Cancel Neighbourhood Watch

Lack of citizen participation and interest in the Neighbourhood Watch program in the communities of Maple Ridge and Claremont have forced Durham Regional Police Force to request that all Neighbourhood Watch signs be removed from the perimeters of these two communities.

Maple Ridge and Claremont communities will no longer be recognized as operating Neighbourhood Watches in the Town of Pickering.

Durham Police made their request to Pickering Council in letters dated Mar. 16 and Apr. 8.

Ashe Kicks Off Campaign

George Ashe will be a nominations meeting for the Durham West PCs in St. George's Anglican Church, Kingston Rd. last Friday that he has to give the Liberal government at Queen's Park an "A" for public relations and "spending your money".

The PC candidate for the next provincial election, whenever it is held, told his supporters that Ontario didn't reach the bottom like the other provinces in the last few years and he told treasurer Bill Nixon that he was lowballing the income coming to government.

Now the fiscal year's income to the government is $1 billion higher than planned, but only $250 million has gone to pay off debt and the other $750 million is being paid out to anyone who asks for it.

George Ashe said he was still worried about the 401 widening. Traffic is still stop and go as early as 6:30 a.m. all the way into Scarborough. The Minister of Transportation and Communications, Ed Fulton, has scheduled the widening for 1989 from Scarborough to Brock Rd. He said that the late date is not good enough for a growing area.

On the subject of education he pointed out that an announcement about more grants for schools was made to a "selected group of the media" and no educators or MPPs were invited to the press conference. However, Liberal candidate Norah Stoner was in attendance.

On the Durham garbage dump which draws the criticism of Liberal Stoner, Ashe pointed out that garbage from Durham goes in to that dump as well - and for free. He added that Durham has received $2.2 million from the dump from Metro Toronto.

On the subject of the nuclear station, George Ashe said that in his opinion Ontario Hydro has been a very "good citizen". And he pointed out that the Town of Pickering has received $2.9 million in taxes from the Ontario Hydro.

The candidate concluded his speech with a message to his PC supporters - "we're the only party not socialists".

Above, Tom Long, president of the Ontario PC Party, gave a speech to the crowd and added his comments "George Ashe gives politics a good name".

Q. How did the word "bootlegger" originate? R.J.
A. According to "A Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English - V.1" (Ref. 427), the term bootlegger originated around 1890 in reference to the sale and distribution of illicit liquor in the U.S. Spirits in flat bottles were carried on the leg to the Red Indians.

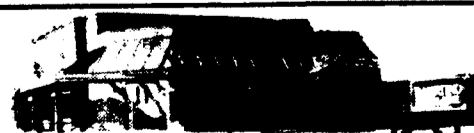

Q. Why do coats and jackets have buttons on the sleeves? K.L.

A. The practice of placing buttons on sleeves is a relic of the olden days. Buttons were originally placed on the opposite side we now find them. They were sewn on the jacket to break the habit of using the sleeve as a handkerchief. If a person tried to use the sleeve the buttons quickly reminded the wearer that the sleeve was not to be used. Eventually, as fashion changed, some tailors started sewing the buttons on the underside of the sleeve. Thus fashionable tailors have been sewing them there ever since.

Q. Why can I leave my wooden spoon in a pan cooking on the stove and it does not get hot? J.L.

A. A wooden spoon does not get hot because wood is not a good conductor of heat. The atoms which compose the wood do not have the power to transmit the heat to each other. Perhaps you know this by your last wood bonfire. You can pick up a stick burning fiercely at one end and find the end you pick up not even warm. This should prove to you that wood is not a good conductor of heat, and explains why the handle of the wooden spoon in your pan will not get hot as a metal spoon would.

Cyclists Are Not Obeying

by Bob Watson

When I was a youngster in East York the police constantly gave out tickets for cyclists offending the laws. I got a ticket for riding on the sidewalk in front of my house. Today the police are ignoring cyclists who break the laws of safety.

Youngsters constantly ride their bicycles in crosswalks apparently not aware that they must dismount and walk their bikes across the road. And cyclists of all ages obviously believe that they have the right to ride on the sidewalk!

How many times do you drive along a dark road and suddenly your lights catch the vision of a cyclist? When we were young the rules required a tail light in red and a white light on the front of the bike. It is so obviously necessary for safety.

This week we encountered a lot of cyclists riding four abreast and using up one whole lane of Steeles Ave. They didn't believe that only one bicycle can ride at the side of the road and thought that their group had the right to one whole lane of the road.

Perhaps the Metro Police could remove one unmarked, secretive car and concentrate on bikes instead of the lucrative radar trap loot - just in the interest of safety!

Misled On Pay Equity

Dear Sir:

Ontarians are being seriously misled by left-wing activists who want to impose "pay equity" on the province's private sector. In settling wages, these activists want to substitute government central planning for the free market, which operates on the law of supply and demand.

Haven't they learned anything from the rent control fiasco?

The activists' central premise to "pay equity" is that the free market isn't operating fairly - that it discriminates against women in setting wages.

However, these activists refuse to face the fact that there are very powerful market factors associated with the family, the most fundamental unit in our society. These neutral market factors include interruption of work and aversion to overtime, shift work, travel, etc. These factors affect all workers. However, because of the way Canadians have chosen to structure their families, women are more affected by these market factors than men.

If the market discriminates against women, one would expect it to discriminate against never-married women as well as married women.

What do independent studies show?

A 1979 Statscan study of 1971 Census data showed that never-married women earned 99.2% of what never-married men make.

A 1984 Statscan study showed that never-married women aged 45-54 years earned 13% more than never-married men in the same age bracket.

A 1985 Statscan study showed that never-married women aged over 55 earned 18% more than never-married men in the same age bracket.

It's simply impossible to have these results and at the same time maintain that the market discriminates.

Finally, the 1985 Statscan study showed that all never-married men earned only 42% of what all married men earned.

Are these left-wing activists going to push for "pay equity" for never-married men as well?

Yours sincerely,

David Somerville,
President,
National Citizens' Coalition.

Mother's Day is a special family Sunday and this year's service was extra-special. We celebrated the female aspects found in ourselves and family, in the scripture and in our images of God.

Rev. Sanguin explored with the children, all the ways in which their mothers were special to them. Then we heard the story of Demeter and Persephone, beautifully related by story-teller Nancy Veershack. This tale from mythology speaks of the goddess Demeter's grief at the abduction of her daughter Persephone, by the king of Hades.

In the myth, spring-time only returns because for six months each year Persephone is allowed to return to live with her mother.

Caravan Is 19 Years Old!

Caravan '87 rolls into Metro Toronto June 19 - 27 for its 19th year, a nine-day festival of fun, food and fantasy. Scattered across Metro, some 43 pavilions present the best that the great cities of the world can offer. It's the travel adventure of a lifetime, a hassle-free international tour without customs officers or luggage. In addition to the old favourites (most of which have new and exciting features planned for this year) visitors can drop in to exotic Hong Kong or share the culture of North America's native Indians at Tecumseh, right on Yonge St.

Back In 1955!

Dear Sir:

We are in the process of getting ready to move in to a condominium. After living in a house for 33 years you accumulate a lot of paraphernalia and memories.

Something that might interest you is a newspaper page, of when my husband won your News, 'Do-It-Yourself' Contest in 1955. First prize $5.00, and your other contest free drive-in show tickets.

I enjoyed reading all the ads, Orton's IGA delivery service Minimum order - $5.00. Charge - 25 cents. I remember what a blessing it was having that delivery service. Stevenson's Pharmacy, Main Street, Agincourt AX.3-4351. He was a very kind and nice person. His little delivery boy with big glasses. I believe his name was Bill Crothers.

There is an article about mail delivery which I thought you might enjoy reading.

As the people from Moorecroft Cres. north to the end of the subdivision are not receiving mail delivery to their doors, enquiries to the post office brought up the following requirements which must be met by at least 90 percent of the houses before delivery can be made.

- 1 - House numbers must be up - lot numbers will not suffice
- 2 - A safe receptacle for the mail - the top part of your milk box will serve, provided it is sealed at the top section leaving a slot for mail.
- 3 - Path or walk up to house
- 4 - Roads must be in walkable condition.

This and many other articles were enjoyable to read again. The building report for October, one Fire Hall costing $78,000.

I never thought Agincourt would ever become as populated as it is now. I remember wishing "Dear God, let there be more people". When we used to pick our mail up on Main Street you would be lucky if you saw two people there and back.

It has been a wonderful place to raise our children. We have been happy here. That is why we are not moving that far.

Yours truly,
Yvonne Clayton

Scarborough's Writing Community Alive & Well

Over 40 authors from the Scarborough area took centre stage in a night of celebration entitled "Local Celebrities: Meet Scarborough Authors" on Thurs. Apr. 30 at Cedarbrae District Library.

The program, presented by the Scarborough Public Library Board, drew a large number of interested readers who got a chance to meet their favourite writers and have their books autographed.

The occasion was designed to appeal to all ages and featured both adult and children's authors with musical entertainment provided by the guitar group "The Funstrummers".

Children were entertained with songs and a storyhour while the adults were greeted by Scarborough Public Library Board Chairman, Susan Hunt.

The evening, which was presented in recognition of the National Book Festival also featured guest speakers Larry Muller, president of the Canadian Book Publisher's Council and president of Scholastic-Tab, and Bob Reid, representative from the Association of Canadian Publishers and Vice President of Fitzhenry and Whiteside.

Both speakers commented on the exciting growth in Canadian writing and, in particular, the talent in the Scarborough area.

Mr. Reid recalled how he had had to "hike to East York" in order to complete research work on literature years ago and recalled "very few books by Canadian writers on the shelves". "Tonight's gallery of gifted writers shows how that has changed," he added.

Notable authors who attended included columnist and author of "Keep 'Em rolling" Ron Watson; noted plant and garden author Andrew Benn; author and former NHL referee Vern Buffey; children's author Bernice Thurman Hunter; poet Susan Ioannou and Miia Astorga-Garcia.

Other notable guests included Joy MacFayden, associate editor of Arts Scarborough's newspaper, Scarborough Public Library Board's vice chairman Marjorie Daw and Professor Robert Brown from the University of Toronto's Scarborough campus.

Canada's New One-Dollar Coin

Canada's new one-dollar coin made its public debut at a striking ceremony on May 7th at the Royal Canadian Mint in Winnipeg in preparation for this July when 100 million of the coins begin circulating across the country. The coin features a portrait of the loon, and is only slightly heavier and larger than a 25-cent coin. Its eleven-sided shape and yellow-gold colour easily distinguish it from other coins. And its benefits far outweigh those of its paper counterpart. The new dollar coin will gradually replace the one-dollar bill which will be phased out by the end of 1989.

Reduced Reservation Time

Wheel-Trans, the Toronto Transit Commission's (TTC) service for the disabled, has reduced the reservation time for booking trips by about 40 percent. Wheel-Trans patrons can now book service four days in advance of their travel date instead of seven days ahead as previously required. The changes are due to recent improvements in the computerized Wheel-Trans reservation system.

Exotic Program For Teachers

For the first time, Interculture Canada is offering intercultural programs for Canadian teachers in Costa Rica, China, Thailand and India starting in early July for six to eight weeks. "The objective is to provide elementary, secondary or college teachers the opportunity to acquire first-hand information about a country and its culture", says Harry Qualman, Interculture Canada's National Director. The experience will enhance the teachers' intercultural awareness and understanding of a different country's educational system through direct participation in local family, school and community life.

Hydro Rate Increase

Ontario Hydro is proposing to increase its electricity rates in 1988 by an average of 4.9 percent. The rate proposal will be reviewed by the Ontario Energy Board.

The proposed rate increase would affect over 300 municipal electrical utilities in the province who distribute electricity to their own residential, commercial and industrial customers. The increase would also affect more than 100 direct industrial customers, as well as Ontario Hydro's 800,000 retail customers.

Ontario Hydro proposes to increase electricity rates by an average of 5.0 percent for municipal utilities, 5.4 percent for large industrial customers served directly by the corporation, and 4.1 percent for its retail customers. The proposed increases average 4.9 percent and would take effect Jan. 1, 1988.

Scarborough & North York Urging Sheppard Subway Line

by Liz Payne

Premier Peterson will soon be handed a joint report from the cities of North York and Scarborough, Metro Council and the TTC, urging the commencement of the Sheppard Subway Line.

In a meeting held May 5th, representatives from all four groups voiced their interests in the urgency of the new line.

Approval for the Sheppard Subway Line was given in June of 1985, but to date, there has been no response from the provin-

Campaigning Has Started

by Gay Abbate

Scarborough politicians want to join their counterparts in North York in a publicity campaign to put pressure on the provincial government to help pay for the Sheppard Subway that is being proposed to link the two cities.

North York has already agreed to spend some $25,000 on a campaign which includes buttons, advertising on billboards and distributing flyers. Private companies along Sheppard Ave. through North York have agreed to erect signs in support of the subway.

Members of Scarborough's transportation committee want Scarborough to start lobbying, too. At a special joint meeting last week of the cial government indicating its share of funding for the project. Some sources say that the province may decide to allocate funds to projects outside of Metro.

Members of Metro Council, the Toronto Transit Commission, and the cities of North York and Scarborough have sat idle and silent while other jurisdictions seeking provincial funding have been quite active and vocal in their quest for funds.

The Sheppard Subway Line site was initially

North York and Scarborough transportation committees, Scarborough members passed a motion asking Mayor Gus Harris to start lobbying local provincial members of Parliament.

The Scarborough committee, at its meeting next week, will recommend that council allocate funds for a publicity campaign.

Controller Frank Faubert suggested buttons be distributed with the slogan "Sheppard Line in '89".

A campaign is needed to combat a similar publicity campaign begun by the regions of Peel and York to try and obtain funds from the province for the construction of the new east-west highway 407. Their buttons say "407 in '87".

selected, in 1983, for a number of reasons. First of all, a line along Sheppard would create a definite link between the new downtown of North York and the Scarborough Town Centre, and would, therefore, strengthen Metro's official policy of supporting the two fastest growing metropolitan centres in Canada.

Secondly, a Sheppard Subway Line would provide accessibility to north Metro residents to the transit network. This places high density employment centres including the Don Mills corridor (Fairview Mall and Wynford Drive), and Consumers Road Business Park within easy access for many employees.

The subway line would also cut down on the high demand and present congestion of Sheppard Ave. E. The bus routes of Finch and Sheppard are the two most heavily used in all of Metro.

Sheppard carries almost 6000 passengers at peak periods. Bus drivers cannot maintain schedules with this kind of volume.

Furthermore, it is estimated that employment will increase two and a half times along Sheppard by the year 2011 making transit expansion imperative.

The Department of Economic Development for North York is interested in initiating a campaign specifically for North York, with some assistance from Metro and the TTC, when necessary. This would be a public awareness campaign, encouraging residents to send their messages to Queen's Park.

Economic Development plans to use buttons, fact sheets and billboard advertisements. The theme of the campaign and the slogan for the button would be "I NEED IT NOW". North York is hopeful that the City of Scarborough will initiate a similar campaign.

"Not too well done Harry."

Gas barbecues are a convenient and economical way to enjoy outdoor cooking, but they must be used carefully and kept in good condition.

Every summer, backyard chefs are injured and property is damaged in gas barbecue fires. Here are a few safety tips to ensure your barbecue parties don't go up in smoke.

1. There's only one way to connect a propane cylinder to a barbecue - the right way. Follow the manufacturer's instructions closely and keep the fuel hose away from any metal parts which may become hot.
2. Check for leaks regularly: Brush a soap and water solution over hoses and connectors and open the cylinder valve. If there's a leak, bubbles will form in the soap film.
3. Keep your barbecue at least 10 feet from buildings, overhangs and combustible structures.
4. Don't try to light a barbecue with the lid closed. If it fails to light or goes out, turn the gas off and wait five minutes before relighting.
5. When finished, close all valves.
6. Never bring propane cylinders indoors.

A small leak can cause a major explosion.

7. If you suspect your barbecue isn't working properly, have it checked by a qualified serviceman.

Make sure you don't have to invite the fire department to your next barbecue. For a free copy of the brochure "Living Safely with Propane", contact the Consumer Information Centre at 555 Yonge St., Toronto, Ontario M7A 2H6 - (416) 963-1111 or toll free at 1-800-268-1142.

Bill Watt's Worlds

ON YOUR TOES:

The National Ballet's final offering of the spring season at The O'Keefe was a program of three short ballets. It would be overblown to state that they constituted a banquet for the senses or even a collation. And yet, and yet...

The first piece might well be considered an appetizer. Les Sylphides is a much beloved work to the music of Chopin. It is classical in concept, classic in presentation and an arguable chef d'oeuvre supreme.

The measure of les pas de Folke is exact and only those dancers who have committed themselves to technique over emotion can aspire to do them justice. The National is still a classical company and has such dancers in reasonably comfortable abundance.

Chief among them is Veronica Tennant who constantly challenges this writer to determine her principal strength among the many. On the evidence of Les Sylphides, it is her pained, particularly the notably difficult but oft overlooked heel and toe rocking movement. (Balletomanes are probably cringing at our choice of descriptive words but we cannot come up with any better.)

Gregory Osborne, the only male in the piece, continues to get better each time we see him and we repeat that he is the next Peter Schaufuss.

Guest conductor Barry Wordsworth drew maximum beauty out of the George Crum arrangements but unfortunately had to contend with an over exuberant sound man. The beautiful and beautifully arranged melodies of Chopin became powerful rather than idyllic. It's different and not unpleasant but not what one has come to expect from Les Sylphides.

The corps was in fine form as were the other principals and sound, not withstanding, taken all in all, Les Sylphides was the ideal appetizer for the entree to follow.

Masada is a new work choreographed by the company's David Allan and choreographed well. It deserves to be received better than we believe will be the actual case.

The problem is its theme. All are familiar with the story of how nearly 1000 zealots sacrificed themselves on Mount Masada rather than surrender to the Romans in 73 A.D. They are revered in the memory of all who prize honour above surrender; that is indisputable.

What keeps Mr. Allan's work from being a complete success, however, is the sight of people being garroted by their own in some of the most horrific death throes one is ever likely to see enacted on stage. Now, one should not emulate the ostrich but surely an evening of ballet should not be that of people killing themselves... opera perhaps but not ballet. Think about it.

That said, let us examine the work itself.

It is set to the music of Rachmaninov's Symphonic Dances, Opus 45 and, in passing, let it be remarked again how much Rachmaninov's music inspired that of Khachaturian. We suggest too that Vernon Duke was more than subliminally influenced in the composition of his popular song April in Paris, the theme of which floats through Masada.

The dancing is more than just floating however; it has the vitality and even freneticism of the dervish.

Gregory Osborne is Eleazar the leader and nicely transforms himself from the dreamy heroics of Les Sylphides to a Jehovah-like figure whom one can believe could inspire his followers to their own deaths. The intricacies of the choreography assigned to him escape our powers of description; we can say only that he is the master of the dance as well as of his followers.

As his wife, Veronica Tennant is his match in the dance and more. To

Concert Tribute To Charles Jordan

A concert in tribute to the Canadian baritone, Charles Jordan, who died last year, will be held on June 18th at the MacMillan Theatre, Toronto.

The concert launches a fund in the singer's name to provide an annual grant for the performance and heroism it is vouchsafed to her also to portray loving eroticism and she does it to perfection. Perhaps we may be allowed another diversion into the field of popular music by suggesting that she becomes The Girl Friend of the Whirling Dervish.

Miss Tennant and Mr. Osborne stand out among the other dancers and yet Masada is a de facto ensemble piece and other instances of excellence are difficult to cull from the over all. Owen Montague impressed as did Victoria Bertram and, of course, Kim Lightheart.

Enfin, some of the individual dances from Masada would be well received as performance pieces but the work as a whole is, we believe, simply too depressing to be widely received.

Mr. Allan's efforts are well appreciated and we suggest only that his next work - and surely there will be more - might consider a less macabre theme.

What then, shall we say about the third work of the evening? Well, if Les Sylphides is an appetizer and Masada an entree, Blue Snake is surely an emetic.

Regrettably we shall not see the National Ballet locally again until the summer when it will appear at The Forum in Ontario Place. As always, we expect the long wait for their return will be richly rewarded. How we wish we could have them all year long.

AL FRESCO:

Speaking of The Forum, the list of attractions for the coming season is most pleasing. You'll be able to read of them in the daily journals as and when but here are a few we'd like to mention in advance.

On June 19th, the Ontario Place Pops will present a ballet spectacular starring Veronica Tennant and the audience will be invited to join the orchestra on stage for a final waltz.

There will be two "Last" Night of the Proms with Andrew Davis conducting the Toronto Symphony. One hopes he'll play and conduct his amusing Fascinating Rhythm. These "Last Nights" will be July 20th and 21st.

On July 24th, the Ontario Place Pops will present By George, That's Gershwin and on the 27th, the TSO with Victor Feldbrill conducting, will perform the seldom heard Beethoven's Symphony No. 9.

There is much, much more but by now you should have the idea that it's going to be a great summer at The Forum.

We would also mention the 5th annual R.E.A.C.H. for the Rainbow Day featuring a host of events and attractions all intended to provide children who are challenged or disabled with an opportunity to meet, mingle and learn more about each other. That's next Monday, Victoria day. Be there!

NITE LIFE:

Bobby Rydell continues to the end of the week at the research of Canadian music.

Headlining the concert will be Joyce Sullivan, who partnered Charles Jordan as radio soloist with the Leslie Bell Singers and in a recorded album of Canadian folk music; Lucio Agostini and a musical ensemble; the well-known Canadian folk group, The Travellers; members of the Toronto Dance Theatre; the Toronto Jewish Folk Choir; and Fred Napoli.

The MacMillan Theatre is located at 80 Queen's Park Cr., behind the McLaughlin Planetarium. Tickets are $15 each and are available at Bass ticket outlets or by mail, with cheques payable to the Charles Jordan Memorial Association, P.O. Box 250, Stn. 'F', Toronto M4Y 2L5.

Imperial Room to be followed next week by Beatlemania. We saw the show at The O'Keefe a few years ago and were most impressed. We look forward to seeing it again, this time in the more intimate surroundings of the Imperial Room.

La Cage had its official opening last night. Full review to follow.

ON RECORD:

Recorded in 1966, Aled, Music From The TV Series

(Virgin 10) is an enchanting recording. Sixteen year old Aled Jones is a Welsh triple treble who has enjoyed tremendous success on British TV. As one might expect, his glorious soaring voice is best heard or appreciated on sacred songs and it is they that are presented on this album.

If one has a single fault to find it is that his voice has been pitched so high that

Davis Attacks Government For Not Addressing Needs

Scarborough Centre MPP Bill Davis says transit needs in the Metro area were totally ignored in the speech from the throne which opened the Ontario Legislature this week.

Mr. Davis, speaking in the legislature Wednesday, said the Sheppard Avenue subway line is Metro's Number one subway priority. "The province has failed to give clear directions of its plans in the crucial area of public transportation and has left transit plans in limbo," he said.

The Scarborough MPP accused Transportation

Minister Ed Fulton of stalling. He said that 25 percent of Metro's future development will be in North York and Scarborough and a transit link between the two civic centres is vital.

"The Sheppard line was approved by Metro last year but they cannot proceed until the government acts. The province obviously has not deemed it important enough to have been included in its current plans."

Mr. Davis said that more than 100,000 people cross the Scarborough and North York boundary each day on Sheppard and Finch in buses or in private vehicles and the figure is growing.

"The road network cannot be expanded to handle all this load so the subway line is absolutely essential," Davis said.

The Scarborough Centre MPP has also expressed concern recently that the province is dragging its feet on resolving a severe noise problem on Scarborough's new RT transit line which runs through his constituency. He has urged the Minister of Transportation to act immediately.

IN PRINT: Murder by Remote Control (Available Press) is described on the cover as a mystery novel. Actually, it's an adult comic book and we're confused what to make of it.

days of our misspent youth. It might even be libellous since some of the characters are clearly modelled after real people, dead or alive.

Chief among them is one who is decidedly an aging Clark Gable as a half baked actor who believes the exploits of his old films.

There's just a possibility that the F.B.I. might not be happy either since the chief operative is a literal dummy.

The book is probably good fun for some but we found it disturbing and even a little obscene in the truest meaning of the word.

Book Clubs Popular

The best way to share your enjoyment of a good book is with others who have just read the same book. This is the idea behind book clubs such as the ones currently being conducted at branches of the Scarborough Public Library Board.

Each session features selected titles of books which will be made available to members of the club for reading.

Enjoyable discussions, refreshments, author appearances and short films are all a part of these clubs and everyone is welcome to join.

Scarborough - Economic Celebration

Scarborough is one of Canada's fastest growing and most progressive cities and it is our country's 7th largest, a suburb turned super city.

This transformation will be the subject of an illustrated economic development book, sponsored by the Scarborough Chamber of Commerce.

"Scarborough, An Economic Celebration", a full colour nine by twelve coffee table style edition will be published by Windsor Publications Canada Ltd. to be released in the fall of 1988.

This publication will focus on the elements which have contributed to the city's economic success story. Local businesses are the backbone of Scarborough's economy and pertinent to this project are their individual profiles of growth and contribution to the community. The president of the Scarborough Chamber of Commerce, W. Henry Benoit invites these business leaders to participate.

The author of "Scarborough, An Economic Celebration" is Mr. Allan Gould, a former university teacher with a doctorate in English. He has since performed on, and written regularly for dozens of Canadian radio and television stations, including CFTO-TV.

Mr. Gould has also written hundreds of magazine articles for a dozen of Canada's most prestigious periodicals and has had seven books published including a major business book and ones of humour and political satire.

National Tourism Week

This week - May 11 to 17 is National Tourism Week and Tourism Ontario, a non-profit, private federation of hospitality, lodging, recreation, transportation and travel associations throughout the province, joins with the federal government and communities across Canada to celebrate the week.

The social and economic impacts of tourism to Ontario and Canada are immense.

In 1986, the Ontario tourism and hospitality industry accounted directly for an estimated 214,600 person years of employment, which in turn sustained indirect and induced employment amounting to an additional 165,900 person years of productive work. Combined, these employment statistics represent an impressive 9 percent of Ontario's employed work force.

The Ontario tourism industry is by far and away the largest provincial employer of women, youth, visible minorities, semi-skilled and seasonal workers.

Total tourism and hospitality expenditures in Ontario of $8.8 billion during 1986 generated $15 billion in economic activity in our province and country and in that year 24.6 million person visits to Ontario by Americans and 1.2 million person visits to Ontario by individuals from other countries generated $2.5 billion in valuable foreign exchange earnings.

Estimated total consumption, personal, corporate, property and business taxes collected by municipal, provincial and federal governments' as a direct result of the acquisition, provision and sale of tourism and hospitality goods and services in Ontario during 1986 amounted to a staggering $3.96 billion or 45% of gross provincial tourism and hospitality revenues.

Starts Own Sprinkler Service

Paul Duncan, a second year student in economics at the University of Western Ontario, has gone into business with a group of students and started a company called "Student Sprinkler Services Ltd."

The company is installing Toro inground sprinkler systems with a complete two year guarantee. It provides free estimates for both residential and commercial properties and its prices are competitive.

All of the employees have been professionally trained by a Toro representative and the company is authorized as a Toro dealer.

Paul says he is running this company to get practical business experience and to finance his next year's tuition. He hopes that the experience he will gain will prove invaluable when he graduates.

His business number, by the way, is 631-9372.

Examine Technology Future

Grade 13 economic students will examine how technology will affect their future at the Scarborough Board of Education's 8th annual Economics Conference for Scarborough Students.

Participants will analyse the impact of technology, both on their personal lives and their careers, says Keith Hubbard, the board's co-ordinator of history.

Topics include stress and automation, youth and unemployment, women and technology, and the Japanese approach to technology. Mr. Hubbard says.

About 550 students are expected to attend the event, to be held on May 15 at the Scarborough Campus of the University of Toronto, 1265 Military Trail.

Cycling Trip In Spain

Edward T. Flis of Weston says he is once again one of the tour leaders for a series of bicycle touring trips down the sunny eastern coast of Spain this summer.

The travel organizer, ZB & Associates Travel Ltd., is now in the fourth year of offering these three bicycle trips lasting 17 days each and covering 1100 km (700 miles).

The trip averages about 58 miles per day with a one day rest stopover at the half way point and there is also a one day non-cycling stopover in Amsterdam at the end of the trip.

Cost of the trip is $1689 Canadian to $2199, depending on the season and including air fare from Toronto, continental breakfast daily and lodging in three and four star hotels.

About one-third of the trip is on roads with their own paved shoulders for cyclists. Cyclists travel at their own pace and a "sag wagon" is provided to carry the luggage.

Cruises Coming Up

For those who like cruises here are some details.

The S.S. Stella Solaris is leaving for New York to San Juan, St. Thomas, Antigua, St. Bart's and St. Maarten on Aug. 9th for a 10 day cruise. This deluxe trip will give five full days of cruising the high seas. Cost is $3046 for an outside twin cabin or $2789 without air.

On Jan. 3rd 1988 the same ship will go on a 13 day cruise down the Amazon River from Manaus, Brazil to Alter de Chao, Santarem, Trinidad, Grenada, Antigua, St. Thomas and Fort Lauderdale.

This is a repeat trip of last January and the Cruise People Ltd. on Victoria Park Ave. are giving a

Greenhouse Cucumbers - Popular With Top Caterers

Planning a menu for a spring get-together? According to a Foodland Ontario survey of some top caterers and chefs across Ontario, greenhouse cucumbers are an important spring menu ingredient. The pros agree that the fresh, subtle taste of Ontario greenhouse cucumbers is perfect for a multitude of marinated and last minute salads, beautiful open-faced sandwiches, classic chilled soups, light appetizers and innovative garnishes. Comments such as "don't have to peel", "seedless", "consistent high quality", "low in calories", "no bitterness", "good color contrast", and "cost efficient", are a testament to the popularity of greenhouse cucumbers amongst these food experts.

Some intriguing professional entertaining ideas for greenhouse cucumbers include a cucumber, asparagus, snow pea and artichoke "shades of green" spring salad, from Jan Main's Kitchen in Toronto. Ottawa's Innovations Gastronomiques features veal with glazed cucumbers (cut like apple wedges). Dinah's Cupboard in Toronto favors thinly sliced "ruffled" greenhouse cucumber and watercress open-faced sandwiches as well as whole cooked fish garnished with cucumber scales. The Pam Collacott Cooking School in Ottawa suggests stuffed, baked cucumber and Auberge du Petit Prince in London focuses on iced cucumber soups.

Do as the experts do and count on Ontario greenhouse cucumbers to add a fresh, seasonal taste to a spring party. And to help get your entertaining menu started, Foodland Ontario offers the following selection of kitchen tested cucumber recipes.

At Mosport

by Jerry Hudson

It was a long winter for road-racing fans, but they finally got the season started with the British Automobile Racing Club's Spring Sprints at Mosport on the May 2/3 weekend.

West Hill's 18 year-old Paul Tracy showed that he hadn't lost his touch from last year when he easily won both Formula 1600/2000 contests in his new 1987 Reynard F2000.

Also driving in F2000, but for the first time was Willowdale's Craig Priddle in the No. 6 '86 Van Dieman.

Priddle, an ex-Superkarter, is teamed with veteran Geoff Foster in an identical Van Dieman, and showed potential for the larger (but not too much faster than the Superkarts) machinery by coming in 3rd on Saturday behind Foster.

Sunday's racing was delayed for 1.5 hours while a driver who crashed was driven to Oshawa Hospital in the only ambulance in attendance; racing cannot be done without at least one ambulance present at all times.

The SuperKart races were won by Todd Cresswell of Willowdale. Last year's Beckers' champion Paul Maskos had a terrible time of it in his No. 79 EDR Rotax, breaking 2 pistons on the first day of racing. He finally managed a 2nd to Cresswell in the SuperKart feature.

Of note to readers who remember George Butterworth and the before/after pictures of the Honda he destroyed in Corner 2 last year, he's made a comeback.

Butterworth is now racing a Honda GT3, and he won all of the three races he entered! He admitted to a little nervousness regarding Turn 2 before the first race, but obviously handled it well.

Scarborough's Robert Stewart drove his showroom-stock No. 6 Honda to a first-in-class finish, coming in 2nd in the race behind Butterworth.

There was an unusual combination of GM Camaros and Firebirds racing with Hondas in another contest, and Stewart did well here too, finishing 7th overall. His lap times were consistently only 10 seconds slower than the much more powerful GM's.

George Comacchio proved that a GT2 '74 Alpha Romeo still has the punch to beat the newest Porsche 944's and GM cars when he easily won his division of Sunday's feature. George beat the entire field by over 19 seconds.

Out for his first try in one of Horst Kroll's "City of Scarborough" Lola Frisbee Can-Am race-cars was driver Jim Slack, who last year drove in the Player's Challenge Series.

"It's like sitting on a guided missile," said Slack. "At times I was afraid to take my hand off the steering wheel to shift gears. When we get the car sorted out though, I'll be racing in the full series this year."

The final race of the weekend was the "Bruce Bell Memorial Trophy" for Formula V's (now called F1200) race-cars. This race was the first in what will be a yearly series honouring Bruce, who was a member of B.A.R.C. before he unfortunately died late last year.

Racing with the F1200's were Formula 4 motorcycle-engined cars. Willowdale's Tom Owen finished 2nd in his No. 15 '85 RM-1 F4 behind Stu Lamont of Hanover in his XPIT.

B.A.R.C.'s next event will be the "Willy Cleland Trophy Races" at Shannonville Motorsport Park, near Belleville, on June 27-28. The next races at Mosport feature motorcycles in the Victoria Day Sprints on the weekend of May 16-17.

Report from Queen's Park

By George Ashe, MPP Durham West

KEN DRYDEN, YOUTH COMMISSIONER

Ken Dryden, lawyer and former Montreal Canadiens goaltender, has recently completed his two-year term as Ontario's Youth Commissioner.

In "The Ontario Youth Commissioner's Report," Dryden challenges the Ontario government to find a new approach to defeating youth unemployment.

The report also sharply criticizes Ontario's educational system for its exceedingly high drop-out rate. According to the report up to 40% of Ontario students entering grade nine do not graduate from grade 12 and 76% do not graduate from grade 13.

"There is no need for 150,000 young people to be unemployed," says Dryden. "Unemployment destroys one's self esteem; work is central...in our society, it is perilously close to identity itself."

Commenting recently on a Toronto cable TV show, Dryden said that the age of leaving school should be changed to 18. Students are currently allowed to leave the education system at age 16. Dryden thinks this is too young an age to make so big a decision. What do you think?

For those students over 16 who want to drop out, Dryden says programs stressing job training, counselling and apprenticeship must be improved. Skills that should be stressed are an ability to communicate, an understanding of numbers, an ability to analyze and solve problems, and a knowledge of how to learn.

Dryden thinks that youth employment schemes, like Ontario's $133 million Futures program are limited instruments in reducing the youth jobless rate.

If you would like a copy of the Ontario's Youth Commissioner's report, please write to my Queen's Park office. George Ashe, M.P.P., Rm. 1617, Whitney Block, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario M7A 1A2.

ner Sunday afternoon.

Prepare your main course foods, wrap in Saran Wrap and freeze. When you want to serve the food, take it out of the freezer, pop it directly into the microwave oven and heat through.

• Breakfast-to-go:

Scramble 2 eggs in a small serving bowl, covered with Saran Wrap; stir once or twice during cooking OR scramble the eggs and fry the bacon the night before, place on a dinner plate and cool; cover tightly with Saran Wrap. Refrigerate. Next morning, reheat covered breakfast for 1 or 2 minutes at power level MEDIUM.

• Hard-cooked Eggs:

Crack one egg into a small lightly-greased bowl or custard cup. Prick yolk with a toothpick. Cover with Saran Wrap. Microwave at MEDIUM 1-1/2 to 2 minutes or until white is set and yolk is almost set. Let stand, covered for 1 minute to complete cooking. Chop egg and add to salads and casseroles.

• Leftover Danish:

If you have extra Danish or sweet rolls leftover from Sunday Brunch, wrap them tightly in Saran Wrap and they can be kept for a day or two. At coffee time, loosen the wrap at the corners and heat in microwave 1/2 to 1 minute at HIGH. You'll enjoy the just-baked freshness.

• Poach Fish:

Wash fish and dry on paper towels. Place in shallow dish, season and add liquids of your choice (lemon juice, water, flavored vinegar and/or wine). Cover loosely with Saran Wrap and microwave on HIGH for 5 to 7 minutes or until tender; turn fish after 3 minutes. Remove from microwave oven; let stand, covered, for 3 minutes before serving. Another tasty idea — include vegetables such as carrots and onions in your dish when poaching fish.

• Leftovers:

Store leftovers in a heat-resistant serving dish; cover with Saran Wrap. At serving time, pop the dish in the microwave oven and reheat.

• Popcorn:

When there's popped corn left over, store in a bowl and cover with Saran Wrap. At snacking time, "freshen up" the popped corn by putting the covered bowl in the microwave oven for about 1 minute at HIGH. It'll be as fresh as when first popped.

• Potatoes:

Wrap baking potatoes individually in Saran Wrap before popping them into the microwave. They'll cook more evenly and skins will be tender.

• Hard Brown Sugar:

Soften 1 cup of hard brown sugar by adding a slice of white bread or an apple wedge, cover with Saran Wrap and heat 30 to 45 seconds on HIGH.

• Frozen Vegetables:

Lightly thaw frozen vegetables before adding to stews; place vegetables in heat-resistant dish, cover with Saran Wrap and cook for a minute or so.

• Breakfast Cereal:

If your breakfast cereal has lost its crispness in the box, just place the cereal in a bowl, cover with Saran Wrap and pop it into the microwave oven for about 1 minute. Uncover and cool. Your cereal will be crisp and crunchy.

Of course, fast microwave recipes are still a favorite. For a free, color recipe booklet, write to: Saran Wrap and Your Microwave, 49 Spadina Avenue, Suite 500, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 2J1.
