St. Andrew's Night will be celebrated in the Presbyterian Church this Friday evening by a hot roast chicken supper, served from 5 to 7:45 o'clock. There will be a radio studio on the stage of the Town Hall, and the Raymer Eventide Hour will be broadcasted.

Dunbarton.

A 3-act Comedy-Drama, "Southern Cinderella," will be given in the Community Hall, Dunbarton, on Thursday, Nov. 28th, at 8 p. m. This will be presented by a good company of Toronto players. Admission, 25 and 15 cents.

Brougham

Mr. Woodward has commenced business in the former Baker store. Miss Mahaffy, of Blackstock, is visiting friends in Brougham.

Mrs. Thos. Knox is home again after a pleasant visit with old neighbors and friends of Whitevale.

The attendance at the church service and Sunday School on Sunday was good.

Miss Jean Malcolm and friend Miss Clark, of Ravenshoe, spent the week-end at home.

The Y. P. S. presented Mr. Joe Clewes with a small gift as he is leaving the neighborhood, and will be missed in the church activities.

Miss Gladys Gannon, of Toronto, was a week-end visitor at her home here. The Lyle family, of Oshawa were also guests at the Gannon home on Sunday.

The Y. P. S. of the church enjoyed a pleasant social evening at the Howard Malcolm home on Friday evening.

Come to the 13th Annual meeting of the Brougham Citizens' League which will be held in the Brougham Fire Hall on Monday, Dec. 2nd, at 8 o'clock.

This community was shocked on Sunday by the news that Mr. and Mrs. Miller, of Stouffville had been killed by their car being struck by a freight train at Langstaff crossing. The relatives have the sincerest sympathy of the community.

The November meeting of the W. M. S. of St. John's United Church was held at the home of the President, Mrs. John Miller, presiding. Although the weather was very unfavorable there was a large attendance. The program for the afternoon was in charge of Miss M. Duncan, Convener of Group C, the following taking part: Mrs. Fred Cassie, Mrs. R. D. Miller, Mrs. Bert Harvey, Mrs. Bayles and Miss Duncan, who gave a very interesting program. At the close the hostesses, Mrs. McWhirter and Mrs. Warren Willson served an attractive and dainty tea.

Stouffville

Dr. Neil Smith is now home from the hospital and is making a rapid recovery.

Mr. C. J. Brodie, west of here, carried off a large number of prizes at the Winter Fair this week.

Mr. Hugh Anderson, who had his block of three stores burnt to the ground last week, will rebuild in the near future.

A number from here are attending the Stouffville Old Boys' and Girls' Association at Toronto this Thursday evening.

Special Evangelistic meetings are being held for a couple of weeks by Rev. Peter Wiseman to capacity congregations.

Some improved method of notifying the people in cases of fire cannot be made too soon by our council. An electrical fire alarm should be installed.

Rev. Mr. Worling, of the Christian Church has resigned and leaves this week to serve on the Mission Fields of India. He will pass through the infested zone waters of the Mediterranean Sea and the Suez Canal.

A very tragic and shocking fatal accident befell two Stouffville citizens of long standing Sunday last, in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Miller, who were killed instantly, when their car was hit by a freight train at the C. N. R. crossing at Langstaff. Their remains were taken to their home here, and on Tuesday afternoon buried in the Stouffville Cemetery.

Whitevale

Do you like "Travelling?" Well, be on hand at the United Church on Friday evening, Dec. 13th, at 8 o'clock, sharp. We are taking a "Trip Across Canada," with the aid of 150 slides. We will have some excellent readings by Miss Audrey Plaxton and Miss Ruby Booth, and instrumentalists by Miss Marjorie McKay. We are asking for a collection to help with Christmas Cheer for our abtains. This entertainment is under the auspices of the December Group of the Women's Institute, Mesdames, Pugh, Randall, Wilson and Middleton. Topic - "Education." Admission Free. Everybody welcome. Com.

Brock Road

Miss Alma Hamilton spent this week with her aunt in Columbus. Mr. and Mrs. Kyrle Southwell, of Whitby, visited with Mrs. Murdock on Sunday last.

Please reserve Thursday evening, Dec. 19th, for the Brock Road school concert.

Last Friday, Nov. 22nd, the children of Brock Road School visited the Daily Star Building, Eaton's Toyland and the Royal Ontario Museum. Guides and lecturers were provided by the "Star" and the Museum, who explained in a very interesting and educational manner how a newspaper is printed and also many curious things in the Museum. For transportation we are in great debt to Miss Eva Bunker, Mr. Wm. Ellicott, Mr. Chas. Hood and Mr. Lorne White. Also while visiting Eaton's Toyland Mr. Rowe arranged a free ride for the children on his Toyland Treasure Train. A very enjoyable time was spent by all, both educational and entertaining.

Audley

For sale cheap, a typewriter. A. S. and Mrs. Leaver of Oakville visited with R. P. and Mrs. Winter and family over the week-end.

Mrs. Wonnacott is still indisposed at her parents home. She is having considerable trouble with her tonsils now.

Herbert Moorhouse has been engaged with Grasmere Farm for a year to assist in the work of the farm and livestock.

Jack Annan who has been engaged with F. M. Chapman for over a year, has left to take another position.

R. P. Winter tried to nail his knee to the barn he is putting up and found it did not work very well. (knee-less hammering, Dick.)

Do not forget the social evening being given in the school-house here on Friday evening next by the W. A. of the Church here. A quilt will be sold and a luncheon served. Every one welcome.

Grasmere farm secured third place on their registered oats at the Royal. Their entry was a larger oat than either of the first or second, but did not have the polished appearance of the other two.

We are sorry to lose James Ravie and his family from our midst. They moved on Monday to Dunbarton. Since his wife died a few years ago Jim has kept the family together and has managed to give them a decent education. Our best wishes go with them.

Their many friends here are wishing good things for Hugh and Mrs. Miller, who were married at the bride's home here, Wesley and Mrs. Gee, on Saturday last. Miss Margaret was exceptionally well liked here, while Hugh has been a welcome visitor here at all times. We hope for them far better things than the placards on their car, as they went away told the story.

We note that the Department of Marine are getting after us for radio licenses again. We had hoped that the new Liberal Government would kick this radio foolishness into the discard. This taxing the people for an amusement that costs so much to keep up in tubes and electric charges or battery service, is totally uncalled for. Besides, the disturbance created by the high tension electric lines here prevents many from getting the service over far away stations that they should. We suggest a registration fee of fifty cents a year is ample. The million-dollar commission should get the S. S.

The Queen's Hall Murder

By ADAM BROOME

SYNOPSIS

SIGNOR ARELLI of Milan, a famous composer, is about to make his first appearance in London. He is to conduct the first performance of a symphony of his own composition at the Queen's Hall. The event has aroused very great interest. The hall is crowded, and millions of listeners are waiting for the performance to come over the radio.

Arelli makes his entrance, and raising his baton suddenly collapses. Medical aid is immediately forthcoming, but it is obvious that the man is dead. In the audience are two young people, Lettice Manton and Stephen Garton.

A STEP FORWARD

"Then you couldn't swear to the fellow—pick him out in a crowd if we found him and mixed him up with the lot?"

Tom Harris uttered a sigh which was meant to express contempt. He looked round the dingy walls of the charge-room—dark green to about four feet up—a lighter green the rest of the way to the ceiling. He remarked to himself that the lighter green was not a happy touch on the part of the decorator—it showed up the dirt so much more effectively than the dark. He reflected that perhaps his own intellect might become a little dulled if he had to work in surroundings like these. The fogginess of the walls must somehow have communicated itself to Inspector Haynes' brain.

"Course I couldn't. Haven't I told you already? His hat was down over his face; he was all in the shade of the ferns and things. And what's more, I only saw him about a couple of seconds. I made off with the crowd one way and he slipped through the other."

"I suppose you think I'm a bit of a fool—that all policemen are rather mugs?" He glanced across at Chief Inspector Taunton of Scotland Yard who sat beside him at the table across which they were examining the witness. "But you see Mr. Harris—and Mr. Taunton will bear me out—we're used to this sort of thing. The ordinary passer-by who happens to see something occur that may have some connection with a crime is hardly ever thinking of its possible importance. After all, why should he? He's not a detective and it's not his job anyway. But it is a fact that sometimes when a man comes before us, when the incident he has seen is known by us to have some importance, he begins to remember little things that perhaps escaped him at the time." The Inspector's tone was civil—ingratiating, and the defiant chauffeur showed signs of melting. He was no fool; he could see the sense of Haynes' remarks.

"I did think," he said, "that I did see some sort of a moustache over the edge of his coat. But what good that is to you it beats me to think."

"All we're doing now, Harris, is to take what we call 'proofs' of the evidence you'll be giving in court at the adjourned inquest to-morrow. We've got out our own theories (I dare say they're wrong), of course. But we need not bother you with them; it's not your business. You'll be one of the round dozen to have given evidence. You may not see, at the time, the significance of what you're saying. But that doesn't matter a hoot. It's all part of this jigsaw puzzle. We hope that when everything's been heard the Coroner, with perhaps our help, may be able to fit them altogether into some sort of a picture."

Mr. Harris gave a kind of half cough, half grunt which his interrogators interpreted correctly as a further step in the thawing process. "Now I don't want to suggest anything to you—it might spoil the value of the whole of your evidence. But do just try to think if you can remember anything—however small and unimportant—that you noticed about this man on Monday night."

"It's a hard job." Mr. Harris lay back in the uncomfortable official police station chair and revolved round his tongue the remains of a cigarette which Haynes had offered him. He thrust his hands deep into his pockets and stared fixedly at the table. This as a source of information appeared to be ineffective. He cocked his head sideways and looked up at the faded portrait of Queen Victoria which hung, dusty and slightly askew, on the dingy wall between windows provided with dirty corrugated mirror reflectors, which were singularly useless at introducing extra light from above into the murky room. He stared at the picture for a moment or two. Some sort of notion was forming in his brain. The revolutions of the cigarette stump grew less spasmodic; the chauffeur was engaged in an honest endeavour to think profoundly. Haynes and Taunton on the other side of the table looked away—anywhere but in the direction of their witness. They did not wish by the slightest appearance of spying or intruding to put their bloodhound off the scent.

"Come to think of it now—I did notice something—about the feller's hands—Small they were and a good deal whiter than yours or mine—and no offence meant." The two police officers smiled.

"And none taken," said Inspector Haynes.

"And that's about all I'm likely to remember if I sit here till Christmas—and that's a fact." Tom Harris sat up again in his chair. He removed the stub from his mouth and Taunton handed him the case. The chauffeur took a fresh cigarette and lighted it.

"Yes, I'm sorry. I'm plumb positive I can't remember any more, and I don't see how any more thinking's going to do the trick."

One mistake that a great many home owners make is in not putting enough coal on the fire. This is a false economy. A thin, skimpy fire not only burns up too fast, goes out more easily, and causes many unnecessary trips to the cellar, but it also wastes fuel.

For the most economical operation, always put on enough fuel to keep the fire-bed level with the bottom of the fire-door.

In mild weather you can leave a little heavier accumulation of ash on the grate. The fire will then burn very slowly, yet there will be sufficient fuel in the process of burning to provide ample heat in case of a sudden drop in the outside temperature. And remember, whenever you put on fresh coal, always leave an exposed spot of live coal directly in front of the fire-door to act as a pilot light to ignite the gasses arising from the fresh coal.

Find Out

From Your Doctor if the "Pain" Remedy You Take Is Safe.

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with "Aspirin."

We say this because, before the discovery of "Aspirin," most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of "Aspirin" largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken "Aspirin" year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: "Aspirin" is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains... and safe for the average person to take regularly.

"Aspirin" Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

LIVE YEAST Clears Up Pimples

Pimples and many other skin troubles yield to Phillips Live Yeast. Phillips Live Yeast, the new English discovery, is different to other forms of yeast. First of all it is pleasant in flavour, and easy to take. You will enjoy it. Second it is very rich in the vitamins B1 and B2 so necessary for health and energy.

Phillips Live Yeast helps natural digestion, improves the appetite and makes the sluggish system active in a healthy normal way. Constipation is overcome, the blood is purified and enriched. The acids and impurities which clog the skin are carried away and the complexion clears up in no time. Pimples and boils disappear. A sallow, "muddy" skin takes on the fresh, rosy colour of health and beauty.

And furthermore, Phillips Live Yeast is more economical. It doesn't spoil. It keeps indefinitely. You can purchase several weeks' supply at one time—and save money. Twenty-five days' treatments cost only one dollar.

Two sizes—a bottle of 150 tablets for $1.00 or 50 for 50 cents. Your druggist has it. Try Phillips Live Yeast—it's nicer, it's better and more economical.

LESSON NO. 81 BALANCE IN THREE TONES

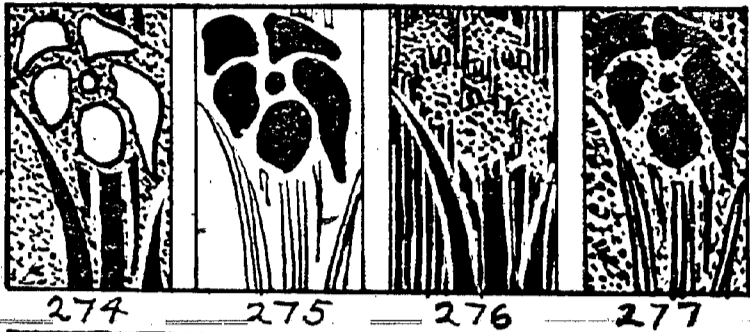

In your Exercise work for last week you were asked to create three new designs featuring balance in black and white. This week you will study balance in three tones.

In Figs. 274-5 we have demonstrated the use of tones 1, 3, and 5 in reversed positions, each design giving an entirely different effect, and yet the same three tones were used.

The flower in Fig. 274 we have used the White Tone No. 1 on the flower, on the stem and leaves the Black Tone No. 5, and the Half-Tone of square. Use similar tone on your design number one as we have on our design Fig. 274. On your number two use similar tones as on our Fig. 276. On your number 3 use similar tones as on our Fig. 276. Then on your number 4 use similar tones as on our Fig. 277. This is your work for Ex. No. 80.

If you have had any experience in the use of black and white paint, the two extremes of light and dark, you will know that by mixing these two paints, that intermediate tones are produced. With these different tones we may represent the LIGHT and Grey for the background. Now in Fig. 275 we have changed these tones by using Black on the flower, Half-Tone on the stem and leaves, and White for the background. Two simple effects, and both different.

In Figs. 276-7, we demonstrate the use of tones 3, 4, and 5 also in reversed positions. Let us study Fig. 276, on the flower we have used the Half-Tone Grey, No. 3 tone. On the stem and leaves we have used No. 5 Tone, Black. Then for the background we used Tone No. 4, a Dark Grey. In Fig. 277 we used Black on the flower, Dark Grey No. 4 on the stem and leaves. Then we used No. 3 a Half-Tone for the background. Similar tones used on both of these designs No.'s 276-7, but note the difference in effect.

Draw 4 squares two inches wide, underneath each square number 1, 2, 3 and 4 respectively. In each square draw a circle slightly smaller so the circle does not touch the inside area lines of the square. Then inside the circle draw a smaller square without touching the circle. You now have 4 designs, each having a large square, a circle and a smaller square. VALUES of the objects we are to illustrate.

In our work which is to be reproduced and printed in one colour, BLACK, we may use a variety of tones by the mixture of BLACK and WHITE paint. This requires the making of what is known as a half-tone cut or engraving, such as is used to print in the newspapers photographs of prominent men and women. If you look carefully at a half-tone cut reproduction in a newspaper you will find a series of dots. These dots vary in size and that is what produces the various tones in the reproduction of one colour printing.

That is the reason why an artist has to resort to the mixture of Black and White paint in order to get the intermediate tones, between black and white on painted tone drawings.

The explanations given in this lesson are in response to letters inquiring about the difference between Black and White tones produced with the pen or pencil, and these produced from painting with brush tones.

A Friend! What is a friend? My friend is he who laughs with me, who weeps with me; one who encourages, praises, rebukes; who eats chicken and turkey or bread and water with me; who comes to me at the wedding feast, or stands beside me at the grave; who listens to my hopes, my fears, my aims, my despair; who rejoices in my success; who does not despise me in my misfortunes.

One morning recently Jack Miner, the Kingsville naturalist, found an 85-pound bear up a tree in his bird sanctuary.

Fun Unspoiled

These early northern visitors to Miami Beach could hardly wait for the storm to pass on before going on with their interrupted vacation. Here we see them as they romped on the sands after their hurricane enforced day of activity.

These lessons are free. We invite questions from our readers, which will be answered without any charge. A small fee is charged for criticism on readers' sketches. Enclose a three (.03) stamped, addressed return envelope for personal replies to: The Art Director, "Our Sketch Club", 73 Adelaide Street West, Toronto.

LAURA WHEELER CLEVERLY COMBINES STYLE WITH SIMPLE STITCHES

CROCHETED HAT AND PURSE
PATTERN 1096

This extremely smart hat and purse set are new as next year! Take Laura Wheeler's advice and waste no time getting to work with wool and crochet hook—you'll add style to your wardrobe. The little hat has a brim rolled tight in the back and sweeping out straight in front—Paris calls this "the clerical type," and most becoming it is! The matching purse, of novel shape, is worked in the same combination of plain crochet and puff stitch, while its handle repeats the corded band of the hat.

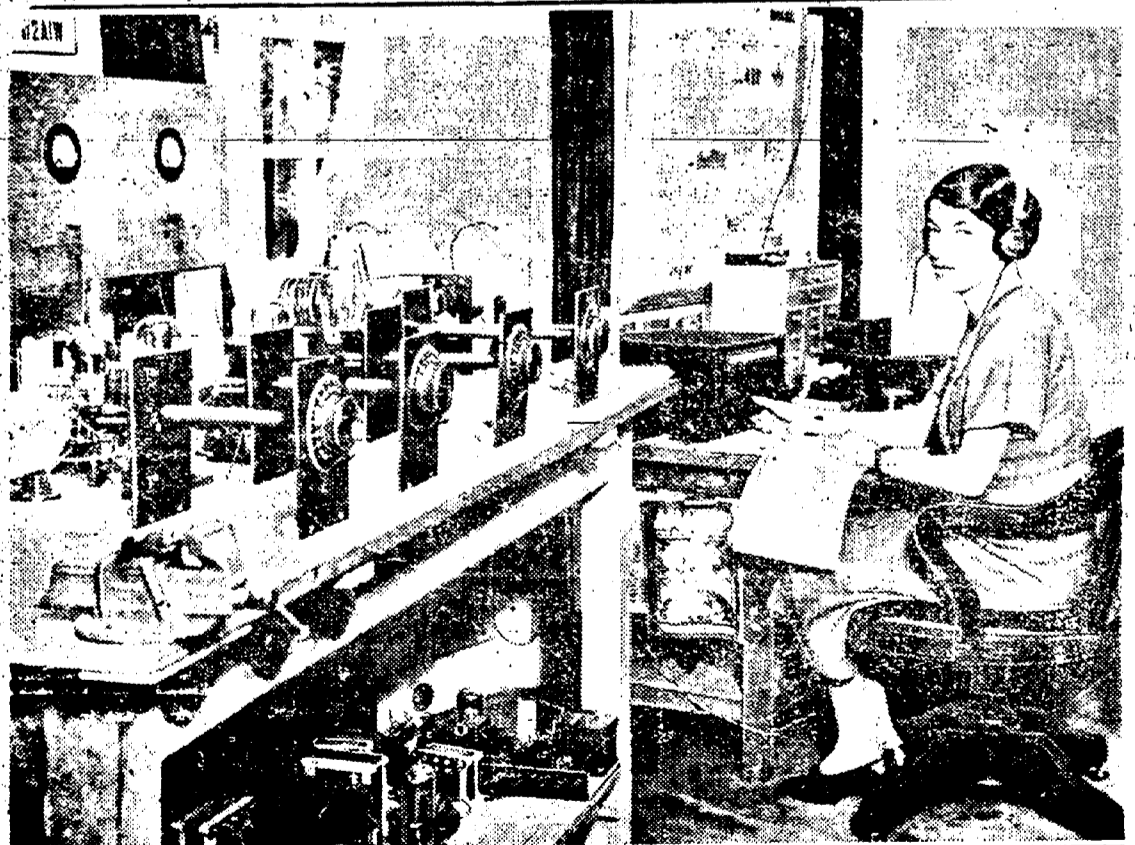

Pattern 1096 comes to you with complete directions for making the hat and purse; illustrations of them and of all stitches used; material requirements.

Send 20 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) for this pattern to Needlecraft Dept., Wilson Publishing Co., 73 West Adelaide Street, Toronto.

Perfectly Fitting

Cold weather holds no terrors for these beauties and they don't feel the least bit out of place as they pose for the camera in the latest things in bathing suits before starting work in Hollywood film studio. They are just reminding those who will shiver in the North that there are sunny beaches to be found even in winter.

Nellie Corry, young British radio enthusiast, pictured in her home at Walton-on-the-Hill, Surrey, England, with the set she built for less than $20. Working on a 10-metre wave length, she established in six hours, 20 minutes, contact with amateurs in six continents. It is believed this is the first time the feat has ever been accomplished.

Capt. Eddie Baker, B. Sc., O. B. E., M. C., Croix de Guerre.

The Boys and Young Men of Mr. Wheeler's Gymn Club are taking entire charge of the United Church Evening Service on Sunday next. As their speaker, the boys have secured Capt. Eddie Baker, the Managing Director of the Canadian National Institute for Blind, who was totally blinded by a sniper's bullet in the Great War. In the Spring of 1915, "Eddie" Baker was a young graduate in Science of Queen's University. In the Fall of that same year, he was in charge of a company of engineers engaged in repairing the trenches in front of Kemmel, when a German sniper's bullet tore across the bridge of his nose and rendered him permanently blind. Capt. Baker came back to Canada after spending a few months at St. Dunstan's, Sir Arthur Pearson's famous training school for blinded sailors and soldiers. Within a few months of his return he was employed by the Hydro-Electric Commission, typing "trouble" reports as they were relayed to him over the telephone. Later, he was connected with the Dept. of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, at Ottawa, having especially to do with the re-establishment of those soldiers with a similar handicap to his own. When the Canadian National Institute for the Blind was founded in 1918, Capt. Baker was one of those to whom the charter was granted, but it was not until a year or two later that he became definitely and permanently connected with that organization, first as Secretary and then as Managing Director. Today, Capt. Baker is looked upon as one of the foremost authorities on work for the blind, not only in Canada, but in the English-speaking world. Under his guidance, the C. N. I. B. has built up a magnificent organization extending its activities into every province of Canada and to Newfoundland. To his academic degree of Bachelor of Science and his Military Honours, Military Cross and Croix de Guerre, was added last year the title of O. B. E. the order being conferred upon him by His Majesty on New Year's Day.

Mr. Hugh C. Treneer, also totally blind, will preside at the organ. Mr. Eric Pogue, Violinist, of Toronto will again play at this service, as last year. Mr. Treneer, in spite of the fact that he is totally blind, is one of the most widely-known musicians in Ontario. A graduate of the Brantford School for the Blind, he conducted a choir, and was organist of a Toronto choir for years. He later moved to Oshawa, where he occupied a similar position. He is at present Field Secretary for the C. N. I. B. The service will be non-denominational, and everyone interested in the boys or others taking part in the service are urged to be present.

Death of Robert and Mrs. Miller

Death came with tragic suddenness to Robert and Mrs. Miller, of Stouffville, on Sunday morning, when they were driving to Hamilton to visit their son, Bearston, and on their return in the evening, were to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. A. McLeod, of Toronto. On Monday morning they intended to visit the Winter Fair, to see the judging of Shorthorns. When driving over the level crossing at Langstaff a C. N. R. freight train struck the car, which was being driven by Mrs. Miller. Mrs. Miller was thrown some 700 feet into a field south of the crossing, while Mr. Miller, who was wedged in the wreck which was carried for nearly a mile on the cow-catcher of the locomotive. Both victims were killed instantly, but strange to say the bodies bore no marks of the accident. The only eye-witness of the accident was A. C. Mattheas, of the Langstaff Supply Co., who rushed to the tracks and waved and called loudly. His calls were heard by the train crew in the caboose who notified the engineer, who brought the train to a stop and removed the wrecked car. Mr. Miller was a son of the late John Miller, who was a pioneer in the importation of pure-bred farm stock, who settled on the 7th concession of Pickering. His home became well-known, especially to stock-breeders and was known as "Thistle Ha" which was the birth-place of Robt. Miller, who became internationally known as a breeder of pure-bred shorthorns. At one time he was the Conservative candidate at the General Election for the Local Legislature, his opponent, being the Hon. John Dryden, who defeated him. As a stock-breeder he has done much to promote the pure-bred live-stock industry not only in Canada but also in the United States and Mexico, the latter honoring him by making him an Honorary Life Member of the Live Stock Association of Mexico, the document being signed by Diaz, President of Mexico. He was a Director of the Canadian National Exhibition for a number of years, and in 1923, was made its president, the first farmer to occupy that position. Mrs. Miller was his second wife, the first having died 15 years ago. He is survived by one son, Bearston, of the Imperial Oil Co., of Hamilton; three brothers, John, on the homestead, George, in Manitoba and Andrew, of Claremont, also two sisters, Mrs. David Burns, of Brooklin and Margaret on the homestead.

Kinsale

Rev. Mrs. Mutton we are pleased to report is improving. The recent frost has stopped the plowing for the present. Mission Band will be held in the hall this Saturday afternoon. Miss Mabel Harbron spent the week-end with her mother here. Misses Doris and Freda Horton are spending the week with Miss F. Mowbray. A number of our young people attended the dance at Brooklin on Friday night. The many friends of Mrs. J. Richardson are pleased to learn she is improving. A number of our young people attended services in Oshawa Church on Sunday night. Mrs. M. Gormley and Mrs. A. Bunker were in Toronto last week attending the Institute Convention

R. E. Mowbray attended County Council in Whitby last week, also on Friday night he and Mrs. Mowbray attended the banquet. Misses Mowbray, Jennie and Eileen Parkin spent last Tuesday evening in Whitby with Mr. R. Nicholson, who entertained his pupils at his home. The Women's Institute held their November meeting at the home of Mrs. R. E. Mowbray with fourteen present. A quilt was quilted for a recent bride and after the regular business was dealt with, the hostess served a sumptuous supper to all. The W. A. are holding a Bazaar in the Hall this Friday evening. After supper is served for the small fee of 10 cents, a good program of local talent will be given. Any one looking for useful articles for Christmas gifts will find them here. After a lingering illness, the death of Mr. G. Hodgson, took place in the Toronto General Hospital, last Tuesday, Nov. 19th, which relieved his sufferings. About four years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Hodgson moved here from Port Perry and made a host of friends. He was in his 70th year. He leaves to mourn his loss a sorrowing wife and one daughter, Mrs. C. Richardson and one son, Melville.

Tom Linton visited his brother at Orono last week.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Taylor on Sunday, Nov. 24th, a daughter.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Purdy, on Thursday, Nov. 14th, a daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Motherall were Toronto visitors over the week-end.

Miss Clara Neal spent the past week in Toronto.

Mrs. C. Langlois, of Toronto, spent the week-end with Mrs. Chandler.

The Sunday School Entertainment for the United Church, is announced for Wednesday, Dec. 18th.

Mrs. Bame entertained a number of lady friends to a bridge on Monday of this week.

W. Miller arrived home from the North on Thursday last, bringing with him, his allotment.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ward spent Sunday with the latter's parents, W. P. and Mrs. Jones, of Balsam.

Mr. and Mrs. Les. Feasby, of Sandford, spent Sunday with D. A. and Mrs. Pugh, here.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Jones, of Brooklin, spent Sunday with the latter's mother, Mrs. Bushby.

Mr. and Mrs. John Birkett, of Port Perry spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Birkett.

Several from here attended the funeral of the late Robt. and Mrs. Miller, of Stouffville, on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodward have moved to Brougham where they are conducting the business formerly operated by Mr. Baker.

Several from here have been attending the Royal Winter Fair in the city during the past few days.

Rev. J. L. Harton occupied the pulpit of the Baptist Church on Sunday last, and will preach his farewell sermon on Sunday next.

Mrs. Empringham, we are glad to hear has been permitted to return home from Gravenhurst, much improved in health.

Mrs. Chandler has not been enjoying the very best of health during the past week. Mrs. Vair, of Toronto is visiting her at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Pilkey and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Barber motored to Aurora on Sunday, returning later on the week-end.

Several from this village attended the presentation of the play, "The Dust of the Earth," in St. Andrew's Church, Pickering, on Monday evening.

Miss Effie Graham and Miss Ella Prouse attended the wedding of Mrs. Walter Holliday, (nee Evelyn Prouse) of Brooklin on Saturday of last week.

Frank Derusha, who sustained a fracture of several ribs, in a fall a few days ago, is reported, not to be recovering as satisfactorily as his family would like.

The Canning Factory Sale did not prove too successful, and did not as yet produce a buyer. Several outsiders were present, and were interested, several bids were made but a sale was not completed.

The Pot-Luck Supper of the Bowling Club on Friday evening last was one of our bright events of the season. A large number attended and report a very enjoyable time. Prizes were awarded for Euchre to Mrs. H. G. McIntyre, Mrs. Lyman Pilkey and D. Morgan, and Jos. Evans.

The Herb. Forsyth sale on Saturday last was fairly successful. Good prices were obtained on many articles, but many other more costly pieces did not bring an amount anywhere near the actual value. Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth leave on Friday for France, where they will reside in the future, and where, we understand, Mr. Forsyth will be employed in business with Mrs. Forsyth's father, in merchandising.

Frank Mowder met with a most unusual accident several days ago, when crossing the C. P. R. on Graham's sideroad, his car was struck by a hand-car operated by the local section men. His passenger car was badly wrecked. Arthur Derusha, who was riding the hand-car, is now carrying his arm in a sling. Otherwise everything was alright. Rather a new one, this.

months? Where is the final two months money? The tax-payers paid the premium on this insurance policy for years, they are quite within their rights in demanding to know why the insurance company holds back cheques in this manner.

4-Why have we not some one on our council who is familiar with provincial legislation and knows that accidents to township employees are provided for by the Workmen's Compensation Act, which covers doctor's bills, hospital bills and all damages arising from accidents, thereby relieving the township tax-payers from all responsibility? These questions arise from an accident suffered by a township employee which has cost the township large sums of money for doctors, hospitals etc., and whose family have been permitted to suffer unnecessarily want through the way in which this matter was handled.

As Nomination Day approaches, it seems that in the interests of good government in Pickering Township, the following questions which are being asked by "the man on the street," should be accorded an intelligent answer. Where look for this, but in your worthy paper? Why does Pickering Township carry an accident insurance policy on its employees when the Workmen's Compensation Act is a law of the Province of Ontario and all townships employees are covered by it?

2-Why, when the Township has carried an insurance policy for years was it not one that covered hospital and doctor's bills, thereby relieving the tax-payers of this responsibility?

3-Why, when an employee was supposed to benefit under this policy for one year did he only receive his check for seven months and then nothing for three months, and then receive a check for three months all at once and nothing since? What held up the cheque for three

FIGURING IT IN DOLLARS

Traffic accidents cost Toronto $8,500,000 in the year 1934. It does not mean that such a vast amount of money was paid out in cash, but there were 70 deaths and 3,129 injuries. Traffic experts and insurance men have their own way of computing such matters and their estimate is that a death means an economic loss of $1,000 and an injury is reckoned at $2,500. We presume that the $10,000 figure for a death would include the loss of the individual's earning power. That would be a family loss. — Peterboro Examiner.

OUR WHEAT ABROAD

There are two things Canada requires to do to promote wheat sales abroad: First, to familiarize the people with the quality of bread made largely from Canadian flour, and secondly, to remove mental prejudices based on the repeated assertions that Canada has been endeavoring to gouge the consumer. These are important tasks. What the grain trade can do in these directions should be done, and the Government should support their efforts to the limit. — Winnipeg Tribune.

A BLIND BRIDGE PLAYER

Captain Gerald Lowry, a blinded veteran of the World War, recently was one of the champion pair at the British Bridge League Congress at Harrogate. His partner was a woman. Not only did they win but they were always the first pair to finish their hands.

Blindness has its compensations. Nature to some extent redresses the balance by developing other faculties. Captain Lowry is a remarkable example of overcoming the handicap and lives a more active and normal life than most people. He has developed his memory to such an extent that when a friend whispers the designations of his cards to him he remembers them throughout the game and where he has arranged them. When he has to play dummy, the cards named to him and he remembers them, too. The rest is easy. During the Harrogate tournament he played 32 cells and never forgot a card.

Captain Lowry before the war was an ardent golfer and amateur boxer. He hit it too, and he never misses. He tees his own ball and drives by instinct. His caddy tell him where his ball lies and where he should hit it to, and he never misses. He also learned osteopathy and has built up one of the most lucrative practices in London. — The St. Thomas Times-Journal.

BY NO MEANS ALONE

Apparently it is not only Canadian and United States railways which require assistance just now, for the British government has agreed to guarantee principal and interest of a £30,000,000 loan with which the railways of that country will carry out a variety of large-scale improvements and purchase new equipment. Canada's railways are by no means alone in experiencing difficulties in regard to profitable operation. — Brockville Recorder and Times.

A GOOD TEAM

Mr. Perry J. Griffen, for some years a member of The Star's advertising staff, and more recently the business manager of the Edmonton Journal, has been made general manager of the Peterborough Examiner which has recently been acquired by Messrs. Harry Muir and Rupert Davies. With Mr. Griffen as general manager and Mr. A. R. Kennedy, of the Stratford Beacon-Herald as editor, the Examiner will be capably administered. Already its editorial page has put on a more effective typographical garment, and other improvements may be looked for under the new management. — Toronto Star.

WHY THEY STARTED

The familiar metal grilles and bars so common in most banks originated back in the gay nineties, according to an article appearing in the journal of the Canadian Bankers' Association. And therein lies a story. It seems that it was Christmas eve, and that even in those days clerks had to work overtime. A thief managed to get inside the premises and hurried a brick at the glass partition behind which were stacked bags of sovereign. Showing what would normally have been very good judgment he scooped up the largest bag and made his getaway in one of London's "pea-soupers."

Unfortunately for the enterprising young man one of the clerks had appropriated that particular bag with which to carry home his Christmas dinner. It was one instance where the thief literally obtained the goose but lost the golden egg.

However, the incident impressed officials of the bank with the need for more adequate protection. Result — cages and bars. — Brockville Recorder.

BIRTH OF THE MOVIES

In Paris the other day was observed with appropriate ceremonies the 40th anniversary of the first motion pictures made in Europe. Louis Lumiere made them, with his brother August, since deceased, and Louis for the anniversary celebration ran off these ancient films. They showed the arrival of a train at a French railroad station, two men in a rowboat and a comedy on the exploits of a gardener with a water hose. Each film was about three feet in length. They were made in 1894, but they were not shown until March 22, 1895, when they astounded an audience of French scientists gathered in the basement of a Paris hotel.

But the Lumières, it appears, were second to Thomas A. Edison. Edison, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, began his experiments as early as 1877, and on October 6, 1889, demonstrated his kinesiograph in his laboratory at Orange, New Jersey. He obtained a United States patent Jan. 9, 1891, but it was not until April 14, 1894, that his machine had its first public showing — at 1155 Broadway, New York. That was 11 months before the Paris showing.

Thus 40 years or so encompass the history of the moving film. For a long time after 1894 it was considered little more than a toy, a device suited to the amusement of children. Few then realized its tremendous potentialities or foresaw its development. — Ottawa Journal.

STINGLESS BEES

Bee-keeping would perhaps be more popular in this country if it was not for the danger of being stung by these busy insects. It may be of interest to those who are afraid of these stingers, and who would like to gather their own honey, to know that a breed of stingless bees has been discovered in South Africa, and that the Zoological Society of England has arranged to have a stock of them shipped for experimental purposes.

These Manpas bees, however, are only about the size of a large house fly, and it remains to be seen whether they can live in other than their native climate and produce sufficient honey to make it worth while keeping them. In Africa the children seek out the Manpas nests and gather the honey, for which there is a ready sale.

What we need in this country, however, is not so much a stingless bee as a stingless mosquito. The bee only uses its sting in self-defence, whereas the mosquito "bites" one without the least provocation. — Stratford Beacon-Herald.

THE EMPIRE

MARCHING FORWARD

Britain still marches forward. Savings per head of the population in England and Wales have gone up from £3 7s 11d in 1934 to £3 15s 7d in 1935. Retail sales have increased by 8 per cent since 1934 and by 12 per cent since 1933. And look at the 40,000 drop in unemployment announced by Mr. Chamberlain. We are reaping the reward of the confidence that four years of stable government have created. — London Sunday Express.

BRITISH WHEAT

Home-wheat prices are influenced more by competitive imports from the Continent of Europe than by imports from Canada, Argentina, or Australia, because this European wheat is more strictly comparable in quality. The fact that France's crop this season is put at 18 per cent less than last year's reduces the possible competition that home wheat has to face. This scheme in aid of home-grown wheat, as we pointed out recently, is the most popular among farmers of all the plans so far tried to relieve the economic troubles of British agriculture. On paper the scheme looked so complicated that many M.P.'s confessed that they could not understand its intricacies, and not a few believed that it would prove unworkable. Far from these fears being realized, the wheat quota is the simplest of all devices in its actual operation. — Glasgow Herald.

AUSTRALIAN - N. Z. TRADE

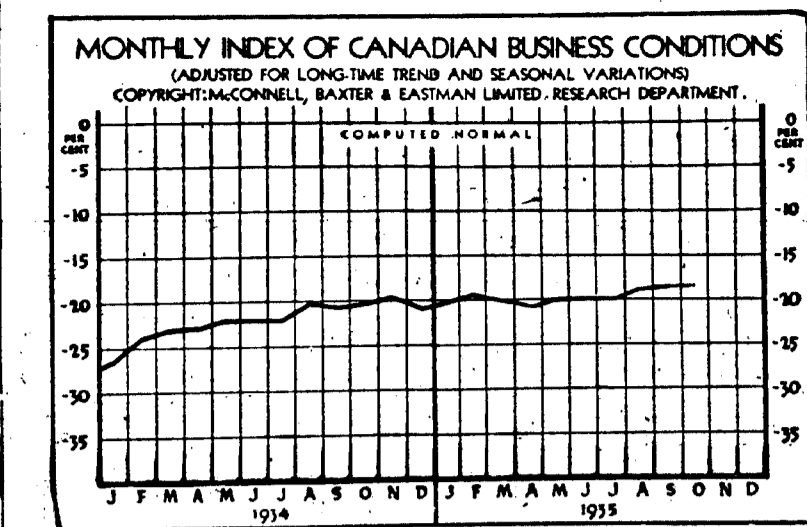

The citizens of the Dominion are anxious that every facility for mutual trade between Australia and New Zealand should be established. The experience of the past, however, has been most discouraging. Mr. Coates and Mr. Masters were in Australia at the end of last year on a commercial mission, and numbers of opportunities have been made for Australian Ministers to discuss trade questions on the spot. Yet the major questions remain unsolved. New Zealand last season strictly regulated the import of oranges from South Australia the only source of supply in the Commonwealth because that State is free from Mediterranean fly, and consumers had to pay excessive prices. As to the embargo placed by the Commonwealth on New Zealand potatoes, the best that can at present be hoped is that prohibition may be replaced by equitable regulation. The situation is a small-scale exemplification of the narrow economic nationalism that is obstructing trade throughout the world. — Auckland News.

Wedding At Guelph Ties Up Traffic

Guelph, Ont.—A 40-piece band recently headed one of the most unique wedding processions ever held here. Downtown streets were crowded with thousands of spectators and traffic was tied up as Fred Christiansen, Guelph barber, and his pretty bride, Margaret Sletting, rode in state behind the band.

Christiansen's bride arrived recently from Denmark and the barber set about making elaborate preparations for the wedding. He hired the city band to play him to the church, to render music during the service and to lead the wedding party to the Christiansen home afterwards.

Hundreds who wished to witness the ceremony in St. Paul's Lutheran

Business in Canada during the month of October showed a fractional gain over the month previous according to the McConnell, Baxter & Eastman monthly index. The preliminary figure was 18.5 per cent. below normal. Revised index for the previous month showed conditions at 18.8 per cent. below normal. A year ago conditions were 21.1 per cent. under par.

Gains were recorded by two factors, revenue freight loadings, up one-tenth point, and construction contract awards, up 1.1 points. Bank debits receded one-tenth point and electric energy output was down a similar amount.

The combined index shows a gain of nearly ten points, or 13.4 per cent. over October, 1933.

The following table shows the four-component factors and the combined weighted index after the usual statistical refinements.

	Oct. 1935	Sept. 1934	Oct. 1934
Carloadings of revenue freight	76.9	76.8	77.4
Construction contract awards	65.3	64.2	62.3
Bank debits	96.3	96.4	94.5
Electric power production	100.7	100.8	80.5
Combined weighted index	81.5	81.2	78.9

Church were turned away. The church was filled long before the bridal party arrived. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. W. Heinrich.

The brilliant procession from the church was halted a moment while the Christiansens placed wreaths at the base of the City Cenotaph in honor of the war dead. The gallant barber didn't forget it was Remembrance Day.

Coffee On House At Mine Auction

Halifax. — With coffee and sandwiches on the house, a gold mine and all the fittings will be auctioned off shortly, miles deep in the wood at Mineville, N.S.

Timid prospective bidders are advised by the sheriff that those undertaking the long trek through the woods will be regaled with hot coffee and good sandwiches while the bidding goes on in the chill Fall air.

The workings are going under the hammer as the result of a suit brought by Joseph E. Murphy against the Associated Gold Mines of Nova Scotia, Limited.

BRUNO-MASKWA GOLD MINES LIMITED

has every indication of a

HIGHLY PROFITABLE GOLD MINE!

The company controls two groups in Eastern Manitoba, one lying southeast of Gunnar Gold (now erecting a 150-ton mill) and the Maskwa group due south of the Rina Lake gold camp. At the present time, substantial crews are actively developing both groups. At Bruno, commercial and frequently high grade values over considerable widths and lengths have been discovered. No. 1 vein has been opened up over 300 feet; two additional veins, from 2 to 6 feet wide, have been opened up for several hundred feet.

At Maskwa, a shaft has been sunk on the vein to a depth of 125 feet. Ore on the dump, extracted from open cuts, averaged $40 to $50 in gold, with additional silver values. E. M. Dowman, Mining Engineer, states: "This is one of the few properties I have seen that would pay to run with a small mill." Present financing is for mill erection and further underground development.

Her Head Felt Like A Ton Weight

Put Right by Daily Dose of Kruschen

After suffering with severe headaches for nearly twenty years, it must have seemed like heaven to this woman when she was free of them, as a result of taking Kruschen Salts. Here is the letter describing her earlier sufferings:

"I have had headaches for years. When I was 11 years of age I had them so badly that my mother had to take me away from school. They never got much better, and I am now 30 years of age. Seeing Kruschen Salts advertised so much, I thought I would try them. That was two months ago, since then I have felt a new person. In the mornings when I get up, my head does not seem to be a ton weight, like it did before taking Kruschen Salts. I think Kruschen is wonderful." — (Mrs.) E. D.

Headaches can nearly always be traced to a disordered stomach, and to the unsuspected retention in the system of stagnating waste material which poisons the blood. Remove these poisons—prevent them forming again—and you'll never have to worry any more. And that is just how Kruschen Salts bring swift and lasting relief from headaches.

Australia Census Lists 6,724,305

CANBERRA, Australia. — Official figures show that on June 3 of this year Australia's population was 6,724,305. Males predominated, numbering 3,409,336, compared with 3,314,969 females.

The gain in population for the year was 47,908, or 1,350 more than the gain in the previous year. A fall of 248 in the natural increase was more than balanced by an improvement of 1,593 in the migration figures.

The natural increase during the first six months of 1935 was 25,451, compared with 24,939 in the corresponding period of the previous year. This, in the opinion of the Commonwealth statistician, is indicative of at least a temporary slackening of the fall of the natural increase rate.

Crop Value Set At $8,000,000

Flue-Cured Tobacco Industry In Ontario Run On Scientific Lines.

It looks as if the $8,000,000 valuation put upon the Ontario flue-cured tobacco crop by the experts will be exceeded by the value of the actual purchasing made by Canadian and British manufacturers. Yet it is only a few years since tobacco-growing in Canada was practically limited to a few farmers raising it for personal use or for a limited local market. Now approximately 30,000 acres of the best soil in Southern Ontario are almost exclusively devoted to the growing of Tobacco leaf in a scientific way, this year's crop amounting to 35,000,000 pounds, and having a selling-value of $3,000,000 in excess of the crop return of 1934. The finest cigarettes and other tobacco products in Canada incorporate Canadian tobacco in large and increasing quantities, where, hitherto, American and other tobaccos had been used, while the Canadian leaf also has an excellent market in Great Britain in competition with foreign leaf.

The Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited, which buys a great part of the Canadian crop, has had much to do with the great strides taken by the tobacco-growing districts because it has had a policy for years of trying to encourage domestic production. First, however, it was necessary to gradually teach growers what and how to grow in order to meet public tastes long accustomed to foreign leaf. The company, at its own expense, imported cultivation experts, brought in the necessary plants for experimentation, made its own chemical and other researches of the soil, of moisture, and other conditions contributory to the best grades of tobacco, taught the grower on his own land by introducing experimental plots, and in other ways interested him in improving and enlarging his crop for the uses of the domestic market. It also illustrated to him the precise processes by which the domestic market might be developed in a profitable way. This, and the researches of government experts, combined largely to producing the present condition, and to the creation from a small and unmarketable crop, a large and marketable crop, valued at more than $8,000,000 a year.

That recently a man stood beside a closed window in a Schenectady factory and talked to a group of men on a mountain top 22 miles away—over a beam of light. This is one of science's latest and greatest achievements—called "narrow-casting."

NO EXPORT

Canada As League Member Prohibits Export of Arms To Italy

To what does Canada commit herself when, as a good member of the League of Nations, she accepts the decision of its Assembly to prohibit the export of armaments to Italy?

A proclamation in an extra of the Canada Gazette furnishes the answer to this question, enumerating as it does the various articles which it is now illegal to export, re-export or transport to Italy or any Italian possession:

Category I—

1. Rifles and carbines and their barrels.

2. Machine guns, automatic rifles and machine pistols of all calibres and their barrels.

3. Guns, howitzers and mortars of all calibres, their mountings, barrels and recoil mechanisms.

4. Ammunition for the arms enumerated under 1 and 2 above, filled and unfilled projectiles for the arms enumerated under 3 above, and prepared propellant charges for these arms.

5. Grenades, bombs, torpedoes and mines, filled or unfilled and apparatus for their use or discharge.

6. Tanks, armoured vehicles and armoured trains.

Armour of all kinds.

Category II—

1. Vessels of war of all kinds including aircraft carriers and submarines.

Category III—

1. Aircraft, assembled or dismantled, both heavier and lighter than air, and their propellers or air screws, fuselages, aerial gun mounts and frames, hulls, tail units and undercarriage units.

2. Aircraft engines.

Category IV—

1. Revolvers and automatic pistols of a weight in excess of 1 pound 6 ounces (630 grammes) and ammunition therefor.

Category V—

1. Flame throwers and all other projectors used for chemical or incendiary warfare.

2. Mustard gas, lewisite, ethyldichlorarsine, methylchlorarsine, and all other products destined for chemical or incendiary warfare.

3. Powder for war purposes and explosives.

Expect during the period of war, Canada, essentially a peaceful and peace-loving country, has not devoted herself very intensively to the manufacture of armaments. Their production from year to year in Canadian factories does not reach a very great volume. It thus involves no remarkable sacrifice on her part to subscribe to the ruling of the League of Nations in regard to the export of arms and munitions which have been listed. But she, of course, will suffer to a considerable extent from loss of her export market in other commodities which are associated with peace rather than war.—Brockville Recorder & Times.

Bruno - Maskwa Gold Mines, Limited

Reports from the Maskwa property of Bruno-Maskwa Gold Mines, Limited, in the Gunnar Gold area of Manitoba state that shaft-sinking has now reached a depth of 125 feet and drifting is proceeding on the 110 and 122 foot levels. On both horizons, a new vein, carrying good gold values has been intersected. This vein averages from 2 to 3 feet in width and tests are now being made. A crew of between 15 and 18 men is employed at this development of the company.

At the Bruno group, a crew of some 15 men is engaged in surface development. The vein has been stripped for almost 300 feet and has been traced for 1/4 mile. The vein averages 3 feet in width.

It is the intention of the company to continue development work on both properties throughout the coming winter.

Farm Machinery

Proper care should be exercised at all times to protect the large investment in farm machinery from rapid deterioration. Heat, moisture, wind, frost and direct sunlight are the most destructive elements encountered by farm equipment.

Storage means protection against these deteriorating effects during the inactive life of the machines and has been found to be the greatest single factor in prolonging the life of farm machinery.

The most active period of deterioration is during the season of machine use. It is important, however, to protect machinery the year round from the effects of weather. Generous use of paint on all wood and metal parts, wherever the original has worn thin, and the removal to a dry shed of all stals, canvasses, knives, ploughshares, cultivator teeth, etc., immediately the machine is out of use, will help prolong the useful life of the implement.

Pack all bearings with the correct grade of lubricant. Cover all exposed metal parts worn bright from use with crankcase or transmission oil before putting the machine aside for a few days. This will keep out all dirt and moisture from the bearings and off the wearing surfaces, thus preventing excessive wear due to rust.

Clean all seed from drill boxes, make sure that all dirt is removed from plough or one-way disk bottom, and that they are well greased before leaving. All straw, grain or weeds

DOCTORING YOUR DAIRY HERD

Cows aren't machines. They can get sick or hurt. But Minard's Liniment makes it easy to care for their ills. Mrs. Thos. Bulmer of Lardo, B.C., found one of her herd with a lump in her udder. "I rubbed it with Minard's Liniment", she says, "and it soon got better."

Minard's is best for Cuts, Bruises, Colic, Distemper, etc., and equally good in stable or in house. Well named "King of Pain".

should be thoroughly cleaned, from binders, combines, separators, cuttigators, disks, etc., before greasing and painting for storage. Bright sunlight and moisture cause exposed wooden parts to warp and crack, paint applied early will prevent this destruction. Metal parts exposed will rust and wear; grease or paint will save these surfaces.

APPLE STORAGE

By the time the next apple crop commences to move British Columbia may have cold storage capacity for 1,150,000 boxes of apples. With the 100,000 box cold storage plant that the Summerland Co-operative growers propose to construct at once and a 55,000 box addition to the Penticton co-operative growers' plant authorized by the producers the southern end of the Okanagan valley will have cold storage capacity for 405,000 boxes, Penticton leading the procession with 200,000 boxes.

 —Mrs. J. C. Philip met with a serious accident on Friday morning last when she accidentally fell and fractured her thigh bone. She was taken to the Toronto General Hospital where we hope she will make a speedy recovery.
 —Get in the habit now of attending the meetings of the young People's Society of the United Church held every Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, sharp. The contest starts next week. Come out and hear all about it. The next meeting is under the Christian Fellowship Convener.
 —Joseph Cowan has purchased A. C. Diamond's farm, south-west of the village and will take possession next spring. We are glad to know that Mr. Diamond and family will still remain residents of this township, by returning to their farm on the 4th concession just west of the Brock Road.
 —Quite a number of our residents attended the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto last week, and this Fair rivals in popularity that of the Canadian National Exhibition and attracts many visitors from the United States and other foreign countries. One of the chief attractions is the driving contests in which a number of contestants from other countries take part, including France, England, Ireland, the United States, Chili and other countries. Live Stock Fruit, Grain, Flowers also prove a great attraction.
 —The weekly meeting of St. George's A. Y. P. A. was held in the Club Rooms on Friday evening of last week. Opened with a hymn and prayer. The minutes of Nov. 15th were read, followed by the business and roll call. The rest of the meeting was taken by Rev. E. G. Robinson, it being Biblical. The motto of the A. Y. P. A. - For Christ and His Church. The meeting closed with the singing of another hymn and a prayer. The next meeting will be musical, under the direction of Mrs. Tanner, on Friday, Nov. 29th, in the Club Rooms, starting at 8 p. m. Everyone welcome to come and enjoy themselves with us.
 —The play, "The Dust of the Earth," was presented in St. Andrew's Church on Friday evening last and also again on Monday evening to filled houses. The second night brought even a greater number than the first night, with one or two exceptions the whole of the congregation attended, besides many others, all speaking in the highest terms of the work of the players. The Royal Winter Fair appeared to be the big competition the play had to meet. The comment of one who witnessed it, "The best play ever put on in Pickering" was characteristic of the remarks of the others. Many went back for the second presentation. When a group of players amateur or professional can wry out of the audience, laughter one minute and tears (and there were many) the next, they have accomplished their objective. Requests are now being heard for trips outside the village, for the next few weeks.

—Christmas Concerts are the next on the list.
 —Miss Bernice Chapman spent the past week-end in Beaverton.

The Woman's Association of the United Church will hold a Bazaar in the Community Hall on Friday, Dec. 6th. Come and do your Christmas shopping. The Bazaar opens at 3 p. m. Afternoon tea served. In the evening at 8 p. m. a drama entitled "Second-Story Peggy" will be presented by the Goodwood Dramatic Club. Music between acts. Admission: 25 and 15 cents.

—The morning service at the United Church will be held at the usual hour, with the Junior Congregation meeting in the basement at the same hour. At 10 a. m. the Sunday School and Bible Classes will meet as usual. For particulars of the evening service you are referred to another column describing the service under Mr. Wheeler's Class.

—The Annual Missionary Banquet in connection with the United Church will be held Friday evening Dec. 6th at 7 o'clock. The Missionary and Maintenance Committee of the church are fortunate in securing an outstanding speaker in the person of Rev. Robt. Cochrane D. D., who is head of the Home Mission Work of the United Church in Canada. Don't miss hearing Dr. Cochrane. Rev. W. T. Smythe and Mr. Samuel Farmer of Port Perry will also deliver short addresses. A suitable program of music is being prepared. This will be a unique event and all are urged to attend. Admission, 25 cents.

—A very interesting meeting of the Pickering Women's Institute was held on Tuesday, Nov. 26th, at the home of Miss E. Richardson. Mrs. R. H. Cronk in the chair. Two excellent reports of the Provincial Convention held in Toronto last week were given by Miss D. Bayne and Mrs. E. G. Robinson, showing much work done in the past year and many new hopes and projects for the coming year, also new ideas for our programs. Mrs. E. Andrew paraded in the same costume which she wore in the "Old-fashioned Dress Parade" at the Convention. Mrs. G. Law gave a reading. A demonstration of "Inexpensive Christmas gifts" by the members brought this interesting meeting to a close.

On Saturday evening, November 23rd the home of Mr. Wesley W. and Mrs. Gee was the scene of a very pretty wedding when their second daughter, Margaret Ruth, was united in marriage to Mr. Hugh Cameron Miller, second son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Miller, of Pickering. Rev. H. H. Mutton, of Greenwood conducted the ceremony which took place in the living-room, tastefully decorated with ferns and gold mums. The wedding march was played by Mrs. T. Hortop of Camilla, sister of the bride. After the signing of the register, Miss Jean MacLean, of Toronto sang,

"Dawning." The bride, given in marriage by her father was lovely in a gown of sunset gold lace with a wreath of gold orange blossoms in her hair and wearing gold shoes. She carried Tallman Roses tied with gold streamers. The bridesmaid Miss Zorah Gee, sister of the bride was very pretty in a gown of midnight blue velvet with turban and shoes to match. Her bouquet was of Johanna Hill Roses. Mr. R. W. Miller, of Pickering, brother of the groom was best man. After the ceremony a reception was held, the bride's mother wearing a gown of phlox crepe and cut velvet with corsage of bronze mums. The groom's mother was wearing plum sheer and lace, with corsage of bronze mums. After the buffet luncheon, the happy couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes for Toronto, Windsor, Detroit and Saginaw, Mich. For travelling, the bride wore a wine wool suit with wine hat and matching accessories and grey tweed tailored coat. On their return they will reside in Pickering.
