Looking to Pickering for energy boost

Electricity operator says reactor restarts will keep lights on

BY KEITH GILLIGAN
Staff Writer

PICKERING — The return of one reactor at the Pickering Nuclear Generating Station would ensure the lights stay on and air conditioners keep humming this summer.

In its latest 18-month outlook, the Independent Electricity Market Operator (IMO) stated reactors at Pickering and the Bruce nuclear station are needed to ensure there's an adequate supply of electricity for Ontario.

"The return to service of one unit at the Pickering 'A' station and two units at the Bruce 'A' station would provide satisfactory reserve margins for next summer," said Dave Goulding, president and chief executive officer of IMO. "If those units are not returned to service for next summer as forecast, supply will once again be stretched thin."

The three units would supply more than 2,000 megawatts of electricity, with the Pickering reactor supplying 500, and all three are scheduled to be back online in the first six months of 2003.

"We're still holding to the schedule that Unit 4 will be online by the end of the second quarter, or June," said Ontario Power Generation spokesman John Earl.

"The IMO is saying they know

PICKERING — Game, set and match.

The Pickering Markets and

First Professional Shopping Centres have reached a deal that will see vendors setting up shop for six months in a tennis dome in the parking lot of the Metro East Trade Centre.

Vendors have committed to filling 265 booths in the 60,000-square-foot heated dome, which will offer refuge to the markets until Aug. 1.

"I think it's wonderful," said Arley Karpman, a lawyer representing a majority of the vendors. "First Pro has gone beyond what is expected of them."

Mr. Karpman couldn't say how many of the 350 vendors had signed on to the agreement but only that some had chosen to take multiple booths at the temporary structure.

It wasn't an issue of whether to commit to the move, but rather getting first and last month's rent

Ajax hospital's first baby of new year weighs in at 6 pounds 11 ounces

Don Lloyd, left, Leslie Dickie and big sister Sommer celebrated the arrival of the newest member of their family this week. Faith Olivia Lloyd was born Jan. 2 at about 9:35 p.m., making her Rouge Valley Ajax and Pickering hospital's first baby of 2003.

Sigouin, of Oshawa, at 1:54 a.m., after 27 hours of labour at Lakeridge Health Oshawa.

"That's the exciting thing about obstetrics. Babies may be due, but they usually end up coming when they want to," added Sandra Haslam, a registered nurse with Rouge Valley's maternal and newborn services.

That no babies were born in the early hours of 2003, or Jan. 1 for that matter, seems odd for a hospital that churns out about 1,600 births annually.

Not to Ms. Haslam, however.

"When I first started 35 years ago, I remember going a week without a New Year's baby," she said.

"We had 400 deliveries a year back then. Sometimes we have 12 babies delivered in a day, sometimes we have none."

Judith and Ross Dickie weren't expecting to be driving in from Etobicoke to be with their daughter yesterday, but they were delighted by the fuss staff made over their eighth grandchild.

"Her nurse was so excited," Mrs. Dickie said. "The hospital even gave them a gift for having the New Year's baby — a photo album and some baby rattles."

Big sister, Sommer, four, was also excited by her new sibling. Mr. Lloyd said her delivery was also quick, only a few hours at the hospital.

"This just happened to be my only day off," said the natural gas contractor.

Ms. Dickie, a Grade 3 teacher in Scarborough, started her one-year maternity leave during the Christmas break.

She'll go home after a two-day stay at the hospital.

Olive wants Durham to branch out

Full-service hotel, convention centre top commissioner's wish list for region

BY LESLEY BOVIE
Staff Writer

DURHAM — Pat Olive knows exactly what he'd wish for Durham Region in 2003.

"I would love to see a full-service hotel with a restaurant," said Durham's commissioner of economic development and tourism. "We really only have one right now, Holiday Inn in Oshawa."

"My other wish would be a convention centre where we could host trade shows, and a new regional headquarters. I think a new headquarters would save taxpayers a lot of money just in the direct cost of travelling back and forth to meetings. It would be a lot more efficient than operating out of nine locations."

While those wishes remain just that at the moment, Mr. Olive said 2003 has some exciting prospects for Durham.

One, he said, is Canada's bid to host the International Thermonuclear Experimental Reactor (ITER) project in Clarington. A decision on the site, which three other countries are also bidding to host, is expected in the first half of the year.

The commissioner expects the project would create more jobs and many "spinoff technology" and research opportunities for Durham.

With the opening of the University of Ontario Institute of Technology (UOIT) in the

Durham commissioner of economic development Pat Olive says the region has plenty to look forward to in 2003. That includes the opening of the University of Ontario Institute of Technology, currently under construction, in September.

fall, Durham will become known as a place to do cutting-edge research, he said.

"ITER and UOIT will go hand in hand," said Mr. Olive, adding the university will be the spot to learn about fusion technology and ITER will be the place to practise it.

Encouraged by redevelopment plans for the Regent Theatre in downtown Oshawa, Mr. Olive added the university will help fuel the redevelopment of the city's central core. Projects like UOIT and ITER also serve to bring people into Durham, which creates the need for more housing and attracts employers, he pointed out.

"We're seeing that now with two commercial plazas being built in Durham, one in Brooklin and the other on Taunton Road (in Oshawa), near all that new housing," Mr. Olive said.

He is optimistic Durham will continue to be backed by a strong national economy in 2003. Canada is currently outpacing the United States in terms of economic growth, Mr. Olive said.

"Still, I think our industrial base here in Durham needs to look outward," he added.

"There are a lot of great firms doing a lot of global marketing, but a lot don't. Our world is growing every day."

He cited Eco-Tec in Pickering, The Brady Group in Whitby, and Paula Lishman Designs in Scugog as good examples of local firms taking advantage of opportunities overseas.

together as required by the agreement, said Tom Ristov, a member of the Market Tenants Association. Rent at the temporary location is about 30 per cent higher on average than what vendors currently pay for their booth at the trade centre, he said.

Now it's a question of when the dome can be up and ready for the vendors to take possession. With the trade centre slated for demolition Feb. 1, Mr. Ristov said it needs to be up as quickly as possible.

"We can't afford the down time," he said. "I hope we go from one building to the next."

First Pro is waiting to apply for a temporary building permit next week from the City and has its crews on standby for the installation, said Ornella Richichi, director of land planning.

"We've worked non-stop over the holiday season to get this going," she said. "We understood the vendors needed an extra week (to consider the agreement) but we also told them every extra day means delaying the project that much further."

Timing of the installation will depend on City approval, Ms. Richichi said, but vendors have been warned there may be one or two weeks of down time until the dome is available.

Mr. Karpman said his clients are willing to accept that reality. They may have to accept a "gap" between the move from the temporary location Aug. 1 to the new market location at the corner of Squires Beach Road and Bayly Street too, he said.

There are still a couple of issues

ARLEY KARPMAN

Vendors may have to accept 'gap' between move from temporary home to new location.

Invar Building Corporation has to work out with the City on that site, he said. Working with Invar to negotiate a smooth move is his next order of business, said Mr. Karpman.

First Pro is spending more than $30,000 to purchase the temporary structure, which Ms. Richichi said is more like a tennis dome in height than a golf dome as first described. It will have portable washrooms but no food court because of a lack of plumbing. Several hundred footings will be needed to keep it secure, she said.

Hot summer could spell energy trouble

new generation is committed to coming on stream. We're still committed to those dates."

Mr. Earl said a "really rough rule of thumb" has one megawatt providing enough power for 1,000 people.

So, Unit 4 being at full capacity could provide electricity for 500,000 people.

The latest 18-month forecast covers the period from January 2003 to June 2004.

It's based on the IMO's forecast of electricity demand, information provided by electricity generators on the supply available, and the latest information on the capability of the transmission system.

"If Ontario experiences extremely hot and humid weather conditions again next summer, with no increase in generation availability, there will be an urgent requirement for electricity imports and increased concern over the reliability of supply," Mr. Goulding added.

OPG has had to delay the restart of Unit 4 several times and the project has gone significantly over budget. The original schedule had the first reactor back in operation late last year, but the restart has been pushed back several times.

Also, the original cost of $800 million is now more than $2 billion.

After Unit 4 is restarted, subsequent reactors are to be brought online in six- to nine-month intervals.

The four 'A'-side reactors have been in a laid-up state since late 1997.

Mr. Goulding said 4,000 mw of electricity had to be imported last summer during certain peak periods, more than 1,000 higher than the previous summer.

New president promises continued growth

Nigel Allen plans to continue work of his predecessor in new role

BY LESLEY BOVIE
Staff Writer

DURHAM — The Ajax Pickering Board of Trade will continue along a path of revitalization in 2003, says its new president.

Nigel Allen said he plans to continue the work his predecessor Pat O'Brien did last year in strengthening the business organization.

"We have a strong group of directors and officers for 2003 who are committed to meeting the needs of our members," said Mr. Allen.

"Pat O'Brien did an incredible job and our past directors, officers and staff did an incredible job (last year). It's a matter now of not wanting to drop that ball."

Mr. Allen has represented BDO

Dunwoody LLP Chartered Accountants on the board for the last four-and-a-half years, in which time he's sat on various board of trade committees and served on its executive.

A resident of Ajax and Pickering for 24 years, Mr. Allen attended Dunbarton High School and the University of Waterloo, where he graduated with a bachelors of arts honours in chartered accountancy studies in 1991. He earned his chartered accountant designation the following year.

Mr. Allen has spent his entire professional career with BDO Dunwoody's Durham offices and was made partner of the firm in 2000.

"I want to make sure we continue to provide the services our members want," said Mr. Allen of his one-year presidential term. "We will continue to host network events and our business excellence awards."

The board of trade's government relations committee will also continue to solicit ideas from members about several key issues in the community and lobby all three levels of government on their behalf, he said.

Mr. Allen counts the extension of Hwy. 407 and a new Hwy. 401 interchange at Salem Road as two of the most important issues facing his members in 2003.

"The federal airport is a significant issue, but is it something that is going to be resolved in the next year? I doubt it. It's a huge issue," he added.

The board of trade's 2003 board of directors includes Mr. O'Brien, of Ontario Power Generation as chairman; first vice-president Joan Wideman, of Lenbrook Industries; second vice-president Doreen Cunnene, of WindReach Farm; treasurer Tim Kellar, of Money Concepts; and secretary Cameron Murkar, of Polak McKay Hawkshaw.

This year's officers are Bonnie Fraser, of KIA Pickering; Trevor Lewin, of Messier-Dowty; Doug Wellman, of Wellman Financial; Diana Hills-Milligan, of Veridian; John Leonard, of Dynamic Publishing; Terry Slobodian, of Durham College; Tracey Patterson, of Rouge Valley Health System; and Al van Herpt, of National Bank of Canada.

Advisers for 2003 are Luisa da Rocha, from the Town of Ajax and Lynn Winterstein, from the City of Pickering. Members officially welcome Mr. Allen as their new president at the president's inaugural dinner Thursday, Jan. 30 from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Kinsmen Heritage Centre, 120 Roberson Dr. in Ajax.

Tickets are $45 each for the evening, which features Durham Chairman Roger Anderson as guest speaker. For more information, call the board of trade at 905-686-1057.

Kidnapping victim escapes

PICKERING — A 20-year-old kidnapping victim was driven from downtown Toronto to Pickering where he escaped his attackers, police say.

The man told police he was stopped on the street by a man demanding drugs at 2 a.m. Sunday. When he refused, he was ordered into a car containing a second man. A third assailant jumped into the vehicle and a tuque was pulled over the victim's head, Toronto Police said. The victim was taken to an unknown area in Pickering and robbed of his cellphone, wallet and jacket before escaping uninjured, police said.

Maybe message is finally sinking in

Fewer charges with this year's RIDE program offer positive sign

It was clearly a happy new year in Durham during the days leading up to 2003 for those who wage war on drinking and driving.

The Reduce Impaired Driving Everywhere (RIDE) police spotchecks were catching far fewer drunk drivers this past holiday period than over the same period just one year ago.

The first four weeks of the RIDE campaign this past December showed just 45 motorists charged with alcohol-related offences. That was after the eight-officer RIDE team had stopped 21,352 vehicles during that period.

Over the same timeframe just one year ago, some 82 motorists were charged with about 24,000 vehicles stopped.

Nearly the same number of people, 100 this year, compared to 95 one year ago, received 12-hour licence suspensions after registering a 'warn' on roadside breath-screening tests.

While too many people are still taking a chance with their own lives and the lives of everybody else on our roads by venturing out with too much alcohol in their systems, there is room for optimism.

The latest numbers are a very positive trend after several years when it appeared all the publicity and awareness raised by such groups as Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) seemed to be falling on deaf ears.

Back in 2000 the region was devastated by a year-long raft of drunk-driving accidents which saw a number of people killed. By the time RIDE clicked in for December-January 2000-01, 74 were charged with drinking and driving during the entire RIDE program. In 2001, that number jumped significantly to 82 charged just over halfway through the seven-week season.

That's why it's so gratifying to see such a drop this holiday season. MADD has made a concerted effort through advertising to hammer home the point drinking and driving kills and maims innocent people. Powerful video presentations made by high school students and shown to their peers, have attracted notice and could well have had a very positive impact. The Values Influences and Peers (VIP) program, which involves a police officer dropping into classrooms across the region to discuss the perils and pitfalls of alcohol, among other drugs, has reached out to Grade 6 students across the region. Perhaps the message has run deep and could result in fewer people drinking and driving in future.

Only education and awareness, backed up by stiff penalties, will help keep drunk drivers off our roads. The work continues but this year, so far, it appears the battle is being won.

Decision to smoke should not be forced on others

To the editor:

Re: 'Given new smoking ban, can morality police be far behind?' letter to the editor, Jan. 1.

I read George Moffat with a small sense of amusement and irony. He talks about being discriminated against and segregated because he smokes and the new bylaw will force smokers outside.

I grew up in a household of smokers, and in those days you could smoke practically anywhere, including malls, stores and in the workplace.

Throughout my childhood years I was afflicted with chest infections and bronchitis every winter. I'm not saying smoking caused any of these afflictions but it sure didn't help any. I chose not to smoke and was forced to be a second-hand smoker because of the environment I lived in. Sounds a lot like discrimination to me. We should all have a choice whether or not to breathe clean air.

Being a non-smoker and a triathlete my opinion on the new bylaw is biased. I have no problem with people smoking. Just remember the smoker's right to indulge in his or her habit should not be forced upon others who don't wish to smoke. The real difference between the activities Mr. Moffat mentions, such as practicing religion or eating peanut butter, is that these acts are not forced upon anyone else.

I just hope his workplace is able to accommodate him and his smoking friends a little better when the bylaw is implemented. I, for one, will welcome the change in our bars and our restaurants.

Fears lead to prejudice at the youngest age

New worries brought on by Sept. 11 terrorist attacks only serve to violate basic rights

Lorie Blundon

Opinion Shaper
shouston@durhamregion.com

Recently an e-mail came across my desk advising of important news for people travelling to the United States.

It spoke of a new national security entry/exit tracking program (NSEET) requiring all non-immigrants, born in or citizens of either Iran, Iraq, Libya, Sudan, Syria, Yemen, Saudi Arabia and Pakistan to be photographed and fingerprinted every time they travel to or through the U.S. If Canada was to adopt such a program this would be a complete violation of our Constitution Act and the Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

I agree safety and security should be beefed up, but to single out certain countries and cultures is unfair. Germany had Hitler, Italy had Mussolini, all races have good and bad, but to say all of one race could be potentially bad is wrong and is a violation of freedoms that have been established after years of fighting and bloodshed by all our ancestors.

Sept. 11 was a tragic day across the world. Everybody in some way felt the trauma and heartache. Should such grief and sadness not bring us closer together rather than create barriers and warfare amongst our neighbours and ourselves?

I have two nieces. One niece is part Italian, blonde and fair-skinned, the other is part Iranian, dark-haired with olive skin. Both have the same white mother, yet only one gets the evil eye and racist comments because of her heritage.

My niece who is part Iranian was born two weeks after 9/11. She was only a week old and someone said to her mother, "So, how is the little terrorist?"

When she goes out with her daughters, people look at her disapprovingly. My niece has only begun to walk and cannot even talk, yet since her birth, she has been labelled. Why? Because of things that happened before she was even born.

If you cut us, we all bleed the same colour.

I have heard it said we are all God's children. People need to be looked at for who they are, not their race, religion, culture, or sex.

Forgive me if I am mistaken, but the last I heard, an individual is innocent until proven guilty. As my son would say, 'Can't we all just get along!'

IF YOU'RE GOING TO LOSE DO IT RIGHT WITH A COMPANY YOU CAN TRUST.

We helped these people meet their goals last year.

Real people...real results

25 POUNDS

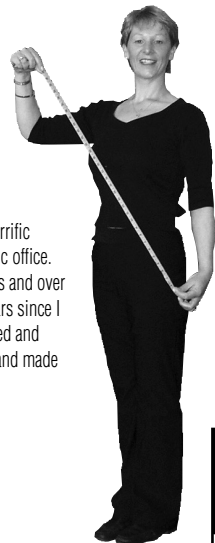

I finally did it!!!

No exercise, No quick fix diets, just Herbal Magic and the terrific support of Catherine & Michelle at the Keswick Herbal Magic office. I went from a size 14 to a 6 in just 15 weeks. I lost 25 pounds and over 30 inches, since joining Herbal Magic. Its been over 10 years since I have been smaller than a 9/10, I have never felt this energized and looked this good. Catherine & Michelle made that happen and made it fun.

Thank you Herbal Magic.

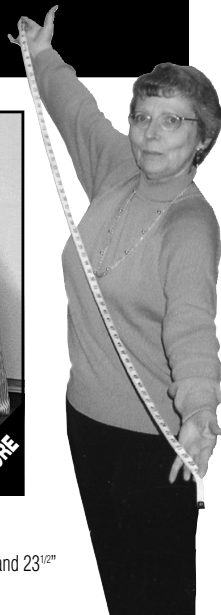

Sincerely
The new and improved Carol.

Province's protection plan goes natural with Seaton

BY LESLEY BOVIE
Staff Writer

DAVID STEELE
'I've asked if any work is being done but I've gotten no answer.'

PICKERING — Plans are in place to protect 52 per cent of Seaton as a natural heritage system, says the Province.

"This is the first time in Ontario such a huge area of land has been preserved for public ownership before development takes place," said Alexandra Gillespie, an advisor to Municipal Affairs and Housing Minister Chris Hodgson.

The natural heritage system connects significant environmental features such as wetlands, woodlands, valleys and bodies of water, but at the same time, allows for the movement of plants and animals between those features, she said.

The Province has struck a deal with developers to swap lands it owns in Seaton for privately owned lands in Richmond Hill and Uxbridge. The Seaton lands consist of about 7,000 acres bordered roughly by Hwy. 7 to the north, Brock Road to the east, the Third Concession to the south and the Toronto-Pickering border in the west.

Under the City's current Official Plan, Seaton is slated for development of a community with a population of approximately 90,000.

The Province wants a secondary plan for Seaton approved by June, but Pickering council has an interim control freeze on development in north Pickering until its growth management study is completed.

In a letter sent to Mayor Wayne Arthurs, Mr. Hodgson enclosed a map outlining the lands in Seaton the government intends to protect in public ownership. It raised the concerns of Ward 1 Regional Councillor Maurice Brenner, who pointed out the map provides no protec-(PACT) for the Environment, said he also felt the Province would have to recycle old data to have a secondary plan in place before June.

"I've asked if any work is being done but I've gotten no answer," said Mr. Steele.

He's been pushing for an extensive environmental mapping of Seaton before development takes place, and said if this is the Province's environmental map, the City should be peer reviewing it.

Ms. Gillespie defended her ministry's map and stressed this is just the first step in plotting out protective areas in Seaton. The data is new, she said, and is the result of "very meticulous scientific research" conducted by the Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) with the assistance of Toronto Region Conservation (TRC).

"The Province hasn't already created some kind of secondary plan. We want to work co-operatively with Pickering on a secondary plan for Seaton," Ms. Gillespie said.

The map plots natural environmental features, but the Province has yet to look at cultural heritage sites like Whitevale, she said.

"We're still in the process of looking at buffers for cultural heritage sites, including Whitevale," she added.

tion for the community of Whitevale.

"If you look at it, it looks like they want to develop up the North Road (in Whitevale) and across the 407," he said.

Pickering's urban plan provides Whitevale with a buffer zone from development and focuses on Brock Road as a thoroughfare, Coun. Brenner said.

"I have a hunch they already have a secondary plan. How else would they expect to meet their deadline?" he said.

Pickering Naturalists plan busy stretch

PICKERING — Here's your chance to commune with the outdoors.

The Pickering Naturalists meet monthly at 7:45 p.m. in the St. Elizabeth Seton Catholic School library, at the corner of Rosebank Road and Stroud's Lane.

Make friends with the stars when Steve LaForest focuses on what can be seen from a dark suburban yard Thursday, Jan. 9. After the meeting, the group hopes to venture outdoors to scope out the heavens.

Bill Lewis, a program director at the Rouge Valley Conservation Centre, offers information about the centre's programs Thursday, Feb. 6.

Wildflowers are the focus of the evening Thursday, March 6 when Bill Crowley presents a slide show set to music featuring flowers found on our roadsides, the Bruce Peninsula, Ontario's prairie lands and beyond.

There is a fund-raising silent auction at all three meetings, with 100 per cent of the proceeds going towards Thickson's Meadow.

Several outings are also on the group's upcoming agenda. Members can take in a bird feeder tour of north Pickering Saturday, Jan. 18, visit the 'Wings of Paradise' Conservatory in Cambridge Sunday, Jan. 26, or see the Toronto Islands Saturday, Feb. 1.

There is also a winterberry and bud tour Sunday, Feb. 9, a west Lakeshore birding excursion Sunday, Feb. 16, and trip to Petroglyphs, northeast of Peterborough, Sunday, Feb. 22.

For more information about becoming a member, call Heather Jessop at 905-837-1775 or Michelle Farrell at 905-831-1639.

Help to tip moms to business success

PICKERING — Moms can get a hand with their home-based businesses this month.

'Home-based business: tips and tax writeoffs' takes place Saturday, Jan. 11 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Pickering Public Library, One The Esplanade.

Phil Smith, a business and entrepreneur program manager at Centennial College, offers advice to parents considering a work-at-home option or home-based business.

The workshop is hosted by Mothers for Mothers, a new company assisting self-employed mothers to get the word out to their communities about what they do.

Cost is $40 per adult, and $5 per child. Child care is available on site with entertainment provided by a clown.

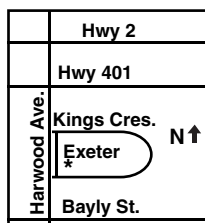

For more information, contact mothersformothers@rogers.com or 905-831-9204.

No joke, LeBlanc wants to go it alone

Ajax actress hopes for own show as she heads to LA for pilot season

BY LESLEY BOVIE

Staff Writer

AJAX — Remember this name: Sadie LeBlanc.

It could be on your television screen a lot in the next year if the determined Ajax native has her way.

"I want a comedy. I want my own TV show," said LeBlanc. "I've never been more ready for this and I'm not going to stop until it happens."

LeBlanc said she's looking for the next 'Will and Grace' or 'Dharma and Greg' as she flies to Los Angeles this month to plug away at pilot season, an annual hiring blitz for the industry's new shows.

A comedic turn on television would definitely be a first for LeBlanc, who has only had a chance to show her funny side on stage so far.

In fact, the acting bug first bit her at Pickering High School, where as a Grade 12 student she wrote, directed and starred in her first play. It netted her two awards, including one for best actress at the Sears Festival that year, and LeBlanc said she was hooked.

From there, she auditioned for York University's general drama program and after gaining entry, won a spot the following year in its acting program. In the summer before her third year at York, LeBlanc gave in to suggestions she should get an agent and Louise Parent, of Parent Management, took her on.

"I have the same agent as the Soup Nazi (from 'Seinfeld')!" she said.

She was soon cast in 'Gossip' starring James Marsden and Kate Hudson, and for her 12 days on set, was paid enough to settle up her student loan. But her dean at York had issues with a student getting paid for acting work while being enrolled in the program, said LeBlanc. So she dropped out.

"You don't know what it was like to make your first audition," she said. "I loved the excitement of being on stage and I do miss it, but I loved film."

LeBlanc was then cast in several guest roles on television, including 'Earth: Final Conflict' and 'Psi Factor'.

"It was a nice big part. I got all possessed up," said LeBlanc, of her role as a young movie starlet on 'Psi Factor'. "Dan Aykroyd was cool too."

Since then, she has had a small part in 'Get Over It', starring Colin Hanks, the oldest son of film star Tom Hanks, ("he was so sweet and looked so much like his dad, I just wanted to say, 'Run, Forrest, Run'") and has done about 10 to 12 commercials in the United States and Canada.

Look for her in a Mars Bar commercial running right now. LeBlanc describes her role as "the sexy dorm girl".

Ajax actress Sadie LeBlanc is heading to Los Angeles this month for pilot season in hopes of landing her own television show.

And this March, The Movie Network airs 'doUlike2watch.com', a reality-based horror movie, in which LeBlanc plays one of several young roommates being hunted by a killer.

But for all her energy and drive to succeed, LeBlanc said her roots remain firmly planted at home with her family in Ajax. She's had the same boyfriend for 10 years and after exploring her possibilities in New York next year, LeBlanc said she'll be ready to come back home and start a family.

She expects the move away will be hard, but plans to take a friend along. Getting caught up in the Los Angeles party scene isn't a possibility, said LeBlanc.

"I'm a very confident person so I'm not out to self-destruct," she added. "I'm not going to run through the streets of LA naked or anything like that."

Antwone Fisher sets out on journey of self-discovery

The following movies are playing in theatres this weekend

ANTWONE FISHER

Directed by Denzel Washington

Starring Denzel Washington,

Derek Luke, Joy Bryant

Based on the true story of a man who digs inside himself to discover therein lies a king.

A sailor with an explosive attitude, Fisher is ordered to see a naval psychiatrist about his volatile temper. Little does he know his first step into the doctor's office would lead him on a journey home. With the support of the doctor, who becomes more like a father than anyone Fisher has ever known, and the woman from whom he learns how to love, Fisher finds the courage to stop fighting and start healing.

Only then can he call on the family he never knew and come to terms with the one he knew all too well.

A story of firsts, Antwone Fisher marks the directorial

'Nicholas Nickleby' tells the Dickens tale of a young orphan on the run to build a new life.

debut for two-time Academy Award-winning actor Denzel Washington and first screenwriting credit for Antwone Fisher.

NICHOLAS NICKLEBY
Directed by Douglas McGrath
Starring Charlie Hunnam,
Nathan Lane, Christopher Plummer, Jim Broadbent

penniless when his father dies. He, his sister, and his mother venture to London to seek help from their wealthy Uncle Ralph.

Unfortunately, Ralph's intentions are less than beneficent, and the family is split apart. Nicholas is sent to Dotheboys Hall, a squalid school for orphan boys run by the cruel and abusive Wackford Squeers.

Within the dark, grim walls of Dotheboys, Nicholas befriends a kind-hearted and mistreated boy named Smike, and together they run away, setting off on an adventure to reunite the Nickleby family and build a new home of their own.

Gold and silver lining to petites' trip to Markham tourney

Pickering players demonstrate ring skills at holiday event

PICKERING — The Pickering petite 'C' team was a semifinalist at the recent Markham Holiday Ringette Tournament.

Facing Oshawa in the semifinals, Pickering fell behind 2-0 before Samantha Dawe scored on an assist from Caitlin Sebert to cut the lead in half. After Oshawa added three more goals, Laura Brighton, from Dawe, and Amy Amardeep scored to make it 5-3 at the end of the first period.

Oshawa scored three times in the second, but Pickering rallied again on goals from Leigha Johnston, assisted by Anna Mulgrew and Megan McRae, Amardeep, from Dawe, and then Dawe.

However, that was as close as Pickering came as Oshawa added a late marker for the 9-6 win.

The Pickering petites scored some individual success in the skills competition.

Dawe (shooter) and Brighton (goalie) teamed up to win gold in the shooting competition. Oshawa scored first, but Dawe, in a must-score situation, responded on the short side to stay alive. After Brighton made a save, Dawe claimed the gold by scoring low.

Pickering also earned a silver in the relay team of Mulgrew, Katie-Lee Ross, Johnston and Meghan Donnan finished a close second to Oshawa.

John Brighton, Eric Ross, Arthur Donnan, Linda Mulgrew and Diane McRae coach the team.

Panthers midget selects earn win and tie

Pickering club gets three points from Oshawa clubs

PICKERING — The Pickering Panthers minor midget select hockey team put a blemish on the previously undefeated Oshawa Church Hockey League club in recent rink action.

The Panthers handed Oshawa its first loss of the season with a 4-2 decision. Derek Westlake, Kyle Fredericks, Kyle Walker scored, with Joey Paul netting the winner. Adding assists were Derek Savoie and Westlake. Anthony DelleDonne was solid in net.

While still in Oshawa, the Pickering midget selects skated to a 1-1 draw with the Oshawa NASC club. Fredericks potted the tying marker with 2:08 remaining in the third period. DelleDonne preserved the win with outstanding goaltending.

In Whitby, the Panthers dropped a 5-0 cat fight to their close rivals, the Wildcats.

Chris Skeates, Josh Linkletter, Danny Cameron, Neil Felder, Jordan Cash, Alex Stravrou, Kyle Kaveratzis, Adam Turi, Michael Lafferton, Daniel Thrift, Tommy Myall and Brendon Watts all contributed to the success.

Dunbarton High athlete's gold named top swim at Ottawa meet

PICKERING — Five Dunbarton High School athletes joined 16 of their teammates from the Scarborough Swim Club at the recent Senior Provincial Swim Championships in Ottawa.

More than 30 clubs from around the province sent their top competitors to the championships.

Warren Barnes, 17, earned the outstanding male swim of the meet award, which carried with it a $100 prize. The recognition came for his effort in the 100-metre breaststroke where he clocked in at 1:03.02 winning gold and achieving a new personal best time. The effort was also the top national qualifying swim of the meet.

Barnes also checked out with silver medals in the 50m and 200m breast, a fourth in the 400m individual medley and a sixth-place effort in the 200m IM.

Daniel Langlois, 14, had an incredible meet achieving junior national qualifying times in each of his backstroke events. He finished fifth in the 50m, seventh in the 100m and 11th in the 200m back events, setting new personal best times in each.

Laura Barnes, 14, cracked youth national qualifying times in her 100mbreast event with a continued streak of new best times. She finished seventh in the consolation finals.

Nicole Sabourin, 18, swam the 200m-butterfly event finishing fifth in the consolation finals. She also competed in the 800m-freestyle event. Vanessa Wappell, 14, competed in three distances of the breaststroke and the 100m free.

The Scarborough Swim Club finished the meet as the third highest-ranking club.

Next up for this group is the junior nationals in London next month.

256 Deaths

GILLIGAN, Artelle - Beloved friend James Pender, passed away peacefully in her sleep, on December 19, 2002, in her 85th year. A member of Ajax Legion 322, she was loved and respected by all that knew her. Funeral arrangements have been entrusted to the McEACHNIE FUNERAL HOME, 905-428-8488. Cremation has taken place. A memorial service will be held on Friday, January 3, 2003 in the chapel.

McDONAGH, Agnes "Nan" (nee Kerr) - Peacefully at home in Pickering, on Wednesday January 1, 2003, surrounded by her family, after an illness courageously borne. Beloved wife of the late Henry "Sonny". Loving father of Marie Hewitt, and Aileen and her husband David Murphy. Proud grandmother of Aileen and her husband Trevor van Dorrser, John, and Greig, and great-grandmother of Lauren and Maxwell. Much loved sister of James, Francis, Isabella, Hugh (Jeanette), Ellen (Archibald), and aunt to many nieces and nephews all in Glasgow, Scotland. The Funeral Mass will be held at St. Isaac Joques Catholic Church, 1148 Finch Avenue, Pickering on Friday January 3, 2003 at 10:30 a.m. Arrangements entrusted to the McEACHNIE FUNERAL HOME, Ajax, 905-428-8488.

"We all are free, just to be
To do what we want, without saying we can't
To fly away, and seize everyday
To discover, but not to find,
To sing, without making a sound
To be free, I wish to be."
