'I want to get to work on the budget right away'

Pickering Ward 2 picks Dickerson

Veteran former councillor elected in byelection

By Danielle Milley
Staff Writer

PICKERING — Pickering's byelection came down to a two-man race, with veteran councillor Doug Dickerson taking the Ward 2 City seat by less than 250 votes.

The crowded race featured eight candidates, including former councillors, a school board trustee, and several very active community volunteers. In the end, it was Mr. Dickerson beating out first-time candidate Terry James.

As he gave his victory speech in the warehouse of his carpet store in Pickering, Mr. Dickerson was surrounded by friends, family and campaign volunteers.

"It's to you I owe my victory," he said. "To all of you I want to say thank you from the bottom of my heart."

One of his supporters shouted, "Are you happy?"

To which he replied, "happy, happy, happy," with a big smile.

Mr. Dickerson's win is his fifth in four decades; he was first elected in 1978. He has served at both the City and regional level.

He is eager to get to work immediately and cites fiscal accountability as his top priority.

"The astronomical rise in our taxes — 40 per cent in four years — that to me is obscene," he said in an interview. "I want to get to work on the budget right away."

He believes taxes can be lowered without cutting services and his goal is to get to a zero-per cent increase.

Mr. Dickerson took a different approach to campaigning this year.

Terry James

He shied away from the campaign standard of door knocking and instead contacted thousands of homes by telephone and engaged voters in conversation.

Mr. Dickerson took 40 per cent of the vote, while Mr. James captured 34 per cent. The remaining six candidates split the remaining 26.

At Mr. James's party the mood was anything but one of defeat. There were dozens of people drinking, eating, talking and laughing as music played.

Although he was disappointed, Mr. James was happy with his performance and campaign. His goal had been to capture 1,200 to 1,400 votes and he received 1,288.

"The voters of Ward 2 went for someone who has been in there before," he said.

400 Bowmanville residents forced from their homes

PROPANE FIRES LIGHT UP PORT DARLINGTON NIGHT SKY

CLARINGTON — The area a mile to the east and a mile to the west of Port Darlington Marina was evacuated last night, after an explosion at Caledon Propane Storage Facility on Port Darlington Road sent tanks of gas hurtling into the night sky.

The Municipality of Clarington reported the explosion occurred at approximately 7:45 p.m. As of 9:24 p.m., there had been no further explosions; however two small fires were still burning and emergency crews were working to keep one propane tank cool in the wake of the fire.

"There are 15 pieces of equipment on the scene," said Clarington Mayor John Mutton shortly before 9:30 p.m., "and we're coordinating our efforts with fire and emergency services, and the Durham Regional Police."

Residents within the area ordered evacuated by Durham Regional Police were asked to gather at the Garnet B. Rickard Recreation Centre, if they had nowhere else to go. Sergeant Paul Malik estimated 5,000 residents were asked to leave their homes.

There were no injuries reported at Lakeridge Health Bowmanville.

An orange glow in the sky could be seen from as far away as Ajax in the west and Mosport raceway northeast of Bowmanville. Bowmanville resident Mike Anderson heard the explosion from his home on Waverley Road. "Our power went off first. I looked out the window and saw the sky lit up... you could hear the boom of the propane tanks exploding," Mr. Anderson said the sky over Port Darlington Marina was illuminated and flames could be seen shooting more than 100 feet into the air.

Hwy. 401 was closed in both directions near Bowmanville, creating traffic snarls on alternate east-west routes.

The explosion also caused the Canadian National Railway to close its rail line through the area.

"Our line has been shut down as of 8 p.m.," said CN spokesman Mark Hallman shortly after 10:30 p.m. "At this time, it's affecting VIA as well as freight traffic. At this time we don't know when the line is going to reopen."

Asked whether CN had put in place a contingency plan to reroute the rail traffic, Mr. Hallman said the rail company would investigate that possibility "if it becomes a very lengthy ordeal. At the present time, we're just going to wait it out."

Witnesses reported seeing propane tanks flying into the air in the wake of the blast, which knocked out power to 4,384 homes in Bowmanville, Newcastle and surrounding rural areas. The area went dark at approximately 7:49 p.m. as a nearby transformer caught on fire, short-circuiting the entire system.

Veridian Connections, which distributes power to Newcastle and Bowmanville, reported as many as 4,200 customers affected. Electricity was restored to all but 100 homes within the vicinity of the explosion an hour later, said spokesman Imro Lieu.

Hydro One, which feeds electricity to homes in more rural parts of Bowmanville, reported 184 of its customers were left without power. Electricity was restored around 9:27 p.m. to all of those homes, said spokesman Kim McLennan.

Jacquie McInnes, spokeswoman for Ontario Power Generation, reported at 9:15 p.m. that the explosion had had no impact on the Darlington Nuclear Generating Station.

"We were given a request to assist and we have responded by providing a pumper truck and at this point one staff member," she said.

Ajax air force veteran figures it was fate

*Crumb remembers
aerial escapades*

By Keith Gilligan
Staff Writer

AJAX — Fate. There's no other explanation Don Crumb can come up with for being here.

In 1942, following final flight training in England, Mr. Crumb was assigned to a squadron in southeast Asia. If he had been assigned to one in Europe, he doesn't believe he would have lived through the war.

"I guess it was fate. I don't know why I was posted here or there. It had to be fate," the longtime Ajax resident says.

"Some of us were put in a squadron in England. Some were sent to southeast Asia. I probably wouldn't be here if I was sent to a squadron in England." Mr. Crumb, who flew for the Royal Canadian Air Force during the Second World War, points to the 198 Typhoon Squadron to the losses that occurred in the European theatre. Of the 18 men assigned to the squadron, within weeks, 10 were killed and two taken captive.

"Our losses were much less. If I had joined 198 Squadron, I don't think I'd be here," he says. "It's a shock, but that's what was going on in Europe. We didn't have losses that bad."

A picture of Mr. Crumb with four buddies shows the terrible toll of war, but was also "par for the course. Three of five didn't come back," he notes.

The RCAF celebrates its 80th anniversary this year.

Mr. Crumb spent four years and two months in the air force, and was overseas for just over three years. He spent nearly two-and-a-half years in southeast Asia.

Prior to the war, he didn't fly and his decision to join the air force came about while he was on a date with his girl Georgina, or Jo.

They were in Niagara Falls and there was an aircraft factory in Buffalo and "that sure looked good to me. I saw one flying and that made up my mind," Mr. Crumb states. "Back in those days, they were innocent times. We were so naive really."

When he joined the air force, "We all met in Toronto and we trained together for just about a year. The Exhibition is where we trained," Mr. Crumb says.

He points out, "The sheep and swine division is where we bunked. There were hundreds, maybe thousands, of us there. That was just to join up."

They were then sent to the air force base in Trenton "for a guard duty. It was to get us used to the air force. There was nothing to guard, but day and night we were guarding Trenton."

The flyers were then sent back to Toronto for Initial Training School, now Ryerson.

From there, they went to Mount Hope in Hamilton for Elementary Flying Training School. Then it was off to Dunnville for Service Flying Training School and "that's where we got our wings."

That was in July of '42. The pilots were sent to England and then Mr. Crumb was shipped to southeast Asia, spending time in India, Ceylon (now Sri Lanka) and Burma.

"A lot of work was close support to the British and Indian armies," he says.

He had some "minor hits from flak, but nothing really bad," he says, adding he did crash a Hurricane airplane once during a storm.

"The Hurricane was a great plane, but it was becoming obsolete. It was the main plane in the Battle of Britain. You hear about the Spitfire, but the Hurricane did most of the work."

After the Hurricane, he flew P-47 Thunderbolts.

What stands out the most about southeast Asia were the conditions. He lived through three monsoons and "abominable weather. Heat, humidity, bugs, insects, scorpions, snakes," he says. Most of the men contracted malaria, but "I didn't get it. I got dengue fever. You got that or you got malaria. You got one or the other."

And, he points to the harsh conditions the soldiers had to deal with. "I feel sorry for those guys. Nobody can imagine what it's like fighting in the jungle."

He also jokes, "We didn't have a nice friendly village nearby and a pub to go to."

He returned in September 1945 and he and Jo were married in December of that year. They have three sons and six grandchildren. Jo's family "lived right across the road from us in Toronto," on Malvern Avenue, in the Victoria Park Avenue and Gerrard Street area.

"We started courting, going together in 1940. I went in the air force in '41. She waited all those long years," he says. The Crumbs moved to a home on Tudor Street in 1949, before moving to their present home on Parry Road in 1956.

Mr. Crumb worked in the sales division of Northern Electric, retiring in 1979. He was active with veterans' groups, but "it's really slowed down" as the veterans have passed away. "There's not many of us left."

After the war, he did some flying out of Oshawa, as a member of the RCAF reserve, from May 1956 to March 1957. "The plan was to have instruction in case there was another outbreak," he states. "I was flying Chipmunks and getting paid. It was great until (Prime Minister John) Diefenbaker said 'no more.'"

BIOSOLIDS MASTER PLAN & SEPTAGE MANAGEMENT STRATEGY

WORKS DEPARTMENT

PUBLIC NOTICE

The treatment of wastewater at water pollution control plants or by private waste disposal systems (such as septic systems) generates residual solids that are referred to as biosolids or septage. Durham Region currently manages biosolids and septage generated within Durham and York Regions. In accordance with the master planning provisions of the Municipal Class Environmental Assessment (EA), including consultation with the public and other relevant stakeholders, preferred strategies for the future management of biosolids and septage by Durham Region have been developed. The key components of the preferred biosolids and septage management strategies are outlined as follows:

Biosolids Management

Incineration has been identified as the preferred option for providing additional biosolids management capacity in Durham Region. The preferred location for providing the additional incineration capacity is the existing incineration facility at the Duffin Creek Water Pollution Control Plant (WPCP) in south Pickering. Additional studies have recently been initiated to satisfy the requirements for implementing the additional incineration capacity. These studies are proceeding in accordance with the Schedule C provisions of the Municipal Class EA.

Biosolids management in Durham Region will also continue to include beneficial application of liquid biosolids on agricultural land, when weather conditions are favourable, in order to take advantage of the existing biosolids storage facilities in the Region and utilize the nutrient value of the biosolids. The long-term biosolids management strategy does not include additional facilities to expand the land application program.

Septage Management

The preferred option for managing all septage in Durham Region involves the construction of new septage receiving facilities at the Duffin Creek WPCP (in Pickering), Corbett Creek WPCP (in Whitby), Port Darlington WPCP (in Bowmanville), and Lake Simcoe WPCP (in Beaverton). Under the provisions of the Municipal Class EA, these facilities are considered Schedule A projects and may proceed to implementation.

Public Review Period

Draft reports have been prepared to document the development of the Biosolids Master Plan and Septage Management Strategy. A 30-day public review period is to commence for these reports on Wednesday November 17, 2004. During this period, copies of the reports will be available for public review at the Durham Region Works Department, local Municipal Offices (City or Town Halls) in Durham Region, and main library branches in Durham Region.

Further information on these studies, including an Executive Summary for each study report, is available on the project web site at www.region.durham.on.ca/biosolids.

If you have a question or comment about the study findings or reports during the 30-day public review period, we encourage you to contact:

Holland hopes bill will increase turnout

they are in school, and often taking civic courses, we reinforce a pattern of voter participation that will stay with them through life," he said.

A pattern over time, he said, that will hopefully increase overall voter turnout.

"If we utilize the opportunity over time it would have a major impact on civics," he said.

If enacted, there would be a five-figure rise in the number of eligible voters in Durham. The Durham and Durham Catholic District school boards estimate they have a combined 13,000 16- and 17-year-olds in their systems this fall.

As someone who became involved and interested in politics at a young age, not being able to vote frustrated Mr. Holland.

"It's something that struck me when I was 16 and paying taxes to the federal government and really engaged in the political process at the party level, but I wasn't allowed to participate in electoral politics and that bothered me," he said.

He pointed out 16-year-olds can currently vote in party leadership selection votes, join a political party or join the army.

Previous private members' bills on the same issue have been introduced over the years, but Mr. Holland said his is different because new rules for private members' bills make it likely the bill will be voted on in the House. Also, this bill retains 18 as the minimum age that a person could become a candidate for Parliament.

The bill is receiving support from across the House floor. So far Newmarket-Aurora MP Belinda Stronach (Conservative) is co-sponsoring the bill and members from both the Bloc Quebecois and NDP are going to co-sponsor it.

Mr. Holland said the next step is to go to high schools across the country and hear from 16- and 17-year-olds.

The bill should come before the House for second reading and debate in February, he said, and be voted on at the end of February.

In 1971, Canada's voting age was lowered to 18 from 21.

Ward 2 voter turnout exceeds Pickering expectations

PICKERING — City of Pickering staff was happy with the number of people who voted in Monday's byelection.

"We were very pleased with the voter turnout," said Anne Greentree, deputy clerk. "The candidates are to be commended for their campaigning and generating interest."

Ward 2 has 16,865 eligible voters and 3,784 voted in the highly contested city councillor's race that featured eight candidates. The 22.4 per cent turnout was higher than City staff anticipated.

Ms. Greentree said the thinking was it would be between 18 and 20 per cent. Municipal elections historically have poor turnouts, usually between 30 and 40 per cent, and byelections tend to generate even less.

Ms. Greentree was also pleased with the voting equipment, which was new for this election.

Polls closed at 8 p.m. and the final results were in at 8:40 p.m.

Runner-up pledges he'll be back for future campaigns

Mr. James was surprised at the way the final numbers broke down.

"There were a number of the eight (candidates) that I thought could have done well," he said. "I was surprised it did come down to a two-man race. The voters made their choice and I'm fine."

He plans on running again.

"I'm going to keep working and volunteering in the community and I'll be back in two years with the same message," he said.

Mr. Dickerson is to be sworn in at the Nov. 15 council meeting.

The seat was vacated in July when Councillor Bill McLean was appointed to the regional seat after Mark Holland was elected MP for Ajax-Pickering.

Crown urges jury to reject Hall's 'bigging up' defence

Told truth about his role in murder to undercover cops, prosecutor says

By Jeff Mitchell
Staff Writer

DURHAM — Sean Hall's knowledge of the details surrounding the slaying of Roy Jones proves he was part of the plot to kill the Ajax man — and is therefore guilty of first-degree murder, the Crown counsel said in his final address to a jury this week.

Paul Murray said that Mr. Hall, 29, was indeed telling the truth when he bragged to undercover police officers about his key role in the murder of Mr. Jones. He urged the eight men and four women preparing to decide the former Pickering man's fate to deliver a guilty verdict based on the copious evidence that's been presented by the prosecution during the long-running trial.

Much of that evidence was in the form of secretly recorded tapes and videos made by Durham police officers in which Mr. Hall supplies details of the murder, disposal of the murder weapon, and a home invasion robbery that set in motion the chain of events that led to Mr. Jones's murder.

Mr. Murray urged the jury to reject Mr. Hall's defence: That he was "bigging up" — bragging — to the undercover cops, who had conned him into believing they were gangsters with biker gang connections.

Mr. Jones was murdered just days before he was to testify in court against

Roy Jones

Mr. Hall's close friend, Cosmo Jacobson. Mr. Jones, a security guard at the Metro East Trade Centre, had seen Mr. Jacobson use credit cards stolen during a home invasion robbery in June of 2000 at a bank machine at the mall and identified him to police.

Mr. Hall's defence team highlighted the many details Mr. Hall got wrong when he told the undercover officers about the murder, pointing to the errors as proof he was making it all up as he went along. Mr. Hall said he was relying on media reports and details provided by the actual killer — he said it was Mr. Jacobson, aided by Scarborough gang members — to create a convincing story.

But Mr. Murray urged the jury to consider how many of those details Mr. Hall got right — especially details only someone who was present the night of the murder would know.

"If you find he was telling the truth to the undercover officers... you can convict Mr. Hall on his own words," Mr. Murray said.

Mr. Hall was able to relate exactly how the killing — Mr. Murray repeatedly labelled it "an execution" — occurred, the prosecutor said.

On the tapes, Mr. Hall tells how he sat in the getaway car while Mr. Jacobson waited for Mr. Jones to come home from work on a cold winter night. He related how Mr. Jacobson came out of the darkness as Mr. Jones approached his family's home on Twilley Lane and fired two shots, then chased him down and fired three more shots into his back and head.

"He really describes the killing in intimate detail," Mr. Murray said.

And while he didn't pull the trigger, Mr. Hall is equally guilty of first-degree murder, the Crown asserted.

A finding of guilt on the first-degree murder charge would bring an automatic sentence of life in prison with no possibility of parole for 25 years.

Superior Court Justice Donald Ferguson was to begin today giving his charge to the jury, after which they will retire to start deliberations. The jury is to be sequestered until they arrive at a verdict.

Mr. Jacobson, who was being tried along with Mr. Hall when this case began with jury selection in March, had his case severed in early October; he faces retrial with a new jury in the new year.

Mr. Jacobson is scheduled to make a court appearance next week as the process of setting his new trial date begins.

Honour our veterans in the best way possible

Remember their sacrifice always

So much history and still so much being made. As Remembrance Day arrives tomorrow, it's a time to honour all who've fought so hard to help build the great country we are today, but it's also a time for intense pride. Pride in the leading role Canada has played in conflicts around the world through our history. Canada's veterans and track record in world affairs are second-to-none.

Our troops have done all Canadians proud over and over again, be it through our significant contributions to war efforts, or our on-going peacekeeping work that continues to put so many Canadians in danger. We're recognized internationally as peacemakers. Remember, our military personnel are always involved somewhere in the world. The recent tragedy aboard the HMCS Chicoutimi served all too well to remind us of the real and ongoing danger.

Those who have served and those currently in the service know a danger greater than any of us could conceive.

So, as we stop tomorrow to reflect, to remember our war veterans and the many Canadians still stationed around the world, it's important we all make a conscious effort to ensure this isn't the only time in the coming year that we honour our soldiers for offering the ultimate sacrifice, themselves.

Pickering-Scarborough East MP Dan McTeague, is calling for Nov. 11 to become a national holiday so we can properly honour our heroes each November. The idea captures what many people feel.

The news comes at a time when recent polls show a troubling trend of Remembrance Day taking on less and less importance in the lives of Canadians.

The farther away in years we get from the world wars and the more detached many get from the reality that the spectre of war directly impacts us, despite it looming large around us, the more important it is that new generations remember.

So visit a cenotaph tomorrow, or stop by your nearest Legion branch and ask to hear more about our history. Thank a veteran for giving so selflessly. Help our kids learn and understand too. You may be surprised by what you discover or forgot you knew.

Make a commitment this Remembrance Day to honour, on a regular basis, all Canadians who've fought for our freedom. Remember.

Now on to the job at hand for Dickerson

The campaigning's over and the votes counted, so now comes the hard part for Doug Dickerson.

The residents of Pickering Ward 2 selected Mr. Dickerson as their choice in Monday's byelection, deciding his political experience will best serve them at the council table. As a former councillor, Mr. Dickerson won't have the learning curve for municipal policies and procedures, but he'll have to be up to speed on several key issues that matter to Ward 2 and the city as a whole.

With just over two years to go in the term, a quick and seamless transition is needed as the debate over nuclear alerting systems and traffic concerns rise to the surface in his ward, and the City and Province continue to spar over the Duffins Rouge Agricultural Preserve lands. And those issues are just at the top of the agenda.

However, given Mr. Dickerson's background, we expect the leap will be smooth. It's time to get to work.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Eye-care funding decision shocking

To the editor:

I am an optometrist who has practised in the Pickering area for the last 20 years. I am writing to express my shock and concern with how the Ontario government has decided to deal with eye-care funding.

After 15 years with no funding increase, we have found ourselves barely able to provide the required level of care to our patients. With increases in overhead costs, and advances in technology, my profession is in crisis.

Along with many patients being de-insured, we are forced to accept no increase in funding for seniors and only a tiny change for health-related exams. This will further erode our ability to cover our overhead, leading to further deterioration in service and waiting times for care. The government has shown complete contempt for my profession, with no negotiation or consultation since the budget.

Meanwhile, medical doctors have been given a substantial raise.

This can only have a negative impact for all concerned.

Susan Leet O.D.

What goes around comes around

To the editor:

Re: 'Pickering sits out,' Nov. 5.

It is with particular satisfaction that I read Pickering council has decided not to attend anymore meetings regarding Seaton.

Council has finally figured out that even though they are invited to the meetings, they are not part of the decision-making process. My satisfaction stems from the realization that council now knows how many constituents feel after being shuffled to ineffectual stakeholders meetings. These meetings listen to and then ignore input.

Council now knows how frustrating it is to be locked out of the process. Mayor Dave Ryan now realizes how it feels to be ignored by those who should be listening to citizens' concerns.

Council should now know why the voting public is so hardened to the political process and would rather go to the dentist than vote. At least at the dentist you accomplish something.

I represent Pickering on the Greater Toronto Airports Authorities' Pickering Advisory Council. For four years I have been attending monthly meetings, and never have I been called upon to report to council, even though I have offered to do so several times.

Why? Because the City, the GTAA, and I know that this is an exercise.

At the end of the process, the GTAA will be able to say it held public meetings. The fact it didn't listen does not matter.

Well, council got a dose of its own medicine and thankfully found it bitter. Hopefully it will reflect on this experience and adjust how it receives input into local issues. Perhaps this slap is what was needed to open its eyes and our system to true representative government.

Now that the shoe is on the other foot Mayor Ryan and council, how does it feel?

Action figures reveal total idiocy

I recently read, with slack-jawed amazement, about a toy manufacturer in the Excited States who has just come out with a new line of action figures for kids. This moron has created dolls in the exact likeness of the elite SS soldiers of the Totenkopf Division, a fanatical group of butchers who served as guards at the Dachau death camp. The dolls come complete with full black uniform, including the trademark Death's head insignia on the cap, a gas mask and a Walther pistol.

When questioned as to whether this might be a trifle insensitive, considering the six million Jews who were exterminated by such soldiers, the toy manufacturer/idiot replied blithely, "We picked them because they had the coolest gear. It makes for a cool figure."

Yeah, I guess he's got a point there. I'm sure that was probably the last thing on a lot of Holocaust victims' minds too as they were herded into the showers or made to stand naked in the snow before being shot. "Wow. Cool uniforms."

The toy dolt dug himself into a deeper pit of stupidity when he commented further that: "There's really no harm

Neil Crone enter laughing

in it. We won the war. We already know the outcome."

Would you not love just five minutes with this clown? It boggles the mind. How, in this day and age, does a person of such astonishing ignorance reach adulthood? With a brain so tiny, the odds are excellent that at some point in his earlier years he would have found a way to kill himself. A cereal spoon in his eye perhaps, or a giddy desire to play with those big white bears at the zoo. Or leaping off the condo balcony with a dishtowel cape on his back. Darwin is spinning in his grave I am sure.

The truly sad thing about this is that the Holocaust and the death camps are not ancient history. There are still many thousands living with tattooed arms and hands.

Can you imagine the pain, the unspeakable anguish of the Camp-surviving grandmother or grandfather who comes upon this atrocity while innocently shopping for a grandchild's birthday or Hanukkah gift? Do you expect that he or she will simply chuckle and wave a dismissive hand at the thing? "Oh gosh. I remember those kooky Nazis. Well, no harm done I suppose. We won the war, after all. Pity about those cool uniforms though."

There is an old adage that goes something like this: Those who forget their history are destined to repeat it. It has only been 60-odd years since the atrocities of Dachau, Auschwitz, Birkenau and the like. A very, very short span in the big picture. It saddens and terrifies me that there may be more like this simpleton toy manufacturer out there. What's next? 9/11 action figures? Al-Qaida martyrs that come with a box-cutter?

This Remembrance Day, please stop, sit, be still, remember and, for the sake of all of us on this beautiful green globe, learn.

MAY WE ALSO REMEMBER THE WOMEN

Each year on November 11, we celebrate Remembrance Day. It's a special time to pay tribute to the thousands of Canadians who served overseas during various historical battles. It's also a time to honour the thousands of soldiers who lost their lives as well as those who returned home injured and scarred by the horrors of war for life.

women who served in the Canadian Army. They had to fight against the extra battle of prejudice. Thousands of women served overseas providing essential services to ensure successful operations, such as range finding, tracking, vehicle maintenance, and office or kitchen duties. They served their country with as much dignity and courage as any other soldier. Of course, we must also remember all the women who stayed behind to work in the war factories here at home. History shows us that all mothers, widows and orphan girls sacrificed greatly during the war.

This Remembrance Day, let's also make room for these women in our thoughts and prayers.

REVISITING THE PAST

It is difficult for those of us who have only known peace to truly understand the horrors of war and to appreciate the level of sacrifice that make during the armed conflicts in which Canada has participated. Yet every November 11, we have an opportunity to honour the memory of these courageous men and women who paid with their lives in their struggle for the peace we all enjoy today. Remembrance Day is a time for all of us to pay tribute to these men and women by observing a moment of silence and to learn from this painful past.

fought, this memory will be all the more real. But since not all of us have access to such first-hand information, the next best thing could be taking your family to one of the nearly 3,500 commemorative monuments that are scattered across the country. The Organization of Military Museums of Canada also organizes many interesting exhibits to help us understand the countless challenges that surrounded the major wars. Visiting your municipal library or video library can also provide a wealth of historical information.

Movies, books, monuments, museums... there are many sources of information available to help us remember those who gave their lives in the name of peace.

This annual day can be a perfect occasion for you to introduce your children to our nation's past. For those who have the opportunity to spend time with a war veteran or to visit some of the locations where some of the major battles were

As you can see, there certainly is no lack of information. It's up to us to take the time to remember this part of our collective history. It is only by remembering the past that we can truly appreciate the present.

Durham submits $440,250 GeoSmart application

DURHAM — The Region is asking for $440,250 from the Province's GeoSmart program, which helps municipalities with land-related information technology projects that improve community services and support development.

The application is looking for funding for four projects, a report to a recent finance and administration meeting said. One is to automate systems to help with land approval, development tracking and growth management. A Geographic Information Systems mapping program will give the public access to land information, including commercial and investment opportunities.

A third application will help the health department better manage the safe drinking water program, while the last will create an enhanced data warehouse. GeoSmart will pay up to 50 per cent of the project cost, and require that the project be finished within one year. The Region will fund $250,000,

Remembrance Day and Poppy Campaign

Ajax and Pickering are proud to salute their Veterans

Each year, an entire week is dedicated to honouring our Veterans. Veterans' Week 2004 and the 60th Remembrance Day since the end of the Second World War will be held this year from November 5 to 11.

This week is to thank Veterans of wars of the last century, peacekeepers and Canadian Forces Veterans. They are our national heritage of peace.

This year and every year we wear poppies to honour those Canadians who lost their lives in defence of our country. Lt. Chris Saunders and Corporal Jamie Murphy were two of those Canadians. Their tragic loss this past year reminds us all that risk, noble purpose and sacrifice are enduring realities for Canadian Forces personnel and their families.

Veterans Week is part of our never ending mission to thank the Veterans who stepped out of ordinary times to do the extraordinary and left our nation with an endowment of peace.

At Veterans Affairs Canada, nothing is more important than honouring and remembering those who served Canada. Recently, we followed the trail of one generation of Veterans who surrendered the comfort and safety of home to become exporters of peace and freedom 60 years ago. Across Italy, France, Belgium and Holland, we found witnesses to their courage, proof of their humanity, and monuments to their sacrifice. And most of all we found ourselves in the shadow that is forever cast by those who stood tall in the fight for freedom.

None stood taller than Smoky Smith. Smoky has always been one of a kind. Now he is also the last of his kind. The last living Canadian who earned the Victoria Cross.

Smoky and every other Victoria Cross recipient put their stamp on our history, and this year we put their history on our stamp.

The Ministers of National Revenue and National Defence together with Canada Post released two special edition stamps in honour of the 94 Canadians who earned the highest award for valour.

We point to their legendary courage as a portrait of thousands more Canadian Veterans who are themselves symbols of national pride, survivors of a national struggle and carriers of our national spirit.

For this Veterans' Week we have coined one more reminder of the price Veterans paid for the freedom we enjoy. The universal symbol of remembrance the red poppy made famous by John McCrae is now emblazoned on 30 million quarters.

Every Veterans' Week is a battle against the amnesia of time and a mission to remind all Canadians that we have reason to be proud of the achievements of our Veterans and reason to be humbled by the scale of their sacrifice.

The Town of Ajax salutes all the Canadian men and women who gave their lives for the cause of freedom and peace. We shall never forget their heroism and all they sacrificed on behalf of our country.

On behalf of Mayor Steve Parish, Ajax Council and all the residents of the Town of Ajax, a solemn thank you to those who risked everything so that we could continue to know the blessings of freedom.

LEST WE FORGET.

Ajax, Pickering shoppers can warm up winter

PICKERING — West 49 is teaming up with punk rock band Rise Against in this year's Annual Coats for Kids Campaign.

The campaign is running in all West 49 stores, with the local outlet in the Pickering Town Centre, and continues until Nov. 29.

Anyone bringing in a clean, insulated coat to a West 49 store will receive $30 off the purchase of a youth or adult coat in the store. The traded-in coats will then be given to youth shelters.

"We're hoping to collect over 2,000 coats nationally," said Cindy Mielke, director of marketing for West 49. "We are hoping that our collaboration with such a socially responsible band like Rise Against will encourage youth to get out and give this holiday season. We expect the chance to win a trip to see the band will also be a big incentive to donate."

People can enter the contest in-store while donating coats.

Conference fights breast cancer

In addition to the speakers, this all-day event will feature musical entertainment, breakfast and lunch, a fashion show by Jones New York and door prizes. Breast cancer pins and friendship pins will be on sale, with all proceeds going to the Canadian Breast Cancer Foundation.

Tickets are $100 plus GST, and include course materials, breakfast, lunch and a goody bag. Tickets can be purchased by visiting 112 Athol St., Suite 204B in Whitby, online at www.itsyourlife.ca or by calling 905-666-3145.

Durham Angels on top of the broomball world

DURHAM — The Durham Angels are the world champions of women's broomball.

The Angels, which includes four players from Ajax and Pickering, returned last weekend from the 2004 World Broomball Championships in Corner Brook, Newfoundland as the gold medalists.

The Durham Angels edged the Halifax Jaguars in the women's division gold-medal final 1-0 to remain undefeated throughout the tournament.

Four teams, all from Canada, competed in the women's division.

Sharon Topolinski, of Pickering, says the Durham Region entry was the same team that competes in the Cannington league each season. The Cannington team, however, did pick up three players for the worlds: one from Burlington and two others from Ottawa.

Topolinski says it was an incredible feeling to win gold in their first-ever trip to the worlds.

"It felt great. We never lost a game the whole time at the tournament," says Topolinski, who also plays in the longtime non-contact broomball league that is run out of Pickering's Don Beer Arena. "The people of Newfoundland were just great to us."

In the semifinals, the Angels defeated Ladies' Rock 6-1.

The Durham Angels finished 5-0-1 in round-robin play, defeating the Jaguars 3-0, the Atlantic Waves 2-1, Ladies Rock 2-1, Atlantic Waves 3-0, Ladies Rock 1-0, while playing to a scoreless tie with the Jaguars.

The 16-member Angels squad also included Karen Dyer, of Pickering, and Carla Barker and Heather Pankratz, both of Ajax.

Pickering petites power past Whitby

PICKERING — The Pickering Power CIBC petite 'C' ringette team skated past Whitby in league action last Sunday.

Pickering posted a decisive 8-3 win, powered by player-of-the-game Lindsey Shaver's two goals.

Other Pickering goal scorers were Bethany Porter, Rachel Jewson, Samantha Rogers, Krista Smith and Jessica Brown.

Goaltender Emily Jesson was superb, making several big saves.

Pickering's record now stands at 2-1-0.

[ Hockey ]

Panthers midgets earn three wins in league play

PICKERING — The Pickering Panthers midget 'AE' rep hockey team posted a 3-1 record in recent league play.

Although one of the wins against the Georgina Blaze came via forfeit, the Panthers continue to generate solid on-ice performances.

The Panthers clipped the wings of the visiting Innisfil Winterhawks 7-4 recently.

Brian Austin led the scoring with a hat trick, while Matt Evans, Damion Pavlidis, Derek Savoie and Scott Waters added singles.

Kyle Fredericks and Mike O'Sullivan recorded two assists apiece. Pavlidis, Evans, Dan Sullivan, Matt Raymond, Phil Pett and Adam Turi chipped in with singles.

David Tomei was stellar between the pipes.

In a battle with Pickering's other midget 'AE' entry in the league, the Panthers number-one squad fell 4-3 to Pickering number-two.

Although outshooting their rivals and taking a 3-1 lead into third period, Pickering number-one could not thwart the third-period comeback.

Bulging the twine for Pickering number-one were Shane Boyd, Pett, and Waters. Austin, Fredericks, Pavlidis, and Turi earned assists.

Goaltender Robert Morra faced 22 shots in net.

Pickering scored three first-period goals and then held on for a 4-2 victory over the Orillia Terriers.

O'Sullivan netted two goals, while Brandon Cleary and Turi added one each.

Tomei backstopped the club to the win.

Also contributing to the team's success are Michael Accettone, Zack Milcovich and Ryan Richard.

Ron Cleary and Craig Sullivan coach the team. Tom O'Sullivan is the trainer and Margo Sullivan the manager.

Lance Poole looks on dejectedly as the final seconds tick off on what was a season of highs, and some lows, for the Notre Dame Cougars. The end came with a 25-0 loss to the Pickering High Sports, although Notre Dame put up a solid fight, playing to a scoreless draw through one half.

Cougars bow out, but not without a fight

Notre Dame senior footballers end season with playoff loss

This is the last in a four-part series following the Notre Dame Cougars senior football team as it enjoys the ups and, perhaps, endures the downs of the high school season.

By Al Rivett
Sports Editor

AJAX — The curtain has fallen on the Notre Dame Cougars' football season.

It ended with rain-soaked and mud-stained jerseys; it ended in utter exhaustion and a measure of frustration, complete with sad faces, and downcast looks; it ended with a small, but resolute group of fans, including school principal Mike Bak, peering out from under umbrellas and hoods, trying in vain to keep the wet weather at bay. Unfortunately, it ended in a disappointing loss -- one with a zero attached to it. No points to speak of.

The Cougars' goal was modest at the beginning of their third season in Durham Region senior football — achieve their first ever post-season appearance in school history. They accomplished that, but, there was more to be achieved. Notre Dame head coach Brian Hughes refocused his charges on a new pigskin plateau -- playing for a LOSSA senior championship.

Entering their inaugural playoff game, the Cougars were hungry to play the spoiler's role, seeking to knock off a top-ranked and undefeated Pickering High School Trojans team in the West Division semifinal playoff game and thus creating a little more school history in the process. They were underdogs against their fellow Ajax rivals, to be sure, but they still liked their chances.

And, for a while in Thursday's post-season contest, it seemed possible. Playing in the most inhospitable weather conditions imaginable, in the driving rain and cold, the Cougars more than held their own, especially in the first half, when the squads engaged in a classic battle in the trenches.

The Cougars' defence did yeoman's work, keeping a top-drawer Trojans' offence parked in neutral and the game scoreless. Meanwhile, the Trojans did much the same, as Cougars' quarterback Chris Dahiroc was unable to get into a rhythm and running backs Cecil Cherrie and Shane Ridsen weren't allowed past the line of scrimmage on most offensive plays.

But, alas, it was a bridge too far. The fourth-ranked Cougars couldn't hold back the Trojans' tide. The host school scored 25 unanswered second-half points to secure a 25-0 victory.

The Trojans march on; the Cougars go home. Experience won out over the upstarts on this day.

The battle may have been lost, but a measure of respect was won. Respect that came in the form of praise from Pickering High coach John Martini. Following the contest, he gave kudos to the Cougars who made his Trojans earn their way to their next playoff date.

"They came out to play, they gave us a great first half. Our offence could not do anything against them," said Martini, the longtime Trojans' coach.

As well, game timer Stan Tzogas, a teacher at PHS and longtime wrestling coach, was impressed with the discipline exhibited by the Cougars and their coaching staff.

"They're a well-coached team," he said, following the contest.

Notre Dame's fate in the contest hinged on one play, one big play, breaking things wide open for the Trojans, but ultimately breaking the hearts of the Cougars.

Notre Dame's season ended with a valiant battle waged, but a loss nonetheless. It was their second loss of the season to the Trojans, both times unable to manage a single point.

Principal Mike Bak lent his support to the Cougars, braving the wind, rain and cold to cheer on his students.

A buoyant Cougars squad arrived at halftime brimming with confidence after engaging the Trojans in a half of scoreless football. It wasn't pretty — plenty of turnovers on both sides and the two offences unable to generate anything resembling a scoring drive — but a tie against the undefeated Trojans was, unto itself, a small victory for Notre Dame. Although standing out in the cold and wet, the Notre Dame halftime huddle is jubilant.

Although unstated, the Cougars can smell an upset. Chief among those leading the rally cry was wide receiver Akeem Foster.

"We've got them; we just have to keep fighting," he says, adding a few expletives for good effect, out of ear-shot of the coaches who had yet to gather on the field.

Hughes had something similar to say to his troops in his state-of-the-union halftime address.

"Now we just have to win a half of football. It's the whole ball of wax here," said Hughes to a semi-circled group of players. "We've got a chance. We asked you to give yourself a chance to win and you've done that."

Hughes points out that the Cougars' strong first half has robbed the Trojans of some of their pre-game swagger.

"They know they're in a football game. There's no more hopping and jumping around."

Hughes implores his players to keep away from retaliatory penalties that could loom large in such a close game. And, in doing so, he elicits a few chuckles.

"Don't give (the officials) any reason to flag us, don't give the white guys any penalties," says Hughes, who quickly corrects himself, "I mean the guys in the white sweaters. They're the hot heads. You saw it. We don't want any cheap penalties. Just walk away and leave the ball where it is."

The backbreaker for the Cougars comes on a broken play — one that has no business turning the tables against Notre Dame in an otherwise close, hard-nosed affair. But it did, nonetheless.

With the Trojans punting on third down at about the Notre Dame 40-yard line, the snap sails over the head of the Pickering High punter. He calmly picks up the errant ball and takes off up the left sidelines. One tackle missed, two, three, four Notre Dame tacklers seem to slide off the ball carrier and fall to the wet turf. When the whistle blows, a broken play was turned into a Trojans' first down inside the Notre Dame 20. Two plays later, running back Troy Seivwright-Adams takes the ball cross-field into the end zone.

The tide has effectively turned in favour of the Trojans and they know it.

Andrew Collymore leads the Cougars off the field for the final time this season.

Trojans' defence grounds Eagles in Durham football semifinal

St. Mary Monarchs trim Dwyer in other LOSSA senior semi

By Al Rivett
Staff Writer

AJAX — The Pickering High School Trojans' defence proved far too formidable for the visiting Eastdale Collegiate Eagles in Durham Region senior football semifinal action on Tuesday afternoon.

The Trojans rode a rock-solid defensive performance to a decisive 30-0 victory over the Eagles, who were simply overmatched by the Trojans, who remain undefeated thus far at 6-0. In fact, the Pickering High defence allowed only two Eastdale first downs the entire game.

The Trojans move on for a rematch against their main LOSSA nemesis, five-time Lake Ontario Secondary School Athletics (LOSSA) champion St. Mary Catholic Secondary School Monarchs of Pickering in the senior football final at the Oshawa Civic Stadium on Saturday at 1 p.m.

The Monarchs earned an opportunity to compete for an unprecedented sixth LOSSA senior football crown after upending the undefeated Monsignor Paul Dwyer Catholic High School Saints of Oshawa (5-0), 24-8, in the other semifinal contest in Oshawa, also on Tuesday afternoon.

The Trojans received another in a long line of outstanding defensive performances that completely shut down any semblance of offence from the visiting Eagles. The defence picked off several passes and caused fumbles to give the offence good field position throughout the game.

"Our defence was really aggressive.

We had them scouted fairly well. I thought our team defence was the difference. We had pretty good pursuit," said Trojans head coach John Martini.

Eastdale head coach Tim Wortman concurred that the Trojans' defence dictated the outcome of the contest.

"By far, we've played the best football teams in LOSSA, we've played Dwyer, we've played (St.) Mary, and they're by far the best team," said Wortman. "This is a physical football team."

The Trojans had some initial trouble on offence, allowing a 50-yard gallop by running back Adrian Charles to go for naught. Pickering High failed to punch the ball into the end zone from the 10-yard line, allowing the Eagles to take over on downs.

On the next defensive series, Dylan Lock picked off an errant Eagles' pass, putting the Trojans' offence back on the field at Eastdale's 30-yard line. The Trojans would make no mistakes this time, as Charles carried 27 yards for the major. Kicker Mohammed Khawaja was good on the convert for a 7-0 Trojans lead.

Also in the first quarter, Trojans' Adam Brown picked up an Eastdale fumble at the Eagles' 25-yard line and rumbled down to the eight-yard line. Two plays later, running back Romel Reid took it in from the one-yard line. A Khawaja convert put Pickering High ahead 14-0.

The Trojans' first-half lead was quickly added to early in the third quarter. The Pickering High defence caused another fumble, taking over at the Eagles' 15-yard line. From there, Trojans' quarterback Darren McCloy floated a pass to Shawn Walker in the middle of the end zone for the third Pickering High major. Khawaja nailed his third convert of the game for a 21-0 lead.

On Pickering High's next offensive series, McCloy hooked up with Troy Seivwright-Adams on a pass-and-run play covering 50 yards for the score. Khawaja added his fourth point-after for a 28-0 Trojan advantage.

The final Pickering High points were put on the board, courtesy of a conceded safety by the Eagles late in the third quarter.

Meanwhile, in the St. Mary-Dwyer semifinal, the Monarchs led 3-0 after the first quarter on a field goal by Erik Glavic. The Monarchs would extend their lead to 10-0 in the second quarter after Glavic picked off a Dwyer pass and ran it back for the touchdown. Aaron Racioppa booted the convert. Racioppa would later score St. Mary's second touchdown of the game to put them ahead 17-0.

In the third quarter, St. Mary line-backer Ben Schembri recovered a fumble in the Dwyer end zone to give his team a 24-0 lead.

The lone Dwyer touchdown came in the fourth quarter on a quarterback keeper play by Kyle Amorim. Albert Ng added a two-point convert to end the scoring.

St. Mary head coach Enzo Antonucci noted the key to the victory was making several adjustments during the course of the game.

"We put in a few new plays, a few new defences. We just made the adjustments to their offence and it worked," said Antonucci.

NOTES: In their only other meeting this year, the Trojans blasted the St. Mary Monarchs 41-7 late last month... Trojans' running back Adrian Charles didn't play much beyond the first quarter of Tuesday's semifinal against Eastdale, owing to the lingering effects of a leg injury suffered last month against Dunbarton...

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

durhamregion.com

A Taylor made debut

StoneCircle Theatre bursts onto the stage for the first time tomorrow night

By David Stell
News Editor

AJAX — When it comes to 'Rita Taylor,' it's a question of whether art is imitating life, or vice versa.

One thing's for sure though, the play, a story Ken Bond began writing back in the mid-1990s, was ahead of its time. One of the founders of the StoneCircle Theatre, as well as director for the play, Bond laughs at the irony of all the make-over cosmetic surgery shows on TV today that share so much of the same underlying themes his story portrays.

Chosen as the first production of Durham's newest theatre group, the play centres around its lead character and a life-changing moment when her hand develops webbing. However, that's not as strange a circumstance as what Rita encounters when she goes to a plastic surgeon and finds a cast of misfits in the waiting room, each with their own strange idiosyncrasies.

"It's an ensemble piece," Bond says. "Each character has their secrets we learn as the play goes on."

And with demanding character roles, it was crucial Bond says to find the right cast. In the case of the lead, he knew fairly quickly he had his woman.

"When I saw Gillian (Woodhouse) audition, it was 30 seconds and I knew," he says.

He explains the role is very demanding.

"It was crucial to have the right actor to portray the central character, plus an alter ego and have them as two distinct entities."

Bond's play has been produced two times previously, the first in 2002 and again last year in Tottenham, but he didn't get to see that show. He's happy he didn't now, because it may have affects his view and vision of the play, he says.

And now in rehearsals for the StoneCircle production, which opens tomorrow night, he says it's come together to be what he originally envisioned it could be.

The secret ingredient has been the actors, he admits. That's been the most rewarding part of getting the first show off the drawing table and onto the stage, despite a lot of work behind the scenes with Woodhouse and Dave Edwards in the past year, creating the StoneCircle Theatre. The cast is outstanding, he says, and has led to a rewarding experience.

"The character development has been great," he explains. "They're all very supportive of each other. Theatre is very much about trust."

The play's cast is rounded out by actors from all over Durham Region, with those from Oshawa, Whitby, Ajax and Pickering involved. They are Woodhouse, Edwards, Carol Smith, Nancy Palumbo, Gwen O'Regan, Stephanie Banning and Paul Love.

Now that they've come this far, his wish is that the actors he's assembled get the audience they deserve. He points to how much a show can be elevated when the audience is into the performance. Actors feed off that and it can create a special atmosphere between the two.

The experience hasn't been without challenges, however. Sharing the venue with the Ajax Creative Arts has meant living with a roommate in a way and the group was unable to set up too far in advance because of an art show this past weekend that took up the entire building.

Still, that hasn't dampened the mood at StoneCircle.

They have adapted and created the set off-site for the most part and had everything ready to go once the art show was complete.

Rita Taylor runs Nov. 11 to 13, 18 to 20, and 25 to 27 at 8 p.m., along with Sunday matinees Nov. 14 and 21 at 2 p.m.

StoneCircle Theatre is at 22 Sherwood Rd. in Pickering Village, Ajax. Tickets are $18 each and can be ordered by calling 647-895-2015.

Daniel Wyse, left, as Raymount Pumphrey and Jackie DelGreco, right, as Senora Valdez, are shocked at what's happening during their stay at a hotel, while Jacqueline Mead as June Sherwood, looks on in 'Bottoms Up', the latest production of Herongate Barn Theatre. The comedy is now on and runs until Dec. 19 with evening performances and one matinee planned.

Bottoms Up at Herongate a cause for laughter

PICKERING — Herongate Barn Theatre's latest show, 'Bottoms Up,' hit the stage Nov. 5. 'Suitcase, suitcase, who's got the suitcase?' is the question that sends an earnest aerobics instructor, two money launderers, a movie director and outraged moralist, a nervous chemistry teacher, a hotel owner and her sticky fingered nephew into a frenzy over a suitcase full of cash in their Caribbean island hotel. The show boasts bizarre disguises and a silly looking aerobics dance. "Improvisationally hilarious" says Steve Graham, Herongate owner and manager, in describing the show. The play stars Uxbridge's Grant Evans as the porter, while Jackie DelGreco is Senora Valdez. Also in the cast are Jacqueline Mead as June Sherwood, Jonathan Aiken as Smith, Andreas Schunk as Tony Scopec, Margaret St. John-Francis as Victoria, Paul Francis as George Rushmore, Jeremy Lapalme as Keith, and Daniel Wyse as Raymount Pumphrey. The show is directed by Ann Ward and written by Greg Kreutz. Performances run Thursdays to Sundays, beginning with dinner at 6 p.m., from now to Dec. 19 and New Year's Eve. A matinee performance is scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 21. Tickets are $44.95 Thursday, Friday and Sunday and $49.95 on Saturday, with group rates available as well. The dinner theatre is at 2885 Altona Rd. in Whitevale. For more information, call 905-472-3085.
