Taxes and water among concerns in Pickering

Mayor Ryan lends an ear
at Town Hall meeting

By Kristen Galis
kcalis@durhamregion.com

PICKERING — Mayor Dave Ryan is in the same boat as the rest of Pickering since he also pays taxes, he told residents at his Ward 1 Town Hall meeting.

Mayor Ryan spoke to around 50 people at his first 2008 Town Hall meeting Monday in a question-and-answer format.

Christine Taylor questioned Pickering's high taxes, and why residents in Toronto pay less taxes.

Mayor Ryan explained Toronto has a better industrial/commercial base, and charges higher taxes on the industrial community, resulting in lower taxes for residents. He also noted the Province transfers far more money to Toronto than it does to Pickering.

"You'll see that it's a much different financial structure," he said, adding Pickering is not unique in that regard and Mississauga is an anomaly in the mix.

He said Pickering is working hard to attract businesses in order to increase its industrial tax base.

Michael Semak asked why garbage collection is every two weeks while recycling is every week.

"I never have those blue pails full," he said.

Mayor Ryan explained it cuts costs and helps decrease garbage going into landfill.

"One of my frustrations I have personally is we're not putting enough in the blue box and we have to change that," he said.

Mayor Ryan said a number of Pickering businesses and industrial condominiums have started their own diversion programs, and some are diverting 70-to-80 per cent of their waste from landfill. He also said he'd like to see red boxes for toxic items such as bulbs, batteries and paint, but noted until that happens people can dispose of these items at the Miller Waste Transfer Station on Squires Beach Road.

"Just don't put them down the drain, don't put them in storm sewers," he said.

Terry Nuspl questioned how the City expects businesses to come to Seaton without lands being serviced first.

"No one is going to put in jobs before they can flush a toilet," she said.

Mayor Ryan explained neither Pickering nor Durham Region can afford to service those lands, and both have made it clear jobs must come before homes. He suggested Ms. Nuspl write a letter to Minister of Public Infrastructure Renewal David Caplan, agreeing that if the Province were to service the lands first, they'd be far more valuable.

Sniffer dogs banned from schools

Police must stop random drug searches

By Josie Newman
jnewman@durhamregion.com

DURHAM — A ruling by the Supreme Court of Canada last week that police who randomly search high school lockers with sniffer dogs are breaching privacy rights has little effect here in Durham Region.

The ruling came down following the acquittal of a Sarnia high school student charged in 2002 with possession of pot for trafficking. A police and canine unit arrived unannounced at his high school and confined students to classrooms for two hours while a drug-sniffing dog led officers to a pile of students' knapsacks, where some drugs were found. Last week's ruling states police officers who use dogs to find drugs in schools or other public places must be able to justify their search based on former crimes or major drug tips.

"This has been in the legal works for quite a while so it hasn't been our practice to use police dogs for random searches for a long time," said Mark Joel, superintendent of operations and transportation at the Durham District School Board. "Many years ago, it was a practice to have them do this randomly with the schools. If it was suspected more recently that a big drug deal was going down, then we'd have private agents we'd call who use dogs."

Joe Hircock, the DDSB's Whitby schools superintendent, said the board no longer uses private agencies with sniffer dogs.

"Once the Supreme Court started their investigation in Sarnia five years ago, we stopped utilizing the service of sniffer dogs altogether," he said.

"We've never had the police come in with dogs to search," said Paul Pulla, director of education for the Durham Catholic District School Board. "We did have a private kennel who ran dogs in secondary schools who could sense explosives. They'd do demonstrations of what dogs could do to educate students about anti-drug programs. And, years ago, we had to engage a kennel to come in because we'd had a bomb threat."

"Regardless of the Supreme Court decision, kids have gotten wise. They won't put drugs in their lockers or carry them on their person," said Mr. Pulla.

"The judgment is a reasonable compromise between law-enforcement aspirations to search indiscriminately, and the right to privacy. Now they need reasonable suspicion -- not a trumped-up profile or a pretext search based on speculation," said Frank Addario, president of the Criminal Lawyer's Association.

Hospital rally planned for Saturday

AJAX — The Friends of the Ajax Pickering hospital are expecting about 1,000 people to send a message to the Province when a rally is held Saturday.

"We're sending a big message to Provincial Health Minister George Smitherman and Liberal MPPs Joe Dickson and Wayne Arthurs that Ajax-Pickering hospital must continue to provide all of the local core services required by our communities so that they are close to home and easily accessible to Durham Region residents," co-chairman Bill Parish said. The walk begins at 12:30 p.m. at Ajax Town Hall (65 Harwood Ave. S., corner of Harwood Avenue and Kings Crescent) and ends at the Ajax Soccer Clubhouse (behind the Ajax Community Centre) for a rally and barbecue at 1:30 p.m.

Durham cop suspended amid assault charges

Two women injured in on-duty confrontations: police

By Jeff Mitchell
jmittell@durhamregion.com

DURHAM — A Durham police officer has been suspended with pay after being charged with two counts of committing assault while on duty.

The action was taken after investigators with the service's Professional Standards Unit laid the two assault charges Tuesday, said police spokesman Dave Selby. The officer was released on a promise to appear in court after being charged and processed, he said.

Police allege the officer, a four-year veteran of the service, was involved in two separate, unrelated altercations in which females were assaulted, Mr. Selby said. The first is alleged to have occurred last October, when a female being detained in the cells area at 17 Division in Oshawa was assaulted.

The more recent allegation is that a woman was assaulted after the officer attended at a residence in Courtice in February in response to a call.

"It's a situation where there's a verbal confrontation," Mr. Selby said.

"In both cases it escalates to a physical altercation where there are minor injuries to the victims."

The Special Investigations Unit, which examines incidents in which civilians are seriously injured during interactions with police, has not been called in because the injuries allegedly sustained by the victims are minor in nature, Mr. Selby said.

Since being charged the officer has been suspended with pay, as required by legislation, he said.

"That's the only way you can suspend anyone under the (Police Services) Act," Mr. Selby said.

When an officer is charged criminally there is typically a parallel investigation that may lead to charges under the Police Services Act. Constable Craig Wiles, 30, is charged with two counts of assault. He has most recently been posted at 17 Division in Oshawa, working in an operational support capacity. That job involves taking reports from the public and generally does not include patrol duties, Mr. Selby said.

Mental health issue going to court

Hearing takes place May 16

AJAX — The matter of moving mental health beds from Ajax to Scarborough will soon go to the Ontario Superior Court.

An injunction hearing regarding the issue has been scheduled for May 16 at Osgoode Hall in Toronto.

The Ontario Public Service Employees Union believes the Central East Local Health Integration Network acted improperly in making its decision to move 20 mental health beds from Rouge Valley Ajax and Pickering hospital to Centenary Hospital in Scarborough "behind closed doors" and without community consultation, contrary to the Local Health System Integration

Act. The CE LHIN approved RVHS's plan in March and, at the same time, invoked a one-month consultation period. But OPSEU believes proper consultation should have taken place before the plan was approved.

"When the rubber hits the road, the LHINs owe it to their communities to provide real input on decisions that directly affect health care delivery in the community," said OPSEU president Warren (Smokey) Thomas in a press release.

"This LHIN has already damaged their credibility by acting in this matter. They have admitted they handled this badly. It's time to fix their mistake." OPSEU is asking the CE LHIN to reverse its decision until full public consultation takes place.

Those liquor bottles are 'gold in a glass'

Many happy returns there for the taking

There may be a way for local groups who badly need money -- be they minor sports, Scouts, Guides, schools or others -- to tap into a ready source of income.

Sitting at the curb waiting to go away in blue boxes are plenty of liquor bottles, worth 10 to 20 cents each if returned to the local beer store. But many of those bottles -- gold in a glass -- instead find their way back to Durham's recycling facilities so taxpayers end up paying for items that should be returned to the beer store.

The LCBO now pays a fee to help dispose of these recyclables -- it amounted to $228,000 to the Region in 2007 -- but the fee will disappear next year. After that the Region will have to pick up the cost of recycling what should be returned.

It simply doesn't add up and supplies a vacuum for fundraising that could well be filled by some hustling and inventive local groups. Clearly, there's a market there for a well-organized group or two to take advantage of all that potential money.

In fact, a student profiled in these pages just last year -- Blair Cunningham -- carved out a nice little summer job by going around to businesses and splitting the value of bottle returns with them. All he had to do was pick up the bottles and take them to the beer store and then provide half the proceeds back to the businesses he collected the bottles from.

The suggestion here is that some businesses and homeowners, if approached by groups, would be willing to provide their empties for return to avoid dealing with having to do it themselves. Such a measure is win-win: it provides groups with a modest return on some volunteer work and it avoids having our recycling facilities getting clogged up with liquor bottles that should be going back to the beer store intact.

So groups would be advised to take advantage of doing bottle drives. While individual LCBO stores only take up to 120 bottles per visit, the Beer Store depot at 1655 Tricont Ave., Whitby, can take mass quantities. It's open from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday to Friday and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays.

Rural road needs attention

To the editor:
 I must take issue with Ward 1 City Councillor Jennifer O'Connell. Her comment about some projects being necessary while others are not— specifically rural roads getting attention while some sidewalks and trails don't connect— disturbed me.

As someone who has lived on one of these rural roads for 18 years, and who has contributed my fair share of taxes during that time, I think Coun. O'Connell needs to be reminded Pickering is a community of people. As such, the needs of ALL residents should matter, not just the needs (or wants) of those in her ward.

The rural road I live on has been in need of repairs for at least five years already and its condition has only deteriorated further as a result of the harsh winter we just experienced. Any repairs to it would be a welcome relief.

I'm 100 per cent in favour of having trails connected, too, but sometimes the needs must take precedence over the wants.

Mental health beds need to stay in Ajax-Pickering

When will enough be enough?

Pickering council doesn't want the mental health beds to move out of Ajax, and neither do Ajax, Brock, Uxbridge or Whitby councils. And neither does the Region of Durham. Ajax-Pickering MPP Joe Dickson doesn't either, and neither does Ajax-Pickering MP Mark Holland.

The four psychiatrists at the Ajax-Pickering hospital don't want the move, and one, Dr. Mohamed Zakaria, has even given his resignation, something he threatened to do after he heard about the plan. And the patients certainly want it to stay.

How can the Rouge Valley Hospital System and the Central East Local Health Integration Network still go through with the transfer of the mental health beds at Rouge Valley Ajax and Pickering hospital to Centenary in Scarborough?

In my last column, I wrote that I had finally found one person who sees some positivity in the transfer of beds, that person being TV host Dan Carter. To date, that number has increased by one.

If the move goes forward, the hospital system and the CE LHIN have painted a pretty grim picture of democracy.

Sure, Rik Ganderton and chief of psychiatry, Dr. Steve Fishman, have clearly said moving the beds will provide all-in-all better service and cut costs, and they're probably both right. After all, Dr. Fishman has 20 years of experience with Rouge Valley. But the bottom line is: they're taking away local beds from a group that needs them, from a group that's mostly happy with the current service they receive at RVAP. And now, when they need those beds, they'll have to go to a strange place and won't have the peace of mind that their family is close by.

How many times do people have to say this is not what they want? At the public meeting 1,000 upset individuals made up of kids, teenagers, adults, seniors, politicians, registered nurses, community groups and just plain residents made it clear the beds must stay in Ajax. They didn't go to the meeting to say "This is the best way to implement the plan" because all they care about is keeping the beds here.

Maybe if the public and the four psychiatrists at RVAP were consulted ahead of time, a lot of the people speaking out today would have felt as if their needs were considered, and maybe would have been more willing to listen to Dr. Fishman's experienced medical opinion. Instead, they were invited to discussions after the plan was approved by both the RVHS and CE LHIN boards.

I can't imagine how people - especially the ones who need courage to speak out - must feel that all the times they've spoken out as to why they need the beds here have fallen onto deaf ears. The CE LHIN has made it clear the only reason the public is now being consulted is to help implement the plan. A lot of good that's doing since most don't accept it period.

Three hundred schools in Ontario poised to close

Five of those in Durham Region

By Josie Newman
jnewman@durhamregion.com

DURHAM — An educational lobby group that reviewed the Province's 72 school boards has discovered there are 300 schools recommended for closure across Ontario.

Of those 300, 50 schools have practically finished their reviews and are near closure, says Annie Kidder, executive director of People for Education. Five of those are Catholic schools in Durham Region, including Canadian Martyrs, Father Francis Mahoney, Holy Cross, St. Gregory, and St. Michael.

The group is asking the ministry of education to form a working group and come up with ideas on how municipalities, school boards, and communities can work together to make use of school buildings rather than shut them down.

"The (declining) fertility rate is the biggest problem, as is the move to suburbs in southern Ontario from both the inner cities and Northern Ontario. In Superior Greenstone board east of Thunder Bay, there's been a 36-per-cent decline in enrolment over the past six years," she said.

"The downtowns of cities seem less viable these days. Houses cost less in the suburbs than they do downtown, and new immigrants move to suburbs primarily. A more complex conversation has to take place.

"Do we have to look at communities and look at whether we want to have thriving communities instead of isolated suburban pods?" said Ms. Kidder, who lives in downtown Toronto and is the mother of a teenager and a university-aged child.

She said People for Education wants to examine decisions on closures based on long-term plans and finances, rather than simply finances.

"Over the past 10 years, we've been in decline. What advantage do you have to busing kids out of their communities to their schools? We've done our best to keep smaller schools going, but the bottom line is if you want to keep smaller schools open, you have to have the funding. The quality of education could suffer otherwise," said Chris Hurst, elementary program superintendent at the Durham Catholic District School Board.

"Schools are a complex part of our communities. We as a board recognize the importance of strong relationships with the community.

"We built a multi-use school in 2000, combining a theatre, J. Clarke Richardson and Notre Dame high schools in Ajax," said David Visser, superintendent of facilities services for the Durham District School Board.

A new process for conducting school closures, called accommodation review committees, was introduced just last year. Prior to that, there was a moratorium on school closures in Ontario.

Students walk for Peru

By Josie Newman
 jnewman@durhamregion.com

PICKERING — When Andrew McLaughlin visited Peru a couple of years ago, he shared his excitement about the country with his students.

A Spanish and English teacher at St. Mary Catholic Secondary School, his students immediately caught his enthusiasm and plans were made to help out schools in Peru.

“There’s a lot of poverty there, and we’re helping to renovate some schools near Cusco, that part of the country that’s near Machu Pichu, a famous mountainous area,” says Mr. McLaughlin, who previously led several trips to volunteer in the Dominican Republic.

The difference is that the group going to Peru, beginning July 25 and travelling in three small groups for 10 consecutive days each, will be comprised of students 18 and older as well as a number of adults. The trip is independent of the school board, and just as many adults as students will be going, says Mr. McLaughlin.

A trip to scout out the territory and to establish contacts was made last summer by him and some others, after students at St. Mary raised $9,000 from a school walkathon and other fundraisers. The money was used to build a school greenhouse and put in a computer lab at another school.

A similar 10-kilometre walkathon will be held this coming Saturday, May 3 starting at St. Mary at 9 a.m. He says he expects $6,000 to $7,000 will be raised, and between 100 and 150 people will participate.

The 10-day trip will feature home stays with local families, a bus trip to Machu Pichu, dance lessons, and other fun activities.

Durham woman upset promised cat given to other family

Humane society says mistake made

By Keith Gilligan
kgilligan@durhamregion.com

DURHAM — An Ajax woman has her back up at the Humane Society of Durham Region, saying the organization had promised to adopt a cat to her and then gave the animal to someone else.

The society's manager said an error was made and has ordered staff members to apologize.

Mona Cole said she and her four-year-old son, visited the Oshawa shelter on Saturday, April 5 to adopt a cat. After seeing several of them, the boy settled on one named Lace.

At the time, Lace was on medications and the decision was made to have the cat stay at the shelter until it had finished with the medicine.

Ms. Cole said she filled out the required paperwork and left her contact information with shelter staff.

When she and her son returned the next weekend, Lace had been adopted out to another family.

In a letter to the News Advertiser, Ms. Cole said she was "furious" and "flabbergasted" at what happened.

In an interview, Ms. Cole noted she and her son went to the Toronto Humane Society last weekend and found another cat.

"He's happy and I'm happy with the service they gave us," Ms. Cole stated.

The Coles wanted a cat that was short-haired, fixed and of a certain age, which Lace was.

At the time, Lace, like a lot of cats at the Durham site, was on medication because it had a cold.

"It was precautionary. She was in with another cat with a cold," she said.

Durham society officials told her Lace had been adopted out because the other cat she was with had been adopted. "They said she was in with the other cat. The other cat was adopted and Lace got depressed."

People who had another cat at home came in to adopt a cat, "so they gave Lace to them.

"I was trying to accommodate them more than them me," she said of her experience with the Durham society.

Ruby Richards, the manager of the Durham society, agreed an error was made.

"One of our younger staff members showed her around," she said, adding the cat should have been there when Ms. Cole returned a week later.

"As far as I'm concerned, that should have been the end of it," she said.

Ms. Richards said she wasn't on duty when the Coles first came in or when they returned to pick up Lace.

Staff "didn't realize the cat was on hold or felt the new family was a better option. I confronted staff and was told what went on," Ms. Richards stated, saying staff "apologized profusely" to the Coles.

A staff member then "took two hours to show her around and she found another cat for adoption."

That cat, again, was on medication and had to stay until it had finished its medication.

"As far as I know, that was the end of it, until we received her letter," Ms. Richards said.

"Staff in question were royally reamed out and told if anything like this happens again, they'll be fired.

And, I want them to apologize to her," she stated.

Seniors deserve tax relief now: Pickles

PICKERING — Ward 3 City Councillor David Pickles is urging the provincial government to implement a new property tax rebate for seniors this year.

Coun. Pickles and Ward 2 City Councillor Doug Dickerson have been advocating for a reduction on the education portion of property taxes for seniors for years. Coun. Pickles said many seniors in Pickering have been paying education taxes for more than 40 years.

He was pleased to see the 2008 provincial budget indicates seniors on low incomes will be eligible for provincial tax rebates to partially offset their property taxes. Individual seniors who own their own homes will qualify for the credit if their income is less than $50,000 a year, and those earning less than $35,000 a year will receive the maximum amount. Couples who are seniors and own homes will qualify if their joint income is less than $60,000, and those who earn less than $45,000 qualify for the full credit.

"It's what we've been looking for," he said in an interview.

But, he wants it implemented sooner. Rebates of up to $250 will begin in 2009 and will be increased to $500 in 2010.

"If this is the case, I would urge you to bring these measures in place for 2008 to provide assistance to residents who are in need of assistance this year, as well," he wrote in a letter to Premier Dalton McGuinty and Minister of Finance Dwight Duncan.

Province helps Durham businesses Go Green

Region's tourism group receives $30,000 in funding

By Reka Szekely
rszekely@durhamregion.com

DURHAM — Durham Tourism is getting some green from the Province for a pilot project aimed at helping local businesses get earth friendly.

The department is receiving $30,000 through Ontario's Ministry of Tourism to host a series of Go Green workshops that encourage sustainable business practices.

"We've been selected because we've been identified as one of the leading communities in Ontario in terms of going green," said Kerri King, the Region's manager of tourism.

She added eco-tourism is the fastest growing segment of the tourist industry.

Local green tourism can include anything from cycling, paddling and hiking to visiting local farmers' markets or arts and culture festivals.

Ms. King points out the World Tourism Association predicts 86 per cent of the increase in travel would stem from adventure, nature, and culture-related events.

In June, her department will hold eight workshops for the different parts of the tourism industry.

For example, one will target accommodation providers, another farmers. The training will include roughly 200 business owners and their employees and will be spread throughout the Region depending on the industry. The session for farmers will be held in one of the northern municipalities.

As well, the department has created a Go Green toolkit which includes trends and key facts, examples of industry leaders and best practices.

"In the restaurant business it could be different ways they can be recycling," said Ms. King, adding the business are excited about the workshops.

The money for Durham comes from the $40-million Employment Ontario strategy aimed at developing customer service training in industries experiencing skill shortages. Of that, $296,000 was earmarked for tourism.

Ottawa, Niagara, Georgian and York Regions also received money for various programs.

Niagara will look at welcoming cyclists while Ottawa is working on improving market readiness for Chinese visitors.

"We want every visitor to Durham to feel like a VIP, so they will stay longer and return again and again," said Ajax-Pickering MPP and Joe Dickson in a prepared statement.

"This training will strengthen the contribution tourism makes to our economic prosperity."

As for future tourism within the region, Ms. King said there are practical reasons for residents to choose Durham destinations.

"I think, too, with the cost of gas people are going to be looking at how they can enjoy things in their own backyards. People in Oshawa will be saying, let's go up to Brock or Uxbridge."

Remembering the Holocaust in Durham

Oshawa's Beth Zion Synagogue hosts memorial service Sunday

By Jillian Follert
jfollert@durhamregion.com

OSHAWA — Faigie Libman was just seven years old when her Lithuanian homeland was invaded by Germany two years into the Second World War.

More than 60 years later, she still has vivid memories of living in the Kovno Ghetto where 10,500 Jews out of 30,000 were sentenced to death in a single day, travelling in cattle cars to Poland's Stufhof concentration camp and working as a slave labourer.

For a long time she was silent, her story too painful to recollect.

But now she speaks at schools, libraries, churches, universities and community centres, urging people -- especially young people -- to remember the atrocities of the Holocaust so they never happen again.

Local residents will have a chance to hear Ms. Libman speak this weekend, at the third annual Holocaust Remembrance Service hosted by Oshawa's Beth Zion Synagogue.

The theme of this year's service, which will include a candle lighting ceremony, is Dor L'Dor: From Generation to Generation - Children Keep the Memory Alive.

"It's important that the story continue from generation to generation, because a lot of the direct witnesses to what happened are dying off," said Lina Zatzman, one of the organizers.

"This is a service we want everyone to attend, not just people from the Jewish community. It's something everyone should know about."

As well as honouring Jews who died, Ms. Zatzman says the service recognizes all those who were victims of the holocaust, including those who helped the Jews and other groups targeted by the Nazis, such as those with disabilities.

The other guest speaker planned for Sunday is Shawna Nesbitt, a teacher who has dedicated her career to instilling respect for different cultures and religions, in her students.

Ms. Nesbitt has worked in Peterborough and Oshawa, and is best known for creating a heritage project based on the book Hana's Suitcase, which tells the story of two Jewish children living in Czechoslovakia during the Nazi occupation.

Holocaust Memorial Day is observed in Canada and around the world each year in early May -- the actual date varies based on the lunar calendar.

Oshawa's Holocaust Memorial Service will take place from 7 to 9 p.m. on Sunday, May 4, at Beth Zion Synagogue, 144 King St. E., in Oshawa.

For more information on the synagogue, visit www.bethzionoshowa.com.

Lawn & Garden

Eco-friendly pest control for weed and insect infestations.

(NC)-With the warmer temperatures here, many Canadians are spending more time outdoors working on the yard. Unfortunately, a common problem in many gardens is weed and insect infestations. Not only is it important to know how to effectively treat your garden to keep it pest and disease free, it is also becoming increasingly more important to find alternatives to traditional chemical practices. To care for a healthier garden all summer long, the lawn and garden team at Canadian Tire has the following integrated pest control steps and techniques.

What is Integrated Pest Management?

Integrated Pest Management is an environmentally sensitive approach to pest management. It is a series of steps and techniques to effectively control and maintain pests at an acceptable level using non-chemical or biological practices.

Tips to Pest Prevention

- . Add good soil with ample depth and organic matter for nutrition
- . Improve drainage in wet areas and/or replace lawns with other types of landscaping
- . Check lawns and gardens regularly for first signs of insect, weed and plant disease. Unfortunately, many of the stages of pest disease occur below the surface of the lawn, which can be difficult to monitor. However, you can look for signs such as brown spots or already dead or dying patches of lawn that pull up easily for signs of disease
- . Remove diseased leaves, plants and branches to eliminate rotting organic matter. Choose an ergonomic product such as Fiskars telescopic stand up weeder to help protect your backyard

Use Reduced-Risk Solutions

. If preventive and mechanical approaches to solving a pest problem have been unsuccessful, consider using a reduced-risk pest control product first

. Look for the bylaw friendly logo to find reduced-risk products

Use Pest Control Products when necessary

- . Before resorting to using a pesticide, consider all your alternatives such as physical methods like hand weeding, before resorting to chemical solutions
  - . Correct timing of a pesticide application is essential for effective control and to ensure the least amount necessary for control is used

Award winner wears many hats

Glenn Ottaway honoured for an entertaining life

By Marva Palmer
Special to the News Advertiser

AJAX — If Ajax magician/comedian Glenn Ottaway were to give advice to people wanting to enter the world of entertainment, it would be to give it their best shot.

"To hell with the back-up job! Go for it and if you're dedicated enough, if you're funny enough, you'll do fine," he said in a recent interview. "You might not be famous but you'll do fine. You can make a good living and not be famous. But, if you're 40 years old and still have a roommate, get out of the business."

Ottaway is the recipient of the inaugural Herb Morrissey Memorial Lifetime Achievement Award, presented by The Niagara Comedy Music Seminar in Niagara Falls April 4-6.

Seminar co-organizer Anthony Lindan said Ottaway is very deserving of the recognition. Lindan said organizers, and the awards committee, considered potential award recipients from all across English Canada and selected Ottaway.

"He's been at the forefront a long time. Glenn is a comedy magician who's pushed the envelope in both magic and comedy. Glenn was the best guy to launch the award," he added.

The award was created to honour Canadian magician Herb Morrissey, who died in 2003.

Like Morrissey, Ottaway got his start in the world of magic at a very young age. He began doing public performances when he was 16 years old.

Glenn Ottaway received a special award from the Niagara Comedy Music Seminar recently. Ottaway earned the Herb Morrissey Memorial Lifetime Achievement Award for his work in comedy and magic.

"I think (the award) tells me I'm done," he said, laughing.

"It's very flattering to receive something like this, because this is something from people who do the same thing I do," he added.

Ottaway's work and dedication has inspired others. He said he's always surprised by some of the people who tell him how much he's influenced them. The most surprising is Marty Putz.

'To hell with the back-up job! Go for it and if you're dedicated enough, if you're funny enough, you'll do fine.'

--- GLENN OTTAWAY

"He's big in the United States in the college circuit," Ottaway said. "He told me once that he saw me perform and that's what got him into the business and that's really nice to hear because I would watch him and I always loved his act."

Ottaway has been in the business for more than 30 years, bringing his comedy and magic to audiences across Canada. He has also entertained Canadian peacekeepers in Bosnia.

In addition to being a magician, he's done brief stints as an actor. He's appeared on various television specials including 'Comedy at Club 54', 'Cooking with Comics' and 'Due South'. He has opened shows for a number of groups including Blue Rodeo, The Spoons, Brenda Lee, and Moxy Fruvous.

Among all that he's done over the years, Ottaway said producing and directing are his favourites.

He's a production manager and a consultant at the Park Playhouse in Cobourg and the Class Act Dinner Theatre in Whitby. Ottaway recently directed 'The Foreigner' at the latter.

'The Band's Visit' coming to Ajax

AJAX — The regular Ajax Film Circuit season concludes with 'The Band's Visit' on May 14.

The film tells the story of an Egyptian ceremonial police band that arrives at an airport to find that their hosts are nowhere in sight, eventually ending up in a small Israeli town.

The screening is at the Ajax Cinplex Odeon Theatre beginning at 7 p.m. Individual tickets are $6.50 each and available in advance at all library branches or for $7 at the theatre's film circuit desk on show day.

Mother's Day weekend art tour

DURHAM — Treat mom to an art tour this Mother's Day weekend.

The Oshawa Art Association is hosting its sixth annual Studio Art Tour on May 10 and 11. More than 30 artists will be featured at the 19 locations. This year the tour has been extended to include paintings, pottery, fine jewelry and other work.

Among the artists taking part is Ajax painter Sharon Steinhaus, who will be showing her work at 19 Hearne Cres., Ajax. Admission is free. The event lasts from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., both days. Brochures with artists and location information are available at local libraries and art galleries throughout Durham.

Three local artists in a celebratory mood

Exhibition in Ajax

AJAX — Celebrate the spring weather with an exhibition of the paintings of Janice Brown, Judith Jewer and Irene Leach.

A Celebration of Colour, an exhibition that holds many different styles of art work, will display the paintings of local artists in the atrium of the McLean Community Centre, located at 95 Magill Dr., in Ajax. The show will be on display from April 22 to May 25, Monday to Friday from 6 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. and on Saturday and Sunday from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Admission is free. Art in public places is a PineRidge Arts Council initiative with the Town of Ajax.

Janice Brown's work is very eye catching and bold.

"I love the play of light and dark and use this in my work. I also like movement in my paintings or the illusion of movement. While I paint in Oils, Acrylics, and Watercolours this show will consist of Oils and Acrylics. All of my pieces show life happening and I paint from the heart as I see life."

Pickering resident, Judith Jewer, loves painting outside, and finds that nature awakens a sense of heightened joy in being.

"I especially love to create beauty through shapes and textures. I love bright colours and developing a sense of the quality of light and spatial depth in my paintings. My style utilizes the full range of acrylic painting techniques from textures to glazes."

Irene Leach paints with loud, vibrant and eccentric colours.

"I try to create realistic scenes that show life as being bigger than it is. My inspiration is my grandchildren, and that is where the whimsy comes in because I am creating paintings that would appeal to the children."

Meet the artists on Sunday April 27 from 12:30-4:30 p.m. at the McLean Centre in Community Room One.

For more information about the artists or the event, call Judith Jewer at 905-839-7816.

By George, Smith to hoop it up with GW Colonials

Pickering High forward to attend U.S. capital campus

By Al Rivett
arivett@durhamregion.com

AJAX — The George Washington University Colonials “showed me more love,” so Dwayne Smith is determined to return the favour on the basketball court this fall.

The 6-foot, 5-inch forward with the provincial champion Pickering High School Trojans recently signed a letter of intent to attend the Washington, D.C., institution on an athletic scholarship in the fall.

Smith is the second NCAA Division 1 athletic scholarship recipient from the two-time Ontario Federation of the School Athletic Associations (OFSAA) ‘AAAA’ champion Trojans. Earlier this year, prolific guard Devoe Joseph accepted a scholarship offer from the University of Minnesota.

Smith, a Toronto native and Ajax resident, says working out last month with the NCAA Division 1 Colonials during a visit to GW -- located four blocks from the White House -- was all he needed to decide to make his basketball and academic home in the U.S. capital.

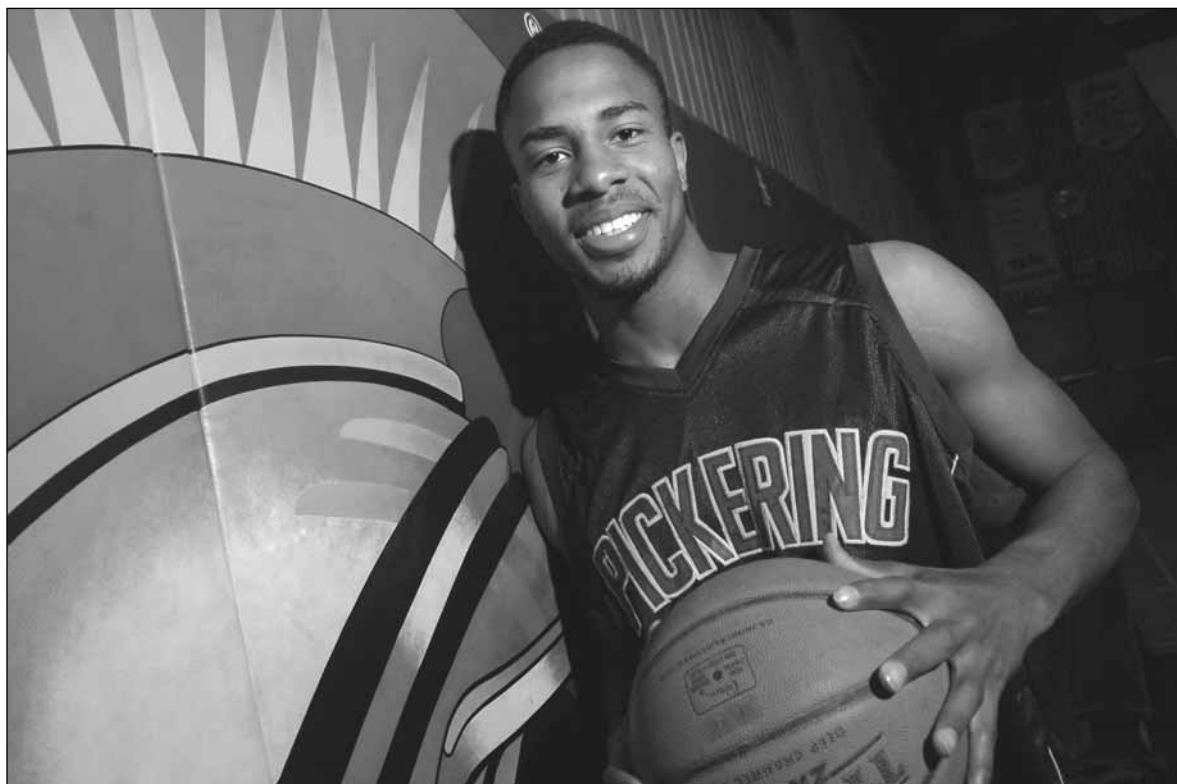

“I played with their team and they were very fast-paced,” recalls Smith, who transferred to Pickering High two years ago from Toronto’s West Hill Collegiate. “They like to run and I like that. I liked the campus, I liked the scrimmage, I liked the guys, I liked the coaches. Overall, I liked it.”

And, Smith, 19, intends to repay GW’s faith in signing him to a scholarship by heading down early, in late July, where he will continue to work on his game. Athletic and a strong rebounder, Smith says he definitely needs to work on his shooting before the start of the season.

And, if everything works out, the former Canadian junior national team member has a major goal in mind for his first season at GW.

“I want to be the A10 (Atlantic 10 Conference) rookie of the year. You’ve got to aim big. (Colonials’ head coach Karl Hobbs) says I have the potential to be that with a little work on my game.”

Pickering High School Trojans’ forward Dwayne Smith, 19, will attend George Washington University in Washington, D.C., on an athletic scholarship. He’s ready to run with the Colonials, a Division 1 team in the Atlantic 10 Conference.

Pickering High, also thinks Smith can be a dominating and impact player at GW, but only if he continues to work hard at all aspects of his game.

“It’s something he’s dreamed about for a long time and I’m happy for him and his family,” says Gordensky. “It’s up to him to take full advantage of this opportunity and it’s up to him to work hard and get the most out of it -- which he will.

“His athleticism is outstanding. There are not many kids we saw this year who were as athletic as him. He’s got a good outside jumper, which needs to get better. He’s good at attacking the hoop and he brings a lot of intensity to the game.”

Smith understands, too, that his jump shot needs to improve, and that’s only served as motivation to get an early start to his college career.

“I want to go early to work on my game to go to the next level,” he says.

Smith notes GW had courted him for a scholarship all along and that’s mainly why he chose them over several other colleges that were latecomers after Smith and his Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) team, Grassroots Canada, won the title at the 2008 Pittsburgh Jam Fest last month.

“Playing in Pittsburgh boosted my stock a lot. But, George Washington stuck with me before that. They showed me more love and commitment in recruiting me,” explains Smith, who acknowledged he also received scholarship offers from Central Connecticut University, San Diego, Niagara and Rutgers.

Smith says his single season with the Trojans was a good learning experience for him.

“There was structure and order there. There were rules for the team. Coaches (Jim) Barclay, Gordensky and David Joseph were good coaches and they all taught me well. Playing here has been a benefit to me.”

Smith plans to study business at George Washington.

Other basketball Trojans could land U.S. scholarships: coach

Pickering High Trojans basketball coach Mike Gordensky says, when all is said and done, there could be as many as six players off the reigning OFSAA ‘AAAA’ champs that could be playing stateside on scholarships.

In addition to Smith and Devoe Joseph, Gordensky mentions forward Justin Wiltshire and guard Juevol Myles as receiving interest from U.S. schools, with 6-foot, 5-inch Wiltshire reportedly considering an offer from Valparaiso University, a Division 1 school in Valparaiso, Ind. Meanwhile, Myles has also garnered interest from U.S. recruiters, including Western Kentucky.

Gordensky says Devoe Joseph’s younger brother and Trojans’ backcourt mate, Cory, is too young yet to be recruited by U.S. college programs, but notes he’s definitely on their radar.

One other player, guard Jonathan Tull, has also received interest stateside, says Gordensky.

West Rouge Canoe Club hosts ice breaker tomorrow

New paddling season began with winter training sessions

PICKERING — The West Rouge Canoe Club hosts an ice breaker/registration date in the city tomorrow (Saturday).

The ice breaker, at Knight’s Corner Pub and Grill, 605 Kingston Rd., Pickering, starts at 7 p.m. There will be a five-per-cent reduction in fees for those signing up at the event.

Dragon boating — a fast-growing sport at both the recreational and competitive levels — is a big part of the club’s program. New members can become part of dragon boating or hone their skills in canoe, kayak or war canoe, while having fun on the water at Frenchman’s Bay.

The 2008 WRCC season started in earnest last winter as members of the club’s Masters and Grandmasters Dragon Boat crews engaged in pool paddling sessions put on by Loch 7 Paddling. Loch 7’s Scott Madill coached the sessions, assisted by some of the club’s junior world champion crew, which returned from the worlds in Australia last summer. West Rouge’s Anina Sakaguchi, who co-coaches the women’s Grandmasters crews with Shannon McCarty, also assisted.

Sessions were not limited to paddling instruction at the side of the pool, but also included aquafit and core strengthening stations. The participants learned the mechanics of the dragon boat stroke and how to use every part of the body to improve their power on the water.

These WRCC crew members can’t wait to get back out on the water and start using all their new skills, in preparation for the Pickering Dragonboat Festival in June. Members of the women’s Grandmasters crew are honing their skills in an effort to qualify for the World Dragon Boat Championships in Poland in 2009.

For more information, log on to the WRCC website at www.westrougecc.org.

Monarchs rip Port Perry on the pitch

St. Mary seniors continue unbeaten string in LOSSA girls' soccer action

PICKERING — The St. Mary Catholic Secondary School Monarchs senior girls' soccer team improved its league record to 3-0-1 after blitzing the Port Perry High School Rebels in Durham Region league action in Port Perry on Wednesday. The Monarchs defeated the Rebels 8-1 in Lake Ontario Secondary School Athletics (LOSSA) 'A A A A' action behind two-goal efforts from Arin King, Nicole Renouf and Laura Taglioni. Chloe Giordano and Christina Paterson were the other St. Mary goal scorers. The Monarchs' seniors will attempt to continue their unbeaten string when they return to action Wednesday in Oshawa to play the O'Neill Collegiate Redhawks. The St. Mary juniors, also unbeaten in LOSSA league play, will also play the O'Neill Redhawks that day.

Pickering Soccer Club gets grant for turf

Ontario Trillium Foundation funds total $136,000

PICKERING — A city soccer pitch will get a makeover, after the Pickering Soccer Club was successful in securing an Ontario Trillium Foundation grant recently.

The PSC is receiving $136,000 in grant funding from the Ontario government foundation, which provides grants for non-profit organizations in the province.

The grant money will enable the PSC to install artificial turf on its main Kinsmen Park soccer field that, according to club business manager Shelly Augustin, will allow for greater use of the pitch as well as it to be used longer into the outdoor soccer season.

The Artificial Turf Project is targeted to start in late August and be completed by the end of September. This will allow PSC players to play a longer outdoor campaign in Pickering before heading out of the City for the indoor season.

"We are very thankful to OTF for providing the funding to support this project," states PSC president Carl Pearce, in a press release.

"This support from OTF and the City of Pickering provides a new outlet for growth and opportunity for soccer in the Pickering community. As a non-profit organization, we look to develop partnerships that allow us to meet the growing needs of today's youth and the City of Pickering while balancing the costs associated with running first-rate soccer programs."

Playing fields, says Augustin, have traditionally been the PSC's main obstacle. Taking one of two main fields out of commission for the season would be detrimental to the soccer season.

The new artificial field, however, will ensure a consistent soccer program for Pickering youth.

Ephriam
"Ben"
Caissie
who passed away
May 2/2007

Dad it's hard to believe it's a year since you've been gone, but it somehow we feel that's got to be wrong. We remember calling you everyday, just to hear what you had to say; how you and mom ran the roads and what you did or bought at the flea market. You never stayed home, always out and about, at the bingo and auctions-- we could hear you shout.

Dad, we will always remember your famous words "you gotta keep the peace, whatever it takes," or how you used to shake your pockets and say, "can't complain ... me and Rosie have some jingle, enough to buy Rosie a banana split."

So on this day and always, we miss you as our heart aches; we really feel the loss. Now you're up in heaven -- and you're attempting to be their boss; go easy on them and remember they already know how to play bingo and cards.

Ephriam is sadly missed by the love of his life, his wife of 52 years, Zelma, his son Edward (Mary) DesRoches, daughters Rita Caissie, Claudette (Paul) Scott, Dina (Dave) Caissie, Ann (John) Mellema, Margret Jones, 10 grandchildren, & 2 great grandchildren

In Loving Memory of a Dear
Father and Grandfather

James Arthur Walker
November 11, 1931 - May 3, 2003

It's lonely here without you. We miss you more each day. For life is not the same to us. Since you were called away.

Forever in our Hearts

Jennifer and Ralph, Sandy and Mark, Tom, and Grandchildren: Marshall, Malcolm, Olivia, Sophie, Joey and DJ

Happy Trails to you, until we meet again!
