PICKERING post

by David Cox
Pickering Citizens for Energy estimate that residents could save an average of $220. for an all-electric home in Pickering if the Town had its own Hydro Commission.
In a presentation to Pickering Council Monday night PCE spokesman Mr. Mike McPharland suggested that the working committee of the PCE should join with members of Council in preparing a brief to be presented to Minister of Energy Ruben Baetz to support Council's attempts to have a Pickering Hydro Commission formed.

Ajax, Oshawa and Whitby have their own Public Utilities Commissions but Pickering's hydro is overseen by Ontario Hydro.

Pickering Citizens for Energy represents the community associations of East Shore, West Shore, Rouge Hill, Glengrove, Glendale and West Rouge.

Mr. Doug Dickerson speaking for the PCE told Council that a Hydro Commission rather than a Public Utilities Commission should be set up in Pickering, and that the request for a feasibility study could be submitted to the Minister by the end of this month. A Hydro Commission would be different than a PUC in that Hydro Commissioners would be directly elected.

Mr. McPharland said that the PCE committee advocates community participation in the issue, and he suggested that a meeting with Durham West MPP Mr. George Ashe be arranged as soon as possible.

Mayor Jack Anderson said that he has been approached for a meeting, and he has been told that the Province wants to do a study of the entire Region. Pickering's needs would have to be considered in the light of energy policy for the whole area, it cannot be dealt with in isolation according to Provincial guidelines at the present time.

Councillor Don Kitchen said that it would be necessary for the Province to bend these guidelines in order to establish a P.U.C. in Pickering. Such action would have to be discussed at length by the Town and the Province. Kitchen said that the capital outlay to establish a P.U.C. in Pickering would also have to be considered as a part of any move towards local control of hydro.

He supported the P.C.E. initiative, saying, "Often when there is a large group before Council it is for a negative reason, but when it is positive this is very encouraging."

Honours

Andrew Collie received honours from Pickering Mayor Jack Anderson Monday night for his achievement with the St. Andrew's Soccer Club.

The team won the national Soccer Title for 14 year old boys in Vancouver in the Fall of 1977.

a page for expression for you and us . . .

Agony

Everyone at the North York Board of Education this week was in agony at the tough decision required. The board declared 184 public school teachers surplus.

Certainly the fired teachers are distressed when their careers are suddenly terminated. Some of the parents are unhappy because a favourite teacher will no longer be in their school next term.

And the school trustees have had to face up to the economic realities - there are less and less children to teach and less available money to pay out for educational costs.

These are tough economic days and unfortunately some people are required to face these problems and others will face them at a later date.

The parents and teachers at the Monday meeting are unhappy, probably, with the decision of their school trustees. But there is no way that the board can carry out some of the suggestions presented. For example, a Victoria Village group argued that it was preferable to pay teachers to teach than to pay them to do nothing on Unemployment Insurance.

This kind of argument doesn't face the reality of today. A teacher - or anyone - and plenty of other professions and trades have the same problem - must decide whether there is a future in education for him or her. This may be the time to switch occupations. It has been done many times, and sometimes to the advantage of the person involved.

Forecasters told us many years ago that we all might be required to have two or three careers as technology changed the life style. A slow down in births has precipitated this crisis for teachers.

Post war babies created huge financial problems in our society in the attempt to train and educate them all. The same postwar babies have decided not to produce many children resulting in the decline of teaching jobs.

An Open Letter

In recent weeks, the "Letters" column of our local newspapers have devoted quite a lot of space to the Scarborough Board of Education's purchase of an outdoor education facility. All too often, the opinions expressed in these letters are based on erroneous or misleading information produced by sources other than the Board of Education and its officials.

There are, however, some facts which are indisputable. For example, Scarborough taxpayers interested in the cost of education should know that the educational mill rate rose by just 3 percent in Scarborough this year. That is well below the current level of inflation and certainly indicates that educational spending is under strict control.

Another concern has been that taxes in Scarborough will increase in the future because of this purchase. Those who make this argument ignore the fact that the Scarborough Board of Education does not tax Scarborough residents directly; rather, the Board receives its funds through the Metropolitan Toronto School Board, which levies taxes on a Metro-wide basis and distributes funds according to very specific formulae. The Metro School Board will not give Scarborough extra funds (that is, will not raise taxes) to support our outdoor education facility or any supporting services. The Scarborough Board of Education will draw exactly the same number of dollars whether it keeps or sells the facility in question, and those dollars will be spent according to the Board's priorities, as set in each year's budget.

Interestingly, our Board is known across Metro as a frugal Board; in fact, not too many years ago we were severely criticized for returning $1.7 million to the Metro School Board. This year, the Board has once again indicated that it intends to scrutinize all budget expenditures and to keep costs under the tightest possible control.

Some letterwriters have expressed the opinion that we should use existing facilities, such as those provided by the Metropolitan Toronto and Region Conservation Authority or the Metro Zoo. We are using, and will continue to use, these facilities, since they play special and unique roles in our overall outdoor education program. The recently-purchased facility is intended to replace that part of our residential program now run at private camps and to extend this program to those students who cannot be accommodated at existing or planned facilities. In addition, because we are not concerned with making a profit, we will be able to run our facility at a lower per pupil cost that we now pay to private operators.

There is one other "safeguard" for taxpayers who are concerned that the costs of our outdoor education facility will be greater than predicted and will, in effect, "steal"

Battle Plan by Bob Watson

From events which occurred this week we have projected our mind back to a few days ago and visualize that this sort of dialogue might have taken place in No. 4 Traffic of No. 41 division Metro Police in Scarborough.

Sgt. Tough in charge of radar devices (can't use that bad word "trap"): "Ok men, the figures are in and traffic accidents in the borough of Scarborough were up last year. We have to do something to get them down."

PC Murphy: "Gee, sergeant, why don't we do what we do every year - go out with our radar units and issue tickets for speeding, and keep doing it until the motorists give up accidents?"

Sgt. Tough: "Great idea - actually I had thought of that idea myself."

PC Jones: "But what about those rat finks who flick their lights and use CB radios to tip off unsuspecting speedsters, so we can't catch so many?"

Sgt. Tough: "Jones, I'm surprised at your question. You know that we always place our radar traps . . . er ah . . . devices . . . in lonely stretches of road, behind signs, behind fences, out into school yards, in private driveways - or any other spot so that those suckers are unaware of our presence."

PC Jones: "But Sgt. quite a few of those we capture say that our tactics are unfair and we only get businessmen and housewives and never seem to get those wild teenagers who take corners on two wheels and speed across crosswalks."

Sgt. Tough: "Jones, the law says 50 km/h and we carry out the law. It doesn't matter how we do it. Every motorist we fine is a more cautious motorist."

PC Smith: "Maybe if we rode in the traffic, our presence would prevent wild drivers. I read somewhere that prevention is better than a cure for everything."

Sgt. Tough: "Nonsense Smith - you've been listening to those chicken-livered critics who keep screaming about justice and public relations. Don't believe a word of it. The public screws us all the time - griping about no hanging for murderers and letting rapists run loose while awaiting trial so let's give it to them all. Who the hell cares who we issue summons to. Get them all. Even if everyone in the public is against us, we have the uniforms and the muscle to do what we want."

PC Murphy: "What about going to accidents and robberies and those other criminal activities. Should we stick to our radar vehicles and keep those fines coming in?"

Sgt. Tough: "Of course, we've got to make these dumbes out there understand that we are the police and they are breaking the law. OK everyone, out in your unmarked cars and pick lonely roads - anywhere the motorist wouldn't expect to see us. Don't you get a real kick out of the expression on the faces of those people we catch? It's a great feeling of power."

We don't know if this kind of conversation took place, but the radar traps were out on McNicoll Ave. on Monday morning at 9:30 a.m. when the traffic is light and the pedestrians are all at work. The stretch between Victoria Park Ave. and Pharmacy Ave. is not marked, so it is 50 km/h (that's 32.5 m/h in real language). On one side of the street is a hydro right of way and no buildings. On the other side is the Medical Inn and a group of industrial buildings.

But Pharmacy Ave. is 60 km/h, even though it has a crosswalk to a Catholic elementary school. Why did the police officer sit in his green, unmarked car on the opposite side of the road on this lonely, high in safety factor street? He did it because by deception he could catch motorists breaking the speed limit.

Most of us who drive cars are expected to use our intelligence and brains to carry out our tasks each day. We suggest that these kinds of radar traps are an expression of unintelligent action, a poor utilization of police forces and a drain on the taxes and therefore the economic life of the community.

We need the police for anti-criminal actions, but we do not need surplus police officers to pick out of the way zones in which to use up their hours of work doing non-productive effort.

Think small

by Jim Smith

Politics and Fraud

If you deceive people to get their money, the law calls it fraud. But if you deceive people to get their votes, that's known as politics. The only real difference between fraud and politics is that it's often easier to con the voter.

Confidence men (and, in this age of sexual equality, women) play on the victim's willingness to be deceived. Greed is the con man's stock in trade. And nowhere is there more greed to be found than in the way Canadians regard government.

Canadians think of government as a cornucopia of free public benefits. Government is expected to provide pension benefits that exceed the actuarial value of the amounts contributed. Government is expected to provide income for unemployed workers who do not wish to work. Government is expected to provide education far beyond the level that is useful to society. Government is expected to provide bigger libraries, more art galleries, grants to opera, ballet and travelling rock bands and bigger, more lavish parks. Above all, government is expected to do all this for free.

The public hates to hear the truth. Politicians running on platforms of fiscal restraint have the same odds on survival as a mouse in a cat factory.

The best things in life may well be free - but they aren't provided by government. Only ten years ago, one-third of every dollar earned went to government; today, government grabs about 42 cents out of every dollar. Not only is government spending more; it's spending a larger share of what we earn.

The real costs are enormous. Private businesses have been absorbed by government. Workers know the state will keep them if they can't find suitable employment so business has trouble recruiting competent help. Higher taxes to pay for family allowances, pensions, health care and unemployment benefits lead to higher prices and wages as employers and employees struggle to protect themselves from shrinking profits and take-home pay packets; under these conditions, it doesn't take long for Canadian business to price itself out of world markets. Worse yet, the majority of government spending schemes are indexed so that costs increase faster than tax revenues. The federal deficit for the next year will be about $14 billion - and there's no relief from the deficit budgeting in sight.

Recently, the Canadian Federation of Independent Business submitted a brief on Canada's industrial future to the federal and provincial governments. The message was simple: Canada cannot become a strong industrial nation until all Canadians once again become more self-reliant, free from the dependence on government "gifts".

The unfortunate part of a welfare state is that adults as well as children believe in Santa Claus.

"Think small" is an editorial message from the Canadian Federation of Independent Business.

$40,000 In Grants To Two Toronto Alcohol Projects

Grants totalling $40,000 have been awarded to two Toronto alcohol programs, Health Minister Dennis Timbrell has announced.

Lifeline Foundation receives $15,000 and Matt Talbot House receives $25,000. The grants are for the period April 1, 1978 to March 31, 1979.

Lifeline Foundation, 25 Cecil St., operates assessment, counselling and referral programs for employees and their families experiencing alcohol and other drug problems within business and industry.

Matt Talbot House, Carlton and Parliament St., will operate a supportive community home for 20 alcoholics not in need of a structured rehabilitation program.

The Ministry awards grants-in-aid to alcohol and drug community projects throughout the province. For the fiscal period 1978/79, the Ministry has awarded grants totalling $148,600 to eight organizations providing alcohol and drug programs.

Applications for the deficit funding are reviewed each year by an inter-ministerial committee. Funding may be renewed for two additional years, dependent on attainment of the program's objectives and its ability to establish outside sources for future financial support.

funds from other programs. Outdoor education is not the only concern which attracts special interest groups to the Board and Board members must continually balance the demands of one group against all others. In recent months, the Board has heard delegations on such topics as special education, English-as-a-second-language, French, alternative schools, education for the gifted, physical education, Heritage languages and so on. In addition, each Board member has his or her own priorities for schools in his or her ward.

With all these conflicting demands on the system, does anyone really believe that any one aspect of education can monopolize the educational tax dollar?

In summary, then, the purchase of the outdoor education facility has not, will not and, in fact, cannot result in higher taxes. We will, however, be able to provide a better program to more students within the budget allocation provided by the Metro School Board.

I am very hesitant to publish this letter, since every time the Board makes facts and figures public, certain individuals misinterpret, misrepresent and distort those facts and figures to the extent that they are barely recognizable and explanations provided by the Board, which do not happen to suit these individuals' purposes, are conveniently ignored.

This small group will probably do the same with this letter, lifting quotations out of context and playing rhetorical games with phrases. However, we believe the vast majority of Scarborough residents will take a fair, objective look at this issue and will support a Board which has historically served them well in all aspects of education. It is to these people that I direct this letter.

M. Patricia Collie,
Chairman of the Board.

Alex T. Manikas of the services Association... was born in Greece... Mr. Manikas now lives in Scarborough with his wife Barbara and their two sons.

He has been chairman of HostEx, the Canadian Restaurant, Hotel-Motel Show for the past three years. HostEx is North America's second biggest showplace for the industry with over 850 booths displaying a fantastic exhibition of the newest products and services. HostEx '78 was held in Toronto recently.

CRFA recently changed its name from the Canadian Restaurant Association in order to more accurately describe the scope of the organization which includes not only restaurants, but national fast-food outlets, food services educators, suppliers and other affiliated industries. CRFA represents Canada's total foodservices industry with 30,000 outlets and more than half a million employees.

In these days of heavy government intervention in all forms of business, Alex T. Manikas says that individual business owners can only speak through their association. He wants to see more Greek restaurateurs become active supporters of the Canadian Restaurant and Foodservices Association.

Improved Federal Aid For Scarborough

The federal government has offered Ontario and other provinces a master funding agreement for community services and facilities that could help a growing community like Scarborough.

Federal financial aid should help hold down the local tax rate.

Martin O'Connell, MP Scarborough East (Lib.) said that the new federal grants program would apply to such Scarborough facilities as water and sewage systems whether in new or in existing areas.

For the first time, municipally operated social, recreational and cultural facilities could be included in the program.

Mr. O'Connell said that the federal grants could also apply for the first time to insulation for energy savings in municipal and community buildings.

The Scarborough East MP also said that federal aid under the master agreement would be available for recycling community waste and converting it into energy. O'Connell said he thought the help answered some of the needs of growing communities like Scarborough that are already heavily burdened with local taxes.

O'Connell stated that the new permanent program replaces three existing programs due to phase out in 1978.

An important advantage of the new federal program is that it will not be based on loans to local municipalities like Scarborough, but will be in the form of non-repayable grants.

Grants will not cover the whole cost of facilities. The budget of a municipality like Scarborough can be relieved annually and made more flexible because of the annual allocation of federal aid, provided the master agreement is in force. More jobs should result.

Moreover, according to Mr. O'Connell, the Province of Ontario will retain a determining voice over the kind of facilities that it wishes to see developed in municipalities under its jurisdiction.

Ontario will receive a block of funds. It must approve every project and can emphasize its own priorities. This is an example of decentralization without changing the constitution. It is a flexible approach made possible by the master agreement concept which leaves choices and decisions to the provinces and municipalities. They can decide whether the federal money is used to service new lots or build recreational facilities or recycle waste into energy and so forth.

The other good news, according to Mr. O'Connell, is that the present program of federal assistance for home ownership (AHOP) will be extended for the first time to buyers of used homes.

Details are not yet clear but they include the idea of lower than normal payments in the early years of a mortgage and larger than normal payments in the later years.

A large number of condominium units and townhouses have been financed under the federal Assisted Home Ownership Program. This program helps to keep the mortgage payments down to a level that persons with modest family incomes can afford.

About 4,000 AHOP homes have been approved in the past three years in Scarborough because of the policy of the government to assist people to own their own homes.

O'Connell said he hopes that the Ontario government will accept the new proposals. He says he fully expects Scarborough to benefit because of the urban growth problems it faces. "I wanted this kind of response from the federal government and I welcome it."

I represent one of the most rapidly growing communities in Canada and I believe that the federal government must assist in alleviating the problems that such rapid growth brings, even as it now assists with the problems of slow growth in other areas", stated O'Connell.

"The other aspect that pleases me," he said, "is that a way has now been found to provide help without intruding into the jurisdiction of other governments. They set their own priorities within very broad guidelines. This is a healthy development."

8 Borough Employees Get Diplomas

by Amanda King

Eight employees of the borough of Scarborough received Grade 12 diplomas Apr. 27 during a brief ceremony as part of a meeting of the Works and Transportation committee.

Both Mayor Paul Cosgrove and committee chairman Fred Bland congratulated the graduates, most of whom are with the Works Department and have served for a number of years.

The men were participants in an adult-education program held at Bendale Secondary School and supported strongly both by the borough and the Canadian Union of Public Employees.

Bendale Secondary School principal B. J. Giles addressed both the graduates and the committee just before presenting the diplomas, saying the men did "an excellent job".

"It's most difficult to go back to school after a long absence," Giles said.

Mayor Cosgrove told the graduates that Scarborough spends one-fifth of one percent of its budget on staff training, and implied that this is "a positive aspect of Council and staff, proper administration".

The graduates are Maurice Barron, Sanitation Services for five years; Lawrence Davidson, Street Operations for three years; Nunzio Goegan, Treasury, 15 years with Works; John Graham, Equipment and Services for nine and a half years; William Hampson, Street Operations for 25 years; James Taylor, Sanitation Services for seven years; Bryan Yule, Street Operations for three years; and Albert Barber, Treasury for three years.

400 Scarborough Students To Perform

One of the biggest concerts ever to be staged by the music department,

Lieutenant Governor Participates

The Hon. Pauline McGibbon, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, will be special guest on Sydney Zaidi's Scarboro Cable TV show 'People Participation' which will be taped on Fri. May 5 at 7 p.m. at the studio, 705 Progress Ave. The program will be aired at a later date.

Scarborough Board of Education will be performed on Tues. May 9 starting at 8 p.m. in the Mid-Scarborough Community Centre.

The concert, which will bring together the six all-Scarborough music groups and the majority of the schools' most talented music students, marks a rare occasion for the borough.

All-Scarborough concerts are such infrequent events that the last one was held in 1967 to mark Canada's Centennial.

More than 400 performers have been rehearsing for months in preparation for the concert, which will be performed by the Scarborough Schools' Concert Band, Concert Choir North, Concert Choir South, Concert Orchestra, Symphony Orchestra and Youth Choir.

Tickets for the concert are $2 each and can be obtained from participants or the Board's music department (438-7523) while the supply lasts.

Proceeds will help subsidize students attending the Board's 10th annual music camp from June 8-18 at Camp Manitou-Wabing near Parry Sound.

mothers, but to grandmothers, great-grandmothers, wives, favourite aunts, sisters, daughters-in-law, "other" mothers, and as one all-purpose card was inscribed, "To the one I love on Mother's Day".
Mother's Day greeting cards appeal to every taste. They are sentimental, funny, religious, decorated with flowers, animals and sometimes illustrations of harassed mothers; and offer a choice of verse, off-beat humour, and simple greetings.
But traditional cards remain most popular. The feeling appears to be, "you don't kid around" about mother.
Sealed greeting cards require only 12 cents postage to ensure they go by first class mail.

Many Ways To Remember Mother

Some people get the long distance feeling and call home on Mother's day. Others say "thanks Mom" with flowers on her special day, Sun. May 14 this year. Most will follow tradition by sending Mother's Day cards. The Greeting Card Association of Canada representing major card companies, estimates 10 to 12 million Mother's Day cards will change hands this year, placing Mother's Day fourth in popularity behind only Christmas, Valentine's and Easter in greeting card usage.
Inflation and unemployment usually give impetus to the greeting card business, the Association contends. Historically, people seem to need to communicate more in tougher times, and to show parents especially, how they feel about them.
A sampling of cards available in stores indicates Canadians send greetings not only to

Angry Exchange At Planning Board

by Amanda King
Scarborough Planning Board chairman John Larke angrily squashed a lawyer's allegation that Planning staff members attempted to go out of their jurisdiction in their consideration of a site plan application.

The lawyer, Mr. McDermitt, told Planning Board on Apr. 13 that staff's recommendation on the site plan presented by his clients -- Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Zurek and the architect, Stefan Sherbowich -- was "dictatorial".

"The staff has gone too far; they've attempted to take a small matter and blow it into something not in their jurisdiction," said McDermitt.

Larke angrily told McDermitt that he was "fed up with verbiage".

"Hundreds of dollars of staff time has been spent in advising your client, and you're not appreciative," said Larke.

The Planning Board chairman told McDermitt that so far there have been "a lot of works", and requested him to "get the facts" about the site plan in order to come to a compromise between his client and staff members.

The plan involves property on which there are already a one-story garage, one-and-two-story industrial building, and a small swelling. The site has a grade separation which is 20 feet high.

McDermitt said his client proposes to develop this grade separation into a natural access to a proposed upper story of an industrial building, but this would entail having loading doors facing Midland Ave.

to which staff objects. McDermitt claimed that staff's design would entail larger units which would be "difficult to rent" and "uneconomical" and not include a second story.

Planning Board voted to defer the matter until it looks as if a compromise of some sort can be reached.

Correction

In our last issue we incorrectly said that Raymond Moriyama was the architect of the new Bell Canada $10 million dollar Administrative Building to be located adjacent to the Scarborough Civic Centre. It should have read that Shore, Tilbe, Henschel and Irwin were architects, engineers and site planners.

Scarborough Board Of Control Notes

Scarborough Board of Control discussed the following items at a meeting held Apr. 26:

CHAPMAN HOUSE
The Board recommended approval of a request made by the Markham District Historical Society to move the "Chapman House" from its present location east of Midland Ave. between Passmore and Steeles Aves. to the grounds of the Markham District Museum.

The "Chapman House" is a small frame cottage which, according to the Scarborough Historical Society, is extremely rare and is believed to have been built around 1828. The move is tentatively scheduled for June 1, 1978.

OFFICIAL PLAN AND HISTORICAL BUILDINGS
A recommendation made recently by the Planning Board to preserve historical buildings by way of an amendment to the Official Plan should be reviewed again by the Planning Department, the Board of control has recommended to Council.

Objections to the proposal received from the Board of Education and owners of possible historical properties and buildings were a large influence in the Board's decision to recommend referral back to Planning.

1978 TAX BY-LAWS
The Board approved a change in the 1978 tax by-law providing for the payment of taxes for businesses to be made in one instalment rather than two.

All other tax by-laws remain essentially the same.

DECENTRALIZATION
A report of the City of Toronto Decentralization Committee, plus a number of recommendations considered by City Council, was received by the Board.

One of the recommendations calls for a policy favoring higher-density residential housing; the recommendation is being hotly contested by residential groups in Scarborough.

The Decentralization Report will be discussed at a public meeting to be held May 15.

Mayor Paul Cosgrove called the report "grossly inaccurate and an attempt to sabotage the Town Centre".

Want Former Mayor On Committee

Scarborough Board of Control decided Apr. 26 to recommend former mayor Robert W. White to the Committee of Adjustment to fill the vacancy created by the recent death of George Barker.

The recommendation went against Mayor Paul Cosgrove's suggestion that a woman be given first consideration for the position.

"It's a scandal that we don't have more women representing the borough," said Cosgrove when he made his suggestion that a list of female applicants for positions of Planning Board representatives be considered.

Cosgrove added that he "hoped we won't do anything but appoint a woman to the committee".

"If this is done I'll feel that I'll have accomplished something as Mayor," he said.

Cosgrove emphasized that he would like to see the prerequisite for the position as being "no men need apply". Controller Joyce Trimmer, however, protested that such an act would be against the law.

She was backed up by Controller Brian Harrison, who expressed the hope that "we won't appoint by sex rather than expertise".

"Robert White has the experience and expertise we're looking for in this position," he said.

Red Cross Forming Corps

The Scarborough Red Cross is forming its own Corps Detachment and urgently needs volunteer drivers for this service.

Corps is the transportation service of Red Cross, and uniformed volunteers take the handicapped to medical appointments, veterans on outings, and the aged to recreation.

Poetry Workshop In May

The next Poetry Workshop at the Albert Campbell District Library, 496 Birchmount Rd., at Danforth Rd., will be held on Mon. May 1, from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

In an informal setting, participants read their own work and others, discuss technique and make use of the library's resources and equipment. For further information, please telephone librarian Susan Seide at the library: 698-1194.

Selling Your House

by Lorlotte Deacur

HOW IS YOUR CLOSET SPACE?
Storage space is important to prospective home-buyers. (Even apartment-hunters look for it.) No one ever seems to have enough room for the things they have collected over the years. Everyone is looking for more closets, more cabinets. Do you have the space they seek?

You can increase the apparent storage space in your home -- without adding on rooms or building in closets. The trick is to make the space you have seem more spacious.

This is accomplished by eliminating clutter, crowded closets, and overstuffed shelves. You can make closets look bigger by giving the impression that you have plenty of room -- with space left over.

Now's the time to go through closets and clear out clothes that no longer fit, broken toys, appliances no one has used for five years. Old magazines can be tossed out, books given away. Get rid of what you don't need.

Organized closets look roomier. It's worth your while to invest in a few closet bags for out-of-season garments, neat bases for piles of sweaters or handbags. Hanger-spacers (very inexpensive) attach to closet rods and keep hangers from bunching up.

The garage should be cleaned out, too, and the workbench. You'll uncover good storage space and prospective buyers will see that your home has been owned by an efficient, neat householder.

There's another advantage to getting rid of excess clutter. Once the house is sold, you'll have that much less to sort, discard, pack, and move.

Bill Watt's World

ON STAGE: Any writer worth his salt will try to avoid the use of clichés. Sometimes however, it's not possible. Such is the case with Tribute, the Bernard Slade play which has just opened at the Royal Alex prior to Broadway. At long last, this reviewer has experienced a play that truly makes one laugh and cry at the same time.

The Tribute of the title refers to a theatrical testimony being tendered to Scottie Templeton who is dying. The guts of the play concern the efforts of Scottie to give some understanding of his life style to his straitlaced son. Whether he succeeds or not is left to the viewer to decide because as Templeton says, "There is no punch line", but throughout 7 scenes in 2 acts there is laughter and hilarity as well as pathos that never lapses into bathos.

As Scottie Templeton, Jack Lemmon delivers what just might be the performance of his career. He is at once charming, witty, annoying and an object of pity as he tries to cope with the spectre of a death that he does not wish. "I like it here!" he says plaintively.

As his son, Robert Picardo reminds one that "tense hair" is not the exclusive domain of the world's Felix Ungers.

Rosemary Prinz as his estranged but still loving and ardent wife is sensual and sensible at one and the same time and at all times desirable. It's a difficult role but she is more than capable of it.

A. Larry Haines as Scottie's manager and confidante is brisk, cheery and practical... the sort of boss everyman wishes he could have or be.

Catherine Hicks and Joan Welles as junior and senior ladies of the evening bring to their roles the right blend of humour and desirability that all hookers should have but few do. After all, who can make love to a sister?

Tresa Hughes as a crusty but humanistic doctor almost commands the stage in her appearances as she portrays a woman in command of herself and her profession but still a woman.

The setting and lighting are superb and the direction is crisp. In the final analysis however, the evening belongs to the brilliance of Bernard Slade for his humour and insight and to Jack Lemmon for bringing it to hilarious if sometimes painful life. In one memorable scene where Lemmon as Scottie weeps at his oncoming fate and then laughs at his own weakness, your reviewer merely wept. I was not alone.

But don't by any means go away thinking that Tribute is a tragedy or even a sad play. Far from it. It is a grand and glorious evening of theatre as it was meant to be. Do not deny yourselves the opportunity of seeing it if you can during its 4 week run at The Alex. You'll regret it if you do. I predict Tribute will one day be considered one of the great American plays. LAUDATION: By now it has been well and properly publicized that Ed Mirvish has become a producer as well as an importer of legitimate theatre. His opening productions (Uncle Vanya and Present Laughter) will mark the North American theatrical debut of Peter O'Toole. Full reviews and more info as and when.

For now, I want to talk about Ed Mirvish, the man. He is a rare combination of clever businessman and patron of the arts... graphic and performing. You knew that. You also know that he is a very softspoken, almost shy, man. Maybe you know that he is a gold medal dancer.

But, it seems to me that not enough has been said about what a remarkable well set up man he is. His grooming is impeccable and a match for his excellent taste in clothing. He is always well and properly dressed... so well indeed, that I regard him as one of the best dressed men in Toronto.

I once remarked that his wife is one of Toronto's most charming ladies. Together Anne and Ed Mirvish are one of Toronto's finest couples. And, if that reads like a fan letter, I don't care!

FASHION NOTE: The Tuxedo (which incidentally, is a dinner jacket) got its name when Griswold Lorillard made an appearance at the Autumn Ball in Tuxedo Park wearing a short jacket with satin lapels. Since then, the dinner jacket has always been called a Tuxedo or Tux. Now, in Toronto at least, that's changing. More and more, I'm complimented by people on my "Classy" and I'm certain that in due course, dinner jackets will become known simply as... Classys. That will be my contribution to the world of fashion lore.

UPCOMING: Millie Drain passes along word that this Saturday marks the 100th performance of Flicks at Old Angelo's and something special is planned for the second show of the evening.

CONGRATULATIONS: To Dick Kahn (I guess we have to call him Richard now) who has just been named as Senior Vice President in charge of Worldwide marketing for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. He will oversee the distribution and advertising of M.G.M.'s theatrical product in the U.S. and throughout the rest of the world.

FAST EXIT: Next time, we'll have reviews of The Mikado and H.M.S. Pinafore as performed by The D'Oyly Carte at The O'Keefe and of Peggy Lee appearing now at the Imperial Room. Is that all there is? Can there be more?

Cabaret--A Drama With Music

by Gordon Ashberry
CABARET, the final production of the season by the Scarborough Music Theatre, is a musical with a difference.

Based on the play "I am a camera" by John Van Druten and the stories by Christopher Isherwood, it portrays the mood of Germany in '29 and '30 when the first ominous rumblings of Hitlerism were to be heard by those who cared to listen. Unfortunately too many preferred to believe that it would all go away.

This is not the same script as the movie. It is more powerful. It is forceful and was clearly intended to have a political punch. The movie, though based on the play, became a vehicle especially adapted for the "talents" of Liza Minelli. You will find that in the play, "Sally Bowles" is one of the main characters but certainly not the whole story. The sad love story of Fraulein Schneider and Herr Schultz is much more poignant and touching and yet I can not recall it in the movie.

Much of the music is different. Again, special music was written for Miss Liza. But the original score is excellent. The title song "Cabaret" is in it, but it becomes more meaningful, in a dramatic sense, by placing it only at the end. This was Germany before the Holocaust. And for those of us who listened to the rantings of Der Fueher, as translated by H. V. Kaltenborne, on radio, it brought back sad and bitter memories. Retrospect provides 20/20 vision.

Opening night provided the usual problems, particularly in scene changes. Too bad the "boxes" had to be so heavy and bulky.

Overall the show is probably the best of the season. The acting was of a very high calibre. Better than one expects from a musical. Lawrence Elion as Herr Schultz, the Jewish shopkeeper -- "I understand the Germans. After all I am a German" -- whose engagement to marry was broken by Fraulein Schneider, played with understanding by Helen Wilson was a memorable performance. He reminded you of Ed

Wynn in his later and more dramatic roles. Winsome, sad, heart-rending, yet comic.

Nancy Vigiotti, in her first role with S. M. T., was just fine as Sally. Her American novelist lover, Clifford Bradshaw was played by a very handsome Robert Schmon. Schmon has the looks, the voice and the strong dramatic ability to make the character believable.

Plaudits should go to everyone of the 21 actors on stage and to Paul Fehely and his musicians. Alan Argue, who directed and staged this production did so with feeling and skill. His direction of the fight scene in the Kit Kat Club when Clifford is set upon by the young Nazi hoodlums was really great. Realistic and not stagy.

"Cabaret" continues Thursday through Sunday until May 11th at Playhouse 66. The Box Office number is 751-3659.

WEST ROUGE NEWS

by Lesley Cowell
DEDICATION

West Rouge Community Church will have a Dedication Service this Sun., May 7, at its new home at the north end of the Ravine Plaza. Rev. Sloss, District Superintendent of Missionary Churches of Canada, will be there to dedicate the new home and everyone is most welcome to come along. The ceremony will take place at 3 p.m.

GRAND OPENING

What a time in history to be alive!! I've never been so rushed attending Grand Openings of so many new places in my life! It's nice though to have new stores to browse around, although anyone who attended the opening of Shopper's Drug Mart probably hardly had time, not to mention room. However, there were certainly enough people on hand to try and help one find things and it was good to see the familiar faces from West Rouge still on hand to help us although at times they got sort of lost in between all those clean young men...it looked like a convention of up-and-coming trainee executives! Also, I can't remember that far back but I imagine it's the first time I've been handed a balloon before which may account for those remarks about my having entered my second childhood.

As the new stores open up in the Plaza, I only hope it doesn't mean a dearth of stores in the Rouge Plaza because it's still an easy place to walk to for a lot of residents.

EIGHTH ANNUAL ART SHOW

Tues., May 16, is the date for the 8th Annual Art Show at Grace Presbyterian Church beginning at 7 p.m. There will be, as usual, a good showing of various art work from painting to macrame with all sorts of crafts in between and I do urge you to try and attend. There is usually lots of work for sale and most reasonably priced as well, and who knows what Matisse or even a budding Henry Moore who must have started small we have in our midst?

Anyone wishing to show their work may call either Mrs. Hembry at 282-7189 or Mrs. Cairns, 282-9522 as soon as possible.

SOCCER BOOT EXCHANGE

West Rouge Community Centre, NOT Oliver Mowat, is the place this coming Sunday from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. when the Oldtimers' Soccer Club will be on hand to help with the juniors in their search for well-fitting soccer boots.

WEST ROUGE TENNIS CLUB

Junior Instruction begins at West Rouge Tennis Club this Saturday with Beginners from 9 - 10 a.m.; Beginners or Intermediates from 10 - 11 a.m. and Intermediates from 11 - 12 noon. The instruction continues through May 13 and 27. Do make sure that your children are on time for their classes as the Instructors will wish to start with a full group immediately.

VOLLEYBALL REGISTRATION

The above will take place at West Rouge Community

Centre this Sat., May 6 and also on Sat., May 13.

Registration fees are $7 per girl; $14 for two girls from the same family or $17 for 3 or more girls from the same family and this fee includes individual colour photo, team picture and T-shirt, plus the end-of-season Banquet.

Games are played at the Volleyball Courts at West Rouge Public School and matches are played Mondays and Wednesdays or Tuesdays and Thursdays if the regular evenings are rained out.

Centennial Rouge United Church

by Millie Hull

Sunday was a busy day! The Sacrament of Baptism was administered to Arthur Edward, son of Mr. & Mrs. Arthur Field, and David Peter, son of Mr. & Mrs. Peter de Jonge van derHalen. Also received by Profession of Faith into church membership was Christopher Coombs, and by transfer Mr. & Mrs. James Marshall. We sincerely welcome these new members and hope their stay with our church family will be a happy and rewarding one.

Rev. Hutton spoke about "Commitment to World-wide Involvement" in his sermon mentioning Evangelism as being the prime requisite of a Christian. Many people seem to be overwhelmed and unable to cope with modern sophistication. We must be realistic in a world that seems frustrated but doesn't know why. We should try to make things better for even though we may be able to live in today's world, what about those who follow after us?

purpose of the bill was to bring about improvement in the standards of health and safety in high hazard industries such as mining, milling, construction, industrial operations and logging.

The Bill maintained for workers in these industries the right to refuse to work where they have cause to believe that their health and safety is in jeopardy, without fear of reprisal from the employer. However, a provision was included that the employee would have to account for any such action that was found to be frivolous.

The Bill encouraged management/employee health and safety committees be established in all workplaces, and provided the Minister of Labour with the power to impose committees where it was found to be desirable, to ensure that management and workers cooperate in maintaining a safe work environment. Members of such Committees would be allowed to attend meetings of the Committees and carry out any duties (such as inspection of the workplace or investigation of an accident) at their regular rate of pay.

In dealing with high hazard industries, many other provisions were made in the original Bill 70, such as that all new construction, installation of machinery, and/or introduction of new processes, must receive approval from the Ministry of Labour to ensure the elimination of as many health and safety hazards as possible.

When the Minister introduced Bill 70 in October, the Legislature referred it to the Standing Committee on Resource Development for consideration and recommendation. During Committee meetings, members of the two Opposition parties joined together to amend the Bill to include "all workers" in the Province of Ontario. The Bill as amended by the Opposition parties, is to come back before the House for final disposition, at a time to be determined by the Government.

Including all workers under this legislation presents tremendous problems. The Bill was not designed for occupations such as firefighters, policemen, nursing and farming, to name just a few. However, the original Bill did allow for the eventual coverage of such occupations by regulation, or by appropriate parallel legislation after consultation with both employers and employees in each of the groups.

The Bill, as amended, clearly states that a "worker" may put down tools if he or she believes the workplace to be unsafe or unhealthy. Obviously the definition of a workplace can be said to be anywhere at or near where someone works, and similarly a worker would mean a person who is at a workplace for any reason in connection with his occupation.

As a result of the amendments introduced by the Opposition parties, questions must arise: could a fireman put down his hose because the scene of a fire was unsafe? could a policeman put down his gun because he considers a crime in progress could jeopardize his health? It may sound ridiculous, but it is precisely what the amendment proposed by both Opposition parties could ensure as a legal right.

Hospitals are now required by law to have Accident Prevention Committees, with broad representation from all areas within the hospital. The amended Bill would require each hospital to establish a health and safety committee for each area of the hospital with more than 20 employees, and to pay such committee members for the time spent in the execution of committee duties. This clause would cut further into the already strained hospital budgets.

Compared to workers in mines, heavy industry or chemical plants, school board employees have relatively minimal safety and health hazards in the workplace. Yet the Durham Board of Education has advised that under the amended Bill, they would require 53 health and safety committees, the cost of these to be financed totally from taxpayers dollars.

One must question whether Bill 70 is the appropriate Act to support the improvement of health and safety in these occupations.

We have three alternatives here. The Government of Ontario can agree to adopt the Legislation as amended by the Opposition parties, an action which the Government is reluctant to take; the Opposition parties can withdraw their amendment; or what was originally a good and progressive piece of Legislation can be left to die on the Order Paper. I would urge my constituents to write to the Premier and both Opposition leaders, expressing their views on this Legislation, as amended.

Must Be Reasonable Says Mayor Cosgrove

by Amanda King

West Highland Creek area residents must use reasonableness in their intended fight against proposals in the Metro Toronto Draft Plan calling for higher-density housing in Scarborough, Mayor Paul Cosgrove said Apr. 25 at the West Highland Creek Community Association annual meeting.

Cosgrove told over 100 residents at Highland Creek Public School that Metro Toronto pours money into the boroughs for transit and other services and is now concerned about "what they're getting for their money".

"Metro is starting to say that we can't have certain services because there are not enough people to make it cost effective," said Cosgrove.

Cosgrove added that Metro recently challenged a Scarborough plan because not enough people were involved to make it work.

"In all its 25 years as Metro, Metro has never had an Official Plan; they never had a keen interest in this kind of plan," the Mayor explained.

"Now with a $30 million sewage expansion and $108 million transit extension planned, Metro is a little nosy about what they're getting in return for all that money."

Cosgrove emphasized that the residents will have to look at "the reasonableness of Metro's position" even though the borough has asked the provincial treasurer to see that Metro does not change Scarborough's Plan to result in higher densities. "We want to make

Sun. May 14, is Family Day. Members of the Sunday School will be sharing in the service and the topic of the sermon will be "Can the Family be Saved?"

Sun. May 28 is our 87 Anniversary when Rev. Wallace Whyte of Melville Presbyterian Church will speak and special music will be provided by the Gospel "4" from Grace Presbyterian.

Fri. May 26 is the day of the U.C.W. Quilt Show. Admission is $1 and the display is open from 1:30 to 4 p.m. and from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

The U.C.W. Rummage and Bake Sale was not too well attended but the financial returns were good. Thanks to all who donated and all who purchased. We appreciate your patronage.

We look forward to seeing you at worship again next Sunday at 11 a.m. and for the coffee hour following.

Scarborough more self-sufficient but we need more transit, and Metro provides transit. We can't say no to everything," said the Mayor.

On the other hand, Cosgrove said emphatically that Scarborough's density is "not significantly lower" than what Metro is proposing.

"If we permit Metro to tell us what to do they'll do even more."

The Mayor urged all residents to show their concern for the proposed change in housing density by coming to a public meeting to be held May 15.

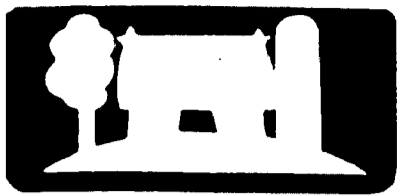

Alderman Doug Colling outlined the process of the Highland Creek Community Secondary Plan and told the residents how it relates to the proposals by Metro.

"The highest densities in Highland Creek are street townhouses at 15 units per acre; the vast majority of dwellings are single-family," said Colling.

The original secondary plan called for a planned population of 25,000 in the community. This was revised to approximately 15,000 and at present there are 13,000 residents.

Other changes in the community proposed by the secondary plan include having the multi-family zoning in commercial areas to prevent obnoxious uses, a new secondary school east of the golf course north of Ellesmere on vacant land, parkland in the ski hill area, and an underpass under Conlins Rd. to keep industrial traffic off residential streets.

This plan still has to be approved by the Ministry of Housing.

Join The Barbershoppers

Hey fella... do you sing in the shower... or sing-along with the car radio despite the funny looks you get from other drivers alongside you while waiting for the stoplight? Are you a bit of a ham and get a thrill out of being on stage?

Do you thrive on competition? If you can say "yes" to any of these questions, you're in luck! This is Barbershop Harmony Month and if you've never heard barbershop harmony, "You ain't heard nothin' yet" as Al Jolson once said.

The East York Barbershoppers, Canada's Ambassadors of Harmony, are inviting all men to come hear them sing and get acquainted with their kind of music.

This group of spark plugs have represented Canada at international competitions 12 times and are preparing to win against 14 other choruses this fall.

They want to go on stage with 100 voices and that's where you come in. They need more voices. This is

Scarborough Students Dig Unusual Summer Course

Scarborough high school students who like digging in and working hard will have a chance to do so at a special credit course in archaeology this summer from July 24 - Aug. 8.

The 16-day intensive course, which is worth a senior division credit, is held at a dig on the site of a prehistoric Indian society near the Boyd Conservation Field Centre, just outside Kleinburg.

There are 14 spaces reserved this year for Scarborough students who are now enrolled in at least Grade 10. The fee is $105 per student.

Any students interested in attending the residential course should contact their school guidance office for application forms. The deadline for receipt of applications in the guidance offices is Fri. May 12.

The unusual course, which is believed to be the only one in Canada where high school students can work on a dig, is being sponsored by the North York Board of Education in co-operation with the Royal Ontario Museum, the Metro Toronto Region Conservation Authority, the University of Toronto and Toronto-area boards of education.

Students attending must be prepared to spend long your opportunity to join a winner.

Go down to Harmony Hall, 2 Gower Ave., (West off Dawes Rd., south of St. Clair) any Thursday at 8 p.m. to enjoy the fun and fellowship of Barbershop Singing.

You don't have to be able to read music or carry much of a tune. You just "Gotta Wanna" and they'll do the rest.

Call Bill McBride at 759-9922 or Larry at 638-3057 for more information.

days packed with lessons on archaeological techniques, interpretation of finds, native history, ethnology, pre-historic economics and environment, bone study, native art and stone work. All classroom instruction and assignments are based directly on the excavation, where students will spend several days working under expert supervision.

"This course gives students the opportunity to really understand archaeology and to appreciate our native heritage in Ontario," said course co-ordinator Terry Carr.

Scarborough Recreation & Parks Committee Notes

Scarborough Recreation and Parks committee discussed the following items at a meeting held Apr. 20:

NO PARK

The committee concurred with a staff recommendation not to use any part of the St. Andrew's Anglican Church property - located near the intersection of Victoria Park Ave. and Highway 401 - as parkland.

The report by Parks Director D. R. Manning stated that Terraview and Willowfield neighbourhood parks are "adequate to serve the local area". However, the church property does have potential as a playground in connection with a church-operated nursery or summer playground, the report said.

ADVENTURE PLAYGROUND

Part of the funding for the purchase and installation of equipment for an adventure playground at Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic School should be provided by the borough, the committee has recommended.

An amount of $2,000 has been set aside. The total cost -- to be shared with the Metropolitan Separate School Board and Immaculate Heart's own school committee -- is estimated at $10,600. The proposed playground will be available also to children using Birchmount Park.

SUBDIVISIONS

The committee approved the parks dedication requirement being settled on a cash basis (in lieu of a neighbourhood park) for the following proposed subdivisions:

Heathcliffe Developments Ltd. for townhouses and duplexes on a .79 acre-site west of Birchmount Rd. and south of Kingston Rd.; Thornland Construction Ltd. for seven single-family dwellings in the Centennial/Lawson/Brumwell area; and Yellow File Investments Ltd. for a 109-unit housing mix on 11.67 acres on the corner of Midland and Passmore Aves.

PROJECTS FUNDED

The committee received a letter from Robert Welch, Minister of Culture and Recreation for Ontario, announcing that a cheque in the amount of $175,689.42 will be forwarded in about two weeks to fund a number of borough projects.

The projects under consideration include improvements and renovations to a number of athletic fields, arenas, tennis courts, and outdoor pools in Scarborough.

Whats New At The Library

The aim of the Scarborough Public Library is to keep abreast of the current interests and concerns of the public and to be a prime source of significant information.

Here are some examples of new material in the libraries pertaining to some of these issues: "The Life of the Harp Seal", the latest book by Fed Bruemmer, one of the world's greatest living authorities on the Arctic; and Fodor's Canada 1978 which supports the idea of our government to "See Canada First". "Resumes That Get Jobs", edited by Jean Reed, is a helpful publication as is "The Retirement Threat" by Rony Lamb and Dave Duffy, and "How To Survive Retirement in Canada" by Henry S. Hunnissett.

Books on child abuse are much in demand. Pick up a free listing of the related books called: Child Abuse. A Selective Annotated Bibliography.

Help Needed To Trace History Of Guiding

In two years the Girl Guides and Brownies of Cliffcrest District, Cedar Bluffs Division, Metro East, will be celebrating their 30th anniversary.

To celebrate this special event they are tracing the history of Guiding of Cliffcrest District Branch in Scarborough.

They are asking your help with this project. If you have any information, names of past guides, snaps or other mementos please send them to Mrs. Ruth Spencer, 21 Brooklawn Ave., Scarborough, M1M 2P3, District Commissioner, or Mrs. Ruth Kielley, District Guider, 83 Gradwell Dr., Scarborough, M1M 2N3.

	Finely chopped pecans or walnuts

For filling, combine cream cheese, cottage cheese, egg, raisins, lemon rind and 1 ml (1/8 tsp) salt.

For batter, sift together flour and 1 ml (1/4 tsp) salt. Stir in milk and eggs, beat until smooth.

Heat greased crepe pan or 18-cm (7 inch) skillet. Pour enough batter into pan to cover bottom. Cook until golden brown. Remove from pan and keep warm. Repeat making 8 pancakes. Divide filling among pancakes. Roll up folding in sides to make neat package.

Heat 30 ml (2 tbsp) butter in large skillet. Add blintzes and brown on all sides. Serve hot topped with sour cream, grape jelly and sprinkled with nuts.

The funds raised in the Lose-a-thon will be presented to Richard Middel, a M.D. patient representing the Association, at the Diet Workshop System's sixth annual May luncheon at the Holiday Inn downtown Toronto on May 25th.

May 7 Kids Day

This coming May 7 has been officially declared 'Kids' Day' at McDonald's, according to Ronald McDonald, the famous hamburger clown.

"We're having a special all day celebration in honour of children", declared Ronald, "and I hope all my friends will come - 'cos kids are people too, you know."

Starting May 1, special buttons with "I'm celebrating Ronald McDonald's Kids' Day" will be handed out, and on Sun. May 7, every kid under ten years old can come to McDonald's and get a free sample 2 oz. sundae and a trip to the 'Barrel of Fun' to select one of three special gifts from Ronald.

"What's more, you don't have to buy anything", said the clown.

One of Ronald's helpers said: "At McDonald's, we think kids are extra special - and we'd like to say Thank You to them".

Oscar de la Renta leaves his mark on this practical shirtdress with his skillful shaping of the blouson. The button front bodice has extended shoulders and sporty patch pockets. Pre-Season Lawn Mower

A well-maintained lawn mower will help reduce the frustrations and backaches that can make mowing the lawn a chore.

Ross Irwin of the School of Engineering, Ontario Agricultural College, says pre-season maintenance of the lawn mower will help the cutting season go smoothly.

To begin, clean the underside of the mower to remove stray bits of grass and dirt. Use a putty knife, screwdriver or wire brush.

If you didn't remember to do it last fall, drain the gasoline and oil from the lawn mower and wash any rust or sediment from the tank.

When sharpening the blades, don't try to file away all the nicks. That unbalances the blade. Using an angle of 45 degrees, file or grind the same amount of metal from each side of the blade. Don't grind the bottom of the blades.

If the blades are bent or damaged, replace them. Don't try to straighten them.

Early Care The Key To Healthy Roses

Early pruning and fertilizing are important if you want attractive and healthy roses, says Theo Blom, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist.

Roses should be pruned each spring before the bushes leaf out to help maintain the quality and overall appearance of the plants.

Although each plant should be pruned to its habit and amount of growth, Mr. Blom says there are some general guidelines.

Wait until the buds start to swell, so you can determine which branches are alive and which are dead.

Don't cut below last year's pruning. If you do, you weaken the plant and the new shoots won't be strong.

If the rose bushes are new and this is their first pruning, prune them about 20 to 30 centimetres (8 to 12 inches) above the ground. In subsequent years, prune a bit higher and remove all dead wood and weak, twiggy growth.

It is important to prune climbing roses according to their growth habits. Cut off the thin branches so the plant does not have too many blind shoots.

Established roses will benefit if fertilizer is applied during the growing season. Mr. Blom recommends three applications of balanced fertilizer in mid May, June and August.

Apply the fertilizer to the soil surface near the plants, then rake or dig it under. A rate of 1/2 to 1 kilogram (1 to 2 pounds) of fertilizer for each 9 square metres (100 square feet) of rose garden is recommended.

Fertilizer formulas for roses are available at garden centers, but you can apply the general-purpose fertilizer used for lawns and gardens.

Four Of Scarborough's Top Swimmers Compete

Four of Scarborough's top swimmers, members of the Ontario All Star Team, competed in a meet against Florida All Stars at Etobicoke Olympium last weekend.

Forty-eight swimmers competed from each team and Ontario won by a margin of 42 points.

Bruce Gibson, Head Coach of Scarborough Swim Club, was chosen to coach the 11 and 12 year olds in the Age Group Meet.

The four Scarborough swimmers were Michelle MacPherson with six firsts, the blade in place is tight, and the lockplate is in place.

For maximum engine efficiency, Mr. Irwin suggests clearing the air filter by rinsing it in detergent and water. Replace when dry and re-oil. The spark plug should be replaced each year.

Adjust the cutting height to leave the grass a bit longer in the spring. The cutting height can be adjusted to give the lawn a closer cut as the season progresses.

three seconds and one fourth place finish; David Stonehouse with four firsts, one second, one third and one fourth place finish. They were competing in the 11 and 12 year old category.

Carol Klimpel had three seconds, three fourths and one sixth place finish while Mike Warden had one third, and one sixth place finish. These two swimmers were competing in the 15 to 18 year old category.

Skilled Trades An Alternative

A shortage of skilled labour in Canada has

Battle Of Agincourt

North Agincourt Junior Public School, located at 60 Moran Dr., now possesses a mural of the Battle of Agincourt which took place in 1415 on French territory.

Toronto artist Carl Wiesen designed and painted the mural with the help of 40 grades 5 and 6 students from the school.

This unique project was a result of an attempt to recreate the workshops of the Renaissance era. At that time, talented children were apprenticed at the age of nine and 10 to a master craftsman, and learned through direct contact with the craftsman and his work.

The North Agincourt project was sponsored by the Ontario Arts Council and the Scarborough Board of Education, as a part of a creative artists in school program.

The mural covers an area of 144 square feet. Acrylic paint has been air brushed and sprayed onto three messic wood panels. The panels were joined together and hooked on to the back wall of the stage in the school's auditorium.

In this colourful mural, England's King Henry V stands in the foreground fighting with a French soldier on horseback. The French soldiers are in blue and the English in burgundy red. The eye is drawn away from King Henry V to the right, where a French soldier on horseback is fighting with two men.

This arrangement of characters forms a triangle -- a shape used frequently in renaissance paintings -- adding strength to the total painting. It is this device which draws the eye further into the painting.

The background figures are flat cartoon silhouettes. The figures in the foreground are three dimensional -- a characteristic created by air brushing of light and dark tones over flat paint.

The total work is reminiscent of the murals painted by Paolo Uccello who painted in the 14th and 15th centuries. One of his better known works is Rout of San Romano.

Wiesen has also been influenced by Mexican mural painters who simplify their subjects. But a major difference between this work and that of Mexican artists is a sense of spaciousness. Mexican artists tend to cramp their subjects.

They are also more vulgarized, whereas Wiesen stylizes his work, giving it an antiseptic quality. The painting is clean for there is no blood and the mud has been reduced to a smooth plane.

The artist should be commended for this artistic work. He correctly recreates the historical details of the Agincourt battle scene.

In the Battle of Agincourt, the French were defeated, even though they outnumbered the English. The English manoeuvred the defeat by placing long bowmen in the forests on either side of the battle field. They then placed their flanks in the field as a lure to the French. The French charged the English and were cut down by the bowmen in the forest. The children, under the guidance of Wiesen, helped to paint the flat colour on mural, design and choose the colours for three saddles and a shield. The project which began last October was completed in late February and officially unveiled on March 6.

Brush tied property in northern suburb pick-up is what the Borough of Scarborough needs for its annual cleanup. (Scarborough Works Department).

Peace Games Track Team Looking For A Leader

The Scarborough-Indianapolis Track and Field Team is still looking for a Sports Chairman to co-ordinate their aspect of the Games.

"Its one of the problems of success" states Warren Campbell, publicity chairman for the games.
Bill Smith and Bill Stephens along with a number of dedicated coaches have worked hard and won the coveted track and field event last year.

The organization, athletes and coaches are ready but we need someone to take over the executive position. Personal and business commitments have relegated Smith and Stephens to other responsibilities in this year's games.

The Sports Chairman's main responsibility is to co-ordinate the coaching and selection of athletes.

Bob Hull, Games Sports Chairman, mentions that the routine and framework for enlisting athletes is well established. "We have excellent co-operation from the Scarborough Public, Separate and High School Track officials as well as much needed support from our local Track Clubs," states Hull.

Further inquiry and information can be obtained from Bob Hull, telephone 439-1652.

Track and Field has been an important area of involvement in the Games. The first Peace Games Winner was decided by the final race of the Track and Field event. "Our program has been steadily improving and now the only thing missing is the Ribbon to tie the package" states Hull.

Meanwhile all other Sport areas are now involved in selecting their representatives. Sports Chairmen and their phone numbers are: Sports Co-ordinator, Bob Hull, 438-1652; Badminton, George Takaoka, 444-0546; Baseball, Fred Russell, 261-3095; Basketball, Jeff Horton, 264-3517; Chess, Al MacDonald, 261-6077; Golf, Bob Carson, 294-1930; Gymnastics, Fred Hummel, 438-3927; Horseshoes, Harry Stevens, 282-6234; Soccer, Brian Nicholson, 282-1701; Softball, Carol Gerald, 431-2736; Swimming, Don Smith, 261-3652; Table Tennis, John Brayford 1-884-2314; Tennis, Rick Edwards, 438-3064; Track and Field, 438-7411; Volleyball, Dave Pearce, 751-3627; Wrestling, John Lister, 694-9824.

For information in any of the above areas, contact the particular Sport Chairman.

MANY THANKS

...to the Sears Bay Dukes for awarding me the Sonny Roy Memorial Trophy at the annual P.H.A. hockey banquet.

It's a great honour and I really appreciate it and will always cherish it. It has been my pleasure to help the P.H.A. this past season.

Thanks again,
Barb Guimond

The P.H.A. Women's Auxiliary winds up an "extremely successful" hockey season.

Many thanks to all the people who have been so helpful throughout the season, without their support and hard work, none of this would have been possible.

The final wind-up was the banquet for the boys held on Sun., April 23 at the Sheridan Mall.

We wish the new Auxiliary all the best in the new season.

Elections will be held on Sun., May 7 at 1 p.m. for the P.H.A. executive at Don Beer Arena. Come out and elect your new executive body. Your support for the boys is needed and appreciated.

Sincerely,
Barbara Guimond,
P.H.A. Women's Auxiliary, 1977-78.

Queen's Park Report

by William Newman M.P.P.

After a recent public meeting in Durham-York riding, I was asked by one of my constituents to describe my activities as an M.P.P. and cabinet minister over an average week.

It has since occurred to me that perhaps a number of Durham-York constituents would find my reply of some interest.

Reviewing my office diary, I found the first week of February appeared typical and believe it provides a fair example of my usual schedule.

Wed. Feb. 1 All day cabinet meeting extending late into the evening.

Thurs. Feb. 2 Morning meeting of the cabinet committee on resource development. Luncheon meeting. Afternoon and evening spent in Brock Township on riding matters.

Fri. Feb. 3 Morning meeting with farmers and minister staff on financial protection for farmers. Luncheon meeting with Premier Davis. Afternoon flight to London Ontario to speak at Dutton to the Annual Dinner Meeting of the Elgin County Federation of Agriculture.

Sat. Feb. 4 To Chatham to attend official opening of New Research Facility at Ridgetown College of Agriculture & Technology later in the evening met with Ontario Pork Producers.

Sun. Feb. 5 Participated in Whipper Billy Watson Snowarama Race of 100 miles in aid of Crippled Children.

Mon. Feb. 6 Morning meeting of Rural Ontario Municipal Association, Royal York Hotel.

Afternoon staff meetings in my office, then a meeting with cabinet ministers and Hamilton-Wentworth officials on land use questions in that region.

Tues. Feb. 7 Party Caucus all day to deal with new legislation, political problems, etc.

Meanwhile, back at my office, I receive approximately 70 calls per week from my constituents using the toll free Zenith line (33130). These calls are in addition to the mail I receive and phone calls at my home and at my Queen's Park office. My constituents have always come first and all queries and problems are looked into and answered as quickly as possible.

You will have noticed by this schedule, the legislature was not in session at the time. When it is in session, as at present, a similar schedule has to be squeezed into less time to allow and includes horsemanship, nutrition, showmanship, reining horse training, how to deal with problem horses and much more.

Admission is $3 per day and for more information please call Jim Maw at 826-8910.

This event begins at 9 a.m.

for my attendance in the house. Although actual attendance records are not kept, I can assure you that I rarely miss the daily question period as well as attending regular and often lengthy debates in the house and committee meetings. Add to this, meetings with my ministry staff for briefings and handling of routine matters and you will get a fair picture of the way my time is spent.
