3 Win Education Award

The team of Pine Ridge
Principal Jim Weaver and

Vice Principals Angie Littlefield and Tom Reed has been selected as one of eight national winners of the 1994 Reader's Digest Leadership in Education Award for their success in building a sense of community in a new school.

The team was selected from over 200 entries submitted by parents, school board officials, school administrators and educators across Canada. They will share the sum of $5000 and Pine Ridge S.S. also will receive the sum of $5000. The award was presented Tues. June 7, at Pine Ridge S.S. by the president of the Reader's Digest Foundation.

When Pine Ridge S.S. opened in 1992, it brought together for the first time 1300 students from a variety of schools and ethnic backgrounds. The challenge was to build a sense of community and history, often under adverse conditions. The administrators implemented a number of programs to assist students to work together while, at the same time, deal with social problems such as racism and teen violence.

Since 1989, the Reader's Digest Foundation of Canada has awarded $380,000 through the Leadership in Education Awards to educators who have made significant contributions to their communities.

Students Save Tabs For Wheels

When a senior student at Sunset Heights P.S. was involved last summer in a car accident, the school became aware of students' potential to help others.

Staff and students began to collect aluminum pop tabs to help purchase wheelchairs for people in Durham. Everyone pitched in and the school's enthusiasm spread to the community. Soon, an invitation to become involved in the project was extended to other Durham schools and the pop tabs poured in at the rate of thousands each day. Some children sent accompanying notes saying how good they felt about helping others.

Bill Todd, a teacher at Bowmanville H.S. has been pursuing this worthwhile venture for some time and has lent his assistance and that of senior elementary and secondary students in the Bowmanville area.

Eastdale C.V.I. staff members John Kennedy and Fred Ellis have used their affiliation with the Brooklin Lion's Quest Program and the Oshawa Power and Sail Squadron to facilitate delivery of the tabs to Sunset Heights. Bill, John and Fred have been able to contribute almost half the 4 million tabs the school has collected over the past 6 months.

Representatives from businesses in Durham and Metro Toronto have contacted the school to advise they are saving pop tabs for the project. One of the most surprising deliveries came from an Armed Forces Base in Saskatoon. The outpouring of charitable feeling seems to know no bounds when children are the recipients.

Durham Bd. of Education Highlights

1993 Financial Report Accepted

Trustees accepted the 1993 Financial Report as presented to them by Laurie Martin of Deloitte and Touche. In response to questions from the Board, Laurie stated that he felt the board was in very good financial shape and that debenturing in certain years for large capital projects was appropriate as long as they were several years apart.

Joint Operations Committee to be Formed

A Joint Operations Committee to be composed of trustees from the Durham Board of Education and the

The sheer volume of tabs received has necessitated a continuous process of sifting through the contributions to ensure only aluminum is delivered to Wabash Alloys, Toronto, where the manager generously has agreed to accept the aluminum in exchange for cash to pay for custom-made wheelchairs.

The school currently is saving tabs to help a 4 year old boy in Durham purchase a wheelchair and has received names of others who may acquire their wheelchairs sooner because of the good will of so many residents of Durham and surrounding areas. Everyone in Durham is invited to participate in the project.

For further information about the project or to learn how to become involved, contact Rodger Lappin, Principal of Sunset Heights P.S., at 723-9223.

Durham Region Roman Catholic Separate School Board will be created to oversee non-classroom joint operations between the two boards. The Directors of Education will act as advisory members.

The Chairmen and Directors of Education will establish the size and meeting schedule for the Joint Operations Committee. The committee will explore initiatives which could streamline operations and improve cost-efficiency.

Kill The GST!

by Bob Watson

After hearing a Liberal MP in North York before the last election suggest that the terrible GST be replaced by a 4.7% increase in income tax, we are puzzled that he hasn't persuaded the Liberal government to do just what he was promoting before the election.

The GST was placed on our goods and services by the Mulroney government right as the recession was eating into the economy. Mulroney couldn't have done a worse trick than that as it is a most expensive tax - both on the cost of business as well as government.

To switch the GST to a 4.7% income tax increase would cut millions from government payrolls and assist the business community survive. We urge the Liberal government to get rid of the GST immediately.

Don't Close It!

by Bob Watson

The Minister of National Defence has decided to close another military operation - The Canadian Forces Staff School at 1107 Avenue Rd. in North Toronto. What a waste! Now the Burma Star Association will have to find a new home and young officers in the forces will be moved somewhere else.

As we looked at the beautiful accommodations for personnel around this old building from 1912 our mind came up with an answer for the closing. Why don't we open the armed forces for young Canadians who are wrestling for a job or awaiting the end of the recession?

In fact, we believe we could help young men and women achieve a better life if we took in all 18 year olds to the armed forces for two years. The training would greatly assist them for life and the work force. Or these two years could be great prior to a course at university.

Keeping young people busy in the armed forces could save millions in welfare and unemployment insurance payments. We hope the National Defence Minister will think about this and let the beautiful building on Avenue Rd. stay in existence.

Vicious Dog Legislation

Changes to the law on vicious dogs, coupled with bureaucratic bungling, have left Scarborough without policing of vicious dogs.

My 18lb. Sheltie was attacked by two pit bulls in Warden Woods Park in broad daylight, resulting in permanent injury. $2,000 in veterinary bills, and my needing rabies shots.

The pit bull's owners walked 75 feet to reach their dogs before verbally calling them off. Neither pit bull was disciplined. Neither owner was surprised or apologetic over what happened. In fact, they were ready with a suggestion for financial settlement: "We should each cover the vet bills of our own dogs."

The pit bull owners refused to give their names, and one threatened to turn his dog on me. When the police arrived, I had to convince them to get out of their car and obtain these names.

Changes to the Ontario Dog Owners Liability Act in 1990 made damaging attacks by dogs on pets a provincial offence. This, according to Don Mitton, Manager of Scarborough Animal Control, shifted jurisdiction over them from his organization to Metro Police. Meanwhile, senior officers at Metro Police state that such attacks are outside of their jurisdiction.

Brian Ashton, my Metro Councillor and a police commission member, has been looking into this since early April, but there has not been any progress towards a solution.

I suspect that a child will have to suffer permanent injury before the Metro Police Commission and Scarborough City Council will get together to resolve this.

Showdown with Quebec Looming

Best selling author William Gairdner calls his latest book, Constitutional Crack-Up: The Coming Showdown with Quebec, a constitutional "wake up call" for Canadians.

A timely, rude awakening is more like it.

At least it will be a rude awakening for anyone who thinks Quebec can separate from the rest of Canada easily or amicably.

Gairdner's book reminds us of one unfortunate fact: divorces are usually ugly.

Pulling no punches, Constitutional Crack-Up looks at some of the thorny problems that will inevitably arise if Quebec decides it wants to secede.

For instance, what happens to Rupert's Land - the northern three quarters of Quebec - which the Canadian government granted to Quebec as a Canadian province earlier this century? Does it become part of an independent Quebec or does it remain part of Canada?

Then there are economic questions to consider. What is a fair way to split up the national debt? Do we need to renegotiate the free trade deal?

Another factor to consider are the minorities within Quebec who may wish to remain loyal to Canada. What will happen if the anglo-Quebeckers or if the native Canadians decide they want to secede from the secessionists?

To further complicate matters, Gairdner also suggests that Quebec has no moral or legal right to unilaterally declare its independence. Rather, he argues that the country as a whole must decide Quebec's fate within Confederation.

The crux of his argument is that a confederation of provinces is like a co-op apartment building. All Canadian citizens, says Gairdner, "own" all of Canada regardless of where they live. In other words, Quebec just can't up and take away what belongs to all of us.

This argument in turn leads Gairdner to predict that if Quebec does unilaterally separate from Canada violence will likely erupt. The federal government, he says, may even be forced to intervene militarily in Quebec to safeguard Canada's interests.

If this sounds far-fetched, consider that Bloc Quebecois Leader Lucien Bouchard says things could "get nasty" if Ottawa tries to take back some of the province's territory in the event of separation.

Meanwhile, British Columbia Premier Michael Harcourt recently stated that BC and Quebec would become the "worst of enemies" if Quebec opts to break apart the country.

Clearly, as the title of Gairdner's book implies, a showdown within Quebec is imminent.

Canadians had better start thinking through the consequences.

Cannis Supports Amendments to Young Offenders Act

On June 2nd John Cannis, M.P. for Scarborough Centre, fully endorsed the amendments proposed to the Young Offenders Act by the Minister of Justice, the Hon. Allan Rock.

The amendments fulfill the Liberal Party's promise from the campaign "Red Book", that the Young Offenders Act would be "reformed to increase sentence lengths for certain violent crimes, allowing for the full treatment and rehabilitation of young offenders."

Highlights of the bill include: increased sentences for teenagers convicted of first or second degree murder in youth court to 10 and seven years respectively.

Dealing with 16 and 17-year olds charged with serious personal injury offences in adult court unless they can show a judge that public protection and rehabilitation can both be achieved through youth court.

Extending the time that 16 and 17-year old young offenders who have been convicted of murder in adult court must serve before they can be considered for parole.

Improved measures for information sharing between professionals like school officials and police and with selected members of the public when public safety is at risk, as well as retaining the records of serious young offenders longer.

Provisions that will encourage rehabilitation and treatment of young offenders in the community when this is appropriate.

These amendments are part of an "on-going government initiative to review public policy and make it more responsive to Canadians," said Mr. Cannis. He also noted that the proposed amendments are the first steps in reforming the Young Offenders Act, which will undergo a comprehensive review by the House of Commons Justice Committee, expected to report in February, 1995.

Workers' Compensation Benefits are Changing. For the better.

Workers should know that we're acting to make benefits for you more secure than they have ever been before. By getting the Workers' Compensation Board's financial act together. By making sure people get back to work sooner. By reviewing the board from top to bottom, ensuring it meets your needs.

There's more.

If you're one of the 45,000 injured workers receiving the lowest benefits, you'll continue to keep full inflation protection for your pension.

And if you're one of the many older and disabled unemployed workers getting a monthly cheque, you'll see it rise by $200 a month and keep full inflation protection.

That's good news. Especially since the alternative may well have been a complete collapse of Ontario's workers' compensation system.

Workers' compensation in Ontario has been on shaky ground for several years. The amount the WCB takes in from employers wasn't nearly enough to cover what the board expects to pay out in claims.

That shortfall is called an unfunded liability. It hit $11.4 billion last year - enough to affect Ontario's credit rating. Worse, it threatened the future of workers' compensation itself. In short: if we hadn't acted, there wouldn't have been enough money to keep paying benefits.

There were other factors, too. People found the board's bureaucracy frustrating, and the rules complex. We wanted to change that. And we're acting to make sure that workers are back on the job as early as possible.

Instead of big cutbacks, we're putting a new, cooperative structure in place. For the first time, labour will be guaranteed the same number of representatives on the board as business.

We're saving $18 billion from now until 2014 by changing the formula for inflation protection, helping injured workers return to work as soon as possible, and improving the WCB's financial management.

The new formula means most pensions will increase at three-quarters of the rate of inflation, less one percent. It brings workers' compensation into line with many other pensions. The changes won't stop there. A Royal Commission will examine the WCB from top to bottom.

I want you to know that our top priority is keeping WCB pensions safe. Protecting the services you rely on is an important part of our government's plan for getting Ontario's economy back on track.

Minister Announces Review Of Business Immigration

Citizenship and Immigration Minister Sergio Marchi has released a report of Mendel Green Q.C. on the Business Immigration Program. The report was commissioned earlier this year as part of a wide-ranging review of the immigration program leading to a ten-year strategic framework for immigration.

"Over the next two months, we will obtain advice for the redesign of the Business Program from our partners," said Mr. Marchi. "These include the provinces, business immigration practitioners and other federal departments and agencies."

The Green Report provides a practitioner's perspective on the Business Immigration Program and presents a number of recommendations for program improvement. "I want to thank Mr. Green personally for this important work, which he undertook on a voluntary basis and for the many recommendations he has made," said Minister Marchi.

This review will guide the Department in reshaping the Business Immigration Program. The Green Report will form an important source document for those involved in the business immigration review as they develop recommendations to improve both the design and delivery of the program.

The Minister will assess the review recommendations based on three prerequisites that he has for redesigning the program. These are: the changes must enhance the program's contribution to Canada's economy; the changes must attract immigrants who have the personal qualities to integrate readily and make an on-going contribution; and the changes must not lend themselves to abuse by immigrants or others.

"Over the last seven years, the program has succeeded in bringing over $2.5 billion of investment dollars to Canada and creating thousands of small businesses and over thirty thousand jobs," said Mr. Marchi. "It is my intention to build on this and to produce a program that benefits all Canadians."

Benyei's Works In Demand

"Leap of Faith"... Toronto sculptor Andrew Benyei's solo show at The Alexander Gallery opens June 8. A year of success for the award winning artist culminates in a one-man show of his latest sculptures at The Alexander Gallery. Only a few days before his exhibit is installed for the June 8 opening, Benyei has sold several of his major pieces.

Benyei uses fibreglass, cast stone, bronze, terra cotta, plaster and paint to capture almost unbelievably lifelike exchanges among individuals. As The Alexander Gallery's director, Cynthia Stark says "I feel as if I'm eavesdropping on a couple's most intimate moment or overhearing corporate secrets. As for the invitation piece (The Commuters), it is the TTC in rush hour!"

Andrew Benyei is represented in Toronto's Alexander Gallery and has exhibited across Canada and in the U.S. and New Zealand. His studio is in Toronto. He will be the subject of an article in the June issue of "Art Focus" magazine and other publications plan articles.

Consultation on Licensing Application for Processing and Storage of Malvern Contaminated Soil

The Atomic Energy Control Board (AECB) has received an application from the federal Low-Level Radioactive Waste Management Office (LLRWMO) for a licence to possess and process mildly contaminated soil at a site on Passmore Avenue in the Tapscott Industrial District of Scarborough, Ontario.

The proposed activity is part of a joint federal-provincial program to resolve the problem of radioactive contamination of certain residential properties in the Malvern community of Scarborough. Some 11,000 cubic metres of contaminated soil would be excavated from these properties and transported to a facility to be constructed at the Passmore Avenue site. The soil would be processed at this location to remove most of the radioactive contaminants, which would be transported to a waste management facility in Chalk River, Ont. The residual soil would be stored on site until a suitable repository is established.

The AECB has reviewed the application and has determined that the potentially adverse environmental effects of the proposed activities are readily mitigable with known technology. Since such mitigation measures are included in the LLRWMO proposal, the AECB has concluded that, with respect to environmental impacts, the project may proceed as proposed.

Before giving final consideration to the LLRWMO application, the AECB is inviting written comments from organizations and individuals on the proposed activities. The comments should be sent, by July 15, 1994, to the following address:

Atomic Energy Control Board
Wastes and Impacts Division
P.O. Box 1046,

Alive Birds, Kids, Kites, Fields & Flowers At Queen's Quay

If you haven't seen your first robin of the season, come to In The Making and check out David Milligan's red-breasted wire robin. This 'sign of spring' is just one of 47 springtime and romantic objects by Canadian artists and craftspeople featured in the gallery's fresh new show "Spring Has Sprung".

Alive birds, kids, kites, fields and flowers galore, Spring Has Sprung is on display until June 19 at Queen's Quay Terminal's In The Making. Spring Has (indeed)

Sprung! Toronto's liveliest crafts gallery is filled with works by In The Making newcomers John Cruickshank, Sheherezade

Alam, Rudi Stade, Orna Greenberg, Susan Fothergill and Sylvie Bongon (all of Ontario) along with Juliet Nicoll, Keith Skelton, Tim Hodge - Jey Weder (4 Corner Design) and Brian Tyson (all of British Columbia).

Rounding out the show are works by many In The Making regulars including Sue Parke's cast concrete bird bath, Karen Franzen's ceramic planters, Judy Ellen's collage kites, Veronica Verkeley's flock of copper wire sparrows and Borge Jorgensen's earth bound birds of plaster and found objects. In spirit and scale, Spring Has Sprung showcases a wonderful diversity of work; the contrast of John Cruickshank's life-size papier maché children hanging from trapezes in the front window of the gallery to the miniature still lives of Juliet Nicholl's sterling silver teacup earrings; the delightful pairing of Rudi Strade's cibachrome of a field in the early spring with Gretchen Sankey's handpainted cotton vest picturing a farmer ploughing a field (the buttons are pewter oxen); Keith Skelton's wire flower 'drawings' echo the whimsical shapes from Susan Fothergill's etching "Birds Have Wings".

In The Making is an exhibition and retail space in Queen's Quay Terminal. Open seven days a week from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. (extended hours of operation commence May 16; Monday to Saturday 10 a.m. - 9 p.m. and Sunday 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.). For information, call (416) 203-2027.

Civic Garden Centre's Through The Garden Gate June 18 and 19

On Sat. June 18 and Sun. June 19. The Civic Garden Centre will feature a tour of 17 private gardens along the ridge community of Toronto from Old Yonge St. and Hedgewood Rd., along Highland Cres., curving around Bayview Ridge down to Arjay Cres. and north to Old Colony. This neighbourhood of older and distinctive homes offers a lovely country walk through winding roads with mature trees and hedges.

The focus of this tour is the unspoiled natural beauty of this unique ridge and ravine setting. The gardens chosen take advantage of this dramatic terrain and are characterized by relaxed country design and mature plantings. Many of the gardens are situated along the ridge overlooking the ravine. Some are densely enclosed by natural ravine screening while others provide breathtaking views for several miles.

Some of the gardens are dominated by dense forest backdrop and long views while others have developed contemporary and imaginative themes incorporating sculptured artwork into the landscape.

One very gracious and traditional garden includes a herb garden, a hidden cutting garden and a compost work area. Another garden boasts a concealed tennis court on the front lawn.

Along the walk is an overgrown and intriguing

Moorish tile garden. The plant material throughout the tour is represented by diverse and mature specimen trees, including a large ginkgo, a cutleaf beech, a 200 year old copper beech and espaliered fruit trees. Complimentary shuttle buses will service the route throughout the tour making this an easy route for everyone.

Tickets are limited so order now to avoid disappointment. You can buy your tickets at the Civic Garden Centre, 777 Lawrence Ave. E. or order them by calling 397-1340, allowing an additional $1 service charge for mailing. Visa and Mastercard are accepted for telephone orders or purchase at the centre.

The tour will be held rain or shine. Your ticket is valid only on the specified day - Saturday or Sunday.

When you receive your ticket, the map indicates garden locations. You may visit the gardens in any order you choose. Tickets are not interchangeable and there are no refunds.

This is a fundraising event for The Civic Garden Centre.

Honour 17 Volunteers & Non-Profit Organizations With 1994 Awards

Seventeen special volunteers and non profit organizations whose contributions to the arts, and work in the fields of human rights, newcomer services, anti-racism and other equity initiatives are being honoured with Ontario's 1994's Outstanding Achievement Awards.

Each year the Ontario Ministry of Citizenship, and the Ontario Ministry of Culture, Tourism and Recreation present Outstanding Achievement Awards to individuals, non-profit organizations and businesses for their exceptional contributions in areas which further the mandates of the two ministries. These include service to the Aboriginal community, and service in the areas of multiculturalism, citizenship, heritage conservation, public libraries, and community information centres.

"These outstanding volunteers have demonstrated superlative leadership and dedication to worthwhile causes, and their work has had a profound impact on the communities they serve," said Anne Swarbrick, Minister of Culture, Tourism, and Recreation.

Outstanding Achievement Award Winners for 1994 from this area include six local residents.

Keren S. Brathwaite, founder of the Organization of Parents Of Black Children, has dedicated 20 years of time and leadership toward the improvement of education for black children, promoting parent and community participation in the education system.

Joseph Emmanuel Dick is recognized for his leadership role in addressing a number of issues such as educational rights, policing, human rights, immigration policy, employment equity, and race relations. Mr. Dick also advocates for welfare reform in the Black, Caribbean and larger visible minority community.

Hoanh (Wayne) Ngo, founder of the Vietnamese Association Toronto, has been instrumental in mobilizing the community to assist Vietnamese refugees coming to Canada since 1975. Through his participation on various committees and advisory councils, Mr. Ngo is also responsible for numerous initiatives to preserve Vietnamese culture.

Jamais Marie Paquette has dedicated most of her adult life to enhancing the quality of life of native communities and to improving relations between Aboriginal people and mainstream society. In turn, she has been invited to participate as a board member on each of the native agencies in Toronto.

Sally C. Quan, founder of the Filipino Nurses Association of Ontario, has undertaken a number of initiatives to reduce the systemic barriers encountered by non-Ontario trained nurses who want to practice their profession in Ontario.

The Toronto

Mendelssohn Choir celebrates its 100th year as a volunteer organization.

As the longest surviving arts organization in Canada, this choir has long been hailed as one of the world's foremost choral ensembles.

Progress Report On Restructuring

At its meeting held on May 16, the Metropolitan Separate School Board received a progress report re: restructuring MSSB operations.

At board request as well as the need to respond to diminishing human and financial resources, a number of initiatives have been undertaken to restructure board operations. Ongoing restructuring is taking place within the context of our Mission and Vision for Students and financial realities.

Since 1990 the staff complement at MSSB has been reduced by 267 employees. As many of these employees were in positions outside the classroom, the number of such positions has been reduced to the point where the administrative and support service organization must undergo restructuring.

Restructuring has and will continue to occur in a phased in manner. During the 1994-95 school year, a number of initiatives will occur.

The current local area organization (field centres) will be replaced with Program Support Units organized within the Common Curriculum framework and the focus will be program implementation as well as design. A reduced number of personnel will respond to school needs both locally and system-wide.

The administrative functions currently part of field centres will be retained by supervisory officers responsible for schools. Supervisory officers will be located at the Catholic Education Centre.

Schools will be reorganized into a reduced number of superintendencies.

Twelve supervisory officers will have school responsibilities exclusively. 3 will have both school and system-wide responsibilities and 6 will have system-wide responsibilities. The organization of the French Section will continue to operate under the jurisdiction of 1 supervisory officer.

Reductions of staff complement will continue through: social contract, attrition, retirement incentives, administrative reorganization, program adjustments.

Reductions to staff complement number 223 for the 1994 Budget year.

Restructuring necessitates significant reductions in staff complement. This will result in the reduction of some service levels throughout the system. Expectations must be altered. Every effort will be made to focus clearly on priority issues so that education can be delivered in the most cost effective way making more resources available for the classroom.

TELL METRO IT'S TIME TO IMPROVE SCARBOROUGH'S TRANSIT SYSTEM!

Dear:
Metro Chairman Tonks,
I Support the SRT Extension!

Scarborough needs better transit service. At rush hour, the trains on the existing SRT are running full.

I pay taxes to Metro and it's time that Metro reinvested some of those tax dollars in Scarborough.

When you vote on the SRT Extension in June, please do the right thing.

Please stop studying the SRT Extension and get on with building it!

To ensure that your SRT support is acknowledged, clip and complete this coupon and place it in the drop box at your local Community Centre, Civic Centre or mail it to the address below. Do it now to ensure your voice is heard.

Learning heaps and heaps: Danielle Derrington, pictured here at the Brock West Landfill site in Pickering, wins a merit award in the 1993-1994 American Express Geography Competition for her entry, "Our Garbage Dilemma". Student Danielle Derrington, from Sir Oliver Mowat Collegiate in Scarborough, is the author of "Our Garbage Dilemma" from a Greater Toronto Area perspective. She explored the environmental ramifications of a "throw-away society", and revealed interesting facts about community awareness of recycling projects and landfill sites.

The Recycle Song Is A Hit

Musician, songwriter and entertainer Michael T. Wall, the Singing Newfoundlander and Newfoundland's official musical ambassador, has just released his latest cassette tape entitled "20 Greatest Hits". Accompanied by his two daughters, Sabrina and Sarah, and sung in his Canadian country style, Michael's latest hit "The Recycle Song" sets the pace. Michael wrote and dedicated his song to everyone who works hard to keep our planet "clean 'n green", and to help spread the waste reduction message in an entertaining way. Being an enthusiastic recycler, Michael has kindly consented to my printing his lyrics.

Reduce, Reuse, Recycle
That's what we have to do,
To save our children's future
It depends on me and you.
So let's all work together
To keep our world real clean.
When we all work together, we all win.

Chorus
Recycle, recycle
That's what we have to do.
To keep this planet clean
It depends on me and you
And if we're gonna make it work my friends,
Listen to what I say,
Let's everyone recycle to day,
Yes, let's everyone recycle today.

We need fresh air and water
And trees uncut.
Today it's our world, yours and mine
But, tomorrow it is theirs,
Our sons and our daughters
So please leave it clean all the time.

It's published by Down to Earth Music and Publishing and Michael T. Wall Music. If you wish to order the cassette call 1-800-563-7234, or to request an autographed copy, you can write Mr. Wall, c/o Box 715, Pickering, Ontario L1V 3T3.

World's Largest Bike Date June 25

Scarborough officials have given the green light for the world's largest bike to ride local streets on June 25th. The bike is part of a nationwide event to celebrate Royal Bank's 125th anniversary by raising money for Easter Seals, an organization serving children with disabilities across Canada.

The bike, which seats 34, will visit Scarborough on June 25th, as part of the cross-Canada Royal Bank Rides for Easter Seals program. The rides began on May 7th in St. John's Newfoundland, and will take place in more than 125 communities, ending in Vancouver on Aug. 27th.

More than 10,000 riders are expected to raise over $1.25 million for Easter Seals during the rides. The program is fully funded by Royal Bank, and all proceeds will help children with physical disabilities in the communities in which the money was raised.

There will be a total of 5 rides in Scarborough. 160 riders are expected to raise $20,000. Each ride will last approximately 20-30 minutes. Riders will raise money by being sponsored for their ride. Each rider commits to a minimum $125 sponsorship, although in previous rides, some people have raised several thousands of dollars.

The rides in Scarborough will commence at Finch & Warden, follow Finch to Kennedy South to Sheppard, then picks up at Scarborough Main Branch, 111

Grangeway Ave., follow Progress Ave. and end at Kennedy & Lawrence.

G.T. (Gord) MacKenzie, Vice President, Metro East, Royal Bank, said the bank is involved in the Royal Bank Rides for Easter Seals as its major 125 anniversary activity. Royal Bank was founded in Halifax, Nova Scotia, in 1869.

People interested in taking part in the Scarborough Royal Bank Rides for Easter Seals can contact Harry Willmot at 289-5719.

About Construction Plans

With spring in the air, you may be planning a new building or addition on your property.

If the land you own is near a wetland: a ravine or valley; a river, lake or stream; or the Lake Ontario waterfront, you may require a permit from the Conservation Authority. You and the Conservation Authority will want to make sure that your project is safe from risk of erosion or flooding and that it won't damage the environment.

Before you draw up the blueprints, give Metro Region Conservation a call.

For more information, call the Plan Review Section at Metro Region Conservation at (416) 661-6600.

Eases Transition To College For Adults

by Roger O'Dell

A dream of a better life for themselves and their families has been the incentive for many adults to return to adult day schools. Success at schools like the Scarborough Centre for Alternative Studies brings them one step closer to attending a community college and fulfillment of their hopes.

"When I lost my job," commented Ali Hasib, 44. "I decided to retrain myself into something more marketable." Ali has returned to school to prepare for entry to college.

The goal of attending college raises many questions for adults:

"Will I like it?" "Will I be successful?"

Adult educators and community college instructors developed an idea called, "Articulation," designed to make the transition to college easier. While in secondary school, students can take one community college credit course.

When the student successfully completes the course there is more likelihood of being accepted into college.

"It helps us to see that college isn't as difficult as we thought, and that we can make it," says Lenka Kubu, a student in the Articulated Child-Care Co-Op Program. "You find out whether you really like it or not, and it helps in making the decision whether or not to continue."

Jean Nadeau, a SCAS teacher, said that articulated programs allow students to have a low-risk taste of college, while having the support of SCAS teachers and classmates.

Many students now consider college a realistic goal, and those who have gone on, feel better prepared. Having gone through the first difficult step of returning to school, adults are able to make the next transition on to community college.

Joan Hatkoski, a former SCAS student, studying in the Early Childhood Education Program at Centennial College found that Articulation worked for her.

"The Child Development course, which I took as part of the SCAS Articulation Program was an excellent introduction to college life," said Joan Hatkoski, "especially after being away from school for so long. Having one course finished lightened the workload and I felt a step ahead in my courses," said Joan.

Volunteers Raise Over $200,000

On behalf of its 464 volunteers, the Scarborough General Hospital Auxiliary presented Scarborough General Hospital with a cheque in the sum of $211,000 at its annual meeting and dinner on Mon. June 6.

The event took place at Q-SSIS Place, 3474 Kingston Rd.

The cheque presentation is a testament to the dedication and commitment of the Auxiliary, who together devote more than 4,000 hours of their time per month, working in over 60 different areas of the hospital.

The $211,000 is part of the auxiliary's pledge of $1.5 million to the hospital's $8.5 million Caring Together campaign. This particular contribution was raised over the last year, through the Memorial and Gift Fund, Shops and Carts, Baby Pictures, TV Rentals and the Auxiliary's H.E.L.P.P. lottery.

In addition to the cheque presentation, 55 members of the Auxiliary will be presented with long service awards in recognition of a total of 610 years of dedicated service.

Locals At CNE Pony Club Festival

Aspiring show jumpers from the local Rouge Valley, Leitchcroft, Ajax and Pickering Pony Clubs are expected to compete at the second of three Central Ontario Region Show Jumping Qualifiers at the Pickering Horse Centre on Sun. June 12, hosted by the Rouge Valley Pony Club. Competition will be fierce, with entries expected from most of the Region's 33 Clubs.

The first CNE Show Jumping Qualifiers was held in Temiskaming, for the more northerly Branches, and the third will be held on July 24, hosted by the Victoria Pony Club near Peterborough. Standings will be decided on a cumulative basis, so most competitors will enter at least two shows.

Top finishers will represent the Central Ontario Region at the CNE Pony Club Festival, competing against champions from other parts of Canada. In addition to Central Ontario, riders from the Western Ontario region and the St. Lawrence-Ottawa Valley region (which includes Quebec) normally compete for the Eastern Canada Show Jumping Championship at the CNE, with occasional entries from the Maritimes.

At this show, there will be competition at the Pre-Beginner, Beginner, Novice, Intermediate and Open Levels. Competition at each level is run on both an individual and a team basis-four members to each team with the best three scores counted, as in Nations Cup competition. Though each Pony Club may send as many individual riders as it wishes, it must name its four team members in each division before the contest starts. If a Pony Club doesn't have enough entries to form a team at a certain level, the show organizers can put together a mixed team, with riders from more than one Club. This gives more youngsters a chance to win team ribbons.

In all divisions, Central Ontario CNE Qualifiers will consist of a warm-up round, two competitive rounds and, if needed, a timed jump-off. Riders who go clear in the two rounds within the time allowed qualify for the jump-off. In the jump-off, clean rounds count ahead of those with knock-downs, and the fastest clean round wins. A rider who is eliminated in the first round can still jump in the second, but cannot qualify for the jump-off.

Pony Club is an international organization to promote riding and horsemanship skills among young people (up to 21 years old). It has been established in Canada since 1934 and celebrates its Diamond Jubilee this year. Nearly all of Canada's international show jumpers got their starts in Pony Club.

The Central Ontario Region comprises 33 branches with a total membership of over 600. Show jumping is the most familiar Pony Club activity to most spectators, but Pony Club also offers competition in dressage, mounted games, rallies (including dressage, cross-country jumping and stadium jumping), tetrathlon (including shooting, swimming, cross-country running by the riders) as well as "academic" competition in quiz format. Above all, the objective of all Pony Club competition is for young people to have fun in horse-related activities.

The Pickering Horse Centre is located at 3800 Paddock Rd., just north of Hwy. 7 and about midway between Brock Rd. and Waverly Rd. Spectators are welcome, and admission is free.

AT STRATFORD:

Sir Arthur Sullivan was a gifted and classically trained composer but to many he is, and probably always will be, best remembered for his collaboration with W. S. Gilbert. Sullivan was arguably the Ketelby Elgar of his time but Gilbert was decidedly the Lorenz Hart (at least as a lyricist)... bright, sparkling and topically incisive.

To add anything to his body of work should be akin to that infamous thirties motion picture version of a Shakespeare play, the credits for which read "Written by William Shakespeare with additional dialogue by..." Yet, the production at Stratford of The Pirates of Penzance has added an extra 15 pages of dialogue. What's more, it works!

Borrowing respectfully from Jesus Christ, Superstar this production directed and choreographed by Brian Macdonald, presents a troupe of British "savoyards" being directed in a silent movie version of Pirates by a tyrannical director clearly modelled after Erich von Stroheim and or Otto Preminger.

Tom Wood, who plays the director Von Shtompine (sic in Kitchener Kountry) with gusto, also wrote the additional dialogue. It's good and quite Gilbertian through rather more bawdy than risqué. A fopish actor with the company, complaining about scheduling, bemoans that he hasn't "done Nanki Poo for a fortnight". Neither has he "seen his wife's Yum-Yum".

The "film" of Pirates is more or less true to G. & S. even through Mr. Macdonald has been allowed his customary theatrical flourishes. Major General Stanley makes his entrance on stage in a plane crash. The Pirate King swings in from the rear of the theatre to a top gallant spar. The Sergeant of Police does knockabout whilst leading his Keystone Kops in Komedy Kapers.

It's all very jolly and, mirabile dictu, enhances rather than detracts. The performers seem to be enjoying themselves and that would seem to say it all.

Colm Feore muchly impresses and amuses as the Pirate King in a performance half Fairbanks and half Chaplin.

Douglas Chamberlain and Bradley Rudy as Major General and Sergeant respectively go over the top in performances better suited to panto, or even burlesque, than operetta but it doesn't really matter.

Aggie Elliot sings beautifully as Mabel the principal love interest. Opposite her, Robert Yeretch is almost beautiful as Frederic. Sings and dances well, too.

Dash it all, everyone performs well in this production. We think Mr. Gilbert would have approved of it... additional dialogue and all.

The Column saw Penzance at a matinee performance and in the evening attended Cyrano de Bergerac starring Colm Feore in the title role. Quite a feat to perform two such strenuous roles in the same day. We allude to the actor.

The role of Cyrano is to drama as Charley's Aunt is to comedy. It's not drag, of course, but its demands upon an actor are similar, as is the temptation to go beyond bravura into ham.

Mr. Feore has resisted the temptation or has been so directed by Derek Goldby. His Cyrano is far closer to the real life de Bergerac than to the fictionalization of Rostand. (To be fair, the translation of the late Anthony Burgess falters in a few key passages). He's bright, filled with joie de vivre and one knows instinctively that his love for Roxane is genuine but that he has not eschewed celibacy.

And, he's actually quite handsome, the so called monstrous nose is no worse than that of say, Bob Hope. He walks and comports himself as a poet adventurer. He speaks not only with the tongues of angels but their voices as well. Quite a remarkable performance and well worthy of an award.

One wonders, though, what Cyrano sees in the vapid Roxane of Martha Burns. Mayhap director Stanley was trying to evoke Quixote's Dulcinea. Even so, one suspects Cervantes' choice would have been Aldonza.

The entire production is most meaningful and well worth one's custom. One will be forgiven, however, for perceiving Colm Feore as the whole show.

CURTAIN CALL:
The LCBO has suspended sales of the French wines 1 2 3. Bergerac. It seems that glass particles have been found suspended in some of the bottles.

That wouldn't have bothered Cyrano!

CASTING CALL:
An open audition is being held this Saturday for "The Who's Tommy" scheduled to open next January at the Elgin Theatre. The usual requirements of an open

"The Second City" Opens 37th. Revue

"The Second City" has announced the opening of its 37th revue entitled "Up Against The Wal-Mart". Previews began June 2 and "Up Against The Wal-Mart" opens June 15.

"Up Against The Wal-Mart" is directed by Second City alumna and Dora Mavor Moore Award winner Linda Kash. Besides her extensive theatre experience, Linda has been very busy in television and film with recent appearances on the NBC hit show "Seinfeld" and a starring role in the upcoming ABC movie, "Ernest Goes To School".

Now a resident of Los Angeles, Linda will be returning there at the end of June to begin shooting the ABC sketch series, "The Better Sex Show" on which she will be a regular.

Musical direction is by Bob Derkach with stage management by Peter Sherk.

Veteran writers performers Andrew Currie, Jackie Harris, Steve Morel and Paul O'Sullivan are joined by newcomers Lori Nasso and Janet Van De Graaff, who have both had extensive experience with The Second City London and The Second City National Touring Company.

The Second City was proud to be honoured at "The 8th Annual American Comedy Awards" held March 6, 1994 in Los Angeles. The show featured a video tribute celebrating The Second City's illustrious history. December 1994 marks the 35th anniversary of The Second City in North America.

The Second City National Touring Company performs, "Once More With Fooling - a Best of Second City". Sunday nights. Tickets are $11. The box-office phone number is (416) 863-1111.

Fun Evening At Village Theatre

by Frank Knight

The title of the play "The Second Time Around" tells it all. A widower, Samuel Jonas (Ray Tower), and a widow, Laura Curtis (Pam Rayment), two respectable "senior citizens" fall in love and announce they will live together without marriage so that they can keep their single social security benefits and not have a decrease in their income.

Sam's daughter Cynthia (Linda Barrett) has her own marriage problems with husband Arthur (Martin Buote) a stuffy neurotic and ex-analyst whilst Laura's son Mike (Randy Leslie) has a wife Eleanor (Anita Lawson) who is paranoid about food additives and their own sexual performance.

This entire second generation is in nervous fits about the proposed arraignment but all ends well after some extremely funny dialogue, lots of topical pertinent cracks and some fine comedy acting.

The Scarborough Players director, Larry O'Leary, handles this show well which was really a comedy with farcical overtones. The main leads Ray Tower and Pam Rayment gave us some crisp vocalizing, good pacing, a nice understanding of character and they worked so well together.

A strong comedy performance by Randy Leslie had the audience in 'stitches'. An excellent performance. These three actors were the mainstay of the show and got us to the end in great style. One criticism, I know it is a problem adapting a proscenium play to an arena stage and this was no exception. The couch was set right on the 'crossroads' of an arena stage which caused some awkward movements by the actors and sight line blanking.

Altogether it is a very entertaining comedy farce. It runs one more weekend June 16, 17, 18 at the Scarborough Village Theatre, 3600 Kingston Rd. at Markham. Box office is (416) 396-4049.

sible for the now sad state of public education should find it necessary to have such a programme as KidsLit. It's annoying as well, that too many parents can't do on their own what KidsLit is trying to do.

ON THE LAKE:
Next Tuesday is the occasion of Southern Accent's 4th annual Muddy Water Cruise aboard Empress of Canada on Lake Ontario.

There will be live "Louisiana style" music and Cajun Creole dishes from the kitchen of Southern Accent restaurant. Included among them are pork back ribs grilled and baked in an orange pecan sauce, blackened chicken with lemon butter and candied yams, cajun potato salad, crawfish broil, tamales con queso ... the list just goes on and on. It rather reminds one of the Andy Razaf song That's What I Like About The South.

Boarding is at 6:30 p.m., departure is at 7 and disembarkation at 11. Cost is a moderate $50 but if you dine at Southern Accent (596 Markham St.) you could win free tickets to the cruise.

Oh yes, on board will be palm reader and Psychic Madame Rosa. Presumably, she'll be able to tell diners how much they can safely eat before inking out completely.

Cajun cooking, good. Lake Ontario, poco poco. Cajun cooking on Lake Ontario? Ungawah!

ON THE WALL:
The Carrier Art Gallery in Columbus Centre opens three new exhibitions next Tuesday. The paintings of Louisa Varaita and Carol Wald are, we suggest, too exotic for many tastes. Commended to attention, however, are the photographs of Chamba Acosta.

Acosta takes the viewer on a trip through the troubled contry of San Salvador. It's not pretty in the accepted sense of the word but certainly most arresting.

OFF THE WALL:
The Symphony of Fire (works) begins this weekend at Ontario Place. The Column is quite taken by the Royal York Hotel's advertising copy for its special accommodation package.

"See if the Big Bang theory still holds true at our hotel. Spend a romantic night ... and, one way or another, you'll see fireworks."

Unless we're guilty of honi soit qui mal y pense, such advertising makes the R.Y. appear venerable rather than venerable.

FAST EXIT:
Speaking of water activities, wrote he ever so smoothly, people who vacation at seaside resorts are not unlike the waves that they come to enjoy. The latter also arrive at the shore with a flourish and then leave broke.

Creating A Gateway In Niagara Falls

It has been the honeymoon capital of the world. Now Niagara Falls is poised to become a gateway to Ontario.

This summer's opening of the Niagara Gateway Festival Park and Welcome Pavilion is the first initiative under the ambitious Niagara Gateway Project. Ontario Minister of Culture, Tourism and Recreation Anne Swarbrick says the project aims to take full advantage of the Niagara Region's appeal.

"As a port of entry, the region welcomes 30 million visitors a year," says Swarbrick. "The key is to keep these travellers moving through Ontario and extend their stay."

The new park and pavilion will open in July and offer a superb view of the Horseshoe Falls, an outdoor amphitheatre for events, a pedestrian promenade, and a wealth of information on regional attractions. The tourism ministry contributed $586,000 in start-up jobs. Ontario funding for this project.

The project is the first step in a community action plan to build on the region's unique strengths and intrinsic appeal. As part of the Niagara Gateway Project, the province is also exploring private sector interest in developing a major attraction in Niagara Falls.

Vacationer's Guide To Cape Cod & The Islands

Quaint seaside villages right from the pages of Moby Dick, warm friendly people and fresh air scented by the salty sea - that's Cape Cod and the Islands, a "home away from home" for Canadians to visit this summer and fall.

Located in the southeastern corner of Massachusetts, Cape Cod is part of the mainland. Nantucket, the "far away land", is set 30 miles off the coast, while Martha's Vineyard is only 7 miles off Cape Cod. Cape Cod, Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard are equally beautiful and inviting in spring, summer and fall, so anytime is the perfect time to "come home".

Both the islands are easily accessible by ferry from the mainland, with year-round daily service available with the Steamship Authority (508-540-2022) and seasonal service May through October, is available on Cape Island Express (508-997-1688), Hy-Line (508-778-2600), and Island Queen (508-548-4800).

Passenger fares on the Steamship Authority ferry range from $4 - $4.75 US one way for adults to Martha's Vineyard, depending on the season, and a one-way trip to Nantucket is $9.75 year-round. Passengers do not require reservations for the ferry, but they are asked to arrive at least 30 minutes prior to departure in low season and 45 minutes to one hour before departure in high season to ensure enough time for ticket purchases and any other arrangements.

Because Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard are small, visitors are asked to leave their automobiles on the mainland, where plenty of parking is available for a small fee at both the ferry landings and airports. Reservations are strongly recommended and must be made well in advance if visitors wish to transport their car, with prices ranging from US $6 - $83, depending on the final destination. Automobiles are allowed on Steamship Authority only.

For those wishing to fly to Cape Cod or the Islands, US Air Commuter and Delta Air Lines Business Express operate daily service and offer reasonable fares from Boston. Contact your travel agent for more information.

Whale-watching is a must when visiting Cape Cod and the Islands. The magnificent creatures are regularly sighted off the coast of Massachusetts, where they come to feed in the fertile waters. There are six whale-watching cruises from Cape Cod and Nantucket that run from April to October and prices range from $12 to $18 US per adult.

Antique lovers will delight in the shops that abound on the Cape and both the islands. These destinations offer a treasure trove of shops for the antique buff, including period furniture, antique weather-vanes and oriental rugs, and the elusive "perfect" piece just waiting to be discovered. Cape Cod also boasts 48 challenging golf courses, most of them public, that draw nearly as many visitors to Cape Cod as the beaches. Green fees range from $17 - $75 US. Martha's Vineyard also has a scenic 18 hole course that is open to the public.

There are also plenty of special events on Cape Cod and the Islands to keep vacationers busy throughout their visit. Some of these events include the Boston Pops Symphony Orchestra 9th Annual Pops by the Sea concert, with Harry Ellis Dickson conducting, on the Hyannis Village Green on Aug. 7th (508-790-ARTS).

The Possible Dreams Auction, held on Martha's Vineyard, bid for the chance to play a round of golf or have dinner with a number of celebrities that make the island their home. This fun-filled charity auction will be held Aug. 1st (508-693-7900).

The Annual Nantucket Arts Festival (508-228-8455) will be held Oct. 3 - 10, with musical events, house tours, a wet paint auction on Saturday, where the artists paint all day and sell the art the same day, children's activities, and more.

Cape Cod and the Islands also boast many historical sites and outdoor attractions. The National Marine Fisheries Aquarium at Wood's Hole, the Kennedy Memorial at Hyannis, the Flying Horses Carousel on Martha's Vineyard, and the Whaling Museum on Nantucket, to name just a few. Provincetown is home to a lively artists' colony on Cape Cod. All three destinations offer miles of beaches perfect for relaxing, and bike paths, like the Cape Cod Rail Trail, offer a different way to see the sights.

Finally, accommodations on Cape Cod and the Islands are numerous and varied, from quaint bed and breakfasts to gingerbread style cottages and deluxe hotel accommodations. Prices range from less than $70 US to $150 US and up.

Be A Volunteer Pasta adds sizzle to summer

Pasta salads have long been a favorite side dish at summer barbecues and picnics, but true pasta aficionados will tell you that this versatile food also makes a spectacular summer centerpiece.

Fortunately, pasta is quick and easy to prepare which leaves more time for relaxing and less time for the kitchen to heat up. Naturally low in fat, it is also an excellent source of energy -- which can be in increased demand during outdoor summer activities.

For further nutritional benefits, try whole wheat, added fibre or added protein pasta and take advantage of fresh locally-grown vegetables like red and green peppers, tomatoes, zucchini and asparagus to create healthy, light-tasting pasta dishes. For extra flavor, fire up the barbecue and grill veggies in a non-stick barbecue basket or on a grid grill.

Fresh herbs also make a flavor statement that can't be overlooked. Many supermarkets and produce markets now offer a selection of herbs like basil, coriander and dill or you can pick up potted versions to have on hand at home.

Here are three pasta recipes that make great summer fare.

Added Fibre Spaghetti with Shrimp, Asparagus and Sun-Dried Tomatoes

Added Fibre Spaghetti with Shrimp, Asparagus and Sun-Dried Tomatoes is a delicious low-fat, high-fibre meal that makes a stunning impression. This flavorful dish starts with an assortment of fresh herbs and chicken broth, before it's accented with sun-dried tomatoes, asparagus and shrimp fresh off the grill.

Added Protein Spaghetti with Grilled Vegetables and Pesto

Added Protein Spaghetti with Grilled Vegetables and Pesto combines the great flavor of grilled vegetables with a surprisingly easy-to-prepare homemade pesto sauce. For a new twist on an old favorite, toss together a Whole Wheat Macaroni Vegetable Salad. Nutrition and taste are chart toppers for this cold salad that boasts a refreshing lemon dill dressing that makes it a perfect choice for summer buffets.

Lester B. Pearson CI News

FRIENDS OF SCARBOROUGH

A community group, 'Friends of Scarborough', held a conference at Wexford Collegiate on Sat. June 11th. The conference felt it was important that youth should be given the opportunity to contribute to the process of decision making in our community. Students from Pearson were in attendance.

The following important concerns were raised at this conference: jobs, a clean community, self-empowerment, safe streets and neighbourhoods, good parenting, building pride in our community, social services, advantageous use of parks, benefiting from our multicultural society.

SPORTS Cricket

Pearson's cricketers, led by an outstanding all-round performance from Shihan De Silva, defeated Thomson by 5 runs in an exciting quarter-final game on June 1st.

Batting first Pearson scored 97 runs for 4 wickets. The highlight of the innings was an unbeaten half century by Shihan, who hit three sixes on his way to establishing a new high score for a Pearson batsman in school competition. Quinton Egbert scored 19 runs and helped Shihan put on 61 runs for the third wicket partnership.

In reply Thomson made 92 runs for the loss of 9 wickets. Shihan continued his role as Thomson's nemesis by capturing three of their wickets for 27 runs. Siva mayan Sanderasekaram and Rishan Saba also bowled well and each got two wickets. Pearson now prepares to meet the unbeaten Woburn C.I. team in the semi-finals at L'Amoreaux Cricket Ground on June 2nd.

In this semi-final game Pearson displayed true championship form by defeating the previously unbeaten Woburn team by the comfortable margin of 39 runs. Duston Jeristus with 33 runs, Shihan De Silva with 21, and Quinton Egbert with 17 were the chief contributors to Pearson's score of 88 runs for 9 wickets.

Bowling and fielding with great tenacity and purpose Pearson then dismissed

Woburn for 49 runs. Rishan Saba with 2 wickets for 14 runs. Siva mayan Sanderasekaram 2 for 14. Shihan De Silva 2 for 18 and Gautam Sharma 1 for 3 were the successful bowlers for Pearson.

The 1994 Pearson cricket team is just one step away from going where no Pearson cricket team has gone before - atop the champion's podium. The team meets Cedarbrae in the championship match.

Tennis

On May 31st, for the first time, Pearson was represented at the Ontario High School Tennis Tournament.

Harry Mastoropoulos and Alexandra Boikovitis played an excellent tournament and advanced to the Consolation Round Final before losing a very close match, 7-5 in the breaker! Congratulations to the "Greek Connection" - a great mixed doubles team.

Badminton

The Pearson Girls' Slo-pitch team ended the season with a frustrating and controversial 4-2 loss to Cedarbrae on May 31st. In a shaky first inning Pearson surrendered 4 runs, but then shut the opposition down the rest of the way and chipped away to make it 4-2 after 7 innings.

In the top of the 8th Pearson broke it open with 4 runs to go up 6-4. However, in part because of some questionable delaying tactics on the part of the other team, the 8th inning could not be completed before the rains came down. The game was called at that point and the score reverted to the last full inning. Thus Pearson's 4 runs were disallowed, and Cedarbrae was handed a 4-2 victory.

In spite of the disappointing finish the Pearson team had a great season, in which they played exciting ball and outscored the opposition by a total of 127-37. Mr. Williams and Mr. Tors congratulate all the players who showed excellent dedication, team spirit, and enthusiasm. Well done, girls.

Congratulations to the intramural badminton champions - Adam Blakeley and Harry Mastoropoulos - and to all the intramural badminton teams for their excellent skill level and sportsmanship.
