JACK MCGINNIS RECEIVES AWARD POSTHUMOUSLY

PICKERING -- It was a standing ovation at the 2010 Civic Awards Monday for a man who sparked great environmental change across North America.

The late Jack McGinnis was honoured for his lifelong work in various environmental issues in Pickering, many of which reached across the continent. Mayor Dave Ryan handed out the civic awards in the City's bicentennial year on May 30 to acknowledge people, groups and businesses that have contributed greatly to Pickering.

Mr. McGinnis's wife Barb McGinnis and children accepted the special citation award on his behalf; he died of cancer at age 64 in January.

"He was an amazing person," said his tearful daughter, Shannon McGinnis, after the ceremony.

Mr. McGinnis founded Durham Sustain Ability and before that, started the first multi-material curbside recycling program in 1974, and went on to establish the Recycling Council of Ontario. He led the design and development of Blue Box recycling, which is now used weekly by more than 70 million people across North America.

"It was a happy moment for all of us," Ms. McGinnis said of the standing ovation for her late husband.

Ajax council approves new bingo hall

Hideaway Bingo, formerly of Whitby, looking to open doors in August

rszekely@durhamregion.com

AJAX -- Ajax residents may soon be crying out 'bingo' after Town council gave a Whitby operator permission to open a bingo hall in Ajax.

Hideaway Bingo was originally located in Whitby but after owners closed their doors, they failed to receive permission from the Town of Whitby to open a new and smaller location downtown.

Instead of applying for another site in Whitby, owners went to the Town of Ajax with plans to open a bingo hall in the Discovery Bay Centre at the corner of Lake Driveway and Westney Road, which is anchored by a Giant Tiger. The hall will be next to Giant Tiger on the south side in what used to be a day care.

Councillors considered the issue at the committee level on May 16 and approved the hall at council on May 24.

Hideaway owner Binod Singh was thrilled Ajax councillors supported his application. The next step is for the issue to go to the Alcohol and Gaming Commission of Ontario (AGCO) and Mr. Singh is optimistic things will go well.

"I could probably be open in August," he said.

But the approval didn't come without a fight.

Mr. Singh first went to Ajax council in June 2010 with the proposal to open the new hall and received approval at the committee level.

However, before it could be approved at council, Ajax's bylaw department was alerted that Mr. Singh and the other proponents of the plan hadn't given businesses and residents in the area the proper notice of a public meeting on the issue.

At the time, bylaw manager Derek Hannan said that since Hideaway would have to go through the application process again and since the municipal election was coming up in the fall, the issue likely wouldn't be addressed until 2011.

Just like last year, at the May 16 committee meeting, councillors heard from proponents and opponents of the plan, including the owner of Pickering's Delta Bingo, who along with Oshawa hall owners, purchased and closed Ajax's former bingo hall in 2007.

Several people spoke and said they were hoping for a small hall in Ajax where they could play with friends, as did representatives for businesses including Giant Tiger store manager Sean Wilson, who said traffic to the plaza has been declining in recent years and a bingo hall could help.

"It's just another thing to solidify the plaza as a destination for customers," he said.

Karen Ormerod, executive director of Durham Hospice, was among those opposing the plan, saying there would be less revenue available for charities that currently fundraise through bingos at Delta Bingo in Pickering. As it stands, 45 per cent of the take at bingo halls goes to charity.

"My concern is really saturation, the pie is only so big and the slices get smaller and smaller," she said.

Pickering Delta Bingo owner Cam Johnstone also opposed the plan, saying he didn't think the area could support two halls, but Mr. Singh countered that his customers were looking for a different experience from the larger Delta Bingo.

"If a bingo player is really interested in winning big prizes, they're not going to come play bingo in Ajax because our prize levels are much lower ... why are they going to come? They'll come because their friends are there."

Mr. Hannan urged Ajax councillors to focus on the local issues.

"Ajax council should only be considering factors that deal solely with Ajax ... absolutely no consideration should be given to the bingo industry as a whole in the region while considering this proposal," he said.

Mr. Hannan added that it's up to the AGCO to decide if the area can support another bingo hall.

Ultimately, councillors unanimously supported Mr. Singh's proposal with Mayor Steve Parish saying he believed the bingo hall would create economic spin-off for plaza owners.

Councillor Pat Brown said she thought it would be popular with residents.

"Many seniors have approached me over the years about a lack of place to play bingo in Ajax."

Four busted in wake of Ajax home invasion

AJAX -- Four people have been arrested by Durham police investigating a home invasion robbery earlier this year in Ajax.

On Thursday cops, including members of the Guns and Gang Enforcement Unit, executed search warrants at three residences in Scarborough and North York, nabbing suspects and in the process seizing large amounts of drugs and cash.

The investigation began Feb. 28, when three men, one of them armed with a semi-automatic pistol, barged into a basement apartment on Ravenscroft Road and forced four people inside to lie on the floor. The bandits stole two cellphones and left the scene in a car. During Thursday's raids police arrested five people and seized a pound of marijuana, 40 grams of crack cocaine, more than $31,000 in cash and ammunition.

Lyndon Rainford, 23, of Lee Centre Drive, Scarborough, and Mikeesha Izzard-Bryan, 21, of Greenvale Crescent, Pickering, face 21 charges including robbery, weapon and drug offences. Two other people, Calvin Malcolm, 25, and 19-year-old Natalia Williams, face drug charges.

One driver seriously hurt in north Pickering crash

PICKERING -- One person was rushed to hospital with serious injuries after a two-car collision Thursday morning in north Pickering.

Durham police are still investigating the accident, which occurred at Brock Road and Concession 7 at about 7 a.m. Police said a 20-year-old Oshawa man driving a Grand Am turned onto Brock Road from Concession 7 and struck a southbound Toyota Camry being driven by a Scugog Township man.

The Scugog man, 65, was airlifted to a Toronto-area hospital with life-threatening injuries. The driver of the Grand Am wasn't hurt. Police closed the roadway for several hours to investigate the crash and want to hear from witnesses. Call 905-579-1520, ext. 5213.

Boaters stranded off Pickering shoreline rescued by Toronto cops

PICKERING -- Police used GPS coordinates to locate a boat carrying seven people as it drifted off the shore of Pickering Sunday night.

The owner of the 25-foot vessel called 911 at about 9:30 p.m. after running out of gas, Durham police Sergeant Nancy van Rooy said.

As Durham's marine unit was deployed elsewhere, a call was made to Air and Sea Rescue, based out of Trenton.

Before a helicopter was deployed Toronto police offered help and sent two boats to the area, Sgt. van Rooy said. Using GPS coordinates, police located the vessel about three kilometres south-east of the Pickering nuclear plant.

The vessel was towed safely to shore and no one required medical attention, Sgt. van Rooy said.

Justice must run its course in Durham health data lawsuit

The loss of a USB key in 2009 containing the health and identification data of more than 80,000 Durham Region residents came as a shock to those affected. The data, gathered at flu shot clinics across Durham Region at the height of the H1N1 scare in the fall of 2009, was contained on the tiny memory device and apparently lost by a public health staff member in a parking lot.

In consequence, a $40-million class action lawsuit was launched and generated much debate on both sides of the issue. Those whose identities were compromised have every right to seek judicial intervention as they could be at risk for identity theft. Some, however, even those whose identities were included on the USB key, say they haven't been harmed as a result of the loss and believe the lawsuit is a simple attempt at leveraging cash from a government perceived as having a bottomless well of revenue.

Each position has merit.

But our system of justice provides remedies for those who believe they've been harmed through the actions of others, and rejects those deemed frivolous or vexatious. In Durham's case the lawsuit was duly filed and now we must let it take its course.

The suit filed by the Whitby law firm of Flaherty Dow Elliot and McCarthy was certified in late April and claims the Region was negligent, that it breached its fiduciary duty, violated individual privacy and breached the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

None of the allegations have yet been proven, but the process is underway and, again, we must let the process unfold.

That the USB key was lost or misplaced is not in dispute. The court must decide the appropriate remedy that flows from that.

But in another context, this unfortunate circumstance underscored the need for greater oversight of sensitive personal data of Durham Region's residents, and a more rigorous process to ensure the security of that information, steps which have since been taken by Regional officials. Regular reviews of its rigour would ensure the highest possible level of security for the information entrusted to its care.

In the meantime, those whose identities may have been compromised in the loss but who don't support the case, can easily opt out by following the details explained in the letter and reduce the volume of litigants that are party to the suit.

But some action must flow from this loss of important, sensitive personal data, for Durham is to move beyond the incident, review its policies to ensure the utmost security of this vital information of citizens in the future, and meet its obligations to each and every Durham Region resident to properly protect them from identity theft.

LONG WEEKEND

Fun fireworks, dangerous mess

To the editor:

Every year we look forward to the time for the magic fire in the sky. For a few brief moments all in the world just seems to be right while we fall under a mystical spell, whether we head to the local fireworks display or we buy our own.

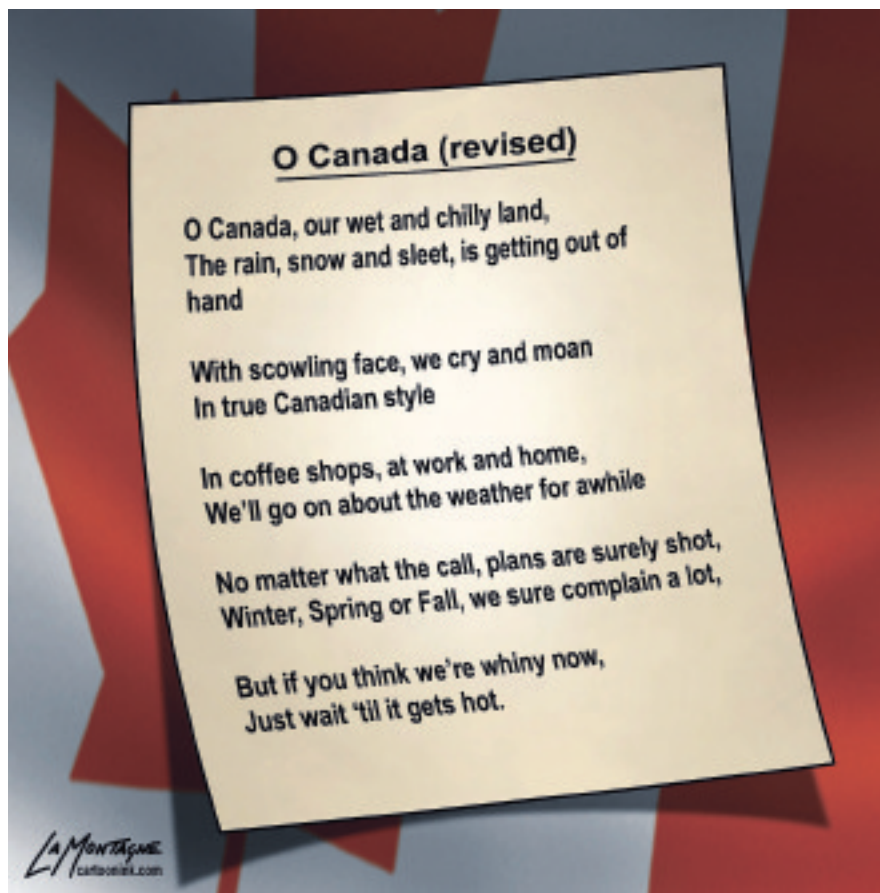

It seems people are forgetting about the safety factor. Lots of fireworks were done safely at the park nearby, although it was disappointing to see the mess that was left behind.

Really, if you brought it you should take it. This morning I saw a bad side of it as I rescued a robin that was hanging from a tree by a string.

The string had wrapped around the poor guy's foot. He did fly away, although it looked as if his leg was broken. We share our world with many other creatures whether they are out all day long or scurry around at night.

We may not always see them but they are there so we should take a few minutes to think about our animal friends and clean up our parks.

Angela Coombs

to help clean the air and reduce our carbon footprint?

I urge Pickering council, Durham Region and other layers of government to rethink their alternative to urban sprawl. Paving over and chopping down the very sources vital to improve our air quality is not forward thinking.

SAFETY

Emergency vehicles could cause an emergency

To the editor:

There is an incredible focus on health and safety in our society.

I was recently driving into an intersection on a green light at 9:30 p.m. Out of the corner of my eye I saw an ambulance (lights flashing but no siren) travelling through a red light. I slammed on my brakes, and barely stopped in time. The driver sheepishly looked at me as he just missed my bumper.

The next day a friend with his wife and toddler in the car was hit broadside by a police car (same thing, no siren and going through a red light at over 100 km/h).

Running a red at full speed is criminal. Stop playing Russian roulette with our citizens. We all want to get home safely at the end of the day.

DEVELOPMENT

Paving, chopping don't help environment

To the editor:

Re: 'Proposed Liverpool development concerns residents,' news, durhamregion.com, May 11, 2011.

The environmental benefits of one hectare of grass is that it produces more oxygen than one hectare of forest and can provide a cooling effect up to 8 C in the summer.

According to Internet sources, a 15.24 x 15.24-metre area of lawn can provide oxygen for a family of four; and a mature tree absorbs ozone, carbon monoxide, sulfur dioxide, nitrogen oxides, etc.

What will the environmental effect be when the existing nine homes, lawns and dozens of mature trees along Liverpool, Glendale and Glenanna in Pickering are bulldozed and 67 townhouses, driveways, lollipop trees and roads replace them?

A conservative estimate would bring an additional 100 vehicles and if each vehicle drove in an out of the development only once each day where is the exhaust pollution going?

What is the developer required to provide

WHITBY -- A couple of patrons browsed the stacks at the Whitby Public Library on Feb. 15 during centennial year celebrations. It's nice to get an assignment with a little bit of creative freedom such as this one. I was simply asked to get a handful of pictures of people using the library. I wanted to get a shot of someone in the stacks and the massive windows at the library lent themselves well to shooting a silhouette. I just needed to wait a little bit for the patron to pull a book from the shelf.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

NIMBYism is alive and well

To the editor:

Re: The issue of cell towers, windmills and other 'not in my backyard' issues:

I am not a proponent of the communications industry in this country. In fact, I believe the companies involved are bloated, inefficient, and poor providers of customer service.

That being said, the demand for their services is increasing.

The use of social media, texting and old-fashioned phone calling is becoming so ubiquitous that it is rare to find someone in a group not tied to their phone. So-called "dead zones" (areas with limited reception) are a nightmare as people become more and more addicted to the idea of being in contact with all of the world all of the time. However, we certainly can't be expected to build the infrastructure that is required -- not in my backyard.

Windmills, road networks, nuclear safety sirens, garbage facilities -- the list of required necessities that aren't built because a minority doesn't want them is seemingly endless.

Of course, Councillor Jennifer O'Connell is standing up for the "little guy", who I will term the minority, yet I personally doubt that she will give up using her phone. People cite health concerns as one of the detrimental factors of windmills and cell towers.

Many of these same people drive their cars, use their phones, go out in the sun, breathe the air that is riddled with pollution. The hypocrites and not-in-my-backyarders can't always be right. Sometimes the needs of the many outweigh the needs of the few.

So many are quick to condemn without finding a viable solution. Maybe an alternative to help the situation would be all those who don't want the infrastructure should not be allowed to use the service. No electricity for the windmill and fossil fuel and nuclear detractors. No cell-phones for the tower opponents, etc. With the reduced demand, maybe nothing more would have to be built. Then all would be happy.

My kind of Rapture happens with a beautiful day

If you're reading this, then you, like me, didn't make the cut for last week's much-prophesied Rapture on May 21; the bodily removal to heaven of all born-again believers. I'm not saying it didn't happen. It just didn't happen to anybody I know. I play hockey with a guy who had a rupture on that day and my son actually cleaned his room without being asked, but that was as close to any miracle as I got.

And I had actually thought I had a pretty good chance of being on the short list. In my early 20s, in a combined state of insecurity, loneliness and general confusion with my life's destiny, I fell in with a crowd of born-again Christians.

And I'm not here to disparage them in any way. They were lovely, nice people who treated me with kindness and respect. And they helped get me through a difficult part of my life. You'll never hear me speak ill of them, for the same reasons you'll never hear me badmouth those roller derby twins from Keswick I met in the early '80s. Any port in a storm.

No, the problem, as usual, lay with me. I just wasn't terribly good at being born again. At first it was easy. I had lots of new friends, many of whom wore dresses, smelled wonderful and were curvy in all the right places. I had a suddenly full social calendar and while Bible study might not exactly rate with 'clubbing' for excitement, I must point out it was frequented by many of the aforementioned nice-smelling females. Things were going terrifically. But then something changed.

A year or so into my born-again sojourn, I enrolled in a Bible school in the Adirondacks of upper New York state. One night, I found myself walking alone beneath a sea of brilliantly blazing stars in a February sky. The rest of the students were gathered in a huge auditorium, singing hymns, clapping and getting fired up by a visiting evangelist. They seemed to be having a pretty good time. I could hear their 'Amen's' bouncing enthusiastically off of the mountains around me. But I just couldn't join them. The penny had already dropped for me. It was suddenly as clear as that mountain air why I would never amount to much of a born-again anything. I felt that being born once was just dandy. I couldn't see how anything, in any heaven, anywhere, could be more beautiful than what I was seeing and experiencing around me. Life had stopped being scary and uncertain and ominous and had instead, become, wonderful and inviting and full of untold promise. Right here...on earth.

I remember stopping at a pay phone that night, my frosty breath rising lazily towards the heavens, born upon the echo of several hundred zealous, ecclesiastical voices, and calling my parents to see if they could come and take me home. Bless their hearts forever, they drove all night to get me.

And so yes, I thought perhaps, if and when the Rapture occurred, my name might still, possibly, be on the roster. Maybe not the starting lineup, but possibly the DL or waivers? I'm the first to admit it was a long shot and frankly, in the end, it didn't matter. I don't know if you remember what kind of a day it was on May 21, but it was staggeringly beautiful. It was, in fact, heavenly. And truthfully, there was a Rapture of a kind happening.

I know I felt it. I hope you did too.

Pickering honours its best

Jason McGinnis said his father had high hopes for Pickering's journey to sustainability.

Other award categories included individual volunteer, youth leadership, economic development and amateur sports.

Brother and sister Jeremy Stott, 15, and Courtney Stott, 19, began rowing at the same time and the two champions both received amateur athlete awards.

"I'm glad we're getting it together," said Courtney, a sprint kayaker and University of Ottawa student. "That's pretty cool."

The two took home 10 medals combined from the Canadian Sprint Canoe-Kayak Championships in Regina last year. Courtney hopes to make the Canadian National Team, and Jeremy is focusing on the Junior Canoe Sprint World Championships that will be held in 2013.

Jeremy, a St. Mary Catholic Secondary School student, said their father has been rowing for nearly 40 years and the siblings began rowing when Courtney was 12 and Jeremy was nine.

New this year was the heritage award, going to John Edmonds and John Sabean. Both sported period costumes at the awards ceremony, and in a gathering for the winners beforehand, Mr. Sabean gave a short history on the two men his 1830s costume represented: Ebenezer Birrell, an amateur artist, farmer and superintendent of schools, and Charles Fothergill, an artist and naturalist.

"They're two of my favourite characters in Pickering," he said.

This enthusiasm got him the award, along with his founding of the Pickering Township Historical Society, of which he's currently president, and chairing Heritage Pickering for many years. He also played a big role in revitalizing Pickering's waterfront and is chairman of the Pickering Library Board.

Mr. Edmonds has volunteered at the Pickering Museum Village for more than a decade, writing scripts, directing and performing in productions such as A Spirt Walk.

Another big winner was Lorne Almack, who received a lifetime achievement award. He's been heavily involved for many years with Ontario Naturalists, now known as Ontario Nature. He also donated 34 hectares of his property in Claremont to the charitable organization. "Thanks to his generosity and vision, the land will continue to provide vital habitat for wildlife while also providing other significant environmental benefits," Mayor Ryan said.

He founded the Green Door Alliance and was a catalyst in founding the Durham Conservation Association. Over the years, he's written many presentations in support of various environmental causes, such as his recent argument for maintaining private working farms within the proposed national Rouge Valley Park system. "At 87, Mr. Almack remains active and passionately engaged in environmental issues," Mayor Ryan said.

Lawyer won't comment on Durham firm's part

Legal action seeks $40 million from Durham Region in loss of computer key

KEITH GILLIGAN
kgilligan@durhamregion.com

DURHAM -- A lawyer representing claimants in a lawsuit against Durham Region won't comment on the law firm of Jim Flaherty and Christine Elliott being involved. Sean Brown said, "I can't answer that. Leave it at that."

The Whitby firm of Flaherty Dow Elliott and McCarthy are representing plaintiffs in a $40-million class action lawsuit against the Region over the loss of a USB key containing information on 84,000 people who received an H1N1 flu shot in 2009.

Justice Peter Lauwers of the Ontario Superior Court of Justice approved the suit in late April and Bowmanville resident John Sherlock Rowlands was appointed as the 'representative' of the class.

Mr. Brown wouldn't say if Mr. Rowlands contacted the firm or if the firm contacted him.

"I can't get into that. Attorney, client privilege," Mr. Brown said in an interview.

The suit claims the Region was negligent, breached a fiduciary duty, violated people's privacy and breached the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

None of the claims have been proven in court.

The USB key was lost in the parking lot of the Regional headquarters by a public health nurse in December of 2009. On the key was information on the 83,524 people who had been vaccinated between Oct. 23 and Dec. 15, 2009 at flu vaccination clinics provided by the Regional health department. Information collected includes the person's name, address, phone number, date of birth, health card number, name of their primary physician, and personal health information provided when they got the vaccination.

"As a consequence of the various causes of action, the Plaintiffs have suffered special damages, meaning money damages for the purpose of obtaining credit monitoring for a period of years by the court. Further, the Plaintiffs may be entitled to punitive, aggravated and exemplary damages," the plaintiffs state in their court filing.

Mr. Brown said the $40 million total was chosen based on a "defendant's submission, that was the limit of their insurance."

From a litigation standpoint, the exchange of documents and discovery are the next steps, which will happen in September. "We hope 2012" for when the matter would be dealt with in court, he stated. "Certainly won't be by the end of this year. Subject to court availability, 2012, early 2012."

Under class action rules, people who don't want to take part have to opt out. If they don't, they're automatically involved.

The period to opt out runs to 5 p.m. on Aug. 31.

"Claim members may opt out if they wish," Mr. Brown said, adding he wouldn't speculate on why someone would opt out of the suit.

"This law firm isn't receiving the notices," he noted.

Opt out notices are sent to Deloitte and Touche, the firm appointed by the courts to act as administrator of the suit.

"I don't know what the options might be. Everyone has a choice."

The Region is being represented by the Toronto firm of David Boghosian and Associates.

A Good Night's Sleep is More Affordable Than Ever at MasterBedroom

If the last time you bought a mattress was five to 10 years ago, you may be hesitant to buy another one, feeling the cost is prohibitive. The good news is that the economy has forced manufacturers to become more efficient and to provide their mattresses at better prices. MasterBedroom is passing on these reduced prices to the customers, which means owning a great mattress is now more affordable than ever!

In addition to becoming more efficient and price conscious, manufacturers such as Sealy and Tempur-Pedic are also making their mattresses better. The new mattresses are becoming more organic and breathable. There is more use of bamboo, cotton and wool in making of mattresses that help keep a normal temperature and make the mattress more comfortable. Bamboo specifically whisks moisture away, which has the added benefit of discouraging mites that thrive on your body fluids left in your mattress.

At MasterBedroom, there is a great selection of mattresses to choose from, including mattresses from manufacturers such as Sealy, Tempur-Pedic, Therapeutic and Strata. The sleep specialists at MasterBedroom have been helping Durham residents find the right sleep surface since 1982. If you are not getting the sleep you need, or are waking up tired or sore, you owe it to yourself to visit MasterBedroom and find the perfect mattresses. They can help you determine the cause of your problem, whether its allergies, feeling too hot while you sleep, a partner who disturbs your sleep or just an old mattress. Let their experienced staff help you find the right mattress the first time!

A mattress alone doesn't make a bedroom. MasterBedroom also has a great selection of Canadian made bedroom furniture. The store has Durham's largest selection of College Woodwork Furniture, a manufacturer based in Oshawa. For over 100 years, College Woodwork has been making birch hardwood furniture. Customers can choose their preferred style, size, stain and hardware - essentially creating custom furniture. MasterBedroom also carries a pine line from an Ontario manufacturer with similar custom choices available. One of their most popular brands is Amisco, a manufacturer based in Quebec, that includes custom made stools, beds in lots of styles, sizes and finishes.

MasterBedroom has two convenient locations in the Durham Region and is open seven days a week. The Pickering store is located at 1755 Pickering Parkway in the Home & Idea Centre. They can be reached at (905) 427-2047. The Whitby store is located at 1540 Dundas Street East, on the northwest corner of Thickson Road and Dundas. They can be reached at (905) 668-4300. MAJOR SERIES LACROSSE

Ajax Rock not good enough early on

Drop opening two games to Kitchener and Brampton

BRAD KELLY
bkelly@durhamregion.com

AJAX -- Through two games of Major Series Lacrosse, the Ajax Rock have been good enough to stay close.

But that's not good enough anymore, said GM/head coach Paul St. John.

The Rock are 0-fer to start the season after losing 9-6 to Kitchener in the season opener last week, and then dropping their home opener on Sunday night 8-6 to the Brampton Excelsiors at the Ajax Community Centre.

"It's never good enough to be close," said St. John after Sunday's game. "We should be 2-0 in my mind. We're not executing on offence. You don't win with six goals in any league. Very rarely will you win a 6-5 game. Losing 8-6 and 9-6 tells me we could have won both games.

"It's disappointing to be 0-2. Last year we would have said, 'OK great. We've played two good, close games.' But we're no longer an expansion club so we can't use that as an excuse anymore."

The Rock had to play catch-up all night long, and almost did at different points in the second and third periods, closing to within one each time after falling behind by a trio early in the game.

Brampton was up 3-0 before Ryan Tower got the Rock on the board, with the teams exchanging goals to close out the period, Mike Vertolli scoring for the Rock for a 4-2 Brampton advantage through 20 minutes. Travis Bland pulled the Rock to within one with a short-handed tally in the second, but Brampton answered with two more to close out the middle frame ahead 6-3. Rock goals by Brandon Collins and Kyle Donahue pulled the Rock to within one at 6-5 with 6:30 to go, but Brampton scored twice more to just one for the Rock by Garrett Kikot for the final.

Bland led the offence for the Rock with a goal and three helpers, while Jason Mainer assisted on three goals and Jesse Guerin on two.

Asked to pinpoint the difference between winning and losing the close games, St. John didn't hesitate to answer "scoring goals." Early on, it's something the Rock are struggling with, a carryover from last season when they had the lowest total in the league as an expansion franchise.

"Not enough practices with everybody," said St. John of the reason behind the lack of execution on offence. "We haven't had a chance to really work on any offensive systems. That's still no excuse. We have talent that can put the ball in the net. They're having a tough time getting the shots they need.

"We need to get secondary scoring in transition like we have in the past. This year, so far, we haven't had enough of that."

The Rock will be back in action tonight against the Brooklin Redmen, with game time 8 p.m. at Iroquois Park Sports Centre. Peterborough will be in Ajax on Friday at 8 p.m.

PICKERING -- Dunbarton Spartans' Christina Carusso battled St. Mary Monarchs' Katelyn Arathoon during first half action in the LOSSA Quad-A senior girls' soccer final. Dunbarton won 2-1, earning the right to advance to the OFSAA provincial championships in Thornhill this week.

Speed Academy hosts fundraiser on June 18

PICKERING -- The Speed Academy is holding its annual Pub Night Fundraiser on Saturday, June 18.

Again this year the fundraiser will be at Winston Shagwell's Pub and Grill in Pickering. Shagwell's is just east of Whites Road on Highway 2, directly behind Swiss Chalet.

Fundraising is critical to the success of the young athletes in the club. Funds raised go directly to supporting athletes with meet registrations, hotel accommodations and group transportation.

The tickets are $25 each, which includes a complete dinner buffet.

This year Canadian Idol personality, Mr. Farley Flex is the host. There will be door prizes, raffles and a silent auction.

For more information about the evening, to purchase tickets or find out more about the club, contact Tony Sharpe at 416-996-6592.

Undisciplined play costs Ironheads two points

Ajax-based team settles for split

bkelly@durhamregion.com

AJAX -- Ron Reed has his coaching certificate, but it's beginning to sound like he needs one in psychology as well.

The head coach of the Ironheads Jr. B lacrosse team based in Ajax is having a hard time trying to figure out what his players are thinking sometimes, especially when it comes to taking penalties. Particularly needless ones that cost the club a chance at a victory.

Take Friday's 20-13 loss in Mimico for example.

"Undisciplined nonsense once again," was how Reed summed up the setback.

"We are addressing the issue of undisciplined play. Sometimes you just don't know what's in a kid's head. I don't even know how to say it tactfully that you could put in print.

"The thing is it comes down to a lack of discipline and cost us another two points. Those are issues we are going to have to continue to deal with if we are going to get better."

Nine of Mimico's 20 goals came courtesy of the power play, as the Ironheads racked up 73 minutes in penalties to just 33 by Mimico. The Ironheads actually had the lead at 6-4 after the opening period and stretched it to 8-5 in the second before Mimico scored five in a row, with all but one on the power play. Down 11-9 heading into the third, the Ironheads surrendered five goals in eight minutes to start the period, stretching the deficit to 16-9, and it was over.

RYAN PFEIFFER / METROLAND

AJAX -- Ironheads' Zach Lacasse controlled the ball against the Mississauga Tomahawks during Ontario Lacrosse Association Junior B action at the Ajax Community Centre on Sunday afternoon.

Four players collected four points each on the night, with Gage Board scoring four times, Kenzie Smith scoring twice and adding two assists, Cade Zulak adding a goal and three helpers, and Brock Levick assisting on four.

At the Ajax Community Centre on Sunday afternoon, the Ironheads took care of business early in a 13-6 victory, up 5-0 after the first period and 8-0 into the second before Mississauga got on the board. Zulak led the way with 2-4-6 point totals, followed by Michael Hart (3-1-4), Board (3-1-4) and Smith with four assists.

The weekend leaves the Ironheads with a 7-4-0 record, good enough for second in the Mid East division, sixth overall in the conference with just nine games left in the regular season. For the first time in a long time, the Ironheads can start looking ahead to the playoffs with just under half the season remaining.

"We're going into the second half of the season and going into it with a new vision," said Reed. "Hopefully a vision of more discipline, let's make ourselves better, and hopefully we get ourselves into a favourable playoff position.

"As it stands now we are in a playoff position. We hope we can improve our quality of play and quality of discipline as we go along. Who knows where that will lead? Hopefully into the playoffs and we'll see what we can do there."

The Ironheads will do a little team bonding this weekend with a trip east to play in Nepean Saturday and Gloucester on Sunday.

author of the
VICE BUSTING DIET
endorsed by Dr. Oz

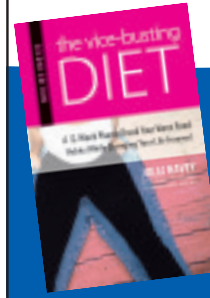

Julia Havey weighed nearly 300 pounds. Her husband was having an affair and a tumor on her neck that she was convinced was cancerous had just been diagnosed as nothing more than a lump of fat.

"I was beyond humiliated," said Havey, 48. That was in 1994. Havey now weighs 150 pounds and her book, The Vice-Busting Diet has been endorsed by TV health show host Dr. Oz.

After successfully losing 130 pounds and becoming Mrs. Missouri in a statewide beauty pageant, Julia says she decided to share her vice-busting diet secrets with others in her book The Vice-Busting Diet: A 12-Week Plan to Break Your Worst Food Habits and Change Your Life Forever.

I want to be able to help anybody who really wants to change," Havey said. "I was left by my husband because I was too overweight. He wasn't attracted to me. I know the heartache that comes from being overweight.

Find out why making just one change in your diet might be all you need. This one change alone could be responsible for almost 50% of your weight loss! Discover the one bad habit that could be causing your battle with weight and uncover the truth about certain foods that are awful for you and actually addictive - this is the dirty little secret the food companies don't want you to know. Find out just how easy adding one item to your diet is and how it can skyrocket your energy and jump start your weight loss.

Julia Havey will be holding a free lecture in the Pickering Town Centre on Saturday June 4th between 11:00-12:00.

Call the staff at Your Good Health Pickering Town Centre at 905-837-9999 to reserve a seat and a free copy of the book The Vice Busting Diet. Seating and Books are limited

In memory of TERRY RYAN
 Jan. 8/47 - May 31/02

*Life goes on each day
 No matter what comes our way
 But I wish I could turn back time
 And have you in my life again
 Times does help us move on
 But the heartache is never gone
 You live on in your sons' and grandchildren too
 I hope you can see them and love them as I do
 We will always miss you every day
 And in time we will all be together again,
 I pray!*

DRVC 14U girls' team wins Tier 1 title in Sherbrooke

SHERBROOKE -- The DRVC 14U girls' volleyball team was apparently seeded 14 spots too low at the national volleyball championships in Sherbrooke, Quebec.

Entering the Tier 1 division as the 15th seed, the Durham team came away with gold after going undefeated on the Saturday and Sunday of the tournament, including a win over the Woodstock Warriors in the final.

Day 1 had the girls in a pool with the Quebec provincial champions and second overall seed, Celtique, from Montreal. The DRVC girls placed second in the pool behind Celtique after a three-set loss.

Day 2 was another difficult day with the girls facing the Ontario provincial champions Aurora Storm, but that may have been the best thing as they finished the day undefeated to be placed first overall.

Day 3 was win-or-go-home day and the first game put DRVC against Celtique again, but this time DRVC were ready and took the match in two straight sets.

The local girls continued from there, defeating the Etobicoke Titans in the semifinals and the Woodstock Warriors in the final to win the prestigious Tier 1 national championship title.

Attack comes up Aces in Waterloo

Durham 13U girls' team takes Tier 1 provincial championship

WATERLOO -- The Durham Attack Aces 13U girls' volleyball team closed out a successful season by finishing first in the Tier 1 division of the provincial championships in Waterloo.

Being ranked third out of 38 teams, the girls were ready for tough competition throughout the weekend.

The first game put the Aces against Hamilton MVC and they won, 25-8 and 25-11. In match two, the Aces faced Oakville Thunder White and won again in straight sets, 25-16 and 25-10. The toughest competition that day came against Durham Attack Knack, and after some great rallies, the Aces won 25-19, 25-10.

Day 2 presented more challenges as the Aces went into the cross-overs and faced another Durham Attack team, T.A.B.U. After dropping their first set of the tournament, 17-25, the Aces battled back to win the next two, 25-16 and 16-14.

In the quarter-final match, the Aces were up against South County Black Bandits, winning 25-16, 25-13.

They started to feel the pressure by the time they started the semifinal match, but proved they could play under tough conditions when they won 25-14, 25-17 against Barrie Elites Black.

For gold, the Aces had to play against Niagara Rapids Black, a strong team. All 12 girls brought their A game and won both sets, 25-19, 26-24.

Coached by Chris Dunn, the team includes Abby Ridding, Breanna Golding, Brittany Miller, Deanna Naccarato, Emily Armstrong, Emma Armstrong, captain Giselle Edwards, Julia Balatbat, Lillianna Hariasz, Madison Jenkins, Sierra Steele and Stephanie Armstrong.
