Air quality in Pickering truly a mouthful

Roadside testing offers eye-opening numbers
for researchers

By Danielle Milley
Staff Writer

PICKERING — A woman jogs south down Whites Road while a large diesel truck idles at a red light. She is breathing deeply through her mouth bringing oxygen to her lungs, heart and muscles to propel her along. But, oxygen isn't the only thing she is breathing.

She was breathing in thousands of fine particles that would also make their way into her lungs. Representatives from the Clean Air Partnership, the Southern Ontario Centre for Atmospheric Aerosol Research at the University of Toronto, and Ajax and Pickering were testing air quality in the two municipalities. They were doing it to raise awareness in advance of the annual Smog Summit June 7 and 8.

"One of the messages we're trying to send is that there is the perception that air pollution is a downtown Toronto problem and that once you go to the suburbs it's not, but that's not true. Air pollution is a regional issue," said Gabriella Kalapos, of the Clean Air Partnership.

The readings for particulate matter in Ajax at Harwood Avenue and Hwy. 401 hovered around 10, while the readings of approximately seven weren't much different at Strouds Lane and Whites Road in Pickering. A smog advisory is issued at 45. Before last night's rain and the shift in wind, levels were higher than 80.

The testing for fine particulate matter varied depending on whether they were taken in a high traffic or residential area and whether traffic was stopped and idling or driving by.

It jumped from 4,000 to 8,000 with the presence of an idling truck and jumped to 12,000 after a car took off

All signs point to residents getting their stop

Pickering committee
OKs move for Pine
Ridge and Rougemount

By Danielle Milley
Staff Writer

PICKERING — Motorists on Rougemount Drive are going to have to get used to stopping.

Despite a staff report recommending that stop signs not be installed on Rougemount at Pine Ridge Road, councillors voted to install the residents' requested signs.

"I'm not one to jump up and down when a community brings a point of view to us. I am familiar with the area... The speeds are above the limit; it is a road that lends itself to picking up speed. This is an enhancement to traffic-calming," said Ward 1 City Councillor Kevin Ashe at the May 23 executive committee meeting.

Concerned Rougemount residents came to council May 1 to ask that a stop sign be installed on the street to slow people down

'It's about time,' says resident of stop sign approval

and prevent more accidents. Danielle Holmes, who lives right at the three-way intersection, said it was only a matter of time before an accident there is fatal.

"Mark my words, if we don't do something someone will be killed on that corner," she said at the time.

When contacted Wednesday,

Ms. Holmes' reaction was to the point.

"It's about time," she said.

Gail Lawlor, a fellow Rougemount resident, was unaware the issue was on Tuesday night's agenda.

"That's very good news," she said when contacted. "I'm very pleased to hear that."

Staff didn't recommend installing two stop signs on Rougemount

Drive (there is already one on Pine Ridge Drive at the intersection), because the street's conditions don't meet the criteria.

"The stop control is not recommended because the volume of traffic just doesn't exist to warrant it," said Everett Buntsma, director of operations and emergency services.

"There may be a good justification for the stop control, but under our criteria the stop control isn't warranted."

The traffic study found Rougemount handled a daily volume of 1,450 vehicles, with the majority travelling at more than 15 kilometres over the speed limit of 40 km/h.

"I understand the need to do studies, but because we have a history at this corner and we have a history of accidents at this corner, (a stop sign) works for us," Ms. Lawlor said.

Ward 1 Regional Councillor Maurice Brenner pointed out Ms. Holmes brought with her a petition signed by a large number of residents in favour of installing the signs, which Ms. Lawlor said was still the case after their visit to council.

The issue goes to council June 5 for final approval.

THE CONSERVATION ZONE
PUT A LID ON YOUR ELECTRICITY BILL

Peter Love
Chief Energy Conservation Officer of Ontario

NO COST WAYS TO SAVE ENERGY
My role as Chief Energy Conservation Officer is to ensure conservation and energy efficiency play a vital role in Ontario's ongoing energy strategy.

It's cheaper to save energy than to make it, and a big part of today's conservation culture involves "no cost" ways to save energy.

Imagine the effect if all Ontarians put their minds to saving energy every day using these simple suggestions. I believe it can happen.

Together, let's do it!

PETER LOVE'S "TOP TEN" WAYS TO REDUCE YOUR ELECTRICITY USE - FOR FREE!

1. Close off vents (or cool) the rooms you need. Only heat/heating doors of unused rooms.
2. Set your air conditioning thermostat to the highest comfortable setting. Use your programmable thermostat to raise the setting when you're regularly out of the house.
3. Pull your drapes and blinds on the south side of the house during the daytime to keep the heat out.
4. Use the right size pan or pot and cover it while cooking. Don't pre-heat your oven except when baking.
5. Microwave ovens use up to 75 per cent less energy than ovens. Try using one when ever possible, especially for one- or two-person meals.
6. For smaller cooking jobs, use smaller appliances, like a kettle or toaster oven.
7. Did you know that your old fridge in the basement could cost you $150 or more per year just to keep a few cans cold? Maybe it's time to show it the door.
8. Up to 90 per cent of the energy your washing machine uses is to heat the water! Use cold water for the wash cycle instead of warm or hot. New detergents specifically made for cold water are now available.
9. When using your dishwasher, save hot water by skipping the pre-rinse cycle.
10. And the brightest idea of all: turn off lights, computers, televisions, etc. whenever you leave a room or don't need them - even for a few minutes. It's easy to get into the energy-saving habit!

If we all do a little, we can save a lot!

The Conservation Bureau develops and delivers programs to help Ontario residents conserve energy and save money. We hope these energy-saving ideas will help you manage your energy use.

Holland keeps watch over border security

Ajax-Pickering MP earns critic's role as federal Liberals make changes

DURHAM — Mark Holland has a critical new responsibility.

The Ajax-Pickering MP has been named to the Liberal shadow cabinet as critic for the Canadian Border Services Agency (CBSA). Interim Liberal leader Bill Graham made the announcement May 30, along with a number of other changes to critic roles.

"I'm very pleased with this appointment," Mr. Holland said. "The way that Canada manages its border with the United States and other ports of entry has become a very important issue since the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001. We need to ensure the free flow of people and goods while making sure that Canadian and international security is protected."

Mr. Holland will question Minister of Public Safety Stockwell Day in the Commons during daily question period.

The CBSA operates as an agency under the Department of Public Safety and Emergency Preparedness. Its workforce of 12,000 serves 1,200 points across Canada and 39 locations abroad. It provides an integrated border service controlling access to Canada by people and goods, making sure admittance is in compliance with Canadian law.

Pickering-Scarborough East MP Dan McTeague remains the Liberal critic for consumer affairs.

'All for not' — Durham rejects winning facility bid

Companies argue selection process was flawed

By Erin Hatfield
Staff Writer

DURHAM — Two years of work on a material recovery facility went down the tubes this week when Durham council voted to reject a staff-recommended proposal.

"A substantial amount of work went into it which is now all for not," Cliff Curtis, Durham's commissioner of works, said in an interview. "But at the end of the day it is council's decision."

In the last leg of the tendering process, council approval, questions were raised about how the winning bid was chosen, the fairness of the process and the politicking involved. Council voted 15-9 against the recommendation, with four members absent.

The request for proposals (RFP) went out two years ago when the Region sent out a tender for the design, build and operation of a new Durham Region Material Recovery Facility on Garrard Road in Whitby, needed to accommodate Durham's recyclables.

"The tender closed in fall of 2005," Mr. Curtis said. "Since then we have been evaluating the documents, there has been a very rigorous evaluation process."

The Region's joint works and finance committee approved a proposal by Metro Municipal Recycling Services on May 17.

Al Metauro from Metro Municipal Recycling Services appeared Wednesday to review the submission. He said staff had chosen Metro because its proposal had received the highest technical, financial and combined scores in the tendering process.

Mr. Curtis explained the proposals had to pass the technical grade before the financial envelope was opened. The technical element included the overall proposal plus, management, company experience, project and equipment design and functionality, schedule viability, operational function and health and safety.

There were three bids submitted and one, Waste Management, failed the technical initially.

But Rick Growden of Waste Management of Canada Corp., who also appeared at council, said the RFP process was flawed. He stated Waste Canada was treated unfairly throughout the process.

Waste Management did not pass the technical qualifications of the RFP, however, Mr. Growden said the RFP process was supposed to have included a 10-minute oral presentation, which was cancelled by the Region.

"We were waiting for the oral presentation to go over the technical," Mr. Growden said.

Blair McArthur of Miller Group echoed the feelings expressed by Waste Management. Miller had passed the technical requirement with its base bid but had provided an alternate proposal, which did not pass the technical evaluation.

"We believe the process to arrive at this recommendation was flawed," Mr. McArthur said.

"If the evaluation process was sound then why would two out of three bids fail?"

Mr. McArthur said Miller has hired the lawyer to review the process and the lawyer indicated the situation was, "clearly actionable."

Staff however, urged council not to reject the recommendation.

"You may not be pleased with the results... but we can't pretend it didn't happen and start over," Mr. Curtis said during the meeting.

It is expected that with the July 1 changes to waste collection, which will see recyclables collected on a weekly bases, their will be a 20-per cent increase in material.

He told council the Region can handle the July 1 launch of the green bin program and the increase in material this will bring but it will be a stretch. He said he would start talking to neighbouring recycling facilities to see if they can carry the region in the interim.

"We are already overloaded (at the Garrard material recovery facility in Whitby)," Mr. Curtis said.

Unfortunately, Mr. Curtis said the tendering process cannot be started over because it has been tainted. Once the prices were made public it gives the companies involved a competitive disadvantage.

Mr. Curtis said the works department was working Thursday trying to put together for council an alternate plan to deal with recyclables.

Cliff Curtis

and accelerated from the intersection in Pickering. Kelly Sabaliauskas, a master's student from U of T, said the faster vehicles accelerate from a stopped position, the more particulate matter released into the air. At one point the levels jumped into the tens of thousands as a large truck drove by. When the group walked into the residential area, the levels stayed around 3,500.

Ms. Kalapos said while they know fine particulate matter poses a significant health concern, it is only now becoming an emerging field of study. She said because the particles are smaller they are more easily absorbed into the lungs and even the blood.

Chantal Whitaker, Pickering's environmental awareness co-ordinator, said the City was happy to take the Clear Air Partnership up on its offer to test the air.

"We're hoping it will make people more aware of their behaviour so they don't idle or they choose transit or car-pooling," she said.

Ms. Kalapos said the goal of the testing, which was done in other GTA municipalities last year as well, is to raise awareness and get different levels of government and different municipalities working together.

"There's a need for all of us to work together to address regulating air pollution at the government level," she said.

Pickering makes right call on signs

Sometimes the numbers can't tell the entire story

Things just aren't always black and white.

As such, Pickering council will be making the right call if it does the expected Monday and upholds an executive committee decision to support stop signs on Rougemount Drive at Pine Ridge Road. Committee approval went against a recommendation to reject the request by City staff, which said the traffic volume in the area just didn't warrant the signs.

But, as we said, not every situation is simply black and white.

Pickering councillors heard the three-way intersection has been dotted by accidents over the past few years, while the stretch has also turned into a speedway, so to speak, with many motorists ignoring the speed limit. Danielle Holmes, a resident at the intersection, shared her fear someone would die there if changes aren't soon made.

All this, and Ms. Holmes also collected a petition of residents supporting stop signs.

"It's about time," was her reaction to the committee decision.

Traffic volume studies serve an important purpose in ensuring we're not seeing stop signs and lights at every single intersection across Pickering, a proposition that would grind the city to a halt, among countless other problems. Each traffic pattern and problem is specifically unique, if you listen to the residents impacted. And, quite often stop signs are nothing more than a Band-Aid solution sought by frustrated residents.

But, in this case there is a pattern of accidents, a reason for concern and the will of residents to see something done. There are enough shades of grey to avoid playing this one strictly by the book.

Stops signs are the right call for Rougemount and Pine Ridge and should receive a final OK Monday night.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Trash trip is no waste

To the editor:

Re: Valuable or a waste? Committee debates Region's European trip, May 28.

I am astonished at the petty politics being played over the urgent multi-billion dollar waste disposal issue.

This issue requires a solution that is well-considered, researched, and a strategy developed that is no less than innovative and cost effective. I would hope the decision makers (politicians) become educated on a worldly spectrum of potential solutions. Their job is to put forward a plan to get us out of this mess without destroying the environment or adding huge tax increases.

Oshawa Regional Councillor Brian Nicholson states that he is facing tax increases and we're sending people to Europe!

I find this statement very ill-considered and lacking in thought. In the real world (industry), the scope of your research is directly related to the scope of the project. The scope of this project is among the largest in the Region. Getting out and understanding the big picture and resolution concepts are not only expected, they're absolutely necessary. Coun. Nicholson, get on board.

Give LHIN reps a chance

LHIN officials brought an air of optimism to Ajax a few weeks ago.

The last of the public meetings held by the Central East Local Health Integration Network (LHIN) was saved for the people of west Durham (Ajax, Pickering and Whitby), giving LHIN representatives a chance to educate and be educated.

The legislation removing control from many aspects of the health-care system from the minister of health and long-term care to 14 regional LHINs passed March 1, yet many unknowns surround the authorities. People worry they mean privatization, or that residents of Ajax or Pickering will have to travel to other parts of the LHIN (which stretches from Scarborough to Peterborough and north to Haliburton) for care if services are consolidated.

One man who attended the evening made a comment about how this wasn't local planning when Ajax is grouped in with Haliburton and Scarborough. What he wasn't considering is that before the LHINs took over planning, Pickering and Ajax were grouped in with all of Ontario.

While there remains fear of the unknown, there is also optimism that the change could make things better. The board and staff deserve the chance to prove themselves before judgment is laid.

The LHIN means a chance for people to be a part of the planning process for the health plan for their community, and the change to regional authorities could mean a change in the way hospitals are funded so local residents won't be short-changed anymore.

The consultations were a good first step in involving the public in the LHIN, giving people a chance to put a face to this mysterious organization. A session in the afternoon also gave health-care providers from different areas, such as long-term care facilities, hospitals and mental health, a chance to come together and share ideas -- something they say has never happened before.

Over the next year, community groups such as the Friends of the Ajax-Pickering Hospital, health-care professionals, residents, and the media are going to be watching closely to make sure this good first step is followed by another and another.

The Central East LHIN deserves a grace period, but at the same time let's hope they use that opportunity to better things and engage the community even further. It would be a shame to have the newfound optimism for local health care turn to cynicism and disappointment.

No kidding, community project needs more help from community

Co-ordinator asks for support

By Erin Hatfield
Staff Writer

DURHAM — There hasn't been much play for a park project in the Let Them Be Kids (LTBK) initiative.

The three-day LTBK event, June 8 to 10, culminates in a playground build at Radio Park in Oshawa. But, according to Penny Contreras, LTBK Durham project co-ordinator, the program is about much more than the playground build -- it is designed to help communities build partnership and volunteerism.

"It is about making a safe community so our kids can be kids," Ms. Contreras said. "It isn't just about building the playground."

A series of seminars, Ms. Contreras said, will bring residents together to share visions for Durham Region. The playground build is meant to be a tangible representation of what people can do by working together.

"It is amazing when you start talking about it how many people want the same things for their community," Ms. Contreras said.

But registration for the seminars is rather low and Ms. Contreras said it is somewhat discouraging.

"Maybe we will be really pleasantly surprised and all sorts of people will show up," she said. "But we just aren't getting the registration we thought we would."

Part of the problem, according to Ms. Contreras, is people are looking at LTBK as an Oshawa initiative, which she said it is not.

There are nine seminars in all, which range from removing barriers, to recreation for low-income families, to building world-class communities and a public leaders' forum. The sessions are meant for the whole region.

A 'power of one community rally' takes place June 9 at 7 p.m. at the Jubilee Pavilion in Oshawa and Ms. Contreras said she is sure it will prove to be a moving and motivating experience for all residents.

Dan Carter, honorary chairman of Durham's LTBK, attended the May 31 Durham council meeting to urge officials to joining in the seminars and activities.

"I would like to see that by the end of the day all the politicians in this room and all the supporting staff sign up for the public leaders' seminar and the build," Mr. Carter said. "We need all hands on deck right now."

Radio Park in Oshawa has been chosen from more than 80 communities across Canada as the launch site of LTBK, a nation-wide program.

For a schedule, go to www.ltbk.org/durham.htm or call 905-668-4113 ext 2842.

The Rouge Valley Health System Foundation will be the beneficiary of the 13th annual Run the Lake. It's a five-kilometre walk or run, or a 10K run at Ajax Rotary Park. Preparing for the event are, from left, foundation staff member Donna Elliott, hospital co-op student Kristy Maguire, emergency RN Lynda Vanden Kroonenberg, race director and Pickering Rotary Club member David Speed and the foundation's Mary Dodd.

Run the Lake a cool fundraiser for Ajax-Pickering hospital

Proceeds will help buy ice machines

By Keith Gilligan
Staff Writer

AJAX — Putting ice on muscles is a time-honoured method of dealing with the aches and pains.

Participants in the upcoming Run the Lake event may want to remember that as they raise money for the Rouge Valley Health System Foundation. Proceeds from the 13th annual event this year will be used to buy ice-making machines for the Rouge Valley Health System, which has hospital sites in Ajax and Scarborough.

The event is set for Saturday, June 17 at Rotary Park, on Lake Driveway

West at Parkes Drive.

Maureen Dowhaniuk, the manager of special events for the foundation, says ice machines "are the most requested piece of equipment by departments at Rouge Valley."

The emergency, cancer, labour and rehab departments have all asked for machines, she notes. Each costs about $5,000.

Last year, funds from the run went to a vital signs monitor, which measures oxygen and carbon dioxide levels in the heart.

The foundation wants to get ice machines for both sites, Ms. Dowhaniuk says.

"When people come to us, we have a shopping list" of equipment needs, she adds.

There's a five-kilometre walk, and five- and 10-km runs. The walk starts at 9 a.m. and the run at 9:30 a.m.

Walk registration is $15 until June 10, $20 from June 11 to 15, and $25 on race day.

Run registration is $20 until June 10, $25 from June 11 to 15, and $30 on race day.

Registration forms can be picked up at both sites of the Rouge Valley Health System Foundation, at the Ajax Community Centre on Centennial Road, or online at www.runningroom.com.

For more information about the event, call the foundation at 905-683-2320, ext. 1212.

Earl A. Fairman Public School, Whitby

Hard working and generous man still inspires students today

Earl A. Fairman's name adorns a school to which he once devoted much time and energy: the former Hillcrest Public School.

WHITBY — A proud and intelligent man, Earl A. Fairman caught the attention of Whitby citizens in 1950 when he was 45 years old.

Mr. Fairman devoted his time and heart to establishing a well-developed, educated and friendly learning environment named Hillcrest Public School. It was later renamed in honour of Mr. Fairman and proudly stands today as E.A. Fairman Public School on Walnut Street: the caring and sharing public school.

Some accomplishments of the generous and hardworking man include establishing classes for slower learners as well as the first school library, and supervising all schools being built during that era. Mr. Fairman also taught someone who went on to become a famous hockey player: Tim Horton, for whom the coffee chain was named.

His legacy continues on within the school community of Earl A. Fairman.

Harold Longworth Public School, Bowmanville

Man was a teacher, war veteran and hero

Harold Longworth's promising teaching career was cut short by his death during World War II.

BOWMANVILLE — Harold Francis Laurence Longworth was a teacher, war veteran, hero and inspiration.

Born Oct. 27, 1916 in Woodstock, Ontario, Mr. Longworth graduated in 1937 from the University of Western Ontario with several awards.

At 21 he started teaching French and German at Bowmanville High School (BHS), where he was a favourite among students and staff. He was also the coach of the school rugby and football teams and was very interested in cadet training. Under his coaching, the BHS rugby team won the Central Ontario Championship in 1940.

In June 1942, Mr. Longworth enrolled with the Royal Canadian Air Force during the Second World War, where he trained to be a pilot. He flew a plane called the Hurricane, now the Longworth school's team name. On Oct. 17, 1942, Officer Longworth was killed. He is buried in Wales.

Courage, loyalty, empathy, teamwork and a thirst for knowledge are only a few of his character traits drawn upon by the school.

Gertrude Colpus Public School, Oshawa

First woman elected to public office in Oshawa

Gertrude Colpus was a passionate advocate for the importance of early years' programming. She served on the Oshawa Board of Education for 27 years.

OSHAWA — The first woman elected to public office in Oshawa, Gertrude Colpus served as a member of the Oshawa Board of Education for 27 years.

A former kindergarten teacher, Ms. Colpus was born in Godalming, Surrey, England and immigrated to Canada in 1912 with her husband and daughter.

Ms. Colpus was one of the founders of the Home and School Association in Oshawa and served 29 years, holding office as vice-president and then president.

Her vision was for schools to educate children to better help them meet the needs of a changing world, and under her leadership, education developed and prospered in Oshawa. She believed firmly in the establishment of music instruction in all schools and argued it was an essential component of education. She recognized the importance of early years' programming and spoke passionately of the need for a kindergarten class in every school in Oshawa.

The Public School Trustee's Association presented her with its finest honour, recognizing faithful service 'beyond the call of duty'. She was a strong proponent of the co-operative link between parents, trustees and teachers.

Gertrude Colpus Public School opened in January 1958 and three portables were required to accommodate the large number of students until an addition was completed in September 1959. Ms. Colpus was present at the official opening Feb. 14, 1959. She died October 28, 1959.

Sir William Stephenson Public School, Whitby

During the Second World War, Whitby was the location of Camp X

Sir William Stephenson established Camp X in Whitby.

WHITBY — Located on Athol Street in Whitby, Sir William Stephenson Public School was named in honour of the 'Man Called Intrepid'.

Sir Samuel William Stephenson, also known as Intrepid, established Camp X, a secret spy training facility on the shore of Lake Ontario in Whitby.

A Winnipeg native and First World War veteran, Mr. Stephenson was appointed in 1940 to counter threats against British war supplies. His operation, renamed British security co-ordination (BSC) in 1941, became responsible for sorting and disseminating intelligence signal intercepts to Canadian, British and American authorities, and for assisting in the co-ordination of allied intelligence efforts.

The British Special Operations Executive appointed Mr. Stephenson to recruit agents for its sabotage and subversion operations in Europe, and in Central and South America. At Camp X, Americans were instructed in the British arts of secret warfare and top-secret communications were transmitted across the Atlantic.

Among other tasks, Mr. Stephenson also assisted in the development of the Office of Strategic Services, the American Independent Secret Intelligence and Special Operations Agency.

At the onset of the Cold War, he played an influential role in handling the defection in Ottawa of the Russian cipher clerk, Igor Gouzenko. Mr. Stephenson was knighted, awarded the Order of Canada and the William J. Donovan award, and became the first non-American to receive the Presidential Medal of Merit.

He died at his home in Bermuda in January 1989 after a career dedicated to ensuring Canada's place in the North Atlantic Intelligence Alliance.

Stay safe at home during national kids' week

DURHAM — The Durham Region health department is offering advice for keeping children safe.

June 5 to 11 marks Safe Kids Week, during which the department is encouraging parents and caregivers to safe-proof their homes through its Safe Home Safe Play program.

"Every year in Canada more children are hospitalized or killed from preventable injuries than from any other cause," said Janet Ven-drig, a public health nurse. "These serious injuries can occur throughout the year and in a variety of home and play settings. For young children, up to the age of six, most injuries occur in and around the home."

To assist parents and caregivers in the detection of dangers, the department, in co-operation with Safe Kids Canada, is distributing a 'Report Card for Safety'.

The report card contains information to help reduce injury risks to children, covering topics such as drowning, burns, suffocating, poisoning, prevention, bike, scooter, and in-line skating safety, falls, child passenger safety, playground, and pedestrian safety.

For information regarding the health departments' Safe Home Safe Play campaign, or to obtain a copy of the Safe Kids Report Card, call 905-666-6241, 1-800-841-2729 or visit www.region.durham.on.ca

Demystifying the masonry in Durham

Organization celebrates 150 years in area with walk to support guide dog training

By Jillian Follert
Staff Writer

DURHAM — Who are the Freemasons?

Flip through 'The Da Vinci Code' and you'll find tales of a shadowy society, with ties to the Knights Templar.

Big screen blockbuster 'National Treasure' paints a picture of a brotherhood that smuggled priceless artifacts into the United States and hid them from the British during the American Revolution, leaving a trail of clues in famous landmarks.

Even 'The Simpsons' has spoofed the organization in an episode about the "Stonecutters," a secret society that rigs Oscar night and tries to keep Atlantis off the map.

Thomas Hogg chuckles when he hears these references.

"We are a society that has some secrets, but that doesn't make us a secret society," he said. "We're just a group of men keeping a tradition alive."

Seated behind his desk at the Taunton Road Animal Hospital, Dr. Hogg, a longtime Oshawa resident and veterinarian, reflects on 13 years with one of the most misunderstood organizations in the world.

He said his interest in Masonry was peaked randomly one day, after noticing a ring worn by a man who brought a dog into his practice. He asked about it, and the rest is history.

Thomas Hogg, district deputy grand master for the Ontario District, and the Freemasons are marking 150 years in the community and want to dispel myths about the organization. They are planning a fundraising walk June 17 to support the training of guide dogs such as Jasper. Ready to hit the trail too is Bev Berger of the Lions Foundation of Canada Guide Dogs.

Today, Dr. Hogg is district deputy grand master for the Ontario District, which includes 15 lodges -- most in Durham Region.

As the district prepares to celebrate 150 years in the community, local Masons are hoping to use the anniversary as a chance to dispel some of the myths.

"We want to say 'here we are, here is what we do,' and let people know we're just like everyone else," Dr. Hogg explained. "We do a lot of good in the community."

Freemasons have been around for centuries, in every corner of the globe. The fraternal organization has its roots in medieval Europe, when working stonemasons who built churches and other religious buildings, met at lodges to socialize and share knowledge. Sometime in the 1600s, the membership transitioned from working stonemasons, to a fraternity of "speculative" freemasons, brought together by shared beliefs.

Members use rituals to develop a deeper understanding of concepts like brotherly love, honesty and equality. Masons are also involved in charity and community work and participate in social activities through the fraternity.

And just how does one become a Mason?

"I'm letting the cat out of the bag here," joked Dr. Hogg. "But to get in, the most important thing to do is just ask about it."

There are a few other requirements, although they vary from lodge to lodge. Generally, a man who wants to become a Mason must make the decision through his own free will, believe in a supreme being, be at least 21-years-old, and in some cases have a reference from a current Mason.

While women can't be Masons, there is a separate organization open to them called the Order of the Eastern Star.

The Central Ontario District currently numbers about 1,500 Masons, ranging from young men, to a 96-year-old who recently received his 75-year pin.

To mark 150 years in the community, local Masons are celebrating with a special community project that Dr. Hogg said is close to his heart as a vet. All 15 lodges in the district have been raising funds to purchase seeing-eye dogs, which will be donated to local residents. So far, they have raised more than $40,000 -- enough for seven dogs.

"This will give people their independence, and a companion," Dr. Hogg noted. "Our original goal was to raise enough for three dogs -- this is just wonderful."

The dogs will be presented to their new owners at a special Masonic event called Walk in the Park, on June 17.

The public is invited to attend this free family day of food, entertainment, and information about masons.

Walk in the Park gets underway at noon at Memorial Park in Oshawa.

 Jim Freer takes to the air during a training exercise at High Perspectives, a hang-gliding business in north Pickering. Mr. Freer is currently in the midst of completing the beginner's flying course.

He's flying high

Local hang gliding instructor has dream job

By Izabela Jaroszynski
 Staff Writer

PICKERING — The large green field in north Pickering is silent but for the low hum of a motorized winch.

Sitting comfortably atop the rusty contraption, wielding a handheld radio and shouting instructions, is Michael Robertson.

As owner and instructor at High Perspectives, a local hang gliding school, it is Mr. Robertson's responsibility to guide his students through their first attempts at flight.

At the other end of the field, securely suspended under a large white glider and attached by a long cord to the winch is his current pupil, Jim Freer. With a signal of readiness from both parties, the winch starts towing the glider forward until it gains flight.

Having travelled from his home in the Niagara region to take the lessons, Mr. Freer is on his way to completing the beginner's flying course.

"It is nice to learn from someone who is passionate about it," Mr. Freer said. "I would have travelled even further if I had to for this."

It is a line that Mr. Robertson has heard often in his long career as a hang-gliding instructor: students willing to come from all over to learn the skills necessary to operate a glider. Offering instruction to people of all ages, his only requirement is a willingness to try. So sure is Mr. Robertson that everyone will love the feeling of hang gliding, he offers a guarantee: if at 50 feet, the student is still uneasy, he will land the glider and take no payment for the flight.

"It is a 50 or free guarantee," he said with a friendly smile. "I've never had to use it."

Sitting inside the High Perspectives clubhouse -- a room used both for teaching and for relaxing -- Mr. Robertson says working as an instructor has been an incredible experience. "It is beautiful to train people to fly," he said.

Although he has other instructors at the school, Mr. Robertson does a lot of the tandem flights himself. In a year, he flies a glider between 500 to 1,000 times.

"There is always something different and special each time," he said.

Although most first-time flyers expect an adrenaline rush, he says that gliding is a meditative experience.

"You feel part of the wind. Like you've grown wings," he said. "It is a lifting experience and there is nothing else like it."

Secured in a harness under the glider, you feel "like you're in your mother's arms," he added.

Although often associated with running off hills, hang gliding technology has changed over the years. At Mr. Robertson's school, instructors now use a stationary winch to tow students into the air, thus controlling the height of the first few flights. By staying low to the ground, students can learn the ins and outs of taking off and landing without having to fly with a tandem instructor.

Once a glider is up, it is held there by rising air. The trick to staying up in a hang glider is to figure out where the air is going up and then move in that direction. The most common sources of rising air are ridge lift (air hitting a hill or mountain) and thermal lift (hot air rising from the ground).

As a hang glider, Mr. Robertson has been involved in many exciting ventures: in 1973, he flew over Parliament Hill and circled the Peace Tower in Ottawa as a protest against land development in his area; in 1988, he launched a hang glider off of the CN Tower for a Diet Pepsi commercial; in 1996, he was a stunt double in the movie Fly Away Home; and just last year, he hang glided with a Mexican friend into Buffalo international airport in a glider designed to look like a monarch butterfly.

But when asked what his favourite moment has been, Mr. Robertson ignores his stints of fame and instead picks the lonely, solitary moments he's spent in the sky with the birds. From the time he soared to 14,000 feet accompanied by two golden eagles, to the time when wild turkey vultures saved him from crashing into the jungle in Venezuela by showing him where the location of the thermal, Mr. Robertson says nothing beats the feeling of soaring in the sky, free as a bird.

"I grew up in the Niagara Escarpment and was fascinated with birds," he said. "I just always dreamt of flying as a kid."

Little did he know that years later not only would he be fulfilling his childhood dream of flying with the birds, but also making a living teaching others how to do the same.

"It has been a life-long fascination and a dream of mine to fly," he said. "Doesn't everyone dream of flying?"

Harvard professor talks mental illness and substance use during Durham stop

By Jillian Follert
Staff Writer

DURHAM — Mental illness and substance use. The two don't always go hand in hand, but when they do, the consequences can be devastating for patients wrestling with a system that hasn't yet learned to accommodate them.

In Durham, patients dealing with substance use issues can turn to the Pinewood Centre for help. Those coping with mental health disorders often find themselves at the Whitby Mental Health Centre or the local branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association.

But there is nowhere that offers help for both, a reality that sometimes leaves patients bouncing back and forth like ping pong balls. "A client might go to a mental health agency and if they find out that they have a substance issue, they're told to deal with that, then come back," said Paul McGary, executive director of Pinewood Centre. "Then when they go to deal with the substance issue, they're told to deal with the mental health issue. They're caught in the middle with nowhere to go."

Of those with mental health disorders, it is estimated that 50 to 60 per cent also have substance use issues. On the flip side, about 25 per cent of substance users also have mental health issues.

On Thursday, 200 health care and agency professionals from Durham and across Ontario gathered at Tosca Banquet Centre in Oshawa, to discuss new ways of treating concurrent disorders -- the clinical term for a dual diagnosis.

Dr. Kenneth Minkoff, who is widely regarded as North America's leading expert on the treatment of concurrent disorders, arrived from his home in California to share his thoughts. He is a psychiatrist and assistant professor of psychiatry at Harvard Medical School.

He believes integration is key. He said both the substance disorder and psychiatric disorder should be considered primary and treated accordingly.

"Dual diagnosis is an expectation, not an exception," he stressed. "Pinewood can still be for addiction, mental health agencies can still be for mental health, but they could both have integrated treatment available."

That is exactly what local health care providers hope to see happen. Last year, the Concurrent Disorders Network of Durham Region was formed, bringing hospitals, police, mental health agencies and other stakeholders to the table. During his stop in Durham, Dr. Minkoff met with the network and help them sharpen a vision for integrated treatment in Durham.

More Than 1000 Visit 2006 Nursing & Healthcare Job Expo

The Holiday Inn Oshawa was the place to be if you were looking for a career in the nursing and healthcare field.

More than a thousand visitors attended the day long Spring 2006 Nursing & Healthcare Job Expo on Wednesday, May 17th.

There were more than 25 organizations accepting resumes and talking to prospective candidates.

"We had a great turnout," says show co-ordinator Janice Samoyloff. "There were lots of people looking for careers with the great companies and institutions represented at the show."

Many thanks to the Holiday Inn as well as all of the participants who helped make the expo a success.

AJAX — A late-night gig at the National Arts Centre was perhaps an ideal time to perform for 18 local musicians.

The Pickering High School Junior Jazz Ensemble took the stage in Ottawa earlier this month for MusicFest Canada.

"We performed at, like, 10 o'clock at night so we didn't have a very big audience," says band member and alto saxophonist Nick Denis.

Maybe a small audience put less pressure on the band, but more likely, its fine playing would have won over the festival adjudicators at any time of the day or night.

The Grade 9 ensemble achieved the gold standard, the highest score attainable, performing tunes including 'As I Look at You' by Les Aldrich and Duke Ellington's 'It Don't Mean a Thing if it Ain't got that Swing.'

The band made it to the nationals courtesy of an earlier gold performance, at the Southern Ontario Band Festival, held late this past winter at O'Neill Collegiate and Vocational Institute in Oshawa. The adjudicators liked what they heard in Oshawa, giving the PHS band the nod to advance to the nationals.

"It's not like first, second or third place," explains band member and bassist Samantha Park. "You just get a rating on your performance."

She's played bass for three years and guitar since Grade 4. Park says she wasn't a jazz fan before, but since joining the band has warmed up to the music -- to the detriment of her father's music collection.

"I raided his collection of CDs," she says.

Park "wants to get into music more" in the future, but not as a career. Her tastes range from The Brian Setzer Orchestra, to the Red Hot Chili Peppers to the Beatles.

She was amazed to learn that fellow bandmate Kimberly Lawrence, a tenor saxophonist, had only been playing the instrument since September, high-fiving her to offer congratulations.

"I think that you should try jazz band," Lawrence advises her peers. "It's really fun; a cool experience."

She enjoys listening to all kinds of music, preferring instrumental jazz. Lawrence plans to continue working on her music.

"I want it to be one of my careers," she says. "I want to produce music and become a music teacher."

Denis has played alto sax for two-and-a-half years and listens mainly to classic and modern rock. As part of MusicFest, after the band's performance, the members retreated to the adjudication room where an expert musician critiqued their performance for half an hour, paying particular attention to Denis.

"About 20 minutes was spent on one of my solos, how I could improve it," Denis notes.

Kimberly Lawrence, Nick Denis and Samantha Park are part of the Pickering High School's Junior Jazz Ensemble that won gold at Music Fest Canada 2006. The Ajax school's Junior Jazz Ensemble consists of 18 musicians.

The students had high praise for their music teacher, David Kosurko.

"We couldn't have got this far without our music teacher," Park says, noting Kosurko "tries to challenge us."

"He's always enthusiastic," adds Denis.

Kosurko returned the compliments, saying the students are a pleasure to work with. He notes the students come from excellent music programs at Frenchman's Bay and Alexander Graham Bell public schools, which gives them a headstart on high school music.

"When they go to festivals, that's where their education really takes off," he says.

Also at MusicFest, the Ajax-based Random Notes (Young Singers) struck gold in the Choral/Vocal Jazz division.

Young Singers host final concert of the season

AJAX — The Young Singers close out their concert season with a final performance in Ajax on Saturday night.

The Young Singers, which is composed of four choirs: Young Singers, General Choir, Director's Choir, and Random Notes, will host the concert at Westney Heights Baptist Church, 1201 Ravenscroft Road, Ajax, starting at 7 p.m.

The concert 'A Wickedly Enchanted Evening' features musical selections from 'The Wizard of Oz' and 'Wicked'.

Tickets are $15 at the door.

The Random Notes recently participated at MusicFest in Ottawa, a competition that routinely draws young musicians and singers from across Canada. There, the group earned high praise from the adjudicators, earning the gold standard.

Groups are invited to participate in MusicFest based on their performance at their provincial festival - in the case of Random Notes, the Ontario Vocal Festival.

Young Singers are marketing itself as Durham Region's award-winning youth choir and next year it will mark 15 years of performing for audiences across Durham Region, Ontario and Canada.

Over the Rainbow for meet

Pickering Athletic Centre brings 500 top athletes together for 12th annual gymnastics event

By Al Rivett
 Sports Editor

PICKERING — Emily Towers and her Pickering Athletic Centre gymmates are aiming for the pot of gold once again at this weekend's Rainbow Classic Gymnastics Meet.

Hosted June 2 to 4 at the Pickering Athletic Centre in the west end of the city after several years at the Pickering Recreation Complex, the Rainbow Classic is in its 12th year of high-level competition among provincial- and national-level gymnasts in Ontario.

For Towers, of Pickering, a provincial champion in her age group last month, she's a little nervous about competing, but not for the reasons one might think.

The 13-year-old's looking forward to performing in front of family and friends in her home gym. In some ways, she finds it easier and comforting to have support on hand.

"I'm very excited about it. It's a fun meet and it just gives us a chance to try out new skills. We can have family and friends out to watch us. I think it's easier (to compete in your home facility) because we're more familiar with the surroundings," says Towers, who's competed in the Rainbow Classic for the past five years.

Where the nervousness creeps in, she says, is attempting to duplicate her strong, first-place performance at the provincials. Having won there "definitely gives me more confidence, but I'm a bit more nervous too," she says. "I did so well there that people expect me to have a good day here too."

Pickering Athletic Centre head coach Andrew Taylor says the club is looking to perform well, along with Alexandra Clayton, who was second behind Towers at provincials.

"It will be a toss-up between those two," says Taylor, who's looking for all his provincial-level gymnasts to have solid performances.

The 2006 edition of the classic brings together more than 500 athletes from 20 gymnastics clubs.

The Pickering Athletic Centre will have more than 50 of its athletes at the meet.

The competition starts as young as age five, who'll compete in the Ontario Development Program, which doesn't score performances. The highest level is the national stream, which will include Pickering Athletic Centre's Tara Swami.

New this year is the inclusion of the Les Reflexes club from Montreal, which will bring approximately 20 athletes.

Pickering Athletic Centre owner Laurie Large notes organizers have arranged a special schedule for the Montreal club to complete their performances late Friday and early Saturday, leaving Sunday for sightseeing and for their long journey back to Quebec.

"Our club went to New York a couple of years ago and they worked the schedule around us and we really appreciated it," says Large.

Competition gets underway Friday morning and continues until approximately 7:30 p.m., with the same schedule on Saturday.

On Sunday, the competition ends at 6:30 p.m.

The centre is at Kingston and Dixie roads.

Ajax Lions midgets roar to bronze at Ontario Cup of basketball

AJAX — The Ajax Lions' midget basketball team was bronzed at the 2006 Ontario Cup tournament in Ottawa recently.

The Lions competed in Division 2 in the midget category (under-15) at the Ontario Cup, which featured 16 of the best teams in the province.

Ajax locked up the bronze medal by scoring a 62-50 victory over the Mississauga Marauders.

Following the game, Lions' Adam Plummer was the recipient of the Basketball Ontario Toronto Raptors Fair Play Award.

In the semifinal, the Lions dropped a tough 60-52 decision to London Orion. The Lions had led by five points at the half and by 10 early in the third quarter.

The Lions posted a 63-42 victory over the Oakville Vytis in the quarter-final game.

In round-robin play, the Lions got out of the gate quickly with a 41-39 victory over the Kingston Runnin' Rebels. In Game 2, the Ajacians prevailed over the JAMBA Cats of Toronto 52-47. In the third game the Lions suffered a 51-36 loss to the Ancaster Magic.

The loss meant the Lions fell into a three-way tie for first with Kingston and Ancaster. Ajax, however, received first place using a points-against tiebreaking formula.

London Orion was the eventual gold medalist, with Kitchener-Waterloo's YBA Vipers earning silver.

St. Mary junior girls finish season with crowning glory

Monarchs beat Pickering High in LOSSA 'AAAA' soccer final

PICKERING — The St. Mary Catholic Secondary School Monarchs junior girls' soccer team may have started the season slowly, but put it all together when it mattered most.

The Monarchs finished with a flourish to capture the Lake Ontario Secondary School Athletics (LOSSA) 'AAAA' soccer championships in Oshawa Monday afternoon. After an extremely hard-fought battle, St. Mary won its seventh consecutive game by scoring a 4-2 victory over Ajax's Pickering High School Trojans in the final. Shelby Forza led the way for the Monarchs with a three-goal performance. Sara King notched the other.

Kristin Orrett scored both goals for the Trojans.

St. Mary juniors scored a 3-1 victory over the top-seeded Sinclair Secondary School Celtics of Whitby in the semifinal contest on Monday morning. Laura Taglioni, Jessica Moy and Kayla Schroeder scored; Christine Velasco replied for Sinclair.

St. Mary coach Melanie Cayford says the LOSSA title represented a season of teamwork, perseverance and enthusiasm that allowed the Monarchs to overcome a slow start, not to mention their relative inexperience on the soccer pitch as only five of 18 players returned this season.

Sinclair Secondary School Celtics' Christine Velasco, left, attempts to intercept St. Mary Catholic Secondary School Monarchs' Jessica Moy as she releases a kick in the first of the Lake Ontario Secondary School Athletics (LOSSA) junior girls' soccer semifinal games at McLaughlin Park in Oshawa. The Monarchs defeated the Whitby squad 3-1, and later beat the Pickering High School Trojans 4-2 in the championship final.

"We may have started out a little shaky, but as the season progressed, the girls began to truly work together as a powerful unit at all levels -- from strikers to goalkeepers," says Cayford, who was joined on the sidelines by co-coach Franck Jussaume this season.

"We fought for all our wins, gaining momentum with every victory, and I nicknamed the juniors 'the little team that could' -- slow to start, but they definitely got the job done. It's been a great pleasure to coach this group of young ladies, and I couldn't be prouder of this unexpected accomplishment."

The St. Mary juniors finished the season with an overall record of 8-2-4.

The St. Mary senior girls' soccer team, which enjoyed an undefeated regular season, couldn't translate that success in the playoffs.

In a hard-fought 'AAAA' semifinal contest against Ajax's Notre Dame Catholic Secondary School Cougars last week, the Monarchs dropped a heartbreaking 1-0 decision in a shootout.

In Loving Memory of RALPH KEEFE
June 1, 2005

We little knew that morning,
God was going to call your name,
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same,
It broke our hearts to lose you,
You did not go alone,
For part of us went with you
The day God called you home.
You left us beautiful memories,
Your love is still our guide,
And though we cannot see you,
You are always by our side.
Our family chain is broken,
And nothing seems the same,
But as God calls us one by one
The chain will link again

Lovingly Remembered by
Your Wife, Children, Grandchildren
Family & Friends

In Loving Memory of My Parents
Margaret and Gordon Vavasour
Who both passed away
10 years ago in June, 1996

There is a bridge
of memories
From here to Heaven above
It keeps you very close to us,
It's called the bridge of love.
You gave us many things in life,
Gifts both great and small,
But most of all you gave us love
The greatest gift of all.
Though your smiles are gone forever
And your hands we cannot touch,
Your memory is our keepsake
With which we'll never part.

Always in our minds and hearts
Love Marjorie, Art & Terry
