 site.

"But given recent events, it seems anything is possible," he said, referring to the minister's order.

Buy a coffee and send a kid to camp

DURHAM — Buy a coffee on June 11 and help send kids to camp.

Proceeds from coffee purchased at Tim Hortons on Thursday could send more than 9,000 children, who could not otherwise afford it, on the camping adventure of a lifetime.

All Tim Hortons locations will donate their entire coffee proceeds, in addition to funds raised through various Camp Day events and activities, to the Children's Foundation.

All children who attend a Children's Foundation camp are selected from within the communities where Tim Hortons stores are located. Last year, Tim Hortons customers raised $4.8 million in the 24-hour fund-raiser.

Exams: Achieving Success

Writing an exam can be an extremely stressful experience because it reflects not only the knowledge and understanding that you have acquired over a period of time, but also your ability to perform under pressure. Given that a large percentage of a final grade is often obtained from an examination score, it is important to prepare thoroughly for exams and to remain calm as you write one! Here are some ideas to help you:

1. Draw up a plan of action. Determine how much time you will need to spend studying each day and determine exactly the amount of material that you can cover within that time frame. It is imperative that you do not leave everything to the last minute!!!

2. Set up a study group with a number of your classmates. Providing you can work cooperatively, a study group provides an opportunity to compare notes, discuss possible exam questions, and to test each other on subject matter.

3. Make sure that you read your class notes and the designated text book carefully and meticulously. Summarize your notes by highlighting. Summarizing and resummarizing allow you to internalize the information more effectively than simply reading the material!

4. Employ mnemonic (memory) techniques when learning information. These are designed to help you recall specific kinds of information for exam purposes. For example, the names of the Great Lakes can be learned by associating them to the acronym HOMES (for Huron, Ontario, Michigan, Erie, and Superior).

5. Test yourself. This allows you to see the subject matter from the point of view of an examiner. For example, you can create exam-type questions (e.g. fill-in-the-blanks, vocabulary check, etc.) that will give you the perspective of the teacher and thus help you learn the material more effectively.

6. Collect all required materials, such as pens, calculators, dictionaries, etc. the night before, so that you will not forget anything the day of the exam.

7. Get to the exam early to be in a more relaxed frame of mind and to give yourself the opportunity to review the material in your mind. Don't get into last minute discussion with your peers--it may cause you to panic if you think you don't remember every detail!

8. Read the directions carefully. It is important that you understand what the question wants you to do, no more no less!

9. Read the whole exam through first. Begin with the easiest questions to calm your nerves and give you confidence.

10. Keep track of time. Set target time limits for each question, using the marking scheme as a guide. Attempt to do every question, but do not linger on difficult answers.

11. Always think positively!! You can always learn from what you do incorrectly and correct it on the next exam. You can also learn how to strengthen your exam responses. Review and re-do tests and exams when they are returned to you.

By approving medications in a timely fashion, we'll improve the lives of all Canadians.

When it comes to new innovative medications, timing is everything. But compared to other developed countries, Canada's regulatory system is one of the slowest to approve new medications. And for the Canadians who could benefit from these potential life-saving drugs, they're often left waiting. All the while knowing that these innovative medications are available somewhere else, benefiting someone else. Canadians also need timely access to new medications. And to get that, we need to fight for swift approval times. To find out more, visit our web site at www.canadapharma.org

Walk remembers Jim Kinlin

Participants out to find a cure for leukemia

By Jane McDonald
Staff Writer

DURHAM — People of all ages and backgrounds not only talk the talk when it comes to fighting leukemia, they walk the walk.

Diagnosed more than 11 years ago, Heidi McIsaac, 33, has been involved in both.

"It's always about raising awareness," says Ms. McIsaac, just out of hospital after a three-month stay. "Last year, I wasn't able to be at the walk but I hope, if all goes well, I will be at the walk June 8 and I have a number of friends and family members who will be walking in my honour." She wants people to be aware of the need to create a bone-marrow registry. "Not enough people are aware of the need for bone marrow, as well as blood products, in order to sustain us through our therapy," says Ms. McIsaac, adding how she has had to "be strong and keep fighting" throughout her own treatment.

That's not always easy to do. But with the help and support from family and friends, she says she receives the "strength and love" to keep going. She and her husband have one daughter and she is stepmother to four more daughters.

"It's difficult for all of us," says Ms. McIsaac.

Jackie Robinson knows all about that. His five-year-old son Ryan was diagnosed in December 1999 with ALL (Acute lymphoblastic leukemia). His three years of chemotherapy finished this past New Year's Eve.

ALL is the most common type of childhood cancer. Approximately 75 percent of children with leukemia have ALL, a disease that causes the body to produce too many immature white cells, crowding out healthy white cells (which fight infection), red cells (which carry oxygen to all parts of the body) and platelets (which stop bleeding by forming clots).

People from around Durham will be out today, walking in memory of Jim Kinlin as they work towards a cure for leukemia.

The main form of treatment for ALL is chemotherapy - the use of various drugs to try to destroy all cancer cells as quickly as possible.

"So far, so good," says the 42-year-old mom. "At Sick Kids (Toronto Hospital for Sick Children) you never lie, you just explain (to Ryan) how he had bad guys in his blood and now they're all gone."

Mrs. Robinson chairs the walk but she and her husband, daughter, Ryan, extended family members and the family dog plan to walk. It will take time - until December 2004 - before doctors can be sure Ryan is in remission.

Two separate events have merged into one for the upcoming walk. For more than a quarter of a century, funds raised locally for leukemia research were done by swimming at the annual 'Jim's Swim.' Two years ago on the 25th anniversary of the swim, it was announced that close to $350,000 had been raised over the years.

It's dry land for the fund-raisers now. Local participants have joined forces with members of the United Food and Commercial Workers Union, which has raised money by sponsoring such walks for 14 years.

"The Walk for a Cure' is the 14th Annual UFCW sponsored walk," explains Gail Forbes, executive director, Eastern Ontario Region, Leukemia Research Fund of Canada. "When we rethought the 'Jim Swim' and became an activity outside, we were invited to amalgamate both events. Last year was the first walk in memory of Jim Kinlin."

The 2002 walk raised $23,000, which organizers hope to double June 8.

"Ryan always asks how many people he's going to walk for," says Mrs. Robinson. "He says, 'This walk is helping me, mommy, and all my friends at Sick Kids.' There's an 80 per cent cure for kids with leukemia so on your bad days, you go with the numbers. That's what gives you the strength. And the kids are amazing. These little guys take it all and sometimes Ryan asks, 'What happens when the bad guys come back?'"

For Hannah Silk, 12, the bad guys are long gone. Diagnosed with ALL when she was five, three years of chemotherapy treatment was successful. Today she continues to be in remission and often speaks to groups about her battle with leukemia.

"I did not relapse and am a cancer survivor," she says. "Without the research that has happened before my lifetime I do not know where I would have been right now."

The walk begins with registrations at 10 a.m., at Heydenshore Park Pavilion, Whitby. Pledge forms are available online at www.leukemia.ca.

Flying Finn's at it again

AJAX -- Pickering High School athletes had a field day at the recent OFSAA Central Region Track and Field Championships in Toronto.

All told, the Trojans team qualified 18 athletes to represent the school at the Ontario Federation of School Athletic Associations (OFSAA) championships, which concluded yesterday (Saturday) in St. Catharines. As well, the Trojans topped the team standings, scoring 210.5 points.

Individually, Ryan Finn led the way with two gold medals, while also recording the top high school time in Canada in the 800 metres in a clocking of 1:55.10. He also won the 1,500m in 4:04.20, a personal best and the second best high school time in the country.

Ryan Gordon was also a double-gold medalist, winning the 100m hurdles and the triple jump in the junior boys' bracket.

Meanwhile, Jason Jordon posted the fastest senior boys' 200m time in the province with a clocking of 22.10. He also won the 100m.

The highlight of the day came in the last event, played out in the pouring rain, as the senior boys' 4-x-400m relay team of Christopher Middleton-Russea, Finn, Stephen Lopez, and Jordan crossed the finish line in a time of 3:27.6, tops in the province to date.

All didn't go as planned, however, as a couple of key team members went down with injuries. In the junior boys' category, Aaron Bramwell-Cole and Anthony Lue, along with Sephton Spence in the midget boys' division, were forced to withdraw. Bramwell-Cole had an outstanding season, posting some of the province's top 100m and 200m times.

Prince puts crowning glory on great meet

AJAX -- An Ajax youngster made fast tracks en route to gold at a track and field meet in Markham recently.

Nichelle Prince, of Ajax, joined her Bramalea Bullets at the Markham Invitational track meet, taking home several medals while also shattering a provincial record in the process.

Competing in the mite girls' division, the eight-year-old broke the Ontario record in her age group in the 100 metres, winning in a time of 14.8 seconds. The previous standard was 15.1 seconds, set in 1976.

She also won the 200m in a time of 33.5 seconds and earned gold in the long jump and as the anchor runner in the Bramalea club's co-ed medley relay team.

During the indoor track season, Prince established records in the 50m in a time of 8.1 seconds and in the 60m in a time of 9.33 seconds.

Her next major track and field events are the Hershey finals and the MTA championships, both to be held later this month.

Bar set high for hurdler Felicien

Pickering athlete out to make school history

PICKERING -- A Pickering Olympian is hoping to add another championship to her impressive track portfolio when she competes at the NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships in Sacramento, California.

Perdita Felicien, a senior at the University of Illinois, will attempt to retain her 100-metre hurdles crown at the U.S. national collegiate showcase June 11 to 14. Back-to-back national outdoor titles would make Felicien only the second athlete in the school's history to record the feat, joining Tonya Williams who won the 400m hurdles titles in 1995 and 1996.

A win would also give the Pine Ridge Secondary School graduate her third career national title and make her the most decorated Illinois athlete in the school's history.

"I think Perdita is ready to run a fast time," said her Illinois coach Gary Winckler in a story that appeared on the school's athletic Web site. "She's running technically sound races, even better than she was running two years ago when she ran 12.73. I think we will see her run a very fast time in Sacramento, if not win the race."

In order to advance to the NCAA championships, Felicien had to qualify at the NCAA Mid-east Regional Championships in Columbus, Ohio last weekend.

There, competing under extremely windy conditions, she blew by chief rivals, Louisiana State University's Lolo Jones and Indiana University's Danielle Carruthers, to capture the event.

"I had one of my best starts of the season and the first five hurdles went great," Felicien told the Web site. "Once I cleared the fifth hurdle I could hear a lot of noise behind me and it was someone hitting the hurdles and falling down. Once I accelerated, I could feel each hurdle come up on me a little quickly and that's because of the strong wind behind us. It was almost ridiculous how fast it was blowing, but that's why I love training at Illinois. We get wind like this every day at practice, so this was nothing new to me. I actually hit the seventh hurdle pretty hard, but I just regained my balance, cleared the last hurdle and crossed the finish line. I know hitting that hurdle cost me some time, but a win is a win. After the race, I looked back and saw a couple of people on the ground and hurdles all over the place. This is a tough race."

The 100m hurdles won't be Felicien's only event at the nationals. She'll also compete as a member of Illinois' 4-x-100m women's relay team. The team received an at-large bid to the nationals, the second pick among the eight schools to receive bids to the event.

Illinois' relay team of Felicien, Chequetta Bearfield, Nicole Whitman and Shanna Pickett finished second at the Big Ten Conference Championships last month.

She hits the books too

PICKERING -- Perdita Felicien has been an incredible competitor on the track and now she can say she's also a winner in the classroom, too.

Felicien was named to the Verizon Academic All-District V University Division Women's Track Team, one of only 20 athletes to be named to either the first or second teams.

District V encompasses Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Manitoba and Ontario.

In addition to being a two-time NCAA champion, eight-time all-American and a four-time Big Ten Conference champion, Felicien has also excelled academically, boasting a 3.265 grade-point average in kinesiology.

With her first-team honour, Felicien is eligible for Verizon Academic All-America honours.

Felicien was also named the Mondo Midwestern Regional and District Athlete of the Year and is one of four finalists for National Female Track Athlete of the Year.

She won this same district award during the 2001 outdoor season, the same year she went on to win the National Female Track Athlete of the Year.

Hole In One

SHOOT OUT 2003

Sixth Qualifying Site 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday, June 9

Riverside Golf Club

Hole # 3

Kevin Collier
Assistant Groundskeeper

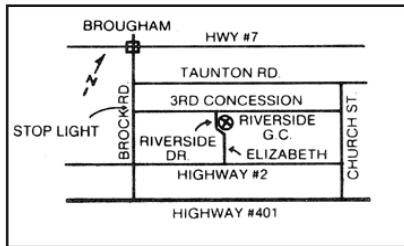

Riverside Golf Club is the Sixth Qualifying Site for the Fifth Annual Durham Region Hole in One Shootout.

Now in its 18th season, this beautifully maintained 9-hole course will challenge even the most experienced golfer attracting many junior golfers, ladies and husbands and wives.

There are 2 par 5s, 4 par 4s and 3 par 3s with water coming into play on every hole. Aside from four ponds, Duffins Creek meanders through the course. Straight shots are required for a low score.

Memberships are available but Riverside is mainly a public course that takes golfers on a first come first serve basis. There is a licensed clubhouse with a new patio with umbrellas. You can also get a bite to eat while you're there. Tournaments are welcome and gas carts are available.

Golf Hints: A demanding shot is required in a successful approach to this green. Depending on the location of the pin, club selection and ball flight will be the main priorities. A back left pin placement requires a soft draw with precise distance control to hold the green. A pin placement on the right demands a high fade to give the ultimate chance to knock it tight. Assistant Greenskeeper Kevin Collier suggests an extra club may be necessary for the approach to this slightly elevated green. Good Luck!

RULES

- $5 for 3 shots from 150 yards
- Closest 3 qualify for championship
- No cash value

Transmission Service

Changing The Fluid and Filter And Why Your Car Needs It

In order to make a vehicle move forward, or reverse, power flows from the engine, to the wheels through the transmission (Trany) and the differential (Diff). The Trany creates the different ratios for speed and power. This is done by applying different combinations of clutches and or bands, by means of hydraulic pressure. A certain volume of tranny fluid should flow from the oil pan through the filter, to the pump. Pump builds up pressure, which in turn, is directed to the appropriate clutch or band.

Lower than specified fluid pressure, will result in clutch slippage, which causes clutch friction discs wear. Wearing clutches leave their dust suspended in the fluid, which flows back to the oil pan.

Fluid cycle is: From oil pan, through the filter, to pump, to clutch packs, then back to the oil pan.

The FILTER picks up dust particles released from clutch discs, and any other form of dirt caused by wearing parts.

A partially plugged filter will reduce the volume flow to the pump resulting in starvation, causing lower and lower pressure, consequently more slippage and more dust. More dust will plug the filter more and more and cause major tranny failure.

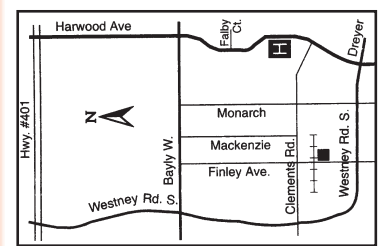

Avoid having major tranny failure!!! Have your car tranny serviced now!!!

Bring this article and save $20.00*
*off regular price.

We promise you the following:

1. Only qualified people will work on your car.
2. We'll never do anything that is not required and APPROVED by you.
3. Every time we repair your vehicle, we will test it out to make certain it is ok.
4. We'll follow up a few days later to make sure you're satisfied.
5. You'll always know how much the repair will cost before we do any work. It will be very clear what was done. WE HAVE NO SECRETS.
6. If you want to know anything about the work that was done or how it was priced, please feel free to ask. I will gladly explain.
7. That every repair or service we do on your vehicle, or part we sell, will meet your satisfaction.
8. That every job is warranted, and that we will live up to the terms of that warranty.
